Snow, rain and hail pelted Panmunjom as the staff officers resumed their secret talks. They met for 22 minutes, adjourned for an hour then reconvened for nine minutes. The officers meet again at 11 a.m. Sunday (9 p.m. EST Saturday).

At the same time a second group of staff officers will tackle again the thorny truce supervision deadlock. Top negotiators took over April 3 after staff officers were unable to reach an agreement during 64 sessions.

It was the Communists who suggested calling in the high-level sub-committees, and it was the Communists who proposed today that the issue be turned back to the staff officers. This time, however, the Colonels will be authorized to try to settle the dispute over U.N. command insistence that airfield construction be banned. Previously they could not even discuss this issue.

29 Die As Plane Hits Hillside

LOS ANGELES, April 19 (AP) —Twenty-nine persons died Friday when an airliner crashed into a suburban hillside, a scant six feet apparently the difference between life and death.

The plane evidently snagged the top of one hill, rising perhaps 400 feet from the floor of Happy Valley, then plunged 300 yards into the side of a hill just beyond.

It was a non-scheduled flight operated by North Continent Airlines, Burbank, Calif. The Civil Aeronautics Administration grounded the airline for 30 days.

The same company operated a Chicago-to-Newark plane which crashed-landed last Dec. 20 near Cobourg, Ont. There were no casualties in that mishap.

Reds Lose Seven Jets In Week To US Sabres

SEOUL, April 19 —(AP)—U.S. Sabre jets shot down seven Communist MIG-15s, probably destroyed another and damaged five in the week ended Friday, U.S. Fifth Air Force reported today.

Only one Sabre was lost in air combat. One Allied plane was lost to Red ground fire and three failed to return for unknown causes.

Snow, rain and fog settled over the Korean front today, grounding Allied fliers and turning the frontlines into a morass of mud. The U.S. Eighth Army reported only light ground action Friday.

Communications Strike Said Near Settlement

NEW YORK, April 19 (CP) — The strike of Western Electric employees in 43 states moved closer to complete settlement today when agreement was reached on wage increases for 10,000 equipment installers.

The agreement does not cover 6,000 other Western Electric employees, but it is expected to set a pattern for early settlement with workers still on strike. It may also provide a basis for settling a strike of 8,500 employees against the Bell Ttlephone System in Northern California and Nevada.

Both Bell and Western Electric are subsidiaries of American Telephone and Telegraph Company.

A spokesman for the U.S. Federal Mediation Service announced the settlement between the Communication Workers of America (C.I.O.) and Western Electric providing a basic wage increase of 14.1 cents an hour. Fringe benefits are estimated at 17 cents an hour.

Asked 23 Cents

When the strike started 12 days ago, the union's wage demand was 23 cents an hour. Before yesterday's long negotiating session, the company had made offers ranging from 12 to 17 cents. Present wages average $1.64 to $1.77.

The strike against Western Electric had threatened telephone communications in 43 states and Washington, D.C. The union said its 300,000 members would honor Western Electric picket lines. However, picketing never became general as the union resorted to "hit-and-run" tactics.

The Western Electric walkout started simultaneously with the strikes by C.W.A. members against Bell in Ohio, Michigan,

Convicts End 3-Day Revolt For Prison Investigation

RAHWAY, N.J., April 19. (AP)—Sixty-nine weak but surly convicts filed out of the print shop at the Trenton state prison Friday ending a 77-hour revolt but a sympathy mutiny of 231 inmates continued at Rahway prison farm 40 miles away. The Trenton convicts had gained one objective of their rebellion—an impartial investigation of the prison.

F. Lovell Bixby, deputy commissioner of institutions and agencies, said the department would ask the Osborne Association, a foundation interested in prison problems, to make a survey at the prison.

In a statement issued through Warden William H. Carty, Bixby said the association would be requested to "advise officials as to the needs and requirements of the ancient institution." Buildings in the state prison used regularly were built in 1835.

As the Trenton mutineers surrendered three prison employees they held hostage were whisked awain in the warden's automobile to their homes. They were reported in good condition.

Locked In Cells.

The convicts were taken to the prison hospital, searched for weapons, given baths, and lovked in their cells.

At Rahway, R. William Lagay, superintendent of the prison farm, said he believed the mutineers "will be ready to negotiate surrender before long."

The Rahway disorders started Thursday night in a dormitory wing where the convicts holed themselves up with nine guards as hostages.

Malan Bill Aims At Court Power

CAPETOWN, South Africa, April 19 — (AP). — Prime Minister Daniel F. Malan's Nationalist government announced it will introduce next week a Bill to restrict court powers over its legislation, bringing to a head an issue which has led to threats of violence.

Primary purpose of the Bill is to destroy the power of the Supreme Court which last month knocked out a key act in Malan's white supremacy policy. The act would have destroyed the 39-year-old constitution voting rights of 50,000 persons of mixed blood in Cape Province.

Malan has said the Bill would bar the courts from overruling Acts of Parliament—in which his party now has a majority — and would make court decisions subject to parliamentary approval.

The United Party, the Labor Party, and the Torch Commandos —a recently-formed group which opposes Malan—formed a united front this week against the court Bill.

The United front demanded Malan resign and call a general election now, a year before his term expires. Malan told Parliament Friday he would not do that and challenged his foes to make the court plan a campaign issue in the 1953 election.

New Steel Move Stirs Congress

WASHINGTON, April 19 (AP) —The steel labor fight grew hotter today with the Truman administration threatening to raise worker wages in the seized industry early next week. The move also stirred a new uproar in Congress.

Commerce Secretary Charles Sawyer late Friday served an ultimatum on the industry's private owners—saying that unless they reach an agreement with C.I.O. President Philip Murray by Monday or Tuesday, the government will step in and give 650,000 steelworkers a pay boost.

There seemed little chance the union and companies could get together on a deal. In fact, Murray and President Benjamin Fairless of U.E. Steel Company left the capital to spend the weekend in Pittsburgh.

Sawyer's announcement that he was practically ready to impose new wage terms and working conditions on the seized industry spurred a drive by wrathful Senate Republicans to forbid use of any Federal funds for salaries of Federal officials to run the steel mills under seizure.

Can't Stand, Can't Kiss Jumpy Lad Weds Miss

HARLAN, Ky., April 19 (AP)— The bridegroom was so nervous he wanted to get married sitting down.

But Magistrate Cam Smith, who performed the ceremony, said today he prevailed upon the young man to take the matrimonial hurdle standing up.

After the ceremony, Smith suggested the bridegroom "kiss the bride."

"I can't do that," the young man was quoted as he fled with his wife.

Red Farm City Out

MOSCOW, April 19. (AP). —Pravda announced Friday that the idea of the Agrogorod farm city has been abandoned officially by the Soviet Union. The Agrogorod was a project conceived several years ago to amalgamate collective farms into vast farm factories. It would have wiped out many peasant villages. Some Agrogorods were created, but there was stubborn peasant resistance to the idea.

Start Air Search As Fog Lifts Off N.S. Coast

HALIFAX, April 19 (CP) — Heavy fog lifted off the southwestern Nova Scotia coast today and search planes took to the air again to continue the hunt for seven missing airmen.

The navy had the destroyers Crescent and Haida still in the area and the air force said the weather "is ideal." It planned an all-day search.

Two naval aircraft—single-engined Avengers—crashed Thursday night about 70 miles off Shelburne. They were conducting exercises against the cruiser Quebec as she steamed here from the west coast.

Find Wreckage

The Quebec found "wreckage" of two aircraft but no signs of life. She was called from the search with the destroyer Iroquois and frigate Lahulloise and arrived here Friday night.

The Quebec said lookout reports indicated the planes collided, but there were no further details.

If the plane crews lived through the crash their chances of survival were good. All seven had lifejackets, a self-inflating dinghy and each Avenger carried a three-man dinghy.

Fog delayed yesterday's search, but planes from the R.C.A.F. search and rescue base at Greenwod, N.S., and the fleet air arm at nearby Shearwater were able to join the search later in the day.

The Avengers are torpedo bombers, refitted for submarine duty. They can carry four men each—three crew members and an observer or trainee.

Stalin's Good Wishes

LONDON, April 19 (Reuters)— Premier Stalin Friday sent good wishes to Polish president Boleslaw Bierut on the occasion of his 60th birthday, Warsaw radio reported.

Erosion Of Dam Threatens Worse Floods

SWIFT CURRENT, Sask., April 19 (CP)—A new flood threat to Swift Current—earlier believed out of danger—is posed by erosion at Duncairn dam, 25 miles upstream on the Swift Current Creek.

A coicrete spillway at the dam began to disintegrate late Friday. Complete disintegration would release thousands of tons of water from the reservoir to cause serious flooding here.

Dr. L. B. Thompson, Prairie Farm Rehabilitation Administration Director, said the situation was "pretty serious" at the dam. But he said he did not expect complete destruction of the spillway.

Picture Brightened

The picture was brightened last night with the discovery of a seam of hard clay and shale during the construction of an emergency spillway. The gravel-impregnated seam is expected to withstand water erosion for some time.

Water was being let out of the reservoir through the auxiliary outlet last night.

Stew Shields, of the Swift Current P.F.R.A. office, said water released through the emergency spillway and through a conduit pipe in the bottom of the reservoir equalled intake of water behind the dam. He said the water level in the dam did not increase on Friday.

The increased water outflow was expected to raise the level of the creek below the dam. Serious flooding was not anticipated from any crest created by the opening of the emergency outlet.

Meanwhile, residents of low-lying areas in Swift Current prepared for the worst. Many families moved possessions to higher ground.

Churchill's Cold Said Taking Normal Course

WESTERHAM, Kent, England, April 19 (AP)—Prime Minister Winston Churchill's cold is "taking its normal course," a member of his household said today. Churchill will spend the weekend working on official documents.

The 77-year-old prime minister and his wife scrapped plans to visit the Queen at Windsor this weekend. The spokesman said "the Queen has excused them from attending."

Toronto Arson Squad Out On $7,000 Fire

TORONTO, April 19 (CP)—The arson squad was called out Friday night to investigate the cause of a fire which caused $7,000 damage to a three-storey building in midtown Toronto.

Two residents had narrow escapes. Five others were out of the building at the time.

Charles Camroux, 11, was in bed in his third-floor room when he heard something crash, then smelled smoke. He went out into the hall and saw flames billowing out of the living room.

Across the hall, Thomas Noble, 58, who is deaf and dumb, was preparing to go to bed. He heard no commotion as residents rushed up and down the stairs. A friend who was passing by went in and told him by sign language the building was on fire.

Thefts Show Control By House Needed

BEAMSVILLE, Ont., April 19— (CP)—George Drew, leader of the Progressive Conservative party, said Friday night that thefts of army material at Petawawa camp showed the need of returning the control of government expenditures to the House of Commons.

He told the annual meeting of the Lincoln County Conservative Association that if the Department of National Defence is inefficient at Petawawa it may be equally inefficient in its military responsibilities.

Torrent Engulfs Farms

Runaway Missouri Poses New Threat

OMAHA, Neb., April 19 (AP) —The runaway Missouri River hurled a new menace at Omaha today while its muddy torrent smashed levees, engulfed farms, and spread destruction downstream for 200 miles.

The biggest flood in Missouri valley history ran almost uncontrolled into northeastern Kansas. It was driving families from their homes in growing numbers in Nebraska, Iowa, Missouri and Kansas. Damage and flood-fighting costs were mounting into uncounted millions.

The new threat to Omaha developed suddenly last night when pressure from the raging river tide blew out a sewer line leading into the lowland industrial area. It came after the flood crest had passed through the narrow Omaha-Council Bluffs, Ia., channel.

The greatest danger seemingly had passed when the river's 30.24-foot crest (11.24 feet above flood level) surged downstream Friday.

Burst Sewer Line

But then the river's still-tremendous pressure burst through a 7-by-9 foot concrete sewer line four blocks behind the levee. Water ripped up street pavement for 120 feet.

U.S. army engineers rushed hundreds of workers into the fight to seal off the sewer line at its mouth.

The danger was that the rising water behind the dike would weaken the earthen barrier—or that the river would blow out the sewer line entirely and undermine the water-logged dike.

The Omaha-Council Bluffs struggle, meanwhile, was being repeated on smaller scales by thousands of workers downstream.

At Hamburg, Ia., half the town's 2,086 residents were evacuating their homes after the Missouri chewed through the Plum Creek levees about 15 miles northward and topped a secondary levee at Hamburg. Parts of the town were under water and 500 army troops gave up the fight to build the protective dike.

At St. Joseph, Mo.—the state's third largest city—the river was five miles wide and still rising. Workers fought to save outlying parts of the town.

Nears Air Base

At Leavenworth, Kan., water crept up on the Sherman Air Force base on three sides. About 700 acres of the state prison farm were flooded.

But in all this tremendous struggle, there was no loss of life reported.

While the Missouri raged, the Mississippi River poured an all-time high crest down the upper valley below St. Paul. Flood preparations were under way in river lowland areas of Wisconsin, Minnesota, Iowa and Illinois.

The Mississippi approached a five-feet-above-flood stage at Winona, Minn., where high water threatened dikes protecting one-third of the city of 25,000.

Used In Operations

Monkeys' Lungs Tried As Substitute

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W.Va., April 19—(AP)— First use of a monkey lung to provide an external substitute for the lungs of a human being during surgery was announced today by a Toronto surgeon who said the technique kept several babies alive for a time—one of them for three hours.

The lungs, freshly removed from monkeys, were used in conjunction with a "mechanical heart" and were employed specifically to supply oxygen to the blood of the patients whose own heart and lung systems were cut off.

One monkey lung was used for each of five human infants. All the babies were suffering from congenital heart defects, and direct operation on the heart itself constituted their own chance for survival.

None of the babies survived, but the surgeon who described the technique said there is encouragement in the fact that life was maintained—even though temporarily—with the aid of a "substitute" heart and lung system outside the patients' own bodies.

U. of T. Technique

Dr. Robert Janes, head of the Department of Surgery at the University of Toronto, said the technique was developed by Dr. W. T. Mustard of the University staff. Although the work has not yet been described in scientific literature, Dr. Janes mentioned it briefly at a meeting of the American Surgical Association here.

He had been commenting on a scientific paper by Dr. Willis J. Potts of Chicago, describing successful animal experiments with "substitute" lungs.

Dr. Janes said the Canadian monkey lung technique constitutes another possible step toward the objective of perfecting substitute heart and lung systems for use in cases where temporary stoppage of the patient's own heart and lungs offers the only chance for successful surgery.

Still Experimental

He stressed that the Canadian work and that of other investigators in this "substitute" system field is still in the experimental stage.

Several investigators have kept animals alive for long periods with such systems, and there have been three cases where humans have been kept alive for short periods with the aid of purely mechanical systems.

But the Canadian work is the first in which the lung of an animal has been ued as an experimental substitute for the lungs of a human.

Fine Production Of Priestley By Knox Group

J. B. Priestley is so well known as a novelist, literary critic and British broadcaster that it is sometimes forgotten that he is a first-rate playwright.

"When We Are Married" is an excellent comedy of domestic foibles, a farce turned on the theme of three prosperous middle-class Yorkshire couples who are celebrating their 25th wedding anniversary. In the midst of it they discover that they have not been legally married. This gives Priestly scope for his wit, his gentle fun-poking and good rollicking comedy.

Knox Theatre Group gave the play a remarkably capable and effective performance on the Queen Mary stage Friday evening. The large audience was in stitches at least a third of the time. It was one of the best amateur productions of a modern play I have seen in Peterborough.

Well Dressed

So good a performance of so good a play deserves the tribute of a general criticism, rather than a parade of each actor. In the first place, the house arrangements were well managed. For instance, exactly on the final note of "The Queen", the last house light was extinguished. The actors were dressed for the period (1908) and particularly well in the tipsy photographer, and the three newly un-wives of the proper Yorkshiremen. I appreciated very much the attention given to the dress.

There should have been more Yorkshire about the speech than there was. But several, particularly Dorothy Falconer (the somewhat loose woman from Blackpool), Harry Tasker as the pompous Councillor Albert Parker, Peggy McCombe as the wife of another of the three, and Susan Summers, wife of the third (Alderman Helliwell) came up to scratch.

Faults In Timing

Owing to some faults in timing and imperfections in interpretation, some of the good things in the play were lost. For instance—a small point—the cheque to the down-and-out photographer was almost secretively handed over. I felt that the part of Gerald Forbes, southern-English organist in the well-heeld church was not well cast, and not interpreted right. He should have been more intellectually off-hand and southern English. Aldermen Helliwell had ostenatious gestures. More work needs to be done on the three curtains to the acts.

There was much good acting. Betty Blair as the maid was very good indeed. Rodger Davis as the tipsy photographer held the stage whenever he appeared on it. He excellently underplayed the difficult tipsy role, though some of his mannerisms were reminiscent of him in other parts in other plays. His dress and make-up—and acting up to them—were remarkably good. Victor Potter as the brow-beaten husband played well and was dressed well. Ada Huffman as the snooping maid won applause. 'Parson Joe Lancashire was impressively parsonical.

Bob King was the young organist Gerald Forbes, Lindy McIntosh his appealing Nancy Holmes, Andy Sheddon played Fred Dyson, Ganton Clarke the alderman, and Betty Massey-Cooke was Auntie Parker.

The play is being given again tonight at Queen Mary. I suspect it is the best 50 cents worth in town this evening.

The play is directed and produced by Peter McCombe, Ray Gillies is in charge of lighting, Susan Summers is costume mistress. —T. J. A.

PC Terms Budget Political Fraud

LONDON, April 19 (CP) — George Hees, Progressive Conservative member of parliament for Toronto-Broadview, charged Friday night that Canadians are being overtaxed by the federal government at a time when they are facing the highest cost of living in their history.

Speaking to the London Progressive Conservative Association annual meeting, Mr. Hees accused the Liberal administration of using the plea of necessity for defence to "soak the Canadian people' 'and using surpluses for purposes never voted or authorized by parliament.

He termed Finance Minister Abbott's recent budget "the greatest political fraud ever presented to Canadians."

Probation For Writer Who Made Own Stories

CARDIFF, Wales, April 19 (Reuters)—The boys in the newsroom had wondered how the 18-year-old cub reporter got his crime "scoops." His reports had been so detailed and accurate that the police wondered too.

Royston Haydn, as a good reporter should, cleared up the mystery Friday.

He pleaded guilty to three housebreaking and larceny charges and admitted 10 other offences. The judge gave him a two-year suspended sentence.

Queen Will Keep Girlhood Promise

LONDON, April 19 — During the Queen's Easter stay at Windsor Castle, which was extended to include her 26th birthday April 21, she will keep a promise made to herself 10 years ago.

When, as a young girl of 16, she fulfilled her first official engagement by inspecting the First Battalion of the Grenadier Guards, of which she had just been made colonel-in-chief, the young Princess decided that on her first birthday as Queen, if she ever came to the throne, she would inspect the Grenadiers. She will carry out the promise in the castle quadrangle.

Malan Would Face Election With Court Dispute As Issue

CAPETOWN, April 19—(CP)—Prime Minister Daniel Malan said Friday his government is ready to test public opinion on the "courts versus parliament" controversy in an election next year. Malan, who has challenged the power of the courts to invalidate parliamentary laws, dared his political opponents to make his policy a campaign issue. He said the government will use all available forces to maintain law and order—in effect a warning against violent anti-government demonstrations.

Malan was speaking in a House of Assembly debate started by Jacob Strauss, leader of the United Party—the main opposition to Malan's Nationalists.

The assembly was debating Strauss' motion which demands that the government accept a Supreme Court judgment voiding a Malan law which removed voters of mixed blood from the common register. Malan now proposes legislation to prevent the courts from ruling on parliamentary acts.

Standing in the present 159-member House of Assembly is: Nationalists, 86; United Party, 64; South African Labor, 6, and three native representatives, one of whom is a Communist. The South African parliament also consists of a Senate whose 44 members are elected for five years. In the present Senate, elected in July, 1948, the government and opposition each has 22 members.

The Isolationist Dr. Malan was elected to power in the general election of May 26, 1948, defeating the United Party led by the Commonwealth-minded Field Marshal Jan Christian Smuts.

Malan made a bitter attack today on the Torch Commando, the anti-government organization of ex-servicemen with which the United Party and smaller opposition Labor Party have become allied "to uphold the constitution."

He said it is a dangerous organization led by reckless, self-appointed men, responsible to nobody.

"It is with these reckless and irresponsible people that the leader of the opposition has allied himself and his party and he will have to bear the responsibility," Malan said.

He accused the Torch Commando of wanting chaos, and said it was linked with native and Indian organizations.

The Torch Commando might say it did not want these groups to take action with it, he said, but if natives and Indians saw white men taking action of the sort threatened by the Commando, they would not hold back.

"We will go to the country," Malan said. "We need not wait very long. When this session has been completed, and there is yet quite a lot to be done, it will be 10 or 12 months before the general election.

"I challenge the opposition when the general election comes, to go to the people on this issue with all its implications."

New Jersey, and the Northern California-Nevada area. The Ohio, Michigan and New Jersey walkouts were settled earlier.

Th Western Electric employees still on strike include salesmen, who say they will maintain picket lines until a settlement is reached in 28 cities where Western Electric has distributing houses.

Hopes for quick settlement of the remaining issues was expressed by C.W.A. president Joseph Beirne. In a statement in Washington this morning, he said: "We hope to wind up the other Western Electric negotiations in a hurry and reach an agreement in Northern California. That will end the strike."

Wage negotiations for the remaining Western Union strikers were scheduled for later today.

Meanwhile, a walkout of 31,000 A.F.L. Commercial Telegraphers Union members against the Western Union Telegraph Company entered its 17th day. No immediate settlement was in sight in this wage fight.

Jap Cops Oust Reds

TOKYO, April 19—(AP)—About 300 steel helmeted Japanese police, wielding clubs, Friday ejected 2,000 Communist-led Korean demonstrators from the Japanese Foreign Office building. The shouting, singing Koreans demanded that negotiations for a peace treaty between Japan and South Korea be ended. They said only 90,000 of the 600,000 Koreans in Japan recognize the South Korean government.

Two Youths Guilty Of Stealing Scrap

COBOURG, April 19 (ENS)—Two Cobourg lads, Fred Brown and Harold Stevenson, pleaded guilty Friday to stealing scrap iron from the C.N.R. and were remanded out of custody to May 16. Constable Homer Seale saw the pair holding a small wagon loaded with scrap iron. The boys admitted to the constable that they had taken the iron from a C.N.R. flat car and that they were on their way to "sell it to the Jew."

"It is not the value of the iron but the lesson these two boys need," commented Crown Attorney Harry Deyman.

Magistrate R. B. Baxter, in remanding the two 16-year-olds, directed them to report daily to the police, be in their homes by seven each evening and to go to church. He told them if they failed to do this during the remand period, they would be brought up again and sentenced.

Germ War Propaganda Stepped Up After Lull

SAN FRANSISCO, April 19 (AP) —Communist China's germ warfare propaganda drive was stepped up today after a lull since April 10.

Once more Peiping radio bristled with such epithets as "savage American imperialists," "monsters", "perverted inhuman minds" and cries of "punish the germ war criminals."

Peiping radio pulled up sharply eight days ago at the height of the Russian - sponsored international economic conference in Moscow.

Broadcasts monitored here by the Associated Press began to talk of more trade with the west, even including the United States.

Today, a Peiping radio commentary, after rehashing some old charges, also declared that the U.S. was conducting "major research" into radioactive dust as a method "of mass destructions."

Italian Police Seize Hidden Arms Dump

TURIN, Italy, April 19—(Reuters)—Police today announced a haul of hidden arms during the past month in the three industrial cities in Turin, Genoa and Alessandria.

They said they had found 48 sub-machine-guns, 17 machine-guns, two mortars, 72 rifles, 46 revolvers, 549 mortar bombs, 525 hand grenades, 77 artillery shells, 35,701 rounds of ammunition, 12 daggers and bayonets.

Government spokesmen claim the dumps were organized by the Communist party to be used for an uprising in event of war with Russia.

Frills For GI's Getting Axe In West Germany

BONN, April 19 (AP).—Free servants and special trains for U.S. soldiers in Germany are getting the axe soon, official sources said Friday.

If military headquarters in Washington doesn't do the chopping right away, these sources averred, the state department will.

The U.S. high commission, a state department agency, has decided to cut by $45,000,000 a year the German-financed fads and frills that hark back to the army's role as conqueror.

Despite army protests, the cut is to be made next week in the "occupation costs" budget. The Germans have asked that occupation costs of Britain, France and the U.S. be trimmed to provide more funds for arming Germans in the projected six-country European army.

Thousands of free servants provided for soldiers from noncoms to generals will be fired, excursion trains to army resorts abolished and other occupation privileges curtailed.

But the serviceman and his officer still will be among the richest classes in Germany. Both will get tax free cigarettes at 10 cents a pack, Scotch for $3.20 a fifth of a gallon, cheap rents and low-priced food in special army stores.

Although the special "for Americans only" trains will be eliminated the soldiers still will have at their disposal the best resorts in the country.

Enlisted men pay 50 cents a night for rooms at exclusive Germisch and Berchtesgaden. Dinner costs 40 cents.

Germans gleefully rubbed their hands at news of the coming cutback. So did U.S. state department employees who lost their free servants last year. The lower-paid British servicemen chortled too. The French, who cling to many special privileges, weren't talking.

The department summoned the army's comptroller to Germany to Washington last week to explain the long resistance to giving up military luxuries, these sources said.

The army asked for 58,000,000 marks ($13,340,000) in the occupation budget to employ 29,000 German servants for army families during the next year, official sources said. Large sums also were budgeted for the excursion trains, reduced railway fares and other privileges.

High commission officials stressed that the Germans now must be treated as equal partners of the west rather than as a conquered people.

The army argued free servants were needed to maintain property occupied by army families, said most army people cannot afford to hire servants, and added American housewives (in Germany) should not have to do menial work because of the unfortunate effect on prestige and morale.

Canadian Choir Sings In N.Y.

NEW YORK, April 19—(CP)—The Earle Terry Singers of London, Ont., made their New York debut last night with a program in Carnegie Recital Hall.

The program of the Canadian all-girl choir ranged from Tschaikovsky's "Cherubim Song" to Canadian and Scottish folk songs.

The choir, founded and conducted by Earle Terry, director of music for London Board of Education and choral consultant to the Music Teachers' College of the University of Western Ontario, sang last year at the intnernational convention of the Y.M.C.A. in Cleveland.

It has been heard on the CBC's national network in Canada.

One of the songs was a musical adaptation of Pauline Johnson's "Lullaby of the Birds." It was set to music especially for the choir by Janis Kalnins of Fredericton.

Erosion Of Dam

Merchants in the city did increased business in canned goods, water containers and kerosene lamps.

Emergency equipment dispatched to Swift Current by army headquarters in Regina arrived Friday. Officials were confident that any emergency could be met.

Elsewhere, the flood problem was improved in evacuated Eastend, 75 miles southeast of Swift Current. Flood water of Frenchman Creek had almost receded from the town last night.

P.F.R.A. pumps were in operation pumping out basements as health and welfare department officials organized a clean-up campaign.

Little damage was anticipated from a crest sweeping down the Frenchman toward Val Marie, 50 miles downstream from Eastend.

Two dams near Val Marie block the way, but the crest is expected to lose much of its force as it spreads out in the valley.

Juliana Sympathizes

OMAHA, Neb., April 19 (CP)—Queen Juliana and Prince Bernhard of the Netherlands, visiting San Francisco, sent a message of sympathy to flood sufferers Friday. "We in the Netherlands know all too well by experience how grievous the suffering of the victims can be," said the message to Governor William Beardsley of Iowa.

The Weather

Peterborough Temperatures:

Today:
Night low..52 Noon...63
Barometer.....29.3

Yesterday:
Highest....68 Lowest..44

One Year Ago:
Highest....42 Lowest..33

Official forecasts issued by the Dominion public weather office at 9:30 a.m. today:

Synopsis:

It looks like a good weekend for Ontario. Warm air still covers the prairies and Southern Ontario. Winnipeg's 80 on Friday was nearly matched by Hamilton's 78 which took top honors for the province. Slightly cooler air is crossing the northern sections and will reach the Lake Ontario region by Sunday morning. The net result in this region will be cooling lake breezes during the day so that the afternoon temperatures will be in the 60s which, however, is still warm for this time of year.

Throughout the remainder of the province Sunday's high temperatures will be from 60 to 65 in most of the north country as well as the central and eastern portions, and from 70 to 75 in the extreme southwestern sections.

There will be some cloudiness at times particularly in the southern regions on Sunday morning but no rain of any account is expected.

Regional forecasts valid until midnight Sunday:

Northern Lake Huron, Lake Ontario, Eastern Lake Erie, Niagara regions; Toronto and Hamilton:

Mainly sunny today, clouding over tonight, clearing again late Sunday morning. A little cooler Sunday. Winds west 20, light tonight and Sunday. Low tonight and high Sunday at Toronto and Hamilton 48 and 65, St. Catharines 48 and 70, Wingham 45 and 70, Trenton 40 and 65.

Summary for Sunday: Clearing. A little cooler.

Georgian Bay, Haliburton regions:

Mainly sunny. Brief intervals of cloudiness this afternoon or evening. Sunday mainly sunny and a little cooler. Winds west 20, light tonight and Sunday. Low tonight and high Sunday at Muskoka 40 and 65, Killaloe 35 and 65.

Summary for Sunday: Sunny and a little cooler.

Ship Captain's Trial Ends

NEW YORK, April 19. (AP)—The trial of an Isbrandsten ship's master who shot a seaman to death ended early today with a Federal Court jury unable to reach a verdict.

Federal Judge Edward Weinfeld dismissed the jury and ordered Capt. Franklin B. Weaver, 31, of Englewood, N.J., continued in $25,000 bail for a new trial.

Weaver was charged with manslaughter in the killing of William Harvey, 24-year-old negro messman, aboard their freighter, the Flying Trader, en route to Japan from Manila last Oct. 25.

The jury had been out just over 13 hours when the judge discharged it.

Weaver admitted killing Harvey but said he fired after the messman advanced threateningly. The prosecution said Harvey was handcuffed at the time, but the defence said the handcuffs were defective.

The shooting followed a quarrel between the two over Weaver's charges that Harvey was "malingering."

Harvey's mother, Mrs. Rebecca Pratt, of New York, is suing the shipping line for $250,000 because of the death of her son.

Toronto Stocks Tumble For Sharp Loss

By DICK BAIDEN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Toronto stock market prices tumbled for the sharpest loss in about five months this week as heavy selling dropped a broad list of issues.

Shortened to a five-day week by the Monday holiday, the Exchange's industrial index lost almost eight points in four sessions.

Prices fell abruptly Tuesday in a broad market as Toronto investors worked swiftly to catch up with New York's Monday decline. The recession spread rapidly from leading industrial, gold, base metals and western oil issues to more speculative stocks in an unusually wide market.

Investors received a brief respite Wednesday as moderate support checked selling.

Relief was short-lived, however, as another wave of selling Thursday again dropped prices over a broad front. A few feeble rallying attempts yesterday bolstered western oils but other sections made little headway.

Selling pressure was apparent Tuesday as volume rose to more than $4,500,000 shares. Activity dropped Wednesday, as prices showed signs of strengthening and picked up again Thursday as stocks dipped.

Slow To Comment

Professional observers were slow to comemnt on the decline. Some traders said United States investors considered many Canadian issues to be overvalued. Canadian opinion, however, held that there was still a large growth possibility in most issues.

Montreal joined Toronto Tuesday in a sharp drop as all sections turned lower. Industrials and papers continued to slip Wednesday but other sections showed signs of regaining losses. Prices fell again Thursday however as selling dropped all sections. Industrials drew stronger support yesterday but papers drifted lower.

New York opened the week Monday with firm support for most issues but recurrent waves of selling dropped individual issues for losses ranging to about $2 by the close. Acute selling pressure Tuesday again lowered the list. Rails led a mild rise Wednesday but Thursday's sell-off again dented the list. Rails again led a moderate advance yesterday.

From Thursday to Friday the Toronto Exchange indices showed industrials down 7.92 at 317.89, golds down 1.16 at 88.89; base metals down 2.77 at 186.19 and western oils down 4.70 at 151.02.

In the Montreal averages, banks were down .14 at 29.47, utilities down 1.2 at 83.9, industrials down 7.6 at 198.0 combined down 5.4 at 160.0, papers down 43.82 at 670.39 and golds up 1.16 at 68.52.

In New York, The Asosciated Press average of 60 stocks dropped $2.30 to $100.10.

Dismiss Charge Of Milk Sales Outside Area

CHATHAM, April 19 (CP) — Magistrate Ivan B. Craig today dismissed a charge against the Kent Dairy Limited that the firm sold milk in an area in which it was not licensed.

In a written judgment—the first of its kind under the Milk Control Act—he held that the Ontario Milk Control Board had not established the area in which the firm could distribute milk.

"The only evidence before me showing distribution areas for the Kent Dairy is certain typewritten information on the licence form.'

The charge was laid Feb. 14 by R. E. Randall, a milk board inspector, after he stopped a Kent Dairy truck in Harwich township and purchased a quart of milk.

Randall produced in court a certified copy of the 1952 licence issued in the dairy's name. On the licence was typed the distribution area, one section being in Erie Beach, a summer resort in Harwich township.

Magistrate Craig asked: "Just where is the dividing line of Erie Beach and Harwich township? There is no evidence before me from the Milk Control Board except the notation on the licence showing that the board designated this area as being restricted to the Kent Dairy."

There was nothing to show that the board received approval from the lieutenant-governor in council, as required by the act, for the distribution area it defined for the dairy.

Speaking of Mr. Randall's direct evidence, he said: "None of the milk was consumed by Mr. Randall, therefore, under the act, could he be called a consumer?"

Any regulations having the effect of a statute which encroach upon the rights of a subject must be strictly construed in favor of his common-law rights.

Church To Raise $600,000 For School

Women's organizations of United Churches throughout the Peterborough district have been making contributions as their part of the Canadian campaign to raise $600,000 to build a new United Church Training School for Women in Toronto.

The need for new accommodation for the church training school arose when notice was given that one of the buildings which is now part of the school will have to be vacated. The other building is inadequate for school activities and cannot be extended.

Offered Land

In addition, the Board of Regents of Victoria University, University of Toronto, have offered land for the school on the university grounds.

The building is planned for accommodation for 75 students. It will include a dining room, common room, kitchen, chapel, library, two seminar. rooms, and offices for purposes of administration. Classes will continue to be held in Emmanuel College.

44 Students

Since church union in 1925, more than 300 women has graduated from the training school and 100 in the past six years. At present there are 44 students at the school, the largest class since union. This year's class includes five scholarship students of the Women's Missionary Society from the churches of Japan, China, Korea and Trinidad.

It has been estimated that this year 30 graduates are needed for overseas work, 40 for home missionary work and 40 congregational workers in self-supporting congregations in Canada.

Former graduates are now serving as deaconesses and directors of Christian education, as missionaries of the Board of Home Missions and the Women's Missionary Society of Canada and as overseas missionaries.

Another Little Nip Won't Do Us Any Harm?

In Toronto building trades unions are seeking increases in wage rates, ranging from 25 cents to 50 cents an hour. (Plumbers $2.50, carpenters $2.25, sheet metal workers $2.45.) In Hamilton the Westinghouse plant workers will go on strike Tuesday unless company and union come to terms about wage rates. The union has been asking for an increase of 30½ cents an hour; the conciliation board recommended a general increase of eight cents an hour—this was not acceptable to either the company or the union. In the United States a threatened general strike in the steel industy, whose workers wanted chiefly higher wages, was averted only when President Truman seized the property of the steel companies, so as to have the Secretary of Commerce operate the plants in the name of the United States Government. The companies say they cannot afford another big wage increase; that their products are already being priced out of the market because of high labour costs. The unions (with an eye on company profit-and-loss statements, and an ear to the slower rumblings of economic wheels) say that the wage increases must be given.

* * *

The president of the United States Steel Corporation, Benjamin Fairless, whose company is now being run for him by the U.S. Government, made a graphic remark recently which business, industry and unions should all find has truth in it. "Ever since the start of World War II we, as a nation, have been acting like a man in a corner saloon. We've been telling ourselves that we'll have just one more little shot of inflation and that tomorrow we'll swear off. But tomorrow never comes."

* * *

That is exactly what the unions are doing by again pressing—it has become an annual habit—for large wage increases. Gross costs are pushed up; everybody from the manufacturer to the retailer expects to get his usual percentage of profit on these increased costs; the price of the item for sale to the consumer is hiked agonizingly high, and the whole country is launched on another inflationary round. It is a mistake to think that companies are dead set and have always been dead set against wage increases, for it has been their recent history that as wage and prices have mounted, so have their gross profits. But heads of industry know (and they have seen its signs) and union leaders probably know it too, that a time comes when inflation takes the whole economy right off the ground, the balloon bursts, and everything is brought low. There is one nip too many, after which the tippler walks on air, loses control of himself and falls flat. After two very severe inflationary years, this country is now experiencing the first substantial drops in the cost of living since before the war. Is their new high-level balance to be upset?

Drama Festival In Deep Water

The news dispatch from Ottawa on April 15 which revealed that the Dominion Drama Festival faces collapse from lack of funds was not a surprise to those who have followed the fortunes of the Festival closely, but we hope that it aroused the interest and perhaps the sympathy of many Canadians who wish the Festival well, but who have not concerned themselves directly with it. The reason for the Festival's trouble is not that it has been run extravagantly; on the contrary, it has always been economical from necessity, and has depended to some extent on contributions from well-wishers. It is, rather, the growth and artistic success of the Festival which have raised its expenses beyond its revenue, and the fact that in these days of high taxation few people of means have money with which to support the Festival as handsomely as they have done in the past.

The Festival was founded in 1932 by Lord Bessborough, whose enthusiasm and generous financial support set it off to a good start. Most Canadians know how it operates: a series of Regional Festivals is held across Canada every winter, and the best work seen in these is shown in a Dominion Festival in the spring. The Festival is bi-lingual and it has done exceptionally good work in bringing Maritimers, French-Canadians, Westerners, and people from Ontario and British Columbia together for competition in an art which is universal in its appeal—the drama. The Festival has given encouragement to many Canadian actors who are now doing first-rate professional work—not in Canada, unfortunately; the Festival has also encouraged Canadian playwrights. Nobody makes any money from it, and several patriotic Canadians have worked tirelessly to carry on its activities. It has raised the standard of the theatre in Canada immeasurably, training every kind of theatre worker, and giving Canadian audiences a quality and quantity of drama which they could not have enjoyed in any other way. But rising costs, and the increased scope of the Festival have brought it to the verge of bankruptcy, and it must have money or cease to be.

The Festival has never received a penny from the Dominion Government, although several provincial governments have, at one time or another, given it welcome assistance. The Massey Report suggests that the Festival should be helped by the federal government, but it is clear that nothing will be done in a hurry about the Massey Report. There have been times when $5,000 would have made a vast difference to Festival finances, but the Dominion Government (which is so quick to give tens of thousands to put bronze doors on the U.N. building in New York) has refused help. It is not impossible that the Department of Health and Welfare would take over the Festival, but the drama has never been primarily an instrument for furthering health or welfare; it is an art, and is uneasy in the presence of bureaucracy. But the Festival must have support from somewhere, and as the news dispatch discreetly words it, "it is understood that a distillery is studying the situation."

If a distillery becomes the patron of the Dominion Drama Festival there will undoubtedly be some complaints from people who think that anything a distillery does is evil. The forces of total abstinence have never been friends of the theatre, and would not themselves give a nickel to keep the Festival out of the hands of the distillers, but they will raise their anguished cry anyhow. We also will feel a pang if the Dominion Drama Festival has to turn to a distillery for the margin of money which will keep it in existence—not because we have anything against distilleries, but because we think that it is a shameful thing that a Canadian venture which is unique in the world (for no other drama festival operates on such a large scale) should have to beg help from a commercial venture, when it has been repeatedly refused help by the Dominion Government.

Artistic projects usually need subsidies, though these subsidies need not be large. Symphony orchestras and art galleries need subsidies, and nobody suggests that they should not have them. The Dominion Drama Festival, which covers this huge country from sea to sea, requires some financial assurance that it will not have to close its books and lower its curtain forever, for the lack of a few thousands of dollars. It does not seem a great deal to ask. If the Festival must be preserved in alcohol, very well, but it will not be a solution for this supposedly civilized country to be proud of, and we hope that even yet some other means of continuing the Festival may be found.

Radio Could Promote Bi-Lingualism

The British Broadcasting Corporation, since 1950, has broadcast a very successful program called "Listen and Speak"; it is directed toward French and Italian listeners, and is a carefully planned course in conversational English. If teaching languages by radio is successful, could it not be applied to a problem which exists in our bi-lingual country?

Many Canadians feel a certain sense of inferiority because they cannot speak French. They would like to do so; they are somewhat ashamed of themselves when they meet their French-speaking compatriots who speak English. But they lack the determination to study the language by themselves, and especially they are defeated by the difficulties of acquiring a good French accent. Would a program of instruction in conversational French not be a welcome addition to the C.B.C.'s Wednesday night programs?

People who have no acquaintance with any language but English are in a sense imprisoned by that fact; there is a powerful mental stimulus in the simple fact of being able to speak and read another language, however imperfectly; it breaks down barriers of thought and prejudice as nothing else can do. And in Canada we have many barriers which would yield, at least in part, to some acquaintance with the language of a third of our fellow-countrymen.

Good Spring Fiction

A LAMB FOR NIGHTFALL, by Erskine Caldwell (McClelland & Stewart)

ERSKINE CALDWELL HAS A reputation for writing indecent books. A year ago I was riding on a Toronto street car and noticed that the ticket-taker was absorbed in a paper-backed reprint; as I passed him he muttered, "Gee, this is the rawest book I ever read; wonder why they allow such stuff on the news stands". He then dived avidly back into the book which he had condemned. It was one of Caldwell's—"God's Little Acre". I have heard many similar comments on Caldwell's work from people who, in a very characteristic Canadian fashion, were guiltily delighted with a book which they felt they should not be reading.

This attitude toward Caldwell's work arises from a lack of understanding of what he seeks to do in his books. He writes about very disagreeable people, and he describes their behaviour with sometimes startling particularity. But he does not present his characters with approval, nor does he hold up their conduct as admirable. He presents them, rather, as examples of people who are the victims of poverty and ignorance; anyone who has even a nodding acquaintance with poverty and ignorance will not find his pictures overdrawn. Caldwell, as well as being a very able writer, is a moralist.

HIS LATEST NOVEL DOES not show the results of poverty and ignorance, but of pride and hatred. The scene is not the impoverished southern states of the U.S.A., but Northern Maine. The little town of Clearwater, once the preserve of Americans of English descent, has passed into the hands of Scandinavian, Russian, Finnish and French-Canadian settlers; this is a source of grinding resentment to the "petered-out" Americans, the richest of whom is Thede Emerson, who has $200,000 in the bank. Thede is a monster of hatred and prejudice; he permits his daughter to marry a French-Canadian in order to get rid of the expense of keeping her, and also in order to spite his petered-out American fellow-townsmen.

Thede reaps a bountiful harvest from the hate he has sown. His daughter loathes him; his wife is habitually unfaithful; his son is driven to suicide. But can it be said that Thede is down-cast? Not so. A man who has given himself up wholly to hatred may find a perverse glory in the fruits of hatred, and when last we see Thede he still retains what he calls his pride—what might more accurately be described as a vicious disdain for everybody else in the world.

Erskine Caldwell is a skilled and economical writer, and he tells his terrible story with his usual power. This is no bedtime story for the children, but it is a remarkable study of a horrible, yet common, attitude of mind, carried to unusual extremes.

THE PENNINGTONS, by Basil Partridge (Ryerson Press)

THIS CANADIAN NOVEL, a family history out of the deanery of a remote Anglican cathedral, before the Great War, should be a best-seller in Canada and the U.S.A. It is written by the youngest son of the first dean of Christ Church cathedral, Fredericton, and has an air of fond reality. The style is experienced (the writer is an advertising copy man,) the theme is benigh—all is for the best in this best of all possible worlds, the writer concludes—the setting and people are sincere, and the resolution of their problems is uncomplicated. It is a warm, human story that a casual reader will go along with happily and interestedly to the last page (284).

◇ ◇ ◇

MR. PARRINGTON (Mr. Partridge's dean) his wife and their numerous children, adolescent or mature, have their individual and family problems. Mrs. Dean has tantrums and in them bewails her present poverty in a big, draughty deanery in cold Canada, contrasting what she could have had in England if she had married another man. The dean is beloved, scholarly (decent Deans are generally scholars and gentlemen in books), does not fight for preferment, is under the thumb of the Bishop. A daughter, much like her mother, makes the mistake of marrying a country curate who will never have the gumption to advance in church politics. He is, of course, genteel though poor, and bears the beautiful name of Theodore Barrington-Brooke. A good sort, really; perhaps he made the mistake in marrying the rather unlikeable daughter.

NONE OF THE REST err by foregoing worldly success for genteel shabbiness. B. B. is enough to keep the family name safe from imputations of crass opportunism. Another daughter almost marries a Baptist, a husky lad of the country who gets a degree in science, but the author thinks better of this and has her marry a wealthy advertising man older than herself, in Rochester.

A younger son, Phillip, marries—horrors—a French-Canadian Catholic wench of petit bourgeois family. Really she is very nice, French-Canada (Montreal) is wonderful and their joie-de-vivre is beyond anything the deanery ever knew. Another daughter has already been married to a rising Westmount business man when the story opens; she is the first of the family to marry good money. Her chief cross is that she is childless, but before the story ends she is happily delivered of a child. The oldest son of the dean has gone to Rochester to seek his fortune, which he is gradually finding in the newspaper world. It becomes a sure find when he reluctantly yields to what proves a passionate interest in the only daughter (aged 30) of a dying, rough-diamond millionaire.

THE NOVEL IS IN FACT, a testament of the deserving good-fortune of children who happen to have been born in a Church of England deanery, well-bred, surrounded by culture and poverty and enough family unhappiness and ambition to get out of the deanery. Even Phillip (the best drawn character in the book) is on the high road to fair money as the story ends—despite his being a reporter and married into a French-Catholic family. You see, he leaves the reportorial and editorial side of the newspaper and goes into the business end of it. He realizes that this is the proper and wise course.

The story comes off because it is a work of affectionate recollection; skilfully augmented and selected. One cannot help but feel that the author's own family background is its woof, and that therein lies its reality, its humanity and its lack of depth.

WHEN AN AUTHOR IS AS close to his subjects as Mr. Partridge, perhaps he cannot see what really makes them think and move. Perhaps Mr. Partridge is uninterested in subtleties and underlying shadows. Perhaps he does not see them. At any rate, his characters and observances have no depth. Where he does stray from the surface, he is likely to be banal.

I applaud the author in creating a good, well-told family story without obtruding himself. This is not a first-rate novel, but it is a very good story for idle hours. I confess to having read the whole thing through and wallowing in its unfolding of beautiful successes. Everybody in the story is, really, terrible nice; both in Part I, in the deanery town; and in Part II, after the beautiful death of the beloved Dean, when the family moves out to a bigger U.S.A. world. The book deserves to be popular.

THE CRIPPLED MUSE, by Hugh Wheeler (Clarke, Irwin)

THE SUB-TITLE OF THIS BOOK is "A Novel of Capri", which at once prepares the reader for some satire, keen and critical. Mr. Wheeler does not disappoint; the book is always interesting and often very amusing. Whoever chooses to write about Capri challenges the shade of Norman Douglas, whose "South Wind" remains the greatest of the many books to be written about that island; It is to Mr. Wheeler's credit that the shade of Douglas does not utterly vanquish him.

THE STORY IS THAT OF AN American professor, Horace Beddoes, who goes to Capri to write a biography of one of its most celebrated inhabitants, Merope Sloane; this great American poetess has long been silent, but she may be seen from time to time on the island, in the company of her patroness. How Beddoes finds Merope, and what he finds out about her, forms the story of the book. But most of the fun in it is provided by the eccentrics and moral delinquents whom Horace meets and the influence which they have upon him.

The provincial pedant exposed to the wicked world is a good subject for fun, and Mr. Wheeler has handled the theme with a very nice quality of wit. He is never too funny at Horace's expense, and his grotesques are never go grotesque as to be inhuman. A first-rate book for readers who do not want to be serious but who do not want, on the other hand, to be silly.

IMPROVISING

Queen Juliana's Success

By KENNETH HARRIS (in Chicago)

THOUGH I would like very much to have been in Washington to witness the great enthusiasm which Queen Juliana and Prince Bernhard have created for themselves and for the Netherlands, I think I may have got a better impression of the impact they have made on the American people by reading about it out here, in Chicago, the great city of the isolationist mid-Western State of Illinois.

Illinois has been in the throes of an exciting election campaign, yet its most famous and influential newspaper, the Chicago Tribune, which also happens to be the most anti-European and anti-Royalist newspaper in the United States, has run story after story about the Queen, several times has had full columns on the front page.

While twenty Queen Julianas and twenty Prince Bernhards could not make the Chicago Tribune any less mournful about the amount of foreign aid being granted to Europe at the expense of the American taxpayer what Queen JuJliana has said about the subject seems to have made a striking and agreeable impact even in the columns of this stubborn and eccentric journal.

The outstanding contribution which the Queen has made to international understanding—the spirited and outspoken words in which she has urged the American people in the own interests—to continue their efforts to help Europe—might have done most good out here, in the mid-West, where, whatever their shortcomings, the people admire frankness and despise diplomatic tact.

It is specially valuable that this friendly candour should have come from the Queen of a small country. One of the things that makes mid-Westerners—and America's real wealth and power comes from the mid-West—feel dubious about foreign aid is their suspicion that the programme is carried out in the interests of the bigger countries like Britain and France.

At one time I thought it was a pity that Queen Juliana had not come out to the mid-West. But looking back on what I read here, and in the traditionally isolationist State of Wisconsin, I feel that she has been here, and in quite a big way.

SLUMP IN BEAVER

(Timmins Press)

The beaver has taken a beating. Or at least the beaver trapper has. Beaver fur, once regarded as the symbol of luxury and wealth, has given way to mink, Persian lamb, and even to some of the furs which are only "disguised" rabbit.

As a result beaver are selling for as little as $23 for the finest pelts . . . and there have been times when pelts brought as much as $70 each.

Most people today think of furs as mostly coming from fur farms. Actually a great portion of them come from the natural breeding grounds. Beaver is one fur which comes entirely from that source. One James Bay Indian, for instance, made $2,300 on beaver last year, even though prices were down. This year the price is so low he may leave the beaver to themselves.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

He that is our God is the God of salvation: and unto God the Lord belong the issues from death. (Ps. 68: 20.)

◇ ◇ ◇

And many of them that sleep in the dust of the earth shall awake, some to everlasting life, and some to shame and everlasting contempt. And they that be wise shall shine as the brightness of the firmament: and they that turn many to righteousness as the stars for ever and ever . . . Many shall be purified, and made white, and tried; but the wicked shall do wickedly: and none of the wicked understand; but the wise shall understand . . .

But go thou thy way till the end be: for thou shalt rest, and stand in thy lot at the end of the days. (Dan. 12: 2, 3, 10, 13.)

My brethren, count it all joy when ye fall into divers temptations; knowing this, that the trying of your faith worketh patience. But let patience have her perfect work, that ye may be perfect and entire, wanting nothing . . .

Blessed is the man that endureth temptation: for when he is tried, he shall receive the crown of life, which the Lord hath promised to them that love him (James 1: 2-4, 12.)

Mr. Otty Won't Pay Income Tax Twice

(From the Vancouver Sun)

We hope Mr. M. E. D. Otty's income tax trouble are just about over.

We're sure Ottawa can find a way to snip the red tape that binds him to owing $400 tax which the Income Tax Appeal Board is satisfied he paid six years ago.

Certainly no one wants to see Mr. Otty in the position so common in Russian short stories of Czarist times — where everyone admitted the man was innocent but unfortunately the regulations compelled them to hang him. With profound apologies, of course.

Mr. Otty as a salesman paid his income tax every three months. Once he got only the pencilled initials of a clerk on his form, but rushed off without the full official receipt, which he never did get.

Somehow the department lost track of his payment and now wants to collect it again.

The Appeal Board had little patience with the department's stout assertion that it couldn't make such a mistake.

But unfortunately the Board hasn't the legal power to deal with such cases so can't order income tax bloodhounds off Mr. Otty's trail.

We think enlightenment is sufficient in Canada to warrant the Federal cabinet issuing a brief order-in-council to cease and desist.

If the cabinet thinks it hasn't the power or won't use it, we'd advise Mr. Otty to sit tight.

We're sure the courts would deal most sympathetically with a man who won't pay income tax twice because the tax collector won't admit a fumble which is quite obvious to the Appeal Board.

SAVING UP

He had no time for his brother-in-law, and was always threatening him. At last his wife took him to task. "It's ridiculous for you to talk like that. You know it will cost you $50.00 if you touch him."

When a month had passed and he hadn't mentioned the name of his brother-in-law once, his wife expressed her pleasure. "So you've given up the idea of hitting my brother?"

"Given up?" he snorted. "I'm saving up!"

After the Fire of 45 Years Ago Hastings Was Laid Low

Hastings Never Recovered From The Fire Which Swept Main Street, April 1907 All But Two Razed Sites Are Still Ruins

By MRS. GERALD MARRYAT

Forty-five years ago, on the night of April 13-14, 1907, both sides of Front Street, west of Bridge Street, were swept by a fire which had its origin in a pan of hot ashes dumped outside the kitchen door at the Coughlan House. A strong northwest wind was blowing and in a matter of minutes the whole hotel was ablaze, cutting off the way of escape for some of the occupants and forcing the family of Phil Elmhirst, the proprietor, to seek safety outside on a small balcony, whence they were rescued by firemen; they barely escaped with their lives—losing everything.

This was one of the worst and most devastating fires in the history of a village that has been plagued by such holacausts from its very beginning, and although it has often been complimented upon for its power of resurrection, and likened to a Phoenix, rising from its ashes, this particular fire hit too many people too hard for their own good. With two exceptions the sites of those last buildings are ruins still.

Old Inn Went

The Coughlan house had been built by Timothy Coughlan, Sr. on the site of a lot granted to him in lieu of pay by the Hon. James Crooks. There he had erected one of the first houses in the place and therein he had kept a store and Inn, moving to his home on Victoria St. some years later.

Buck and Buck had a dry goods store next door, where Jim McCarthy was manager; this business was almost a total loss. On the corner stood an old frame building put up by Fowlds Bros. to replace a better structure demolished in what had previously been termed "the big fire" of May 1882. This corner had seen innumerable businesses come and go, and had latterly been known as Johnny Murray's butcher shop, but had been closed owing to Mr. Murray's tragic end by drowning on Nov. 2nd. 1906 while deer hunting.

Others in that building were an implement dealers and a barber shop. All were lost.

Across the street the flames were carried by the high wind with such force that it was a losing fight for the firemen almost from the start, although there was the usual argument afterwards about the fire-fighting strategy of trying to save the north side in stead of concentrating on the south side, and all that summer a controversy raged over the purchase of a new and better fire engine.

On the south side of Front Street the Tracey block at the corner contained a general store, liquor store and dwelling overhead, next to the west John Tracey had a bakeshop in a frame building. James O'Reilly, father of Mrs. John Sullivan kept a grocery store west again, and his advertisement told of a fine porcelain dinner set to be obtained by purchase of coupons for every 25 cent's worth bought there. Perhaps Mrs. Sullivan remembers who won it.

H. A. Wilson had a tailor shop next door and lost everything. He was a son of "Sandy" Wilson, one of three brothers who had reached Hastings in November, 1853, and who had seen the village grow from its beginnings to the modern business centre it had become in the preceeding half-century.

Dr. W. E. Wilson was a comparative new comer to Hastings but had headed the Poll as a Councillor in the January elections. His Dentist's equipment was lost but he was ready to resume his practice the very next week in the Post Office Block.

Heaviest Losers?

The Howards were probably the heaviest losers; but judging from their Insurance agency advertisement immediately following the conflagration, they were adequately insured. For, advised Mr. Howard, the good solid English companies were better able to stand the financial strain of such fires—better than some others. . . no names mentioned.

Mr. Tom Howard was agent for Railway and steamship companies and for the Dominion Express but evidently the telephone central had already been moved to J. H. McClelland's jewelry next door to the Clarendon Hotel. Howards had the first phone and the only one for public use about 1893. Their stock of harness, brushes, blankets, toys, oil stoves etc. was lost. I cannot find out who had the drug store at the end of the row. It had been Dilworth's a few years before.

Painted Back Drop

Old timebers in Hastings used to greet one of the back drops on the Town Hall stage with various reactions, but it was usually referree to sarcastically as "Hastings on a Busy Day" for although it was a perfect reproduction of that part of the village thus wiped out, there was not even a dog to be seen on the street. Jack Mann was the artist.

The Hastings Star was evidently sold out of copies that week but in its next issue the Editor, F. S. Hubbs, recorded that——

"Althought all the business section west of Bridge Street was practically destroyed and merchants who were burned out were without quarters wherein to do business, still most of them will have full stocks on hand by the end of this week in their temporary quarters, and will be able to look after the interests of their patrons as heretofore. Messrs. Buck, Buck and McCarthy had a stock of groceries in on Saturday and by next week will have a full stock. Mr. James McCarthy who has been manager for the last year has been taken into the business. Their new stand would be "on the bridge opposite the Post Office".

"Messrs T. E. and P. M. Howard have stock on hand already and are fitting up the Chapman block and will be ready in a few days."

"H. A. Wilson has the frame building next to the Star office and by the end of the week will be going ahead the same as before."

"H. M. Fowlds started excavating on Monday for their block on the corner and John Tracey will put up a fine building on the opposite corner as soon as the ruins can be cleared away and H. A. Wilson and T. Howard will be putting up newer and better buildings just as soon as they can get men to work, so that old residents returning in the fall will not be able to recognize very much of the burnt section from what was standing prior to Sunday's fire."

That was a very optimistic view of things; actually Hastings never recovered ground lost in that fire.

But life went on in spite of it and Bill Rice who had worked for John Tracey took over Murray's bakeshop. James O'Reilly went on acting as Government agent for Immigration. The homeless found shelter and one frantic mother was begging readers of the Star to tell her where a clothes basket full of children's wearing apparel, linens, sheets, clothing, etc lost during the fire could be located.

But every such fire halts the progress of a place; families are the great losers and documents and unreplaceable records are gone forever.

THE TABLES TURNED

Up, up! my Friend, and quit your books;
Or surely you'll grow double;
Up, up! my Friend, and clear your looks;
Why all this toil and trouble?

The sun, above the mountain's head,
A freshening lustre mellow
Through all the long green fields has spread,
His first sweet evening yellow.

Sterilize Soil Hot Water Treatment

By HENRY PREE (NEA)

The frequent rains during the past month have left the ground in such a moist condition that working with and in it, unless one is fortunate enough to possess a sandy loam, is not advised.

Digging in wet soil is apt to do more harm than good, so do not plow or spade the soil until it is dry enough to fall apart slowly when a little is squeezed in the hand. If it remains in a lump it is not dry enough to be worked.

Many gardeners start some vegetables and flower seeds indoors. The time to sow seed depends upon two factors, the weather and your ability to have your garden soil in readiness to receive the tender plants.

The general rule is to sow seed indoors, or in the hotbed, four to six weeks before the last frost-proof date in your locality. The ideal soil for starting seed indoors is an equal mixture of sand and peat moss. Garden soil is not recommended, and never should fertilizer be used in the mixture.

To avoid "damping off" of seedlings, sterilize soil with steam, hot water, or chemicals.

Most gardeners are inclined to be in a hurry when sowing seed. The result is they are sown too thickly, wasting seed and reducing the yield. Proper procedure is to sow only a little thicker than the stand you desire; this practice reduces labor of thinning out the plants, and also increases quality of the seedlings.

Success with starting seeds indoors requires considerable study and preparation. Frequently entire plantings are lost due to "damping off" a name applied to a disease which causes wilting and death of seedlings just as they push through the soil. It is the result of one or more fungus growths which live in the soil.

There is no remedy or cure, but "damping off" can be prevented to a large degree if soil and pots or flats are sterilized before seed is sown. Sterilization may be done by steam, very hot water and chemicals, such as formaldehyde.

The steam treatment is not simple for the average gardener, since a two-hour injection is necessary. Th hot water treatment is easy, as one need but to pour boiling water over the soil. Formaldehyde, commercial formalin, one part to 50 parts of water, is highly recommended. One gallon of the solution is used to one square foot of soil, six inches deep.

Pour the solution on the soil, cover with a thick cloth or heavy paper for 24 hours, then uncover and permit the soil to dry. I prefer the boiling water treatment, plus treating seeds with dry-dust chemical compounds.

Amount of dust that can be held on the big end of a toothpick is sufficient to treat a packet of seed. Dust is put in the pack with the seed, the pack closed and then shaken to thoroughly coat each seed.

Gardening Questions

Q—Please recommend a book on shrubs which will be helpful to a small home owner desiring to plant his own yard.—B. S.

A—"Shrubs and Vines for American Gardens" by Donald Wyman. Detailed information on the landscaping usefulness of various plants, autumn color, foliage color, winter beauty, as well as cultural data. Various special lists, recommendations, etc., make this work important to the amateur as well as the professional.

Q—We are moving and wonder if we can dig up a number of perennials, especially peonies, and transplant at this early season?
T. R.

A—Yes—dig carefully so as to injure as few roots as possible. This means deep digging of the peonies since their roots are long and very brittle. When planting be sure to set at the same depth as at present.

Q—How much pruning should be given young nursery-grown apple trees?

A—When planting two to three, well - spaced, strong lateral branches and a leader are selected and all other shoot growth is removed. The remaining branches each in turn are cut back a third of their length.

Q—Will you please let me know what to spray on shrubbery for spider mite?—J.O.

A.Red Spider and similar mites can be controlled by spraying with Dimite, Aramite or Vapatone. These should be available at the better garden supply shops.

WHAT LIFE GAINS FROM DEATH

If there were no death, neither you who read these words nor I who write them would ever have walked this earth; for long before we were ushered into life the world would have been filled to overflowing with a jostling crowd of human beings, cursed with the gift of physical immortality, and there would have been no elbow room for more. Death makes possible the transference of life, with all its opportunities, from one generation to another. If there were no death, life would become a thing stagnant, monotonous and unspeakably burdensome.

Famous Deaths—VI.

Caesar

Cassius: Pardon, Caesar; Caesar, pardon:
As low as thy foot doth Cassius fall,
To beg enfranchisement for Publius Cimber.

Caesar: I could be well moved, if I were as you;
If I could pray to move, prayers would move me:
But I am constant as the northern star,
Of whose true-fix'd and resting quality
There is no fellow in the firmament . . .
Let me a little show it, even in this;
That I was constant Cimber should be banished,
And constant do remain to keep him so.
Cinna: O Caesar,—
Caesar: Hence! wilt thou lift up Olympus?
Decius: Great Caesar,—
Caesar: Doth not Brutus bootless kneel?
Casca: Speak, hands, for me!
(Casca first, then the other Conspirators and Marcus Brutus stab Caesar)
Caesar: Et tu, Brute? Then fall, Caesar!
Cinna: Liberty! freedom! Tyranny is dead!
Run hence, proclaim, cry it about the streets.
Casca: Some to the common pulpits, and cry out
'Liberty, freedom and enfranchisement!'
Brutus: People, and senators, be not affrighted;
Fly not; stand still; ambition's debt is paid.

A·F·I·E·L·D with NICK NICKELS

Give us Peterburians three or four days of real spring weather in a row and we start getting mighty impatient for ice to clear from the Kawarthas. We buttonhole settlers on the city streets for the latest word and hang on their varied predictions of break-up dates with mouths agape, hoping.

Father Otonabee rolls through the district deep and cold. He surges about the abutments of control dams with all the weight of winter behind him. The first pickerel and suckers have arrived in the boiling whitewaters and muskies are pairing off to spawn in the shallowest reaches of marshes and tributary feeder streams.

We are proud of Father Otonabee. He is our most forceful reminder that another spring has arrived and he establishes our faintest local link with the earliest French explorer, Samuel de Champlain, who travelled this way 337 years ago. Champlain wrote in his travel journal at that time,

"It is certain that this country is very fine and of pleasing character."

TO COMMEMORATE AND VENERATE the voyage of our illustrious first tourist we call the various network of roads that roughly parallel the Trent drainage system, the "Iroquois Trail." The actual canoe route that bore him and 50 other Frenchmen and a Huron war party of 500 from Lake Couchiching to the eastern end of the great lake of the Entouhonorons (Ontario), has never been given a name.

Could we be bold enough to suggest that Champlain could quite easily not have come down the Otonabee at all?

Canadian historians have made a great to-do about the actual route that Champlain travelled, too; they are divided into three schools of thought, all of them with merit.

First of all they are unable to agree which overland route the Champlain war party took east from Lake Simcoe. Some say they portaged to Balsam Lake. Others argued that they went to Sturgeon Lake instead. But all agree that the party travelled on the main lakes chain as far as the centre of Buekhorn Lake. Then the argument starts all over again.

From this point there are three choices of routes:

(1) South down Chemong and by portage across to the Otonabee to where the present-day Simcoe St., meets the river.

(2) From Buckhorn east via Lovesick, Stony, Clear, Katchewanooka and into the Otonabee.

(3) Instead of turning south at Clear Lake the party continued East along Stony into Gilchrist Bay and the Indian River, thereby by-passing Father Otonabee altogether.

THE MOST POSITIVE THEORIST, G. H. Needler, professor emeritus of German, University of Toronto, pooh-poohs alternatives (1) and (3) and gives his reasons in no uncertain terms in a six-page pamphlet to the Ontario Historical Society. He champions the Otonabee route and will brook no criticism. But, since this is a free country, I shall challenge his theory.

Basing his proof that Champlain reported continually that his party "went down stream all the way", Mr. Needler says that the Otonabee was the only possible route and points out they would have had to portage over a height of land to reach the headwaters of the Indian River (Route 3).

This noble county stream enters directly into Stony Lake from Gilchrist Bay, and, as we have reported in this newspaper in Mr. Richard Choate's many interesting essays on the early days of the river, it has been shown by him that it was a very important watercourse 337 years ago. It drew off quite as much drainage water from the Upper Kawarthas as the Otonabee did and was, moreover, very free of rapids.

THE OTONABEE ROUTE was an endless series of rapids from Clear Lake to below Peterborough. Since the trip was made in September—at the season of lowest possible water levels, I cannot picture travel-wise Hurons taking their frail birch canoes down this ragged stream when they could slip down the Indian River and save themselves 25 or 30 miles into the bargain.

Champlain has certainly left us Peterburians in a dither.

My tall trout-fishin' contemporary fashioned himself a catch-all fishing vest from his old R.C.A.F. summer tunic. As he describes this weird looking garment, he hacked off the coat tails and the skirt, to somewhere around his belt buckle but cunningly left the large patch pockets flapping in the breeze to hold his varied gear. I have promised to lend him my deer-stalker's hat to round out the ensemble IF he will stay deep in the bank brush to keep from scaring both trout and fishermen.

ETC., ETC., ETC.,

From my Westwood listening post comes word that suckers have not arrived at that famous spot yet. Water is too high . . . By weekend the ice will have disappeared from Clear Lake. Most of the surrounding narrow lakes are ice-free but not in Stony. Settlers who cut ice on this wide expanse say it may be another week or ten days . . . Tried to get into the Ross L. Dobbin sub-station at Lily Lake this week but the uniformed gatekeeper said "No, phone Mr. Dobbin in Peterborough for permission." Did so. Said Ross, "Permission? Why I even have to get a pass from the power-that-be, myself. Sorry" . . . Smelting luck has been wonderful, fair, poor, depending on the individual and if he was at the right spot at the right time . . . Hon. SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

A driving force behind the Petes' senior ball efforts to field a contending and crowd-pleasing club in the revamped C.O.B.L. is the memory of the late Vern Dawson and George Clarke. Officials and players feel that they can't let the work these two men did in getting lights installed in Riverside Park go for nothing. Both of them died in the off season a years ago after seeing the floodlights turned on in the last part of the 1950 schedule. Both big fellows had done a tremendous job in raising funds and getting the okay for the arcs. Their work must not be in vain. That is why the Petes will be out there fighting this season under lights in the Central Ontario League.

* * * * * *

Petes have always proven a real drawing card around the Viaduct League and the C.O.B.L. It is significant that the club was welcomed back into the Central Loop after leaving it—along with Oshawa—two years ago. Significant, too, is the fact that Kingston passed up a proposed setup down Smiths Falls-Brockville way, including several teams from Northern New York State. The K's preferred a grouping with their old diamond rivals from Peterborough and Belleville, along with Napanee, Picton, Flyers and Batawa. A seven-team setup that should give local fans a better variety than the rather indifferent Viaduct League teams of Toronto did last summer.

* * * * * *

Wanted: Good Manager

No manager has been named for the Petes as yet, not until the 1952 executive has been put in office. Ed (Gunner) Whitehill has said he wouldn't take the job this year, and of course Eddie Murphy is not in town now. Good coaches like Cliff Cadd and Cy Whatley are probably available for that duty, but a playing-manager or a good bench pilot is required. He may be an import or they may get a capable chap here for the job, but he should be a proven performer. One who knows the game thoroughly, is a worker, and can handle players. And he should be named within the next two weeks—sooner the better—in order to get working on his squad, as play will open ere the end of May.

* * * * * *

Gord Snape has been hustling for some three months now in an effort to bring back a strong junior baseball squad. Has lined up a lot of players and obtained equipment and even has been acceptel into the Lakeshore League. But there's a catch to the entry—he must post a bond for $100 to secure his club fulfilling its obligations, and he must have this dough by May 10. Gord has exhausted his funds and his prospects in getting equipment, and could sure use a $100-sponsor, or the cash in various parcels. But he needs early action. Junior ball is the only answer to providing future senior material, and their loop games with Lindsay, Port Hope, Cobourg, et al, would be good diamond entertainment. Give us a call if you can help him.

Tune Up Gutted Strings

Local lacrossers are starting to loosen up these nice spring days. After all, this is April 19 and we're into May—first month of scheduled play—in a week and a half. Seniors really roll when they start training, and the junior Filter Queens, too, don't spare the gad any. The juniors drill at 6:30 Monday p.m. in the secondary bowl, as Miller Bowl is taken over by the older players. Everybody interested in a tryout is invited, as all positions are open for a time. Don't wait for a written invite or you'll still be waiting in July. Bob Thorpe is playing coach of the senior Petes' Timbermen this year, and Lou Vitarelli is back as skipper of the juniors.

Not many pro grapple shows left this season, but the merry matadors go again Tuesday night at the Brock Arena. Two headliners from Maple Leaf Gardens top the card here next week, Lord Athol Layton going against Yukon Eric. That one should bring 'em in from the district, too, as the Alaskan lumberjack had quite a following around these parts. They come to cheer him and boo the judo-chopping but smart Englishman. It takes a lot of his wicked slashes to bother the powerful Eric, built like a brick telephone booth. Both are powerful matmen at that. Warren Bockwinkle faces Bobo Brazil in the semi-final, while Charro Aztec is a newcomer here 'gainst Jim (the Bull) Wright in the prelim.

Guelph Wins 5-2 To Move Into Cup Finals

TORONTO, April 19 — (CP) — The East's standard-bearers in the Memorial Cup junior hockey final will be the Guelph Biltmores — a team which when it puts its mind to it can play dazzling hockey.

That's what they did Friday night in winning the Eastern championship against Montreal Canadiens, wrapping it up with a 5-2 win that gave them the best-of-seven series four games to two. The Bilts now meet the Western champs, either Regina Pats or Fort Wiliam Huricanes, in the Dominion junior final to be played in the East this year.

The Biltmores didn't leave any doubt in anybody's mind just how much better they were than the Canadiens. The wonder of it all is that they took so many games to do it considering how they finished off the Quebec champions.

They scored three goals in the first period without a reply and added another in the second period before the Canadiens in two quick scoring thrusts by Dave McCready put them briefly back into the game.

Hold Early Pace

That was their best period and early in the third frame they continued that pace, but when the Bilts got their fifth goal, there was little spark left to the Canadiens.

Ken Laufman, the Bilts' leading point-getter during the regular season, and Dean Prentice both tallied twice, while their other goal went to Ron Murphy.

Only the fact that Charlie Hodge played another outstanding game in the Montreal net kept the score as close as it was. He didn't have much chance on any of the Bilts' goals, and as in all the games except the fifth which Montreal won 1-0, got little help from his defence.

The Bilt forwards slitted through with little effort and kept buzzing around the Montreal cage with their pretty pattern passing plays which bewildered the Canadiens at times.

All Dangerous

All three Guelph lines were dangerous. The Canadiens were forced to rely on the line of Don Marshall, McCready and Les Lilley for their main attacking power and it held its own whenever it was on the ice.

Prentice on his first goal bulled his way from behind the Montreal net to get his first tally. He broke away from a Montreal power play all alone to score his second after Lilley made a vain attempt to catch him or throw him off balance.

Laufman's first goal came when he pivoted in front of the net and golfed a shot past Hodge. He snared his second after Hodge made great saves on previous shots by him and Murphy. He blasted the puck into the net when Murphy's rebound landed right where he was standing with no Canadien close.

Murphy got the Bilts' second goal on a waist-high shot from in front of the Montreal net where he was left uncovered.

Batting: Andy Pafko, Dodgers—Hit two home runs against New York, his second winning game in 12th inning 7-6.

Pitching: Duane Pillette, Browns—Became fourth straight St. Louis pitcher to go the route with five-hit win over Chicago 7-1, for fourth win in a row.

Volleyball Team Plays In Toronto

Peterborough's Y.M.C.A. volleyball team is taking part in a round robin series today in Toronto for the all-Ontario intermediate volleyball championship.

The Y team plays its first game against an Estonian team, Sokol, from Toronto, then follows up with games against Windsor Y.M.C.A., Sudbury Y.M.C.A., Hamilton Y.M.C.A., a Latvian team from Toronto called the Kalev, and finally ends with London Y.M.C.A.

The games will be played to 15 points for a winner declared after eight minutes of play. The two top teams will play a best-of-three series in the evening for the title.

Playing for Peterborough will be Errol Hanbridge, Lloyd Ash, Barney Dundas, Joe Stewart, Bill Edgar, Howard David and Fraser Wade. Two top performers, Ken Kingston and Gord Burns, are out with injuries.

Earlier this year the "Y" entry in the first round robin series easily disposed of Toronto Kodak and the University of Toronto.

Ft. Frances May Face Stratford

FORT FRANCES, Ont., April 19 (CP)—Fort Frances Canadians and Edmonton Pats meet here tonight in what may be the final game in their best-of-seven series to decide who meets Stratford Indians in the Allan Cup hockey final.

Edmonton stands on the brink of elimination from the Western Canada final, led by Canadians 3-1 with one game tied.

A victory or a tie tonight will pit Fort Frances against Indians. Canadians represented the west in the dominion final last year but lost out to Owen Sound Mercuries.

Following Canadians' convincing 7-1 victory over Pats Thursday, Edmonton coach Jimmy Graham said: "We're playing right into their mitt."

Graham has lots of respect for any club but even more for Canadians. He hasn't said what changes he will make for tonight's crucial game.

Coach Joe Balzan of Fort Frances was more emphatic:

"Don't think we'll be playing for any tie Saturday," he said. "We're out to win it by as many goals as we can."

Toronto Cliftons Trip Cornwall Girls 56-40

CORNWALL, Ont., April 19 — (CP) — Toronto Cliftons Friday night defeated the Cornwall Frenettes 56-40 to take the first game of a two-game series for the Dominion intermediate women's basketball championship.

The next game in the total-point series will be played here tonight.

Top scorer for the Toronto team was Terry Jones, who used her six feet, two inches of height to tally 21 points. For Cornwall, Elita Thompson scored 13.

Swimmers Try For Ont. Title In Meet At 'Y'

Swimmers from Southern Ontario centres will be competing tonight at the Y.M.C.A. pool for one Ontario indoor title and 12 other invitation events in the first swimming meet this year.

This meet will be the first in several years which has included girls' events as well as boys. Twelve races form the day's card.

Until Friday night more than 60 swimers, 20 from the Peterborough Y.M.C.A. and Y.W.C.A. had entered. Others were from Toronto West End Y.M.C.A., Hamilton Aquatic Club, Welland Wurbagoll, Woodstock Y.M.C.A., London, and Toronto Lakeshore Swimming clubs.

The Ontario title, the feature event is for boys under 12 years, 100 yards free style. Swimming for Peterborough will be Michael Triggs, Peter Wood and Ross Reid while outsiders include Bill Sanders of Woodstock, Bob Carson of West End Y and A. Zelenski of Hamilton.

Don Wood will be competing for the Y.M.C.A. club in the senior men's 800-yard free style swim against Jon Houch and John Thompson, both of London Y.

Junior Class

In the junior men's class John Boorman, Scott Pearton, Jim Starr and Terry Northdrop will form the relay team for the 160-yard swim. Woodstock, London and Toronto have teams entered.

Pearton is also entered in the junior men's 200-yard back stroke event while Pearton, Starr, Boorman and Northrop are all in the men's 100-yard free style.

Ross Dobbin, Bill Doherty and Peter Faulkner will carry Y.M.C.A. colors in the under 14 years 100 yards free style. Dobbin will also swim in the same class in the breast stroke.

Terry Reid and Wilton Tranter will swim in the under 15 years 100 yards free style.

The girls, making their first appearance in some cases in competition, have a fairly strong representation.

Rosemary Epston has been entered in the youngest class, under 10 years, 20 yards free style. In the under 12 years, 40-yard free style swim. Gail Wilkinson, Carol Howe and Donna Merrett will be competing.

Dorothy Kingston, June Merrett and Eleanor Standish will be swimming in the under 14 years 40-yard free style and will combine with Joan Weir to form the relay team in the girls under 14 class.

A diving exhibition will be presented by the Y.W.C.A. girls, Dorothy Kingston, Eleanor Standish, Carol Howe, Margo Huffman and Sandra Wood.

Montreal, Leafs Win I.L. Games

By The Canadian Press

Ottawa Athletics, still looking for their first International League victory, will be glad to get away from Bubba Phillips for a while.

The 22-year-old outfielder, described as the "most promising player in the Detroit farm system," played a major part in Buffalo's 8-5 victory over the Athletics Friday.

He pounded out a double, two singles, stole home and drove in three runs.

Rookies Paul Foytake and Ralph Poole limited Ottawa to eight hits while the undefeated Bisons collected 10 hits off Ed Hrabcsak.

The pennant-favored Montreal Royals amassed 17 hits and breezed to 11-4 triumph over Syracuse Chiefs. Junior Gilliam and Charlie Thompson led the assault with two-run homers. Rookie Gil Mills scattered 10 Syracuse hits.

Rochester and Springfield battled to a 4-4 10-inning tie. The game was called to permit Rochester to catch a train.

Duke Markell gave up six hits as he pitched Toronto Maple Leafs to a 13-0 victory over the Baltimore Orioles. The Leafs collected 15 hits including home runs by Bobby Rhawn, Lew Morton and Charlie Grant.

Here and There In Sport

Nineteen Canadians are scheduled to run in today's famed Boston marathon but none of them is favored.

Seeded to finish high up in the 26-mile, 385-yard grind are United States champion Jesse Van Zant, his Boston Athletic Association teammate, Johnny Lafferty and Luis Valezquez of Guatemala. Last year the race was won by Shigeki Tanaka of Japan.

Canadians, however, have figured prominently in the annual classic in years gone by. Quebec's Gerald Cote won four times but he will be among the missing today.

Most of the 19 Canadians in a field of 198 are from Toronto and Montreal, including the veteran Lloyd Evans. He finished fifth in 1944 and 1945 but dropped back to seventh in 1946 and 1948 and was 11th in 1947.

But Canadians in the marathon—this is the 56th sponsored by the Boston A.A.—are always a threat. And the experts look to the Canadian entrants for darkhorses who may finish high up in the finish.

Roland La Starza scored a technical knockout Friday night at New York's St. Nicholas Arena over Joe McFadden at 2:07 of the fifth round of their heavyweight battle. La Starza opened an old gash over McFadden's eye and kept pounding until referee Ruby Goldstein stopped the contest.

Chico Vejar continued on his hunt for the lightweight boxing crown Friday night when he punched out a unanimous decision over hard-hitting Johnny Defazio in 10 rounds at the Cleveland Arena. Vejar had Defazio on the verge of a knockout in the late rounds.

New York Yankees Friday retired Joe DiMaggio's No. 5 uniform to the Hall of Fame. It goes along with Babe Ruth's No. 3 and Lou Gehrig's No. 4. The Olympic flame will be flown from Athens to Aalborg, Denmark, the 1952 Olympic games in Helsinki. At Aalborg, runers will pick up the flame and carry it through Denmark, Sweden, around the Gulf of Bothnia, through Finland to Helsinki.

Halfback George Festeryga has decided to stay in Western Canada for another year. Manager Al Anderson of Edmonton Eskimos announced the Canadian star has signed his 1952 contract. Edmonton will also try out two Vancouver Meralomas when spring training begins May 12.

The Florida Racing Commission has announced the life suspension of jockey Nunzio Pariso for attempting to use an electric buzzer on his mount at Gulfstream Park, Miami. He had been a jockey for 25 years.

Indians Scalp Pembroke To Win Title

STRATFORD, Ont., April 19—(CP)—Stratford Indians are the new Eastern Canada senior hockey champions.

Ron Aitken, an unassuming guy with a yen for scoring goals, last night paced the Indians to a 6-4 win over Pembroke Kings and moved them right into the thick of a fight that could net the club its frst Allan Cup.

The flashy right winger potted three goals, enough to give the Ontario Hockey Association Senior "A" champions their margin of victory. With it went the Eastern Canada title and the right to advance into the Allan Cup finals.

Although the Eastern Canada Hockey League champion Pembroke club fought hard, there was little doubt of the winners from the opening whistle. Stratford led 1-0 in the first period and 4-2 in the second. The victory gave them the best-of-seven series 4-1.

Now the Indians are forced to await the Western titleholders. Fort Francis Canadians currently lead the best-of-seven final series 3-1 and could eliminate Edmonton Pats in the fifth game tonight.

With the Allan Cup finals scheduled on Western ice, Stratford officials intimated last night they were ready to fly to Edmonton should the Pats win or entrain for Fort Frances if the Canadians come through.

However, if the Canucks win the Western title, there is a chance they will play their home games in the larger Sault Ste. Marie Memorial Gardens instead of at home. The Sault is some 500 miles southeast of Fort Frances.

Aitken led the Indians' attack with his trio of goals while Billy Flick came through with a pair and Don Heinbuch added the other. Jim Maxwell potted a pair for the Kings with the others going to Johnny Choyce and Twain Simon.

The game was a rugged affair, but only six penalties were handed out. Five of them came in the first period and the other in the second.

Pembroke gave the Stratford fans a scare in the final period by deadlocking the issue midway through the 20 minutes of play. The Indians held a 4-2 edge going into the session but Choyce and Simon tallied within two minutes of each other to knot the count.

Seven minutes later, Billy Flick caught the top corner to put the Indians into a lead once again and with Murphy out of the nets in favor of an extra forward in the dying minutes, Aitken filled the empty net from 60 feet out.

Horse Gets Water Only At Bar In Brooklyn

NEW YORK, April 19 (AP).—They didn't have to yell "get a horse" at a Brooklyn bar Friday night—they had one.

The customers were lined up at the Step Inn Bar and Grill when the animal clomped in, stuck its head over the bar, and waited.

The bartender drew a pail of water, and Bozo—the horse—downed it noisily.

Then a man at the end of the bar spoke up. He was Joseph Nardilillo. He said he had been riding Bozo through a park, got thirsty, and decided to stop for a drink.

Bozo, apparently not securely tied, got the same idea.

Remember When—

By The Canadian Press

Gerard Cote of St. Hyacinthe, Que., won his second successive Boston marathon eight years ago today. Cote, then a Sergeant in the Canadian Army, finished in two hours, 31 minutes 2/5 seconds. The Olympic record is two hours, 29 minutes, 19 1/5 seconds, set by the Japanese Kitae Son at Berlin in 1936.

Yankees' Policy In '51 Pennant Takes Its Effect

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK, April 19 (AP)—There is no doubt in our minds that the phenomenal success of the Yankees last season in jumping a group of juveniles from the far outposts right to the parent club without the customary "seasoning" in the high minors already has had a profound effect on a lot of other owners and managers.

It was something new at Spring Camp a year ago in Phoenix to find that the most talked about players on the Yank squad, Mickey Mantle and pitcher Tom Morgan, were not even on the Bombers' roster. It was even more surprising when they wound up the campaign as regulars, and when Gil McDougald hopped straight ffrom the Texas League to lead the world champions at bat.

This seemed more or less revolutionary at the time, and it is possible that old Casey Stengel was just plain lucky. Maybe it couldn't happen again, but it plainly set some other smart baseball men to thinking. The evidence is in nearly every big league box score. We doubt there ever before were as many totally unfamiliar names.

Cut And Dried

There was a time when a reporter in the spring could sit down with a manager and a club roster and within 10 minutes have all the information he needed to wise up his readers in the north. It was pretty much cut and dried. What rookies there were either showed by their records in the fast minors that they were ready or that they needed, as the manager would say, "another year or two out." A reporter seldom missed a golf date.

It wasn't that way this spring. You first discussed briefly with the manager the athletes who actually were on his official club roster. You learned there were two, possibly three rookies on the list who had excellent chances of starting the season as regulars. Then you asked "all right, now, what have you got?"

"The kid playing centre field, the one who just hit that triple," the pilot would respond, "he isn't on the roster. He's only 19 and he played in Class D last year, but he showed me so much I'm going to keep him. What the hell, we might as well find out right now if he can make it. Same with those kids at short and second. They're right out of college and haven't played any pro ball, but both of 'em can run like deer and they have good throwing arms. There's three or four young pitchers, too. They're listed with our farm teams but I'm going to give them a real chance."

This was a typical conversation. It meant keeping a careful check for days and weeks to see whether the manager really was serious about carrying the young marvels.

It turned out that in a surprising percentage of cases he was. Second division clubs, in particular, are giving youth a fling as they never did before.

PCVS Hoopsters Drop From Meet, Lose To Hamilton

KINGSTON, April 19—(CP)—Belleville and Peterborough were dropped from further "A" competition in the Queen's basketball tournament Friday as Sudbury downed Belleville 39-29, and Hamilton Centrals scored a 34-29 win over the Petes after the score was tied 15-15 after the first half.

Albert College, Belleville, knocked off the favored Port Hope squad 40-28 to enter the consolation finals in "C" section while Brockville did the same trick against Ottawa Nepean in the "B" section consolation semi-finals.

As a result, Athens will play Albert College, Pembroke, Brockville and Hamilton, Sudbury this afternoon for the right to enter the finals against their respective winning bracket opponents — Copper Cliff, Welland and Niagara Falls tonight.

Niagara Falls Central Collegiate won the "A" section of the tournament with a 50-53 victory over Hamilton Central.

Linwell College took the "B" title with a 35-34 decision over Brockville Collegiate. Albert College took the "C" section from Copper Cliff Collegiate.

Niagara Falls gained the final by downing Peterborough 64-25 while Hamilton tipped Sudbury 31-30.

Brockville clipped Pembroke 39-34 while Linwell dropped Ottawa Nepean 47-35.

Albert College came through with a 40-34 win from Athens in the "C" section of the semi-finals. Copper Cliff defeated Port Hope 39-36.

Dick McKenzie, of Niagara Falls, was judged the most valuable player in the "A" section, while Jim Harrison, of Linwell, won the "B" section honors. Bill McKay, of Copper Cliff, was the M.V.P. in "C" section.

Down East Team Asks C.A.H.A. Investigation

LUNENBURG, N. S., April 19—(CP).—Lunenburg Falcons are asking an investigation into why they weren't allowed to advance into the Eastern Canadian Intermediate hockey playoffs.

They tried to arrange a series with Brockville Magedomas, but failed and that team now has folded for the season. The Canadian Amateur Hockey Association also was not interested.

Falcons have asked Hanson Dowell, former C.A.H.A. president to probe the matter.

Rumor Hotspur Star To Locate In Canada

LONDON, April 19 (CP). — Leslie Medley, star British soccer player with top-ranking Tottenham Hotspur, has been omitted from the club list for Tottenham's Canadian tour next month, it was learned today.

The omission left credence to strong rumors in sports circles that if Medley went to Canada he might "forget" to come back. Medley was in Canada with the R.A.F. during the war, married a Canadian girl and played with Toronto Greenbacks.

Medley was unavailable for comment today on reports that his wife, Thelma, who comes from Hamilton, Ont., would like to go back to Canada and stay there.

Hot Browns Lace Chicago By Lopsided 7-1 Score; Lead A.L. With Four Straight

By JACK HAND, Associated Press Sports Writer

The giddy St. Louis Browns are beginning to remind folks of the 1944 team that set a league record by winning its first nine games. In case it slips your memory, that wartime collection copped the only American League pennant in Brownie history. Nobody was stunned by the way Brooklyn and Cleveland broke out of the gate.

After all, they were the "experts" picks to meet in the world series. But four straight by the Browns—well, that was a different matter.

Who thought the first four Brown starting pitchers would go the route? Ned Garver, yes. But Bob Cain, Tommy Byrne and Duane Pillette? Never.

Pillette became the fourth starter to go all the way Friday when the retread Browns played before the home folks. The former Yankee stuffed a five-hitter down the throats of Chicago White Sox to win, 7-1.

Last year the White Sox were running wild, startling the dignified league with their daring running. Now they're left at the post, beaten four in a row.

Five in the eighth nailed down the St. Louis decision with catcher Clint Courtney's bases-loaded triple doing the most damage. Less Moss hit Chuck Stobbs for a homer in the fifth to tie the score and Dick Khyhoski doubled home a run in the sixth for a 2-1 edge. Then came the eighth-ining assault.

Bob Feller, the last of Cleveland's "Big Four" to start, thrilled a home crowd of 56,068 by winning the Tribe's fourth straight, 5-0, over Detroit. Feller, now 31, lost his control with one out in the ninth when he walked three. Bob Lemon came in to make pinchhitter Steve Souchock ground into a game-ending double play. It was Feller's seventh win in 10 opening games.

Chunky Connie Marrero made the world champion New York Yankees pop his slow stuff into the air to spoil the Yankee Stadium opener with a 3-1 Washington victory.

A flareup between Phil Rizzuto and catcher Mickey Grasso of Washington added a little fire to the game, played before 45,240. Next time up Rizzuto ducked away from a fast ball. Grasso also hit the deck the next time he faced Allie Reynolds.

Reynolds gave up the winning runs in the fourth when he hit Eddie Yost with the bases full to force in one run and then walked Gil Coan on four pitches.

Pinch-hit Wins

Clyde Vollmer got into the game as a pinch hitter to deliver two key hits in Boston's 5-4 win over the Philadelphia A's in 10 innings. Vollmer's pinch single followed by Jim Piersall's double off rookie Tex Hoyle touched off a three-run spurt that tied the score in the ninth. Vollmer's second hit in the 10th scored Faye Throneberry with the winning run.

Brooklyn rolled to its fourth straight on Andy Pafko's second home run of the day to nip the New York Giants, 7-6 in 12 innings.

Brooklyn chased Jim Hearn and Hoyt Wilhelm to score four runs in the first two innings, finally tied the score at 6-6 on Jackie Robinson's homer in the eighth and gave bonus kid Billy Loes his first big league victory on Pafko's smash. Handy Andy hit his first homer in the seventh.

Sid Gordon and Willard Marshall smashed successive homers in the ninth after Russ Meyer pitched two-hit shutout ball for 8 1-3 innings to give Boston a 3-2 edge over the Phillies. Jim Wilson and relief winner Lew Burdette set down the Phils with only three hits.

Cards Trumped

The Chicago Cubs climbed into second place by chasing their old nemesis, Harry Brecheen, to score four in the ninth and shade the St. Louis Cardinals, 5-4. Bill Serena, batting for winner Bob Schultz, drove home the tying and winning runs with a double. Del Rice hit a two-run homer for the Cards off starter Bob Rush in the sixth.

Pittsburgh blanked Cincinnati 3-0, on the five-hit pitching of 21-year-old Bob Friend. Home town boy Bobby Del Greco, making his debut before 29,874 Pirate fans, scored a smash hit with a triple and two singles off Ewell Blackwell and Frank Smith.

The eight secondary openers attracted 223,432 as compared to 143,079 who saw the rain-swept six openers on Tuesday.

Pats Down One In Semi-Finals

REGINA, April 19 (CP) — Coach Murray Armstrong of Regina Pats says "we'll be tough to beat" as Pats and Fort William Hurricanes prepare for tonight's sixth game of the Western Canada Memorial Cup hockey final.

Pats lead the best-of-seven series 3-2. After coming from behind in the series, the Regina team is in a position to gain their second western title in three years by winning tonight.

Armstrong's Pats trailed 2-1 in games after a trio at Fort William, but since have won two straight at home.

The fast-skating Pats have outsped the Hurricanes in the last two games. Hurricanes have tired badly during the third period of each game.

"If our boys can keep up the pace, Hurricanes will have a tough job cut out for themselves," said Armstrong.

Pats rested yesterday and skipped a skating drill.

Silent Lous Passador, Hurricane coach, sent his club through a drill yesterday morning. He is expected to use the same line-up tonight as Thursday.

Law And The Law Of Love

"The law given by Moses, but grace and truth came by Jesus Christ," says John 1:17. In that statement is indicated the greatness of law, but also that there is something greater than law.

Every reader of the Old Testament is familiar with the preeminent place of "the law," in the historical books, the Prophets, and especially in the Psalms.

The Jewish division of the Old Testament was into three parts: The Law, consisting of the first five books of the Bible, attributed to Moses; the Prophets; and the Writings.

Among every people law has been a necessary factor in the development of unified and civilized society from primitive, chaotic, and lawless conditions. Almost on the verge of [illegible]own times one can see how [illegible]rocess of law operated in our frontier communities and mining camps.

In "the law of Moses," despite a multitude of details that the modern reader may find it difficult to apprehend, the basic purpose is clear.

It was to protect the welfare and well-being of the community, and the liberties and rights of all, against those who might wish to exploit and grab for themselves. And along with this, as a very important factor, was the protection of the health of the community. Many laws dealt with sanitation.

How intense was this purpose to protect the whole community against the selfishness and lawlessness of the individual is illustrated in the grim and terrible punishment inflicted upon Achan and his family (Joshua 7), when Achan stole for himself what rightly belonged to all.

Today, at a time when many are risking and giving their lives for their county, it is evident that others in this crucial time are grabbing and profiteering for themselves.

One would not want to see these anti-patriots and their families burned to death, but we might well have in modern society a measure of the ancient Israelitish concern to curb such grabbers and grafters.

An inherent, but unfortunate as-

MAIN STREET TOPICS

RADIO SPEAKER

Mrs. R. J. Ward, executive secretary of the Tuberculosis Association was the speaker today on the Federation of Agriculture broadcast. She discussed the activities of the association.

EASTER SEALS

The Peterborough Rotary Club has collected $3,435 of its objective of $10,000 to date in this year's Easter Seal campaign.

BREAKS SIGNAL LIGHT

A tractor-trailer Friday afternoon knocked off a C.P.R. signal light while going south on George St., at the C.P.R. station. The signal light was broken off and the truck continued on.

STILL UNCONSCIOUS

Mrs. Edna Atkinson, 53, of Burleigh Falls, remains in "just fair" condition in Civic Hospital, the result of a fall downstairs Thursday night. She has been unconscious since the accident. Several stitches were required to close a bad gash in her head.

NOT BRANDED STOCK

Two Lindsay butchers claim that the beef sold in Peterborough and other centres at a 10 per cent per pound discount is not red or blue brand beef. This meat is from "heifery cows" and not good quality steers, they said.

ATTEND CONFERENCE

William McFarlane, Y.M.C.A. boys' work secretary, Dave Fanning and Larry Forbes, of the Michron Hi-Y club, are attending the annual Hi-Y conference in Toronto this weekend. One of the Hi-Y discussion leaders, Mr. McFarlane will lead the boy and girl relationship group.

HOLD CHURCH PARADE

Peterborough's reserve army units, the 50th H.A.A. Regiment and the 28th Technical Squadron, will parade to St. John's Anglican church Sunday morning. The Rev. Walter Gilling, regimental chaplain, will be guest speaker while Archdeacon W. P. Robertson will conduct the service.

FIRE THREATENS BARN

A grassfire sweeping west toward Erskine Ave. Friday afternoon threatened the barn of Mrs. Rose Minicola, located just south of Gillespie St. Mrs. Minicola called the fire department and seven handpumps were used to put out the blaze. There have been half a dozen grassfires in the southwest corner of the city this week, all of them started by mischievous boys.

LINDSAY PARENTS

Able Seaman William Hunter, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Hunter, Scotch Line, Lindsay, is one of the men who was dumped into the Atlantic Ocean when two navy planes collided. It is believed that some of the airmen may have survived. Able Seaman Hunter's wife lives in Dartmouth, N.S.

SMITH PUMPER OUT

Smith township's fire department had an alarm early Friday night. They went out to the bungalow owned by Clarence Mann on the Centre Line of Smith. A hoseline was extended from the pumper and the chimney fire was extinguished in a few minutes. There was no damage.

HOOFS HAMMER TURF daily at the exhibition grounds since the harness racing horses have returned to Peterborough. The present stable occupants will be leaving Tuesday for meets in Quebec while Peterborough district stables will take over for spring exercises. There's plenty of work looking after the racers as Roy Murduff (top left) will agree as he waters J. J. Crowley's Jimmy Forbes. Ed Collins (lower left) applies a coat of paint to Scott Empress' hoof to prevent softness. This is what the horses like (right photo), a good trot around the track. 30 Key Clubbers At Ottawa Convention

More than 30 boys from the St. Peter's and the P.C.V.S. Key Clubs are attending the annual Key Club convention being held this year in Ottawa.

The boys went up by bus Wednesday afternoon and are staying for the weekend. Four members of the Kiwanis Club, which sponsors the Key Clubs, are accompanying them: President Walter Howell, Charles Huffman, Gordon Hancock and Jim Hendry, chairman of the Kiwanis Key Club committee.

Highlight of the convention was an address Friday by Prime Minister St. Laurent.

Last year the convention for the Quebec, Ontario and Maritimes was held in Peterborough. About 200 attended and the same number were expected in Ottawa.

Jack King of the P.C.V.S. Club is the District Governor.

Mild Evening Brings Out Swarm Of Smelters

Smelt fishermen swarmed out along creeks flowing into Lake Ontario for most of the mild Friday night.

The smelt obliged just enough to keep the fishermen interested, but not enough to burst any sacks. At one small creek west of Port Hope, men were out early in the evening while the sky was still light.

They kept coming all evening and when some were leaving with a modest catch about 11 p.m., others were just arriving full of high hopes.

A few wives and one or two children came along to watch the sport and clean out the nets as their husbands brought the small silvery fish one or two at a time.

The lake was quiet enough, with just a small swell, to encourage the fishermen to wade out and get water over the tops of their rubber boots.

Mostly Smelt Nets

Most of the smelters were equipped with some sort of light and a net on a handle. Some stood poised at the mouth of the small creek ready to swoop on any fish they saw trying to get up the creek. Others made sweeps in the water along the shore hoping to net the fish as they came into shore looking for the creek.

A few had seine nets and waded out in their waist boots and brought in something every time. But often there were more catfish than smelt. They kept them all. A few bass and some large suckers were brought in. The bass were conscientiously thrown back in and the suckers given to anyone who wanted them.

The catch wasn't big, but the fishermen were enjoying the night and it was something to do until the trout season opened May 1.

Cancer Drive $4,598 Short Of Objective

The Peterborough unit of the Canadian Cancer Society fell $4,598 below its $8,815 objective in the unit's campaign for funds held in February.

Mrs. Maurice Holt, president, said that only $4,217 had been collected in the county campaign. She was reporting to the regular monthly meeting of the Peterborough unit's regular monthly meeting held Thursday night in the Public Library.

Dressings Made

The campaign was sponsored by the Peterborough Junior Chamber of Commerce. It was decided at the meeting that a complete canvass had not been made due mainly to the lack of canvassers. Many of the rural districts were not canvassed and also the towns of Havelock and Norwood. It was decided that the campaign would be continued unofficially in the hope that people in the county would send in donations.

The money raised in this campaign is used to help in educating the public in the early symptoms of cancer; welfare problems as they apply to the cancer patient and in research.

Mrs. John Bradshaw, chairman of the local unit's welfare committee reported that 771 dressings had been made since Jan. 16. The following groups and organizations made the dressings: the Married Couples Group of Murray St. Baptist Church, Gleaners Group of Park St. Baptist Church, Stewart Hall Red Cross, 57th Regiment Chapter I.O.D.E., and a private group under the leadership of Mrs. James Tinney.

Alderman Gets Zoning Change

Transfer of the Anglesey funeral home to its new location will be made after Monday, April 28, when Dr. F. P. McNulty vacates the residence of his family for many years at the southwest corner of Hunter and Stewart Sts. They are moving to a new home in Lindsay. Dr. McNulty was at one time an outstanding surgeon in Peterborough until failing sight compelled his retirement from practice.

Use of that corner as the new premises of the Anglesey funeral home was approved by the Ontario Municipal Board when no objections were received from any of the 200 residents of that locality who had been informed by letter of Ald. Anglesey's application.

Previously, it was endorsed by the city planning committee. The area under the proposed zoning bylaw was not open for commercial use. The amendment has opened the area to multiple family dwellings, which provides for funeral homes.

Ald. Anglesey absented himself from council's committee hearing, and was represented by his solicitor at the session of the city planning committee.

Harness Horses Work Out Get Ready For New Season

Pounding horses hoofs are heard daily now at the exhibition grounds track after an absence of five months. Spring training has started for another raft of summer and fall harness racing meets in Ontario and Quebec. After a winter's run at the Dufferin track in Toronto, a number of Peterborough, Toronto and Western Ontario stables have moved into the exhibition grounds. There they are keeping in condition for early track meets in Quebec.

W. C. Guise, a trainer, explained that these stables chose Peterborough because it has the best conditioned track on the way to Quebec. Despite the weekend's rain the track was in top condition this week for afternoon workouts.

Visiting horses will be pulling out of the exhibition park stables, probably on Tuesday, when they will leave for Quebec races. There the harness racing starts on May 20, in Quebec City. A few owners mentioned moving farther east later in the spring to Nova Scotia's Cape Breton area.

After they leave, the local stables will likely be occupied by Peterborough district harness racing owners such as Hugh Stewart, Doc Johnson, Charlie Fife, and Stan Blewett.

Try New Horses

That will begin a trial period for new horses. From then until May 24, the usual tryout period, the green horses will be put through their paces and trots to determine how they'll be for the summer run.

Already a number of Peterborough-owned horses have been working out at the track.

On Wednesday Stan Blewett had his popular Victory Hy, world champion heat winner, out for its first workout. The blind horse easily cruised around the track with a pleasing time for its first.

All eyes were open when Mr. Blewett brought out his recently-acquired Gadabout. After several jaunts about the track, spectators could see that Mr. Blewett has probably another winner.

Others on the track were Doc Johnson's Lady Victoria and Stewart's Miss Stewart Direct. Jim McIntyre was working with Johnson's horse, while Hugh Jr. was driving his dad's.

Work days at the track are generally known as Tuesday and Friday. Then the horses breeze around the track testing their times and building up their condition. Monday, Wednesday and Saturday are jog days when the horses are only exercised for four or five miles.

The bulk of the work with the horses is inside the stables. There besides the usual barn cleaning the horses are rubbed down, combed, fed and watered. Special care is taken with the horses' legs and hoofs which require painting to keep them from becoming too soft.

There's still plenty of work to do before the season actually bursts open providing glory for owners, riders and horses.

Sportsmen Show Taking Shape

The third annual Sportsmen's Show on May 1, 2 and 3, sponsored by the Peterborough Fish and Game Protective Association, is shaping up well, officials say.

Street raffle tickets for boat and motor are popular and the sale satisfactory. Additional lucky prizes will be dropped by air during show time and a high-calibre continuous two-hour stage show is promised. Public square dancing will be held each night from 10:30 to 11 and there will be an old time fiddlers' contest.

Reports that the R.C.A.F. Band from Ottawa will feature in the opening night parade is a false rumour, say show managers, as is the story that both Air and Sea Cadets will participate.

They are hopeful, however, of having a city band as well as a string of saddle horses, decorated bicycles for boys and girls, with a prize for the best of each, and floats.

As from Friday, deputy game wardens of their club and department men are on 24-hour vigil at the Lower Locks to see that no game fish are taken during the sucker haul.

Zacks' Property Sold, Will Start New Building

The Zacks property on the west side of George St., the ground scar of the fatal fire last May 19, has passed into the hands of Principal Investments Ltd., Toronto.

Work on their projected new building, the main floor of which will be occupied by Metropolitan Stores Ltd., may be begun next week. It was reported that the final detail in the preliminaries of construction is the completion of survey by John G. Pierce.

Negotiations for purchase have been in progress for some months between Principal Investments and the Zacks estate, for whom the signatories were Harry Zacks and his mother, Mrs. Minnie Zacks, now of Kitchener, and widow of Moses S. Zacks. Her signature to the agreement of sale was obtained in Kitchener Wednesday by Lorne Bateman of Sands and Bateman.

As previously reported, Principal Investments have planned floor-area stores in eastern Ontario. The building will be carried into the second storey.

H. Deneau Remanded To Whitby

Held For Murder Of Farmer; Under Observation

COBOURG, April 19 (ENS) — Harold Deneau, 16, who has been charged with the hammer-slaying of Sidney Goff, 37, Cartwright township farmer, appeared before Magistrate R. B. Baxter in court Friday and was remanded for a period in Whitby Ontario Hospital of up to 60 days.

Earlier this month he had appeared in Bowmanville court but it was explained by the magistrate Friday that he was now being remanded under a different section of the Mental Hospitals Act.

The youth was arrested after Sidney Goff's body was found on March 16 partly covered by straw in his father's barn.

Believed by psychiatrists to be a mental case, the boy has been remanded for observation.

None of the court spectators were aware of his identity and the shy-appearing boy dressed in a grey suit attracted little attention until his name was read and some then linked his name with the alleged slaying.

Deneau showed little interest during the proceedings.

POISON VICTIMS—Two girls, Emelyne and Lucille Cote, 20 and 19, formerly of Thetford Mines, Que., were found dead recently in their room in a Montreal rooming house. On the basis of the doctor's findings, police ruled out the possibility of murder in the double death. They added that "the chances are it wasn't a suicide pact, either." Three empty bottles of a soporific called Somnifene were found beside the scantily clad bodies on the bed, and a partially filled bottle of potassium permaganate. The medico-legal expert said that if the girls—who may have been lying in a coma for two days—had been discovered earlier, they might have been revived.

Critic, Composer Dies In Toronto

TORONTO, April 19 (CP). — Dr. Joseph Leopold Smith, 71, musician, author, composer, teacher and music critic, died on Friday.

He was born in Birmingham, England, and while still in his teens, played with the Covent Garden Orchestra. He came to Canada in 1910, engaging in performances with orchestras and chamber music societies and teaching 'cello and theory at the Royal Conservatory of Music here.

He became professor of music at the University of Toronto and for several years was principal 'cellist with the Toronto Symphony Orchestra.

He became music critic for the Globe and Mail in 1950 after he resigned from the University of Toronto. He was known to his readers as Leo Smith.

Ailing Soviet Ruler Playing Game With Possible Successors

By LEON DENNEN
NEA Staff Correspondent

PARIS—(NEA)—In the midst of conflicting reports about the failing health of Joseph Stalin, ruler of Soviet Russia and world Communism, the 72-year-old dictator turned up in Moscow this spring for a rare public appearance.

Dispatches, cleared by Soviet censors, said the Premier looked fit and vigorous. But it was the first time he had been seen in Moscow since the Lenin memorial meeting in January.

A satellite diplomat who saw him then said afterward that Stalin seemed aged, tired and ravaged with disease. It is a known fact that he is suffering from a heart ailment. Soviet experts in Europe believe the rumors about his failing health are probably true.

Apparently he is not well enough to make his usual frequent winter trips to Moscow from his retreat at Sochi, 700 miles away on the Black Sea. Even top-level Politburo conferences are reported to be held there now.

A Sturdy Race

Stalin is a Georgian, one of a sturdy half-primitive people that boasts more centenarians than any other of the numerous nationalities that make up the Soviet Union. But even Georgians are mortal.

Should Stalin die who is likely to succeed him as ruler of world Communism?

Who in the Communist underworld can inherit the legendary glory with which the master of the Kremlin surrounded himself during his lifetime?

As yet, little credible information has come out of the secret chambers of the Kremlin. But the Cominform underworld — where the grapevine is frequently faster and more accurate than the controlled press—is seething with rumor.

Members of Stalin's immediate entourage are reported to be cautiously manoeuvering in anticipation of his death. There is even talk of a schism inside the all-powerful Politburo.

Cominform chieftains—in the East or in the West—must know in advance who is likely to be their next boss if they are to keep their jobs.

Many owe their present positions to the fact that they raised in time to Stalin's side—while he still engaged in mortal combat with Leon Trotsky and other early associates of Lenin.

Those who recall Stalin's own climb to power during Lenin's long illness see a familiar pattern in the intrigues, heresy-hunting and purges now taking place in the Cominform and behind the iron curtain.

The West was recently baffled by the purge of Rudolf Slansky, former Secretary General of the Czech Communist party.

Russian-trained Slansky was for years a trusted agent of the Kremlin, the Politburo's eyes and ears in the Cominform. Yet like Traicho Kostov in Bulgaria, Laszlo Rajik in Hungary, and other devoted Stalinists behind the iron curtain, he is facing "liquidation" by firing squad.

Why? Is it because Vyacheslav M. Molotov, in his bid for Stalin's mantle, seeks to consolidate his strength in the Cominform by supporting Slansky's rival and bitter enemy, Czech President Klement Gottwald?

This is the prevailing view in many western Cominform circles.

Were Kostov and Rajk executed by the secret MVD because they were adherents of the late Cominform boss Andrei Zhdanov?

Zhdanov was widely regarded as the man designated by Stalin as his successor. But he was held responsible by Georgi M. Malenkov—another rising candidate for the Red throne—for the break between Marshall Tito and Stalin. As Cominform chief, Zhdanov apparently failed to "liquidate" Tito in time.

The 50-year-old Zhdanov died suddenly in 1948 under mysterious circumstances. Two entirely different communiques announcing his death were issued by the Kremlin—one within a few hours of the other.

A top French Communist leader has since told me that Zhdanov committed suicide. The Frenchman himself was involved in the Stalin-Tito "affair". Zhdanov chose suicide rather than fight it out and eventually face an MVD firing squad.

A bloody purge of "zhdanovists" in Russia and in the Cominform followed.

Three Likely Successors

With Zhdanov dead, three members of the Politburo are considered likely successors to Stalin—Vyacheslav M. Molotov, Georgi M. Malenkov and Lavrenti P. Beria.

They are the most powerful men in the Politburo. They are part of Stalin's "inner cabinet" charged with the conduct of Russia's global hot-cold war. Together, or separately, it is they who will decide the question of world peace or world war should the aged and ailing dictator die.

Stalin has been acting as a sort of fatherly "moderator" between the warring factions.

By resorting to his traditional "zig-zag tactic," Stalin has managed to rotate his three crown princes in the limelight without, however, giving any one of them too much power inside the Politburo.

The aging dictator obviously wants to prevent the type of coup d'etat he himself engineered when Lenin was on his death-bed.

Canada's Only HOMOGENIZED MOTOR OIL

HERE ARE THE OUTSTANDING FEATURES OF THE NEW WHITE ROSE MOTOR OIL PREMIUM QUALITY — HEAVY DUTY

1. IT'S HOMOGENIZED—Now being used exclusively in Canada by Canadian Oil Companies, Limited, homogenization is the latest advancement in the processing of Motor Oil. This technique disperses all ingredients so thoroughly that they remain permanently in solution. Thus, they perform their various functions rapidly and efficiently.

2. LOWERS OIL CONSUMPTION—The lower oil consumption of the new White Rose Motor Oil is due to its high Viscosity Index and the heat resistant properties of the mineral oils it contains.

3. KEEPS MOTORS CLEAN—Detergent and dispersant additives hold dirt in suspension so that it drains away at regular oil change intervals.

4. PREVENTS ACID ACTION—The new White Rose Motor Oil neutralizes the harmful acids which form in every engine as by-products of combustion—one of the major causes of engine wear.

5. FIGHTS WEAR—Gruelling road-tests across Canada under the supervision of an independent testing laboratory—(Donald Inspection Limited) proved that, with the use of the new White Rose Motor Oil, there was no appreciable wear on engine parts.

6. INCREASES GASOLINE MILEAGE—The cleansing action plus the high film strength of new White Rose Motor Oil enables piston rings to operate freely, thus sealing the combustion chamber. This assures more efficient use of fuel.

7. PREVENTS ENGINE RUST—New White Rose Motor Oil penetrates and clings to engine parts . . . counteracting one of the greatest causes of engine deterioration.

8. FLOWS FREELY—Low cold-test properties enable the new White Rose Motor Oil to flow freely at low temperatures. This aids cold weather starting and gives instant protection to all vital parts.

9. RESISTS THINNING—Even under operating conditions of extreme heat, the new White Rose Motor Oil resists thinning, and keeps a protective film of oil between vital engine parts.

10. SUPPRESSES FOAM—The new White Rose Motor Oil provides a bubble-free oil film—offsets oxidation—reduces oil consumption—gives complete protection to all lubricated surfaces.

Manufactured in Canada's NEWEST, MOST MODERN PLANT

Urges Federation Cites Poor Racial Relations

LONDON, April 17 (Reuters)—Roy Welensky, Northern Rhodesian politician Friday cited a deterioration of racial relations in Central Africa as an argument for prompt federation of Northern and Southern Rhodesia and Nyasaland.

Welensky arrived here Friday with other Rhodesian delegates to a three-week conference beginning Wednesday to discuss a proposed federation of the three Commonwealth countries.

"A bloc of British states in Central Africa could produce a Liberal racial policy which would be an example to the whole of the African continent, showing how people of many races can live side by side," he said. "It would be a tragedy if ill-informed opinion prevented all this happening."

Federation of self-governing Southern Rhodesia and the two protectorates is supported by most Europeans in the area and, to a great extent, by Britain. Principal arguments in its favor are political and economic advantages.

Main opposition is from the Africans, who fear that European influence would be increased.

The British Government emphasizes the advantages. It has expressed itself satisfied that African interests would be adequately safeguarded, and hopes to convince African delegates of this.

Both European and African representatives have been arriving here in the last few days. Already here are Prime Minister Sir Godfrey Huggins of Southern Rhodesia, Governor Sir Geoffrey Colby of Nyasaland, and Governor Sir Gilbert Rennie of Northern Rhodesia.

This conference will be concerned chiefly with a draft constitution made at a similar meeting in March, 1951.

Welensky, 45, chairman of the elective members of Northern Rhodesia's legislative council, said Central Africa could be developed by European drive, initiative and capital, but not by African inertia.

He said he is aware of the difficulties facing the conference. But federation was inevitable—an economic necessity. Once a draft constitution was produced the Europeans could get together around a table with the African leaders and show them that many of their fears were unfounded.

SAMUEL WILLIS

Choirmaster, Organist Still Sports Fan At 90

Samuel Willis finished playing one of his favorite hymns on the piano in his daughter's living room. Then, the former English choirmaster and organist swung around on the piano stool and the conversation turned to sport.

Mr. Willis looks a young 70 but will be celebrating his 90th birthday Sunday. He has always enjoyed perfect health and his interest in sports, particularly soccer and softball, is second only to his love of music.

He plays the piano occasionally but he prefers organ music. For many years, he was organist and choirmaster of St. Michael's Anglican Church in Essex, England, before coming to Peterborough in 1920 with his wife and family.

Retired In 1932

After 12 years in the Armature Department of C.G.E., Mr. Willis retired in 1932. Recently, he has been living with his daughter, Mrs. Harold Burrows at 251 Park St.

Mrs. Burrows says her father seldom misses a softball game at Riverside Park during the summer. He makes good use of the annual courtesy pass he receives from the Peterborough Softball Association and he has a "reserved" seat where he always sits to watch the games.

His favorite sport is soccer, which Mr. Willis insists is "the finest game in the world."

Ever since he read that Manchester United and Tottenham Hotspurs were coming to Toronto in a few weeks to play an exhibition game, Mrs. Burrows says Mr. Willis has been turning on the pressure to get her to let him make the trip.

"I'd give anything to see Arsenal and Newcastle in the finals," said Mr. Willis as he reminisced about the thriller he saw "many years ago" between Newcastle and Wolverhampton Wanders, at the football grounds of Crystal Palace before a crowd of 114,000.

In Customs

Before coming to Canada, Mr. Willis was Chief Customs Supervisor at the port of Harwich. He was with the Customs Department for 38 years inspecting goods passing through the port to and from the Continent.

After the outbreak of war in 1914, the cross Channel shipping trade dropped off to a mere trickle. After a few months with very little to do, Mr. Willis learned through naval friends that a man with his qualifications was needed on the submarine supply ship Maidstone to issue supplies and look after records. He was taken on and for the rest of the war, he carried out the duties of a warrant officer.

When the war ended, he returned to his customs position and remained there, as trade gradually recovered after 1918 until he brought his family to Canada in 1920.

For 16 years, Mr. Willis and his wife, who died shortly after he retired from the C.G.E. sang in the choir at All Saints' Church here.

Lately, Mr. Willis has been attending St. John's Anglican Church and he goes regularly every Sunday morning.

Grandson In Choir

A few weeks ago, his grandson, 12-year-old Robert Willis of Toronto was guest soloist at George St. United Church. To Mr. Willis, it was a great experience hearing his grandson sing, "I was a boy soprano," he explained, "before my voice changed to baritone. Hearing him sing was just like going back over the years to when I was singing in the choir as a boy."

Mr. Willis only wears glasses when he reads music, or the newspaper, and he follows world events every day in the press.

He is quite happy and satisfied with Canada, but he admits he would like to return to England for a visit. However, he adds a bit wistfully, "It costs too much to travel now."

Subversive Ad Placed By US National Guard

EASTON, Md., April 19 (AP)—Ever vigilant against possible subversive activities, police immediately called the Easton Star-Democrat to demand an explanation of this advertisement in the paper yesterday:

"PARENTS—If your son is between 17 and 18½, you can help him avoid being drafted. Mail a card to box 495, Easton, for information."

Editors allayed the suspicious police by identifying the sponsor of the advertisement—Capt. Eugene Price.

His formula: Enlist in the Maryland National Guard, in which he is a company commanding officer.

Revolutionists Disband

TORONTO, April 19 (CP) — Ross Dowson, a leader of the workers revolutionary party of Canada, said Friday night the party has disbanded because the climate in Canada is unfavorable to a revolutionary working class party. The party was an exponent of Marxism but a foe of Stalin—It considered Stalin and his followers as appeasers and betrayers of revolutionary socialism.

Concise News Conference Tone

LONDON, April 19 (CP)—Keynote of the three-day Canadian managing editor's conference next month in Winnipeg will be condensation of news through elimination of useless words.

"Not less news," emphasizes R. J. Churchill of the London Free Press who is president of the association. "More news in few words, more items in less space."

Mr. Churchill said Friday night the program now taking form will include discussions on newspaper make-up and tight editing, more efficient presentation of news pictures, the expanding teletypesetter process and the handling of medical news.

At least two outstanding United States editors will talk to the sessions with some 60 Canadian managing editors in attendance.

A special discussion on the use of textbooks to train news staff will be led by J. Leslie (Bud) Wild, journalism instructor at the University of Western Ontario. On the closing day, May 17, Carl O. Nickle, Calgary oil expert, will talk on Canadian oil developments.

That's No Bear, That's My Wife

LONDON, April 19 (AP). — Posters advertising a fete at suburban All Saints Church said there would be a dancing bear.

Edmund MacMichael, director of the Performing Animals Defence League rushed to the vicar, the Rev. P. W. Rusmmer, with a strong protest.

Dancing bears, he said are trained by the thumping of a drum while the bear tried to keep his paws cool on a hot tub. A Church of England fete, he added, is no place for an animal trained in suffering.

The vicar sent him to John Purchase, organizer of the fete. Purchase summoned his 26-year-old wife Anne and exhibited a hired bearskin.

"That's no bear," he said. "That's my wife."

Mrs. Margaret Lambe

The funeral of Mrs. Margaret Lambe of Windsor and formerly of Peterborough, who died Tuesday was held Friday from the Comstock funeral home.

Archdeacon W. P. Robertson of St. John's Anglican Church and Archdeacon C. W. Balfour of All Saints' Anglican Church conducted the service.

Pallbearers were Dr. Thomas Currier, Dr. Neil Taylor, Jack Bertram, Robert McClellan, Richard Janes, Alan Brown, Percy Roper. Burial was in Little Lake cemetery.

Double Dose

CHARLOTTETOWN — (CP) — Double the usual amount of snow was dumped in Prince Edward Island during the winter. Official figures show the total here to the end of March was 130.5 inches, compared with 58 inches in the same period a year ago.

Two Tires Blow

BANCROFT, April 19 (ENS) —When Gerald C. Ward of Bancroft blew his two front tires at the same time and successfully stopped his car without going off the road he had an experience that comes only once in many hundreds of thousands of miles of driving. Wednesday afternoon Mr. Ward was driving from Bancroft to Madoc. Just before the Gilmour turn his right tire blew. This swerved his car towards the ditch. As he was stopping and pulling the car towards the road the left tire blew, and he stopped easily on the right shoulder.

Having one spare, like the average driver, he caught a ride back to Bancroft where he obtained a second tire. An examination showed that there was a nail in the right tire and the left tire, a smoth one, just blew when the car swerved.

To Amend Bylaw Restricting Dogs At Large

LAKEFIELD, April 19 (ENS) — Deputations took up considerable time at the village council meeting attended by Reeve E. H. Northey and Councillors J. L. Fraser, J. R. Hull, D. B. Millar and K. W. Morris.

J. Harding, who owns the former Baptist Church parsonage, addressed the council about the seepage of water into his cellar owing to the fact that the lot was lower than the drain. The Council decided to have the street commission look over the situation in the near future.

G. E. Douglas requested that an amendment be made in the dog by-law to restrain the dogs from running at large during certain months of the year. He also asked whether or not the people of the village were going to be given another opportunity to vote on the question of selling the lots, upon which houses are now built, in the park. The clerk was instructed to prepare an amendment to the dog by-law and the council decided to discuss the park question at the regular May meeting.

P. J. Perley requested permission to run the water from his laundry on Reid St. east, to the C.N.R. swamp, as the cost of excavating and putting a sewer from the laundry to the Queen St. sewer was almost prohibitive.

Mr. Perley was informed that the drain to the swamp was not in working condition, and the matter will be referred to the local Board of Health. The feasibility of a septic tank will also be investigated.

W. D. Sheppard, chairman of the civic improvement committee of the local Chamber of Commerce, outlined what his committee were doing in order to clean up and brighten up the village and thus make it more appealing to tourists.

Donald Hendren and Eric Anderson were present, on request of the council, to take part in the discussion of the present taxi by-law. Both spoke, as did the members of council and it was decided that the two operators should get together and discuss the by-law and pass on any information to the May meeting.

Elmer Aldred asked re his proposed starting of a hay dehydration plant in the C.N.R. swamp north of Reid St. He outlined the equipment used, possible dust and steam escape and the number of persons to be employed. The clerk, Harry T. Hill, said he had discussed this matter several times with Mr. Aldred, and would not like to see a plant put there that might depreciate the property value or be injurious to health. Mr. Aldred felt the plant would do neither of these things.

On motion of Councillors Hull and Millar, Councillors Fraser and Morris will act as a committee to go with Mr. Aldred to interview the American Nepheline Limited re site for the hay dehydration plant.

L. Withers and G. Withers were present, the former at the request of council re the sanitary and garbage contract. After discussion the matter was left as before, but the contract of L. Withers will be looked into at a later date.

The finance committee recommended payment of accounts totalling $4,291.82.

GHOST TOWN—Most of the 1,000 residents of Eastend, Sask., were driven from their homes by rampaging flood waters of Frenchman Creek in southwestern Saskatchewan this week. Shown is the flooded town and valley, railway tracks covered by water and grain elevators surrounded. A general easing in the flood situation was reported at week's end.

Reports BBC To Go Commercial Stir Up Controversy In Britain

By E. S. JOHNSON,
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, April 19—(CP)—Reports that the government plans to ginger-up the BBC by introducing limited commercial competition through sponsored radio and television programs, have provoked a sharp, but indecisive skirmish in the United Kingdom press.

At present the publicly-owned and controlled BBC is operating on borrowed time for when the corporation's charter expired at the beginning of this year its life as a monopoly was temporarily extended until June 1. Since then the Cabinet is said to have been under persistent urging by a strong group of Tory back-benchers to re-cast the broadcasting structure and end the monopoly principle.

Some observers predict the government may meet this group part way in a new charter to be announced within a few weeks. Others suggest a further temporary extension may be granted to give more time for public debate on the issues involved.

Lord Halifax initiated the public discussion in a letter to the independent London Times.

He referred to "disturbing rumors" of moves to bring about some form of commercial sponsoring, which, he said, must inevitably lower the standard and purpose of British broadcasting. The United Kingdom had in the BBC something unique which all countries admired and many envied.

"It would be a great misfortune," Lord Halifax said, "if through fear of so-called monopoly, we were to discard a system that has stood the test for years . . . "

Lord Brand, a director of the London Times, contended the BBC would sacrifice much of its influence and prestige through the world if its broadcasting services became dependent on advertising.

Attack Monopoly

The Earl of Bessborough, former Governor-General of Canada, said there was no justification for believing that private enterprise and sponsoring would lead to lowered standards.

He suggested the BBC should continue in operation but that reputable interests should be authorized to supply complementary or alternative television programs. He agreed United States standards of advertising over the air would not be aceptable to the British listener.

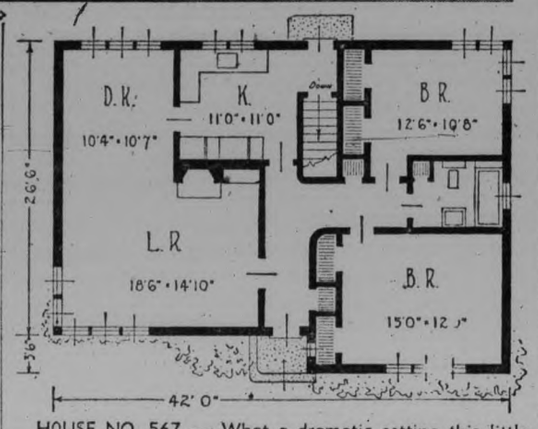
Lord Brabazon of Tara, president of the Royal Institution, doubted if anyone of other than totalitarian outlook would seriously contend the only way the arts in television and radio broadcasting could prosper was through the sieve and censorship of monopoly control.

"No serious person is suggesting the BBC should be abolished," he said. "What many are suggesting, however, is that it should be relieved of the invidious and indefensible position into which it has been placed by monopoly."

The Liberal viewpoint was presented by the outspoken Lady Violet Bonham Carter. "Broadcasting by the BBC has no aim but good broadcasting," she said. "Broadcasting by sponsoring has no other motive but to sell goods."

MANY PUFFERS

Canadian railway companies in 1952 reported 4,655 locomotives in service, including 350 diesels and 33 electric engines.



HOUSE NO. 567 — What a dramatic setting this little house has! Its rear windows present a vast panorma of mountains and evergreens. The owner was so pleased with her property she recently purchased half of the adjoining lot to assure herself of privacy and to add a third bedroom and a garage. In spite of its large window areas the house is easy to heat. The furnace is fired with sawdust. For working drawings write Home Building in Canada, 372 Bay St., Toronto.

New Officers Installed By District President

NORWOOD, April 19 (ENS)—The April meeting of the Norwood Women's Institute was held at Miss Edwards' home with 23 members and visitors present. The president, Mrs. Fred Gardner, welcomed Mrs. Harry Shearer, the district president, and Mrs. W. H. Pearson.

The secretary-treasurer read the annual financial statement showing a balance of $261.26. Menus for the district annual dinner were read and it was moved by Mrs. Lionel Edmunds that the Christ Anglican Church menu be accepted, seconded by Mrs. Robert Leiper.

Mrs. Lionel Edmunds and Mrs. Gordon Parker were appointed to attend the conference in Guelph.

Birthday corsages were presented to Mrs. Pearson and Mrs. Frank Andrews.

Mrs. Harry Shearer spoke to the ladies and then presided at the installation ceremony, when the following officers were installed: president, Mrs. Fred Gardner; first vice-president, Mrs. C. Copp; second vice-president, Mrs. M. D. MacPherson; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Earl Armstrong; district director, Mrs. Gerald Baker; directors, Mrs. Albert Gill, Mrs. Alex Davis, Mrs. William Golloher, Mrs. Alfred Scott.

Mrs. Fred Gardner moved a vote of thanks to Mrs. Shearer.

Mrs. Shearer and Mrs. Pearson judged the house dresses and Mrs. Leeper received first place, Mrs. Gerald Robinson second, and Mrs. Gordon Parker third.

Lunch was served by Mesdames Frank Andrews, Earl Armstrong, Alfred Bongard, Wilford Bongard.

23 Lay Teachers Resign School

HAWKESBURY, April 19—(CP)—The Separate School Board Friday night accepted the resignation of 23 lay teachers, members of the Hawkesbury Separate School Teachers' Association.

The Association tendered the resignations after the teachers said they failed to receive notice from the board of consideration of their salary demands.

The Association said that last December it asked raises in minimum salaries from $1,300 to $1,500 and in maximum salaries from $1,800 to $2,300.

Andre L. Sabourin, chairman of the board said however the first the board heard of it was a letter April 8 demanding an answer by April 9.

He said the Association's answer to a request for a meeting to discuss the matter was a notice saying all 23 lay teachers would resign effective June 29.

"We will now seek new teachers to replace them when school reopens in the fall," he said.

Ontario Births Up In Month Of March

TORONTO, April 19 (CP) — Births soared and death took a partial holiday during March as compared to the same month of last year, the Ontario Registrar-General reported Friday.

During the month there were 10,185 births registered as against 9,398 for March, 1951. Marriages totalled 2,014 last month and 2,103 for March, 1951.

Deaths were down last month with 3,830 recorded as against 4,531 in 1951. Stillbirths increased last month by three from 180 in March, 1951.

Diseases of the heart accounted for the largest number of deaths with 1,283 being registered.

Group Backing Seaway Spreads To Canada

CHICAGO, April 19 — (AP) — Citizens of Canada Friday were offered membership in the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence Association, a United States group which is backing the St. Lawrence seaway project.

The association's board of directors also announced a program of co-operation with the Canadian Chamber of Commerce "to foster and develop" the friendly relations existing between the U.S. and Canada.

N. R. Danielian, executive vice-president, said the move "has become necessary to undo the damage the opponents to the seaway have done in Canadian public opinion.

Peterborough Play Sponsored By W.A.

ROSENEATH, April 19 (ENS) —A full house greeted "The Watkins Girl," a three-act comedy, presented by members of Grace United Church, Peterborough, in the L.O.L. hall, Roseneath, on Wednesday evening. The play was sponsored by the W.A. of St. James' Anglican Church.

The Rev. A. J. Patstone was chairman and introduced the director of the play, Mrs. R. W. Harrison, who introduced the cast of characters.

Entertainment during intermission were piano numbers by Miss Jerry Phillips and readings by Mrs. Harold McMahon. Homemade candy was sold by W.A. members.

Lunch was served to the cast by W.A. members. Mrs. Ray McCracken is president of this organization.

He said he will be delighted if Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway is named to succeed Eisenhower as NATO commander.

Short Circuit Blamed For Fire

TOKYO, April 19 (AP)—Police today blamed a disastrous $41,600,000 fire at Tottori on a short circuit caused by illegal tapping of electric wires. They jailed three suspects.

The 12-hour fire left 25,000 homeless and injured 120 persons, but no one was killed. An estimated 5,000 homes were destroyed.

The government allotted $1,100,000 to help rebuild the southwestern Honshu island city of 61,000. An additional $69,000 will be spent on temporary shelters.

EASTEND DAM BREACHED — The big P.F.R.A. dam a few miles upstream from the town of Eastend in southwestern Saskatchewn was breached by the flood waters of Frenchman Creek which drains one sector of the Cypress Hills. The break can be seen near the spillway. Rugged hills in the background are cut by torrents which pour down the banks during the spring runoff.

Color Of Bathroom In Home Depends On Complexion Of Family

Are the colors in your bathroom right for you?

Whether your face looks pleasant and cheerful in the bathroom mirror or pale and wan depends not so much on your mood as on the setting you see reflected there. Colors can enhance or detract from your appearance, so choose them carefully and well.

If you and other members of the family are fair-skinned, the walls of your bath should be blue, peach, green or yellow. These shades nicely complement light skin tones. Tans, browns and aquamarines, on the other hand, will set off brunettes, to best advantage.

Limit the colors in the bathroom, so it will not seem "busy" and confused. If you select colored plumbing fixtures for a new or remodeled bath, match their hue in the tile for floor and walls. Clay tile is now made in more than 200 hues of basic colors, so the matching job is easy.

If you wish two colors in the bathroom, paint the ceiling, built-in cupboards and space above the tilework with the second. You can then change the color scheme merely by doing these parts of the room over in another shade.

Avoid intense colors for the bath. They seem to hem in a room and therefore make the occupant uneasy. Finish the tiled walnscot with a cap of the same color, rather than black or a contrasting shade. The room will then seem larger.

Remember that accessories play an important part in the bathroom color scheme. A bathroom in grey, for instance, may seem monotonous, but put in towels, shower curtain and mat of a good clear yellow and it will fairly sparkle. Change the color of these accessories, and you can change the color scheme successfully and easily.

Car Tossed 83 Feet Two People Hurt

GALT, April 19 (CP)—Kenneth Nesbitt and Paul Brissette, both of Toronto, were injured Thursday night and six other persons escaped unhurt when an automobile was tossed 83 feet after it was in collision with a transport truck.

Nesbitt suffered a crushed leg and Brissette cuts to the forehead. Their wives, along with Leon Brissette, 2, and three Nesbitt children escaped injury.

Farm Maternity Ward

OAKVILLE, April 19—(CP)—A mother racoon Friday chose the attic of Charles Beatty's farmhouse as a maternity ward. She entered by a cellar window during the night, climbed three flights of stairs and gave birth to five baby raccoons. A game warden took the mother outside, placed the babies in a cardboard box and left them outside the cellar window. Several hours later the box was empty. Mother raccoon had claimed her own.

Enter Document To Show Consent

MONTREAL, April 19 (CP) — A document purporting to show that an unmarried mother agreed to the removal of her new-born twins was introduced Friday at the preliminary hearing of Herman Buller, 32-year-old lawyer charged with unlawfully depriving the mother of the twins and detaining them without her consent.

Judge Rene Theberge reserved judgment until April 22.

Buller is one of three persons charged separately with the same offence, which police some weeks ago claimed was part of a $50,000 baby-selling racket.

Dr. Leon Azoulay is awaiting trial and William Dutka, a construction foreman, will appear for preliminary hearing April 22.

The mother, who said she is a hairdresser, said Dr. Azoulay offered her $100 for the twins. She insisted on $150 and he agreed on that amount.

Varied Instruments Entertain

Forty five members were at the Louis Braille Society meeting at Dixon House Wednesday night. President Earl Schwantz conducted business and urged all those planning to attend to Lion's Club camp for the blind at Ancaster to register soon, as the camp opens July 16th. Nomination of a new executive will take place at the May meeting. First afternoon meeting for the ladies this month was a very great success it was reported, and a second will be held at the home of Mrs. Scott, 535 Patterson St., commencing at two thirty o'clock on May 14th. Entertainment was all musical with the instruments operated by Terry Huffman and Harold Barton being the vibraphone, tubular chimes, marimba, lockenspiel, bell lyre and side dums. Mrs. Harris was pianist for a sing song and a lunch was served afterward by the social committee.

Cobourg W.I. Capture Drama Award

ROSENEATH, April 19 (ENS) —Baltimore Hall was filled to capacity on Thursday evening for the District Drama Competition of West Northumberland Women's Institutes.

Four one-act plays were presented by the members of Cobourg, Roseneath, Coudsprings and Fenella Instiutes.

The Cobourg Branch with their presentation of "Rumors Wanted" won first place, Roseneath Branch coming a close second with their play, "Uncle Henry's Mail Order Wife." Coldsprings Branch presented "After the Church Supper and "Never Trust a Man" was the play presented by Fenella group.

Mrs. R. E. Drope, Harwood, was mistress of ceremonies for the evening's entertainment.

Judges for the competition were: Mr. R. G. Parker, Cobourg; the Rev. A. W. Smith, Gore's Landing; Mr. Robin Mallory, Cobourg; the Rev. P. C. Brown, Camborne; the Rev. H. Robin, Grafton. Mrs. Jack Staples, Baltimare, presented the judges' decision.

Numbers on the program between plays were: piano solos by Mrs. Edgar Carew, Roseneath, and Paul McIntosh, Coldsprings; a vocal duet by Misses Clarke, Cobourg, "It Is No Secret"; an instrumental quartette by Mrs. Elmer Harper, Merlin McNaught and Whitney brother, Fenella.

The members of the Cobourg cast will compete with the members of Elmview cast at Grafton on April 25.

Roseneath W.A. Guests Of Mrs. Les Sherwin

ROSENEATH, April 19 (ENS) —"Love thy neighbor" was the topic of the devotional address given by Mrs. R. C. White at the April meeting of the W.A. of the United Church. The speaker divided he rsubject under four headings:

1. Have more local people working in community organizations.
2. Remember the shut-in.
3. Welcome the newcomer.
4. Take an interest in the happiness of others.

The meeting was held on Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Leslie Sherwin. The president, Mrs. Earl Waldie, presided with Mrs. Ella Brown as pianist and Mrs. Charles Sandercock as secretary. The scripture reading was given by the Rev. R. C. White.

The treasurer's report showed receipts for the month $123.39 and a balance on hand of $503.35.

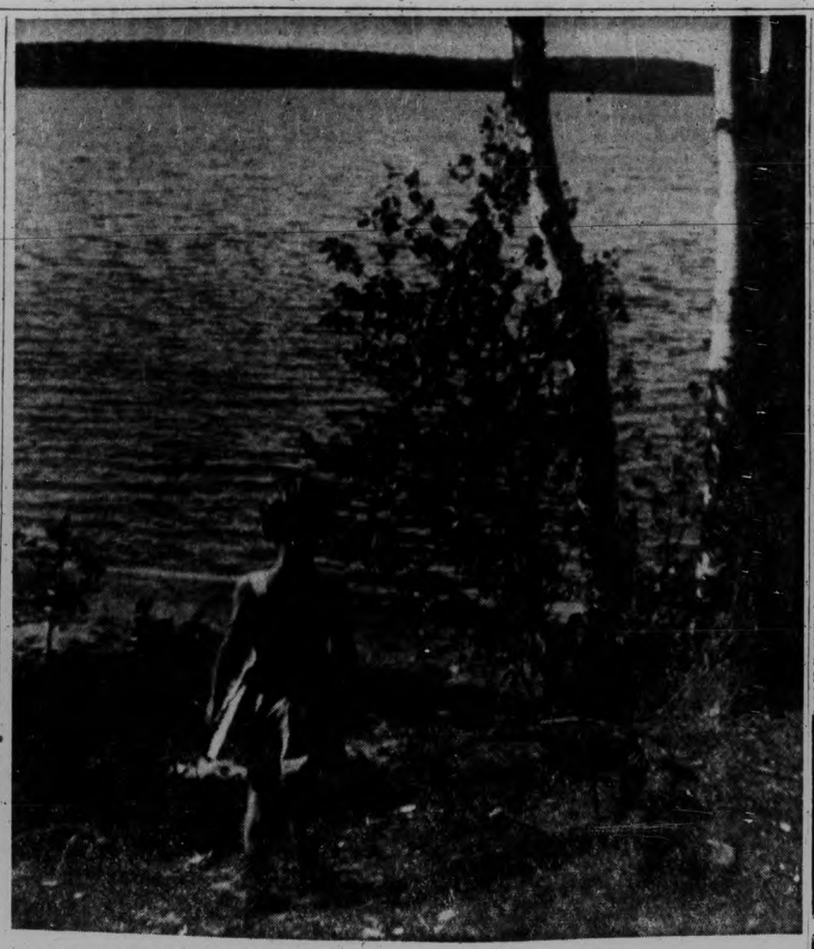
Mrs. Arthur Braithwaite, good cheer convener, reported four persons had been remembered during the month.

During the business period plans were made to re-decorate two rooms in the parsonage.

Easter lilies from Bermuda were in vases in the room and the program centred around the theme of "Easter."

Mrs. Sam Black of Bowmanville contributed a vocal solo "Lead Me To Calvary," playing her own piano accompaniment. Mrs. Alvin Rosebush conducted a quiz on scripture verses; Mrs. R. C. White read "The Beauty of the Lily"; Miss Yvonne Adams played a piano solo "The Old Rugged Cross." Birthday prizes were won by Mrs. Mervin Smith and Mrs. Earl Thackeray. Mrs. R. C. White carried off the prize on a quiz "Know your authors." The roll call was answered by a verse of scripture.

The meeting closed with the Mizpah benediction. Lunch was served by the hostess.



NOW JUST WHAT DOES THIS CHILD SEE?—It is a wonderful thing for parents to be able to catch a glimpse of the world through the eyes of their children. It is one of the delights of parenthood which compensate for the many disciplines which life brings to a father and mother.

FOR PARENTS ONLY:

Catching Glimpse Of World Through Your Child's Eyes

By NANCY CLEAVER

In one of the most popular of new non-fiction books "White Man Returns", Agnes Newton Keith tells of going back to Borneo with her husband and her seven year old son George. In it she comments: "When George came back to Borneo with us; we reckoned it was not a matter of ourselves showing Borneo to him, but of Borneo seen anew by us, through George." She mentioned special experiences such as the taste of tropical food, the effect of a tropical climate, speaking other languages, Oriental pastimes and the companionship with Asian children.

Parents do not need to travel to a far-away corner of the world to experience the thrill of catching a glimpse of the world through the eyes of their child. This is one of the delights of parenthood which compensates for the many disciplines which life brings to a father or mother.

Young children have a quick and natural response to the beauty of the world out-of-doors. Arthur Thompson, the great British scientist, said once that wonder was the true beginning of the search for knowledge, the quest for origins, the compilation of facts in scientific research. The "little people" of the earth have not lost their capacity for wonder.

Fathers and mothers are preoccupied with earning a living or looking after a home. Every day is crowded with tasks. They find it hard to take their eyes off the immediate job before them and look out on the world or up at the sky.

Gregory Clark in "So What?", that delightful collection of fishing yarns and adventure tales, has a striking little piece, "Night and the Stars". In it he relates his two year old's reactions in the autumn when daylight saving had ended. One evening he went outside with his dad just before bedtime.

The child was amazed that the bright world which he had been accustomed to see had been swallowed by the darkness. Then suddenly he saw the stars—"First one, then another, and then in all their countless millions. His little face raised and still, he turned slowly on his heel and gazed at this luminous inspiration of countless ages of human hearts."

A High Occasion

Not in many words, but nevertheless quite clearly, all the same, Gregory Clark implies that for a father to be with a little lad on a moment like this is indeed a high occasion. Gregory Clark was suddenly seeing the dark curtain of the night pierced by the blazing stars through the eyes of his little son.

Agnes Newton Keith and Gregory Clark, two very different parents, as well as two very different writers, both experienced this sensation of glimpsing what their child saw. How did they do this?

For one thing, they both spent time with their son. They shared their precious leisure with the little chap who had come into their home. How many parents, especially fathers, fail to do just this! They have other interests to occupy their spare moments—clubs, politics, golf, hunting—adult pursuits, all very important, but activities in which there is no place for a youngster.

Another thing they had in common was the ease with which they identified themselves with their child. They recalled their own childhood. They knew what it was like to be small and inexperienced. They were like Thomas Hood, the early nineteenth century poet who had a vivid memory of the zest with which a child greets the morning. This is reflected in the lines beginning:

"I remember, I remember
The house where I was born,
The little window where the sun
Came peeping in at morn;
He never came a wink too soon,
Nor brought too long a day."

The years of childhood pass so swiftly. When boys and girls reach adolescence they are busy at school, at part-time work and off with their own chums, in their leisure hours. This is part of growing up — of the natural urge to shake off the direction of their parents.

But while they are still small, a little child's fingers slip easily and trustingly into a parent's large hand. For such a short time, mothers and fathers have the privilege of seeing the world through their child's eyes. What a pity if they miss this opportunity—because there are few experiences in life which match it!

St. Luke's Women Start Drive For Organ Fund

Agitation for a new organ at St. Luke's Anglican Church has led to the forming of the Women's Organ committee. They are organizing a series of events for the coming season, hoping to raise the organ fund to $4,000 which would be sufficient for the down payment on an instrument. The fund presently stands at $1,600.

First event will ge a "gift tea" at the rectory on Saturday afternoon April 26th. Noted harpist, Miss Mildred Dilling, will be a guest and will receive the gifts which are the only admission fee acceptable.

The gifts, it should be explained, are to be articles suitable for sale at the bazaar in connection with the second event, a floral tea on the church lawn June 4th. Other events planned are to take place in the autumn.

About 30 ladies are on the organ committee, with Mrs. Wm. King being the chairman; Mrs. C. Hope the treasurer and Mrs. W. J. Gilling the secretary.

A parish-wide drive has already commenced with letters being mailed to every member explaining the situation and the plans so far formulated.

Friends Honor Alnwick Couple

ROSENEATH, April 19 (ENS) —Fifty close neighbors and near relatives gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wellington Dowler on Friday evening in honor of their 30th wedding anniversary.

Progressive euchre was played, prizes for high score going to Mrs. Fred Murphy and Mr. Kyle Brown.

Mr. Fred Murphy read an address to Mr. and Mrs. Dowler expressing good wishes and congratulations of the neighbors and on their behalf a purse of money was presented. Mr. Kenneth Dowler and Mrs. James Linton (nee Lois Dowler) presented their parents with a cedar chest and wedding cake. Appropriate replies were made by the recipients.

Mr. and Mrs. Dowler, nee Aileen Thackeray, were married at the Presbyterian manse, Bethesda North, (near Harwood) 30 years ago by the Rev. Thomas McCord. The bride of yester-year is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Thackeray and the groom a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Dowler, all of Alnwick township. Following their marriage they resided for some time near Centreton, returning to Alnwick township where they have since resided. They have a daughter, Mrs. James Linton (nee Lois Dowler) and a son Kenneth Dowler; four grandchildren, Daryle and Richard Dowler and Wayne and Betty Linton, all of Alnwick township.

Lunch was served at midnight.

St. John's Choir Elects Officers, Member Feted

Annual meeting of St. John's Anglican Church choir was held in the church parlors Thursday evening. After the business had concluded; a social hour was spent which took the form of a farewell party for Mr. Walter Dyer, who has been a faithful member since his early boy chorister days.

With the president Victor D. Coleman presiding, the treasurer's report showed that the choir fund had a balance of $231.19, with an additional $18.03 in the sick and flower fund. Thanks was tendered for all leadership and service during the past year.

Officers elected for the ensuing year are: Honorary president, the Ven. Archdeacon W. P. Robertson; honorary vice presidents, the Revs J. Purser, Mrs. F. G. Mann, C. K. Lech and, C. G. Graham; president, V. D. Coleman; vice president, H. Choate Sr.; secretary-treasurer, Miss R. Quartermaine; assistant secretary, Miss S. Brown; treasurer of sick fund, Mrs. H. Burrows; librarian, E. G. Brown; assitant librarian, W. Miller; social committee, Mesdames V. Coleman, E. G. Brown and F. G. Mann, the Misses June Kilborn and Margaret Thompson.

Luncheon was served by the social committee under the convenership of Mrs F G Mann, and expressions of goodwill to Walter Dyer for the future were made by the rector, churchwardens, organist and choirmaster, and choir president.

Two reels of sound pictures were shown for the entertainment by Roy Pitchford.

Address On Africa At Open Session

Bay of Quinte Conference Branch Executive of the Women's Missionary Society of the United Church will meet in Peterborough next week, at St. Andrew's Church, on April 23 and 24. The evening session on Wednesday will be addressed by Miss Marjory Miller, of Benuala, Africa, and is open to the public, commencing at 7.30 p.m. President Mrs. S. W. Spafford, of Belleville, will preside. Reports of all secretaries and new business will be heard on Thursday.

Jean Walker, James Shearer Pledge Nuptial Vows Today

Bouquets of white snapdragons banked with ferns were the setting at the altar of All Saints' Anglican Church when the wedding took place at two o'clock this afternoon of Jean Lottie Marian, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert H. Walker, to James Ronald Shearer, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Shearer, all of Peterborough.

The Rev. Maurice Poole performed the ceremony. Wedding music was played by the organist, Miss Margaret Flowers, and Miss Elsie Wagstaff was soloist. During the signing of the register she sang "Because".

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was lovely in a gown of white Chantilly lace, styled with a graceful train and lily point sleeves, and the collar embroidered with seed pearls. Her fingertip veil was of Nottingham lace and was caught to a beaded crown. She carried a cascade of Bettertime roses and stephanotis.

Mr. Walker gave his daughter in marriage and she was attended by her cousin Mrs. J. O'Connor as matron of honor, Miss Maisie Shearer, sister of the groom, and Miss Blanche Collins, cousin of the groom, as bridesmaids. Mrs. O'Connor wore a daffodil yellow embossed marquisette dress, over matching taffeta and the bridesmaids' frocks were of intermission marquisette over taffeta, all topped with matching capes. Each wore a headband of flowers and carried a ring bouquet of yellow sweetheart roses and pastel shaded sweet peas.

The groom's attendant was Mr. Wm. Warner and the ushers were Wm. Walker and R. Shearer, brothers of the bride and groom.

The reception was held in the church parlors with the bride's mother receiving in a gown of teal blue crepe and matching blue straw hat. She wore a corsage of pink Briarcliffe roses. The groom's mother who assisted in receiving was wearing navy and white dress and straw hat and her corsage was of white starlight roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Shearer will fly to Rochester on their honeymoon. For travelling the bride chose a navy suit and hat, navy accessories and a yellow topcoat. Her corsage when going away was a mauve orchid.

They will live at 209 Murray St. on their return.

DOROTHY DIX

Girl Should Take Initiative In Interesting Bashful Boy

DEAR MISS DIX: How can I make a boy interested in me? He is, like myself, a senior in high school. I know his mother and sister very well and get along beautifully with them. My would-be beau, however, never seems to know I'm around. One of our teachers told us it was up to the girl to go after the boy who is too bashful. Do you agree? I've never chased a boy and think he should do the pursuing.

BEA.

ANSWER: By all means, go after your prey. If girls simply sat with folded hands waiting for men to make the first move—not to mention the follow-up—marriage licence bureaus would be almost out of business. The trick, of course, is to chase the man, but make him think he's doing the pursuing. A little subtlety, some finesse here and there and your purpose is accomplished.

Leap Year provides a golden opportunity for the aggressive female, and woe to the boy who wants to retire into a shell and stay there. Spring is here and with it the traditional round of dances and outings. Many of these affairs are sponsored as Leap Year parties, with the girls inviting boys.

Give a Party

If no organization in your community is sufficiently wide-awake to help the girls out, why not have such a party yourself? Or induce your church group or some civic club to have one? With the object of your affections as your guest for the evening, you'll have plenty of time to impress him with your charms. If you have the party at your house, the role of a gracious hostess offers a rare chance to be beguiling.

If the boy has a special talent or hobby, develop a terrific interest in the subject—even if it's raising white mice! Nothing flatters a male as much as to have someone share his enthusiasm on a favorite topic.

Senior year is a time for particular achievement. If your friend is the recipient of any senior honor, offer him warm congratulations; if he is in line for special awards, or anything of that sort, let him know you're on his side.

Opportunities for making him notice you are not lacking, but you must be on the lookout for every one and make the most of each chance. Don't be obvious, just show interest! Seldom can anyone resist a friendly overture. We all like to have others like us, and often waste valuable time, and friendship, waiting for the other fellow to make the advances. Don't just sit back hoping the telephone will ring; do something to make it ring. A warm smile and cordial greeting may be all that's needed to rouse the lad from his lethargy, but if you need more intensive campaigning, don't be afraid to try it!

DEAR MISS DIX—My husband

is always making me the butt of his so-called jokes. He humiliates me cruelly in company, criticizes and embarrasses me in public. I try to be a good sport, not get upset and take it with a smile, but it's getting awfully hard. Even more maddening is his habit of spreading our private business around. He betrays every little confidence we have.

ADELIA.

ANSWER: Your husband labors under the delusion that by belittling you he is, by contrast, making a veritable giant of himself. What he needs is a good dose of his own medicine, which could best be administered by one of the friends he is trying to impress. Have you an ally among your intimates who would enter into a conspiracy with you? If, on just one occasion, every barbed, so-called witticism your husband turned on you could be twisted around to backfire on him, he might lose some of his sense of humor.

His whole attitude is one of complete childishness, and the only cure is to treat him as a child. Very few people enjoy seeing a man make this sort of spectacle of himself; once he realizes that he is the entire appreciative audience for his own humor, he'll have to stop in self-defence.

DEAR MISS DIX—I am engaged to a schoolteacher whom I love very much, but I'm not sure he loves me. I suspect that he is taking another girl out, too.

G. O.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Don't yield to suspicions. Make sure of your facts before acting on them. I assume from your letter that you are considerably younger than your fiance. Do you really think you're suited to each other in age, education, background? These things are important. If there is too much difefrence between you, break the engagement.

Readers' Saturday Column by Mary Moore

QUESTION: I read your cooking chats regularly and enjoy them very much especially when you tell about your family and friends. I love your comments on Marianne in training as I am a nurse and I can just see her . . . I wanted to ask you for information on using the skim milk powder in baking and cooking. I've been using it for over a year now—soon after you told us about it. I find when using it in regular recipes that I have to use more shortening and I'm not too certain how much. I made the applesauce cake you gave us . . . with the powdered milk and we like it very much . . . we have our meat in a locker and we put the side pork in fresh. We find it is very fat but I tried cooking it slowly in the oven with a barbecue sauce over it and we liked it very much . . . I give my good wishes to Marianne . . . hope she continues enthusiastic—she'll make a good nurse if she does. May D.

ANSWER: Marianne was home yesterday and is as always just like a breath of fresh air filled with sunshine. The nursing training is beginning to "take". Yesterday I was given tooth brush drill. It seems I slant my toothbrush wrong when I clean my teeth! She also threw out a cracked cup—"just a breeding place for germs, Mother." I was admonished about having a big 500-bottle of aspirin in the bathroom. I'm going to be brought up yet!

The amount of fat to be added to products containing skim milk powder when you want to bring the fat content up to whole milk strength is 3/100. Extremely hard to measure, but roughly it would be 1 teaspoon butter (or other fat) to each 1 cup dry skim milk powder. So you see if you were making a butter cake calling for ½ cup butter or shortening you would need to add ½ teaspoon extra of butter or shortening. If you fancy the cakes need more shortening than I suggest—add more—it won't hurt the cake—that is, up to 2 or 3 additional tablespoonfuls.

Your suggestion about the barbecue sauce over thick slices of baked side pork is excellent. I hope some of the readers who slaughter their own hogs see this.

I was glad to hear about Bill's first tooth—and bet by now he has another.

QUESTION: Would like to know where you get those pastry wheels you mentioned in a recipe, that pastry could be cut with. You said it could be cut with sharp knife or pastry wheel. I have asked in all of the places here but none have them. I had one and it had a design on one side for decorating a cake. Mrs. (W.) MacD.

ANSWER: The T. Eaton Co. has pastry wheels in stock in their hardware departments at all times and they cost 20 cents. If you will write to them describing what you want—a metal-pastry-wheel for trimming the pastry from the edge of a pie, etc. they will send it to you.

QUESTION: Just wondering how many raw apples and oranges a person on a diet can eat each day. I like them to fill in between meals. Sometimes I eat 3 or 4 apples and an orange or two each day. I do not eat any sweets, starch or greasy foods. B.B.

ANSWER: I am assuming it is a reducing diet you are on. Oranges and apples are excellent but count their calories in your total daily calorie count. Oranges have 56, apples 72—both medium-sized fruit. Four apples and 2 oranges contain 400 calories.

Local Council Of Women Hold Meeting

Mrs. W. T. Fanjoy, vice president, presided at this month's meeting of the Local Council of Women on Thursday. Mrs. Charles Ray addressed the assembly, describing the Red Cross Blood Donor Service and soliciting assistance in making the true facts of this service known. Members decided to hold a children's fashion show at the end of February 1953. They discussed what they might do to assist in entertaining the Louis Braille Society. Nominations papers for the Provincial Council meeting were dealt with.

What's Right?

You are a member of a group in a friend's home and you become bored with the general conversation.

WRONG: Get up and go over to the book shelves and start leafing through the books that interest you, or pick up a magazine and start to read.

RIGHT: Make a polite pretence of interest in the subject being discussed, or try to lead the conversation around to something you find more stimulating.

6—In Memoriam

CRAPP—In loving memory of Edwin Crapp, who passed away April 20th, 1950.
The month of April is here again,
To us the saddest of all the year.
The blow was hard, the shock severe
To part with one we loved so well.
Beautiful memories are all we have left
Of a wonderful husband and father
We shall never forget.
—Ever remembered by wife and family.

DAINARD—In loving memory of our mother, Mrs. Wesley Dainard, who passed away April 19, 1943.
The depths of sorrow we cannot tell,
Of the loss of one we loved so well.
And while she sleeps in peaceful sleep
Her memory we shall always keep.
—Lovingly remembered by her family.

HARRIS—In loving memory of a dear husband and father, Mr. Levi Harris, who was called home April 19, 1950.
A happy home we once enjoyed,
How sweet the memory still,
But death has left a vacant chair
No one can ever fill.
—Lovingly remembered by his wife and family.

WALKER—In loving memory of our mother, Mrs. Ernest Walker, who passed away April 20, 1942.
Today recalls sad memories
Of a dear mother gone to rest,
And the one who thinks of her today
Is the one who loved her best.
—Ever remembered by daughters and son.

7—Cards of Thanks

Eiveen Boyce wishes to express her sincere gratitude to the attending doctors, Sisters and nurses of St. Joseph's Hospital; also her many friends for their kindness during her recent illness.

The family of the late Mrs. Percy Hartley wish to thank the attending priests, doctors, the Lane Funeral Home, also to all the kind friends and neighbors for their floral tributes and mass cards in the recent loss of a dear wife and mother.

The family of the late Thomas H. Cooper wishes to thank neighbors and friends for flowers, cards, kindness and sympathy shown them in their recent sickness and sad loss of a dear husband and loving grandfather, also to Rev. Dyson and Hendren funeral home.

Dies At Post

PRESCOTT, Ont., April 19 (CP) —Paul Emile Loubier, 38, of Montreal, was found dead today at his post in the engine room of the S.S. Casco. The boat was loading corn at the Prescott elevator when the discovery was made. Coroner Dr. C. F. MacPherson of Prescott said death was due to natural causes.

Expect Experts From 26 Lands At Forestry Meet

OTTAWA, April 19 — (CP) — Forestry countries will come to Canada for the sixth British Commonwealth conference opening in August and lasting well into September.

Much of the time the delegates will spend travelling to various parts of the country to view Canada's forest resources and methods at first hand.

The Resources Department, announcing plans for the conference Friday night, said invitations have been sent to Britain, Australia, New Zealand, South Africa, India, Pakistan, Northern Rhodesia, Southern Rhodesia and many other Commonwealth lands.

Observers will be present from the U.S. Forest Service and from the Food and Agriculture Organizations of the United Nations.

Canada will be represented by delegates from the federal and provincial governments and by associate delegates from the forest industries and universities teaching forestry.

Is It Jamestown or Wawa? Citizens Puzzle Over Name

JAMESTOWN OR WAWA, Ont. —(CP)—The 1,200 residents of this iron-mining town aren't quite sure where they live. The Post Office calls it Jamestown. The township council calls it Wawa, an Ojibway name.

Townsfolk have become used to the confusion. For the visitor it is a strange paradox. Until recently the town boasted two welcome signs, less than 100 yards apart, at its outskirts. One proclaimed "Welcome to Wawa," the other said "Jamestown Welcomes You." On a recent dark night the Jamestown sign was toppled into a snowbank. Later is disappeared entirely.

Merchants disagree. Some use Wawa, such as "Wawa Confectionery" or "Wawa Hardware." Others include the name Jamestown in their signs. Youngsters get in on the act with their sport shirts—some bear the name Wawa across the front, others Jamestown.

The Post Office Department named the town Jamestown five or six years ago after getting a petition from a group of residents. The Algoma Central and Hudson Bay Railway followed suit. The name honored Sir James Dunn, president of the Algoma Steel Corporation and its subsidiary, Algoma Ore Properties, which operates the town's only industry, the New Helen Iron Mines.

The name Wawa has been with the town as long as anyone can remember. Its closest translation from Ojibway is "haven for geese." The town lies on the shore of Wawa Lake, about a dozen miles from Lake Superior and 110 miles north of Sault Ste. Marie, Ont.

Wawa's first mining fame was as a gold town. It was the scene of a tumultuous rush some 55 years ago. Its future took a different course when ore which two prospectors thought was gold turned out to be hematite iron.

The mine was called the Helen. It led to the establishment of the Algoma Steel Corporation's mills at Sault Ste. Marie. When the hematite ran out, the mine lay dormant until Algoma ore properties began the present development, mining siderite iron ore which requires special treatment before it can be used in steel-making. Production is more than 1,000,000 tons a year.

Plan Model Town In Northern Area As Uranium Mining Centre Opens

PRINCE ALBERT, Sask.—(CP) —Construction is to begin shortly after the spring breakup on Uranium City, a planned boom town some 450 air miles northwest of Prince Albert.

It has already been estimated that by 1958, the city, now only a mark on a map in a previously unsettled area, will be a bustling community of 5,000 population in the heart of the rich hinterland mineral belt.

Planned as a completely new and modern city with all conveniences, it will serve as the residential centre for Saskatchewan's extensive uranium development areas north of Lake Athabaska, straddling the Alberta-Saskatchewan border.

Selection and official naming of a site near Martin, Lake, 10 air miles north of Goldfields, marked the first step in establishment of the town.

Engineers of the Saskatchewan Resources Department then made a contour plan of the townsite and surveying is expected to be completed this summer.

The townsite covers 150 acres of flat, sandy land along the Fredette River about a quarter mile from the northwest shore of Martin Lake. It is located on the "Uranium Road" which is now being built from Black Bay on Lake Athabaska to the Eldorado Ace lake mine.

The Transport Department and Eldorado Mining and Refining Company last September completed an airport six miles from the townsite. Levelling of two hills was necessary to lay the strip, one end of which is at Ace Lake and the other at Beaverlodge Lake.

Urianium City will serve as a central townsite for all mines in the area instead of each property having its separate communities. Housing regulations will be enforced to prevent development of a shack town.

"It is common history in many Canadian mining regions for mineral development to result in despoiled countryside and shabby shacktowns," said C. A. L. Hogg, Saskatchewan's Deputy Resources Minister who picked the townsite and first suggested the name of Uranium City.

He described the scenery around the new townsite as the best he has ever seen for "any mining centre in Canada." Included within the boundaries of the townsite is a 30-foot waterfall on the Fredette river. Within a quarter mile are sand beaches on Martin Lake. Surrounding all this is treed parkland.

Mr. Hogg reported record uranium development is going ahead in the area.

"There is more activity there now than ever before," he said. "It even surpassess the boom of 1937 in the amount of work being done."

Eldorado, the Crown Corporation which purchasese all uranium produced in Canada, has announced it definitely has a uranium mine at its Ace Lake property near Beaverlodge Lake. It plans a 500-ton capacity mill expected to go into operation sometime in 1953.

Moscow Directs Drive To Slow Production In Other Lands

By WILLIAM L. RYAN,
AP Foreign News Analyst

PARIS—(AP)—"All roads," proclaims Moscow, "lead to Communism."

Stalin can wait. While he waits, his Red Legions, spearheads for the conquests of the future, build carefully against the day of "world victory of Communism."

"One should be able to accept every sacrifice; to use, if necessary, every article or strategem, to adopt illegal methods, to keep silent at some times and conceal the truth at others: all this in order to penetrate the trade unions and perform there the Communist task, in spite of all."

So wrote Lenin years ago. This is the guiding doctrine today for the Communist parties of Western Europe.

No issue is too small. No advantage is too trifling.

Jean Dubois, worker in a French metal plant, grunts with displeasure. His jacket has fallen again from the pile of garments hung on a nail.

A Communist cell member nearby notes the proceedings. He is schooled to be alert to any possible issue, no matter how small. There is the germ of a grievance here, and the Communist cell gets busy in the shop.

Suddenly there is a demand for racks and coat hangers. It is stirred up to a pitch of frenzy. There is a one-day strike of protest, somehow or other, the government becomes the scapegoat for the lack of coat hangers. The Leninist doctrine that every strike must be a political one, is in operation again. Another blow has been struck by the Communists.

Government's Fault

It is a small blow, but the effects mount up. The blows are continuing, constant. Always the regime is attacked, no matter what the grievance. Jean Dubois, worker, learns to blame his every woe on the badgered government in Paris.

In France, there is a carefully planned drive against the speed-up. Casually disregarding the known history of the speedup in Russia and the Sovietized countries, the Communists are bent upon convincing western workers, particularly in defence installations, that they are being "super-exploited" in the interests of the United States.

The result is a Europe-wide anti-productivity drive. The goal is to neutralize western Europe, to render first Germany, then France and Italy neutral in the cold war of the giants.

Canadian Girls Awarded 3 Scholarships

WINNIPEG, April 19—(CP)—Three scholarships valued at $3,700 were awarded Friday by the Canadian Federation of University Women to two Montreal women and one from Victoria, B.C.

Doreen Maxwell of Montreal has been granted a travelling scholarship of $1,500. A graduate of Queen's and McGill Universities, Miss Maxwell plans to attend University College, Dundee, a branch of the University of St. Andrew's, where she will specialize in sawfly cytology.

The junior scholarship of $1,200 has been awarded to Elizabeth Bryson of Victoria, a graduate of the University of British Columbia in classics. She plans to take a master's degree in the same subject at the University of Illinois, from which institution she has won a scholarship.

Dr. Rose Henshaw of Montreal, winner of the federation's $1,000 professional scholarship, is a graduate in arts of McGill University. She took first-class honors in French and English and won the Governor-General's gold medal for modern languages.

She graduated with a bachelor of music degree from the University of Toronto in 1944, and five years later received her doctoral degree in music, the only Canadian woman to receive that honor.

Dr. Henshaw won the French Government scholarship for 1951-52 and has been working with Mlle. Nadia Boulanger, professor at the Conservatoire National de Musique in Paris.

Brownies Meet

LAKEFIELD, April 19 (ENS)—The "Fairy Ring" opening was used at this week's meeting of the Brownies with Mrs. Reg. Doubt in charge and Patty Jakins assisting.

After the playing of several games the children were taught how to tie their ties and the braiding, taught at a previous meeting, was reviewed. They were also taught the salute, the handshake and the sign of Brownies.

All Brownies must bring a note, signed by a parent, to the next meeting saying that they have washed the dishes to their mother's satisfaction.

Mrs. John Trickett read an interesting story and the closing prayer was said by Patty Jakins. The "tunnel closing" brought the meeting to an end.

Famed Lantern Shines

BOSTON, April 19 (AP) — A lantern shone from the Old North Church Friday night just as it did 177 years ago to warn Paul Revere and William Dawes that the British were coming by land. Shortly after dusk, on the eve of Massachusetts' annual patriots day holiday, Warren Revere, 7, of St. Albans, N.Y., a descendent of the famed silver smith, climbed the steps of the church belfry and lit the signal lanterns.

School Grants Governed By Assessment

School grants from the provincial government decrease as municipal assessment increases.

That was one of the facts of school financing stressed by K. S. Wightman, Superintendent Schools, in a recent letter to the city council. The inverse relationship applies in the secondary schools.

Public school grants are related to population. City council has recently been considering a proposed general increase in assessment. Some of the revaluation by the assessment department has already been done, although properties may not be lifted to the new level. Special appraising help is being obtained on many of the larger commercial and industrial buildings.

One of the comments in discussion was to the effect that a new assessment roll could always be cut back, if it was considered desirable. A ten per cent reduction all around could be easily applied and it would be equitable. However, that recourse is not in present thinking.

The text of Mr. Wightman's letter proceeds from his opening paragraph as follows:

"The Public School grants in a city are related to population rather than assessment. Since our city has a population between 30,000 and 40,000, it receives 22% on capital charges, and a certain part of the expenditure for salaries, plus $16 a pupil of average attendance. Once the population reaches 40,000, the rate drops to 21%.

Collegiate Academic

"Here the grant is connected directly with assessment per capita, and varies from $40 to $120 per pupil of average attendance in cities with a population of 20,000 or over.

In 1951 on which our 1952 grants will be based, the assessment per capita is approximately $1,044.

"For grant purposes Peterborough therefore comes in the category $1,000 to $1,050, and receives $52 per pupil grant. As soon as the assesment per capita reaches $1,050, the grant will drop to $48 per pupil, and so for each $50 increase in assessment per capita until it reaches the lowest rate of $40 per pupil.

Vocational School

"The same method of apportioning grant is applied in the Vocational School with different amounts per pupil. As long as Peterborough's assessment per capita remains below $1,050, the grant per pupil is $82.

"For each $50 increase in the assessment per capita the rate comes down $4 per pupil until it reaches the lowest rate of $70 per pupil, which is paid when the assessment per capita is $1,150 or more. At the present we are receiving $82 plus a supplementary grant of $4,000 based on the fact that out average attendance in the Vocational School is less than 400.

"The Vocational average may be taken as approximately 600 or a total of 925. This may appear low until it is noted that we do not receive a grant on students from other high school districts.

"An increase in assessment therefore, will reduce our grants by approximately $3,700 for each increase of $50 per capita.

"The range of grant is as follows:

Assessment Per Capita	Academic	Vocat.
$1,000-$1,050 . . .	$52	$83
$1,050-$1,100 . . .	$48	$78
$1,100-$1,150 . . .	$44	$74
$1,100 or over . .	$40	$70

"It will be seen that an increase in the assessment of slightly more than 100 per capita would reduce our grant by about $11,000."

Parking Meter Trouble

COBOURG, April 19 (ENS)—There were some very annoyed people in Cobourg and all because the town had the parking meters painted. It wasn't the color that raised the rumpus but the fact that the paint was wet and there were no warning signs. Police thought that the painter was putting on quick-drying paint. However, it didn't dry quickly enough and several people were going about with fresh paint on their clothing. Later signs announcing that the paint was wet appeared.

Selwyn W.I. Elects Officers

SELWYN, April 19 (ENS)—Mrs. R. Sweeting was elected president of the Selwyn Women's Institute at an annual meeting this week.

Other officers elected were: honorary president, Mrs. E. Blewett, first vice-president, Mrs. G. McIlmoyl; second vice-president, Mrs. Neil Blewett; secretary, Mrs. Reg. Bell, assistant, Mrs. M. Crapp; treas., Mrs. W. Nicholls, district director, Mrs. W. Elliott; flower convener, Mrs. Cliff McIlmoyl and Mrs. G. Fitzgerald; pianist, Mrs. G. McIlmoyl.

Conveners of standing committees are as follows:

Citizenship, Mrs. E. Blewett and Mrs. K. Wilson; historical research and current events, Mrs. Wm. Elliott and Mrs. G. Fitzgerald; health, Mrs. W. Nicholls and Mrs. Tully; home economics, Mrs. M. Crapp and Mrs. G. McIlmoyl; public relations, Mrs. N. Blewett and Mrs. G. Gelsel; education, Mrs. Tully and Mrs. Bell; agriculture and Canadian industries, Mrs. C. Sweeting and Mrs. C. McIlmoyl.

Grandmother's day will be observed in September with Mrs. B. Fitzgerald and Mrs. Fred Sweeting as conveners. A Christmas party in December convened by Mrs. Karl Wilson and Mrs. E. Blewett.

The election of officers was conducted by Mrs. H. A. Shearer. Mrs. W. Pearson was a visitor from Buckhorn.

Mrs. Wm. Elliott moved a vote of thanks to Mrs. Shearer and past president Mrs. E. Blewett.

The annual financial statement, presented by the secretary, Mrs. M. Crapp, showed total receipts were $183.75 and total expenditures $99.35 leaving a balance of $86.40.

Mrs. E. Blewett and Mrs. Wm. Elliott were elected to see how many would care to take the trip to Niagara on blossom Sunday. The decision to me made later.

A dainty lunch was served by Mrs. Neil Blewett, Mrs. G. Fitzgerald, Mrs. Wm. Elliott and Mrs. C. Sweeting.

Most People Wish They Could Live A Dog's Life

The country, as far as Canada's dogs are concerned, is going to the people.

Being a dog these days is a fine career for an animal—good food, pleasant hours, easy work and no taxes. The dogs! They don't even pay for their licenses.

Now in Toronto, there is a place where dogs are bathed for a fee. Besides that, they get their nails clipped, tails bobbed, and other minor beautifying tricks done, all for the price of a bath.

The bath is really a shampoo in cocoanut oil, and the fee varies, depending on how shaggy the dog is.

Hoity-toity joints of this nature aren't too common; only the major cities have them—Toronto, New York, Montreal and so on. But they bring in a lot of that lovely green stuff.

$200 A Year

Some people spend as much as $200 yearly on making man's best friend beautiful. That's outside food, leashes, licenses, rubber bones and the like.

It's a heady life for the houpds. But it's not only the canine 400 who get the beauty treatment. Dogs from dingy sections of the city get the same going over as others, and for the same fee. Their owners think that much of them.

Of course, the dog industry goes deeper than the frothy section of it which is the beauty parlor.

In Canada, there are probably about 2,000,000 dogs. The dog food industry is the big gun among the firms that produce articles for pets. It goes down the line from there to prefabricated dog houses and dog cemeteries.

Even Chlorophyll

One little item is Yummies, a candy for dogs. Among the other gimmicks in the dog food line is dog food with chlorophyll added, to de-smell the nation's poodles.

Of course, there are thousands of dogs who manage to struggle along without fancy dog foods, canned or dry. They get table scraps and thrive on them.

From the time they're sold to their masters, at prices ranging from $1.50 to a couple of thousand dollars for a prize specimen, until they're buried, sometimes in a $100 vault in a dog cemetery, dogs mean dollars to the businessmen of the nation.

The dog may be man's best friend, but he's also his most expensive.

Crossing Crashes Kill Three Near Montreal

MONTREAL, April 19—(CP)—Three persons were killed, two in railway crossing accidents, in Montreal district Friday.

Armand Lacasse, 46, St. Jerome Que., was killed when the automobile he was driving was struck by a freight train at a level crossing near Lesage.

Edward Burns, Napierville, Que., was killed when hit by a trbin while standing near his stalled automobile at a crossing near St. Valentin.

Gabriel St. Jean, 25, Labelle village, was killed when the motorcycle he was driving crashed into a safety zone at Labelle.

Prizes Curb Larceny

TORONTO, April 19 —(CP)—A new car will be given away every night at the Canadian National Exhibition grandstand show this year after a lucky draw of admission tickets, the executive committee decided Friday, in the hope it may curb petty larceny by ticket takers. Customers will want to keep their tickets for the draw and unscrupulous ticket-takers will have no opportunity to resell tickets.

Teachers May Refuse

TORONTO, April 19 (CP) — Suburban York township is faced with the possibility that 100 of its 119 secondary school teachers will refuse to return for the term beginning next September. Teachers have objected to a board of education decision to eliminate a $400-a-year cost-of-living bonus paid previously.

Urges More Caution

TORONTO, April 19 (CP) — Highways Minister Doucett Friday urged motorists to put safety first to prevent deaths and injury —"the dreadful consequences of increased motor travel." His message, sent from his home where he is recovering from injuries suffered in an automobile accident, was read to the Ontario Motor League's annual session.

Try New Muffler

MONTREAL, April 19—(CP)—Trans-Canada Air Lines announced Friday development of a new cross-over exhaust muffler said to reduce the noise of North Star engines by 50 per cent. Jack Diamond, T.C.A. engineering director, said the new exhaust, which took three years to develop, will bring the North Stars "into favorable comparison with any major transport flying today."

United Church Plans Cross Country Pageant

TORONTO, April 19 (CP)—The United Church of Canada will produce and stage a pageant to be shown across the country, it was announced Friday night.

The show will be the climax of five days of exhibits, public meetings and speeches to be held in consecutive urban centres.

Sir Ernest MacMillan, conductor of Toronto Symphony Orchestra, has been commissioned to write original music for the pageant, "Triumphs of Faith". Canadian poet E. J. Pratt will write words for the new hymns.

The pageant will take a cast on the road but use local talent in each centre in which it plays.

Judge Dismisses Suit For $40

KITCHENER, April 19—(CP)—Court action by 80-year-old John E. Schafer to recover $40 from Kitchener police chief John Patrick was dismissed yesterday by Judge E. W. Clement.

Schafer sued the chief for rent of his own garage in which his car was impounded following revoking of his licence and driver's permit.

Chief Patrick said he ordered the car impounded in Schafer's garage to save the man the $1-a-day charge for pound storage.

Judge Clement ruled the chief's action saved Schafer $15 a month, the difference between the rental he could have received and the impounding charges.

Schafer's car was impounded because he refused to wear glasses while driving, as ordered on his driver's permit.

Gets Good News Marine's Mother Stays

WITH THE FIRST U.S. MARINE DIVISION IN KOREA, April 19.—(AP)—News that the mother of a United States marine would not be deported was relayed to him by telephone Friday.

"It's a relief. Thank God," said Sgt. Johannes Meulenkamp, Marine combat rifleman when he heard the news.

Meulenkamp said Thursday he was worried because his mother, Mrs. Maria Louwerenburg, was to be deported to Holland under immigration regulations.

Today Sgt. Meulenkamp was advised his mother had been given a job with the Dutch consulate in Seattle and would be granted a diplomatic visa which would allow her to remain in the U.S.

Start Shelter

TORONTO, April 19 (CP) — Construction of what is believed to be the first air-raid shelter in the Greater Toronto area will begin next month in suburban North York township. The shelter is to be built under a new office building and will have room for 12 employes and a stock of food and water.

Star Unable To Escape From Monkeys

By BOB THOMAS.

HOLLYWOOD, March 19 (AP) —"I just can't seem to get away from monkeys."

That was the plaintive remark of Maureen O'Sullivan, back before the movie cameras after a lengthy absence. In the 1930s, she spent nine years as the mate of Tarzan and nursemaid to Cheetah the Chimp and other beasts.

Now, after mothering seven children, she is appearing with the educated monkey in "Bonzo Goes To College."

"I don't mind the monkeys so much," she said. "This one—her real name is Peggy—seems quite gentle and affectionate. The ones we had on the Tarzan pictures were all right until they grew older."

More Movies

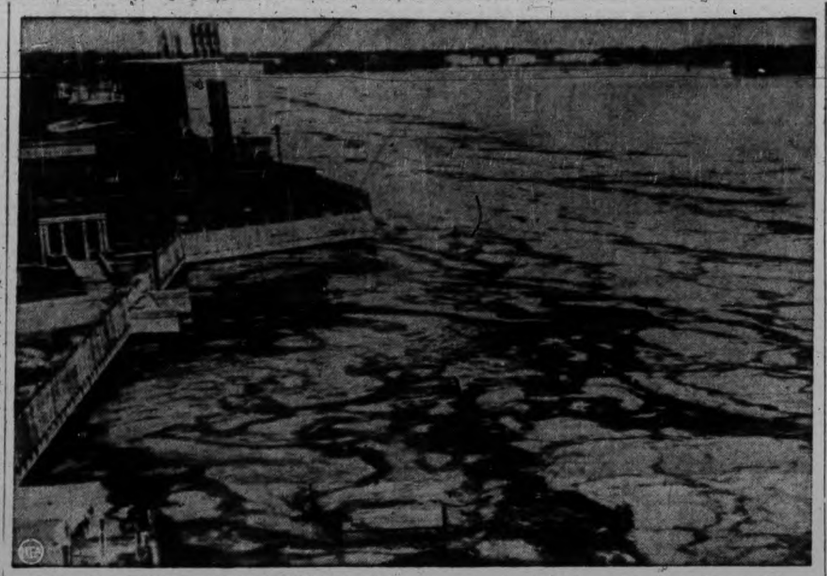
Miss O'Sullivan's last film work was five years ago, when she appeared in "The Big Clock." She indicated she will be doing more movies in the future.

"My children range from 13 to eight months," she said, "so now the older ones are beginning to be able to take care of the younger ones. That allows me more time off, and I think I will use it in acting.

The actress is also going in for television and has a story-telling series for children, a field in which she should be an expert. Despite her heavy maternity schedule, she still looks as trim and pretty as a starlet.

Observation

Perhaps the vaudeville shows on television are running their course. The slam-bang variety shows are bogging down in a mess of old jokes and worn-out acts. I don't know about you, but I can watch one of the big-name comedy shows for a whole hour without cracking a smile.



OIL ON TROUBLED WATERS.— Oil from a broken refinery tank colors flood waters of the swollen Missouri River as they flow past a 33-foot dike protecting this plant on the Omaha, Neb., waterfront. The flood, one of the worst in U.S. history, was expected to reach a 31.5 foot crest in this area.

Law And

pect of law is that what should be for discipline and regulation for the common good can itself be perverted and made an instrument for the benefit of the self-seeking and corrupt.

Law-makers may yield to corrupt influences, and we are well aware of the extent to which those set to maintain and enforce the law may defeat its ends by graft and corruption.

Beyond law is Right. A thing may be legal, and yet morally and inherently wrong, unjust, and unreasonable.

And even beyond Right is Love. Cold right and justice may lack mercy. "Love is the fulfilling of the law."

The law of Christ, manifest in His life and teaching is the supreme way of welfare and of right relationships for man.

Agricultural Reform

PETROPOLIS, Brazil, April 19 (AP)—President Getulio Vargas said Thursday his government is planning a vast agricultural reform program that will free many Brazilian farm workers from virtual serfdom. The project called for distribution of public land, elimination of backward farming methods and establishing farmers on new rich soil. He said a government commission is studying the project and would make a detailed announcement soon.

Speaks On Trip To England

GORE'S LANDING, April 19—(ENS)—Speaking on a trip to England and the continent, Miss Lindy McIntosh, of Peterborough, gave an interesting address Tuesday evening in the United Church hall.

Illustrating the lecture with colored slides, Miss MacIntosh portrayed a cycle trip through England with excursions to Ireland, Scotland and then by air to Holland. She showed various mementos of her trip, which thrilled the children present.

Following the lecture a short puppet show was given by three young ladies of Cobourg Collegiate Institute. This finished an evening sponsored by the W.M.S. of the United Church who had previously provided a supper enjoyed by a capacity crowd. Milton Ames was chairman for the evening. Mrs. J. D. Fowlie and Mrs. Thomas Cheyne presented the entertainers with gifts in appreciation of their efforts.

Coldsprings Women Hold Thankoffering

COLDSPRINGS, April 19 — (ENS)— "Easter Gave us the Bible" was the theme of the April W.M.S. Thankoffering meeting held on Wednesday afternoon in the Sunday School room.

Mrs. A. Jamieson, presided. There were 22 present. The treasurer, Mrs. F. Shier reported that $61 has been sent to presbytery for first quarter. Coldsprings members have been asked to give the worship service in the afternoon of the sectional meeting in June being held at Welcome.

Mrs. J. Noble and group were in charge of the program. Mrs. J. Ritchie gave a temperance reading. Bible readings were given by Mesdames W. Dines, L. McIntosh, J. Rosevear, F. Fisher, and H. McKinley.

Many Easter hymns were sung with Miss Hoskin, pianist.

The Easter Thankoffering amounted to $36. Mrs. A. Buttlars, will be hostes for the May meeting at which a temperance collection will be taken.

Mrs. A. Taylor and group served refreshments.

Formosa Banks Pay Interest At High Rate To Aid Thrift

By BILL BOSS,
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TAIPEH, Formosa, April 19 — (CP)—Money really works here. Put $100 in a chartered bank for one year and you get back $165.

But there's a catch to it. You can spend the money only in Formosa. The Nationalist government won't let you take it from the country.

The government has gone into banking in a big way. It has a double purpose in its adaptation of traditional Chinese banking methods with their fabulous rates of interest.

It wants to encourage the people to save money instead of wasting it on fireworks, liquor and foods for frequent feasts demanded by their Pagan beliefs. And by this saving, the government believes it can combat inflation.

Speaker Huang Chao-Chu of the Formosan Provincial Assembly is in private life the board chairman of the First Commercial Bank. He says that on $28,000,000 in deposits last year the government paid out $9,000,000 in interest.

He conceded the program has encouraged citizens to deposit money in government-sponsored banks instead of in "underground" banks which periodically go bankrupt.

"It is a means for the people to invest in their government," he said, "and to show confidence in it."

May Prove Too Costly.

But there was doubt whether the government could afford to keep up the high interest rates, though so far it had not heeded his recommendations for a change.

The theory was that heavy saving could keep prices down by taking money out of circulation and reducing the demand for goods. But there is the risk, he said, that interest payments will become so great that net saving may be insufficinet and that inflation will sharply cut the value of Formosan money.

However, Huang said, the interest policy has been largely successful, if expensive, because commodity prices have remained stable.

There are three types of bank accounts in Formosa.

There is a "fixed deposit" in which a customer leaves his money for a specified time— from a month to a year —and on which he gets compound interest. In a year the interest works out to 65 per cent.

On a savings account the government pays 15-per cent interest.

On a chequing account the interest is 10 per cent.

On loans a bank charges only one per cent more than the interest a borrower would get if, instead, he were depositing for the period of the loan.

Officers Take Tour In Europe

BRUSSELS, April 19 (Reuters) —Fifteen members of Canada's National Defence College arrived here Friday from London on a tour of Europe and the Middle East.

One group—which includes instructors and students—is making one of the annual trips planned by the college to acquaint members with conditions in other countries.

Head of the party is Air-Vice-Marshal C. R. Dunlop, commander of the college, assisted by Group Capt. D. A. R. Bradstaw and Col. R. P. Rothschild. Students in the group include six senior officers.

Brass Hat In Hurry Blamed For Plane Mystery

OTTAWA, April 21. (CP)—Southern Ontario's "mystery" aircraft may well have been just a British brass hat in a hurry. Reports that some sort of craft zoomed across that area leaving R.C.A.F. planes and public speculation in its wake, raised that possibility today. A twin-jet British Canberra bomber carrying Air Chief Marshal Sir Hugh Lloyd, head of the R.A.F. bomber command, took off from Montreal Sunday for Omaha, Neb., and would be over Southern Ontario about the time the mystery object emerged.

The R.C.A.F. said there is a possibility Lloyd's plane created the controversy.

But the reports that it was going 1,000 miles an hour stump them. The Canberra can do between 500 and 600. But 1,000—no.

At noon today in Peterborough many calls were received by The Examiner as residents noted plane vapor trails similar to those noticed here and in Western Ontario Sunday.

At 30,000 Feet

The Sunday vapor trail was sighted above Toronto by airport officials about noon and shortly afterwards over London, Ont. The jet bomber, one of the fastest planes in the air, flew at a height of about 30,000 feet and it was going so fast that it sped over Toronto before its flight plan reached air traffic control officials, a Toronto story says.

At London, fighter aircraft from No. 420 Squadron attempted to intercept the plane but it quickly left them behind. The Mustang fighter pilots pushed their craft to speeds of 450 miles an hour in the futile chase.

The Toronto newspaper's story estimated the Canberra's speed at 1,000 m.p.h. or more.

Sunday's reports from airport officials and spectators indicated the vapor trail came from a "dark cylindrical object."

After sighting the trail, Toronto airport men called London city airport but by that time the Canberra had passed that city heading west.

Detroit Next

Within a reported 12 minutes, the story says, Detroit airport control tower messaged that the trail was visible north of that city.

While one speeding object was identified, there were other unaccountable observations over Toronto Sunday.

One resident reported seeing about 50 lights in V-formation moving rapidly from southeast to northwest. He said the lights were dim orange and appeared to be at great height. He heard no sound.

The Dunlap observatory on Toronto's outskirts said it had no record of the lights. They might have been meteors, observatory officials said, since they are prevalent at this time of year.

Queen Reviews Guardsmen On 26th Birthday

WINDSOR, England, April 21—(Reuters).—The Queen, her children watching through a rain-spattered window, inspected the Grenadier Guardsmen in the courtyard of Windsor castle today at a parade honoring her 26th birthday.

She wore a plain black coat and a tight-fitting black hat as she walked up and down the ranks of the Guardsmen in their tall bearskins and grey capes. Prince Philip accompanied her.

Though it rained steadily, the Queen did not call on the household attendant who stood waiting in a doorway with an umbrella.

Prince Charles and Princess Anne were brought to the window by the Queen Mother and Princess Margaret. With them was Charles' best friend, Prince William, 10-year-old son of the Duke of Gloucester.

Reads Messages

The Queen rose early and spent an hour looking at the hundreds of greeting messages from statesmen and diplomats all over the world.

She has been Honorary Colonel of the regiment since she was 16. She must relinquish the post now, because, as Queen, she has become Colonel-in-Chief of the Brigade of all five regiments of Guardsmen.

The brilliant, scarlet tunics of the Guardsmen were covered by capes because of the weather. Their numbers included a detachment of the 2nd Battalion flown from Germany and another of the 3rd Battalion, which is in Egypt.

The farewell was timed for today, because on this day 10 years ago the Queen, then only 16, inspected the Guards for the first time as their Colonel.

Britain Sends Red China Note

LONDON, April 21 (Reuters).—Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden said today Britain has sent another note to Communist China asking for information about a number of Canadians, Americans, and other Westerners in Chinese hands.

Canada has no diplomatic relations with Communist China and obtains information on Canadian nationals there through the British Embassy.

Last month the External Affairs Department reported there were 168 Canadians in China, including 114 missionaries. The latter include 48 nuns and 20 persons of Protestant denomination. In addition, there are seven deepndents of Protestant missionaries and 47 persons in other categories.

Doctor Celebrates By Cancelling Bills

PARRISH, Ala., April 21. (AP)—A country doctor celebrated his 80th birthday Sunday by cancelling $38,852 in medical bills his patients have owed him since the First World War.

Then Dr. John Wesley Simpson left a celebration in his honor to treat two patients.

"God has been good to me, and I haven't been practising medicine for money alone," he commented in announcing that he had wiped out debts owed by several hundred persons.

Malan Plans Parliament High Court

Vote Down Demand Supreme Court Judgment Accepted

CAPETOWN, April 21. —(Reuters)—The South African House of Assembly today rejected by a vote of 78 to 61 an opposition demand that the government accept a Supreme Court judgment which invalidated a government law on voters on mixed blood.

The law removed such voters from the common register. The Nationalist Government has refused to accept the ruling and plans legislation which would give Parliament supreme authority over the courts.

Interior Minister Eben Donges announced today he will introduce a bill Tuesday which will establish a "high ccurt of Parliament."

The motion voted down today was proposed by Jacob Strauss, Leader of the United (Opposition) Party. It has been debated for a week in the House of Assembly, where the Nationalist Party has a majority.

Define Jurisdiction

Donges told the House of Assembly the bill will define the new court's jurisdiction and prove for "other related matters."

His announcement was greeted with cheers by government members, involved in a red-hot controversy with the Opposition because of Prime Minister Daniel Malan's determination to establish the supremacy of Parliament over the courts.

This was the first government statement of the government's legislative plans to implement Malan's policy since the Supreme Court declared invalid last month the act placing voters of mixed blood on a separate electoral list.

The two-part bill will propose:

1—Removal of the courts' present right to test the constitutionality of laws passed by Parliament.

2—Establishment of a Parliamentary Court superior to the Appeal Court — at present South Africa's highest — to pronounce ginally upon disputed legislation.

The political correspondent of the Sunday Times, which favors the Opposition United Party, wrote Sunday that the "idea of a court superior to the Appeals Court . . . would mean a fundamental change in the system of government in South Africa."

Denounce Reds Chinese Suicide

HONG KONG, April 21 (AP)—After denouncing Communism to a stunned crowd, two Chinese business men jumped to their deaths from a Canton rooftop.

Independent Chinese newspapers here told of the incident today in recounting a wave of suicides in Canton on "Bloody April 14."

At least 17 shopkeepers, merchants and managers died by their own hands that day. All were caught in the "five antis" campaign—the drive to eliminate merchants, industrialists and business men by getting their employees to denounce them for various real or fancied crimes.

The managers of the Chong Yung Construction Company of Yi Tak road west, and of the Hangtze Trading Company of Yi Tak road central bowed out with defiance.

Communist Bullet Parts Pilot's Hair

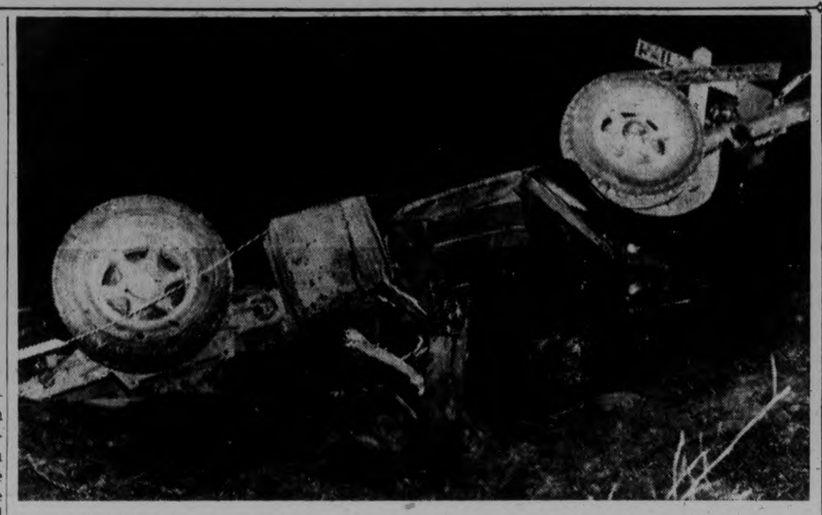
TOKYO, April 21. (AP) — A Communist bullet parted the hair of a downed United States jet pilot today as he scrambled into a rescue helicopter.

Far East air forces headquarters said the pilot spent Sunday night in enemy territory after he was forced to bail out.

Early this morning a helicopter reached him as Communist troops opened fire. One bullet grazed the head of the F-80 pilot, leaving a long red welt.

The air force withheld his name.

The helicopter escaped despite several hits.



ONLY BRUISED—Twenty-three-year-old Norman Bannerman of Toronto climbed uninjured from the wrecked cab of his truck Saturday night. Bannerman missed a turn on the Campbellford-Hastings road, went over an embankment, clipped off a telephone pole and the truck flipped over, coming to rest upside down. A rabbit's foot luck piece dangled from the key chain of the smashed ignition lock—W. W. Reid photo.

Dam Holding But Pressure Said Increasing

SWIFT CURRENT, Sask., April 21—(CP)—Hard-pressed Duncairn Dam still holds today, despite flood waters building up behind.

The 5,000-foot, earth-and-concrete barrier holds back a lake 16 miles long, three-quarters of a mile wide and roughly 35 feet deep. This city of 7,500 population is 25 miles downstream from the weakened dam.

Officials in charge expressed hope Sunday night that the dam would hold.

"Still critical" was the way Dr. L. B. Thompson, prairie farm rehabilitation administration director, described the situation at the dam.

Water is still rising in the reservoir behind the dam. Intake is estimated at 1,400 cubic feet a second, while only 1,000 cubic feet a second escapes from two outlets.

But at the focal point of the danger, a $200,000 concrete spillway undermined aroudd its lower perimeter by soil erosion, water is also escaping.

Engineers worked hurriedly to construct a buffer dam behind the disintegrating spillway to help relieve the pressure. Also under consideration are plans to construct a wooden flume, a U-shaped trough to extend over the length of the outlet and permit passage of water through two flood gates closed Friday when the spillway began to break up.

All organizations have co-operated throughout the emergency. Three Regina construction firms have volunteered earth-moving equipment. Two dragline power-shovels have come from other centres. Some caterpillar tractor operators have stayed on the job 27 hours at a stretch.

This city is preparing to meet any emergency. Citizens in low-lying area have been placed on an alert. An emergency two-way radio communication system is maintained between the dam and the city. Thus citizens will have ample warning of any dam break.

Resume Negotiations

HAMILTON, April 21—(CP)—Negotiations resumed today to head off a strike of some 5,000 workers in three Canadian Westinghouse Company plants. With the strike deadline set for midnight Tuesday, representatives of the company and Local 504, United Electrical Workers (Ind.) conferred again in an effort to reach a settlement in their collective bargaining contract dispute.

Truck Demolished On Turn Driver Escapes With Bruise

CAMPBELLFORD, April 21. (ENS)—Norman Bannerman, 23, of 1212 Roselawn Avenue, Toronto, escaped with only a bruise on his right shoulder on Saturday night when the truck he was driving failed to make a sharp curve and plunged down an embankment on the Hastings road, about five miles west of this town. The truck was demolished.

Bannerman had been visiting a relative in Campbellford and was driving the tractor portion of the tractor-trailer vehicle to Hastings.

He was unfamiliar with the road and failed to see the sharp curve at the top of a hill until too late. The truck ploughed into the ditch, clipped off a telephone pole and flipped over, coming to rest with six wheels in the air.

Climbed Out Himself

The cab was completely demolished and police and witnesses said they could not explain how the driver was able to climb out of the wreck under his own power. He calmly directed traffic around fallen wires until police arrived.

Some difficulty was experienced in getting the truck back onto the road. Two trucks from Campbellford, one used as an anchor, failed to extricate the vehicle from the ditch, although they did succeed in getting it onto its wheels. A large towing truck from Hastings with a power winch was finally called and it undertook the salvage job. The idea of anchoring the tow truck to a telephone pole on the opposite side of the road had to be abandoned when the pole threatened to snap under the pressure.

The wrecked truck was finally inched up the bank and was almost on the roadway when the cable snapped, allowing it to roll free, back down into the ditch, through a fence and across a field.

After hooking a long cable, chains and anything else that could be found to reach the truck, onto the vehicle, it was finally pulled up the bank and taken to a Campbellford garage.

No Charges

The truck was owned by the Leather Cartage Company of Hamilton. Bannerman was taken to the office of Dr. W. W. Baker of Campbellford, but the only injuries that could be found was the bruise on his shoulder. Provincial Constable George Rose of Campbellford investigated. No charges have been laid against the driver.

The curve, which is at the top of a steep hill and about four hun-

SERIOUSLY ILL — Doctors reported today that condition of Sir Stafford Cripps is critical. During the weekend, the former British government official lapsed into unconsciousness.

Report Cripps Slowly Sinking

ZURICH, Switzerland, April 21—(AP)—Sir Stafford Cripps, socialist architect of Britain's post-war austerity, was reported "slowly sinking" today.

"He has now drifted into a state of deep and painless unconsciousness," said a bulletin issued by his chief physician, Dr. Dagmar Leichti.

The former Chancellor of the British Exchequer, who will be 63 on Thursday, is suffering from a spinal infection known as spondylitis. Since the war he has fought a losing battle with his illness and returned here in January after suffering a relapse.

His turn for the worse was first reported Saturday night, when Sir Stafford was said to be in an "extremely-serious" condition.

Wheat Pool Secretary Has Second Operation

LONDON, April 21. (CP) — George Robertson, secretary of the Saskatchewan wheat pool, today underwent a second operation for a bladder complaint. His condition was described as "quite satisfactory."

Mrs. Robertson was with her husband at the private clinic which he entered following a mid-ocean operation two weeks ago. Robertson was taken ill on the liner Queen Elizabeth while travelling to London for a meeting of the International Wheat Council.

BULLETIN

OTTAWA — (CP). — Agriculture Minister Gardiner disclosed today that a new case of an animal showing some of the symptoms of foot-and-mouth disease is under investigation. He did not say where the sick animal is located. He told the Ottawa Rotary Club that the case was reported last Saturday.

1 Fireman Dead, 6 Overcome By Smoke As Paint Shop Fire Flares Anew

MONTREAL, April 21 (CP)—Seven firemen—one reported dead and the others overcome by smoke—were carried from a burning building in suburban Verdun today when a paint shop fire flared up again after being brought under control.

Firemen of Verdun and two neighboring municipalities of Ville LaSalle and Lachine fought the blaze for four hours and most of the equipment had left the scene when it broke out again.

The firemen were reported trapped on the roof and in sheds at the rear of the building.

Three ambulances and an inhalator equipment were sent to Church Avenue and Newmarch Street, scene of the outbreak. Firemen asked nearby residents for coats and blankets to cover their comrades as they awaited medical treatment.

The men were overcome by smoke when a gust of wind fanned the smoldering fire and sent black smoke billowing upwards. The men were on the roof making a check of the building and pouring water in the already water-soaked, blackened structure.

Equipment was rushed back.

Firemen feared explosions after J. P. Loiselle the owner said hundreds of gallons of paint, varnish, turpentine and other inflamables were stored in the basement.

10 Guards Held As Hostages In Michigan Mutiny

JACKSON, Mich., April 21. (AP)—Six more guards were seized as hostages by mutineers at the state prison of Southern Michigan today, bringing to 10 the number of hostages held. Four other guards had been in the prisoners' custody since Sunday night. The first gunfire of the prison riot meanwhile took place. State police fired four shots when rioters were said to have threatened guards of a work party inside the grounds. The police said the shots were "warning shots" and were fired over the heads of the convicts.

The gunshots came as rioting prisoners still held control of a large portion of the mammoth prison in a continuation of an outbreak that began Sunday night.

A half-dozen prison guards had been injured as the rioting spread into mid-morning. The quartermaster building, containing clothing, was set ablaze.

Break Into Theatre

One group broke into the prison theatre, seized musical instruments and paraded in the yard.

A night-long mutiny of some of the prison's toughest criminals, touched off a series of new disturbances after daybreak.

Four prison guards were held as hostages by the mutineers, led by the notorious "Crazy Jack" Hyatt, who, if ever released, is to be deported to Canada as an undesirable alien.

At least two prison blocks, including a mental ward, and the mess hall were in control of the rioters.

In wrecked block 15, the isolated block where the most dangerous criminals are confined, the hostages were held prisoners.

Threaten Hostages

Hyatt's group sent out word this morning that they would "work over" their hostages if live ammunition is used against them, prison officials said.

Southern Michigan prison is reputed to be the world's largest. It has 6,481 inmates. Of these 4,978 are within the walls. The others are trusties or work-camp prisoners.

At the height of the rioting, officials said that 1,600 prisoners were involved.

Hyatt, 29, is serving 25 to 30 years for armed robbery, having been sent up from Detroit Sept. 18, 1945.

Hyatt and his associates claim brutality caused the mutiny. They made a hostage guard, with a knife at his throat, pose for photographers at a barred cell window.

Hyatt, whose real name is Jack, pulled a knife and attempted to use Governor G. Mennen Williams as a shield in an escape attempt

Lightning Bolt Causes Some Excitement

NEWCASTLE, N.B., April 21—(CP)—A lightning bolt struck the district Sunday and:

Caused an estimated $20,000 damage to the Roman Catholic Church at neary Collette;

Jumped on a power line, entered the home of Albert Pitrie, an invalid and burned the man about the legs and chest as he lay in bed;

Caused $200 damage to the home of Robert Pitrie, a relative and next-door neighbor;

Struck Mrs. Emmanuel Gaudet, injuring her arm.

Charges Senate Paralyzing Gov't In Emergency

WASHINGTON, April 21 (AP) — President Truman told the Senate today that if it restricts use of government funds for operating of the seized steel mills it may result in "paralyzing the operations of the government in an emergency."

In a letter to vice-president Alben Barkley, Truman hit out at Republican-sponsored moves to deny any funds for government operation of the mills.

He warned:

"If the Communists stage another offensive in Korea this spring, the success or failure of that offensive may well depend on whether or not we have kept our steel mills in operation. This is a consideration over and above the drastic effect a steel shutdown would have on our total defence effort."

Truman repeated what he had said in a message April 9—that he ordered "temporary operation" of the steel mills by the government "with the utmost reluctance."

Continues Cruise

The message was sent to Barkley while Truman continued his cruise aboard the yacht Williamsburg.

Meanwhile, Nathan Feinsinger, chairma nof the wage stabilization board, and Ellis Arnall, price stabilizer, met at the White House with the National Advisory Board on Mobilization Policy for a discussion of the steel situation.

Republicans sponsoring the move to cut off funds for government operation of the steel industry claimed growing Democratic support.

They have put forward two proposals:

1. Forbid use of federal funds for salaries of officials to run the steel mills under seizure; introduced by Senator Homer Ferguson (Rep., Mich.).

Sailor Shot At Reserve Base

OTTAWA, April 21 (CP) — A 21-year-old sailor was shot and killed at the reserve naval base here today and police said they were holding a petty officer on a charge of manslaughter.

A navy spokesman said LS. Joseph Morris of Eastview, Ont., was shot in the storeroom at H.M.C.S. Carleton base in west-end Ottawa. The man being held was identified by the navy as PO. Thomas Bury of Toronto.

Navy officials said the two were cleaning rifles "when a rifle was discharged and Morris was shot in the stomach." He died in hospital.

Raging Fires In US Forests Bring Emergency Action

NEW YORK, April 21 (AP). — Raging woods fires in tinder dry northeastern States today brought emergency action by State officials.

Governor Dennis J. Roberts of Rhode Island closed all woodlands in his State after thousands of acres were blackened in weekend blazes, many of which continued to burn today.

Forest officials of the six New England States and New York were called into emergency session at Laconia, N.J., to consider the situation. Officials described it as "really bad."

They said the question of invoking the New England forest fire compact will be considered. The compact bands together New England States, New York, and parts of Canada in a mutual aid agreement.

The United States Weather Bureau reported wind and humidity conditions today are not as hazardous as Sunday, but still are dangerous. No rain before Wednesday at the earliest is sighted.

More than 100 fires kept firefighters busy during the weekend, razing at least 16 homes, one of them an old mansion built at a cost of $500,000.

The worst fires were in Maine, Rhode Island, and Massachusetts. One 70-acre blaze was reported in Milford, Conn.

Rhode Island's forest fire warden, Eric Jacobson, said the situation there Sunday was the most serious since 1930. A fire in the northwest corner of the State burned over about 2,000 acres, but was checked by 500 firemen.

Largest of Maine's 32 blazes were at Trenton, where 1,500 acres of scrub and brushland were burned, and Township 18 and Columbia, where 900 acres were blackened.

Allied Occupation Of Germany Likely End May 17

BONN, GERMANY, April 21. (CP)—Official sources said today that State Secretary Dean Acheson has informed Chancellor Konrad Adenauer that he will come to Bonn to sign the Allied-West German "peace contract" between May 10 and May 20. Acheson was reported to have sent the chancellor a personal letter disclosing that he plans to arrive in Europe May 9 for a 10-day visit. These sources said the "peace contract", opening the way for German rearmament and granting almost full sovereignty to the West Germans, definitely will be signed in Bonn. The contract now is being negotiated by three Allied high commissioners and Adenauer.

According to present plans, U.S. Secretary of State Acheson, British Foreign Secretary Eden and French Foreign Minister Schuman will come to Bonn May 17 to sign the agreement with federal chancellor Konrad Adenauer in the latter's chancellory, the Schamburg Palace.

Immediately after the signature the four statesmen will fly to The Hague in Holland, where the European Defence Community Treaty will be signed, according to a highly placed diplomatic source.

Depends On Speed

This schedule naturally depends on how fast the contractual agreement can be completed. U.S. and German diplomats are sure the agreement can be signed, sealed and delivered to the various legislatures for ratification by May 9.

From the German viewpoint speed is essential. Although Adenauer and his cabinet maintain a lofty aloofness on the subject of Soviet notes, they are worried by them and their effect on public opinion in West Germany. It is expected that the Allied replies to the second Soviet note will be followed swiftly by another and probably more attractive Russian offer on Germany's reunification, in another attempt to halt West Germany's integration with the West.

The object is to get the agreement concluded before this note arrives.

U.S. High Commissioner John J. McCloy also has pointed out that it is necessary to get the agreement completed by early May so it can be ratified by the U.S. Congress before the summer recess.

More Skeptical

Although they are going along on arrangements for signing the agreement, the British and French diplomats here remain considerably more skeptical than the Germans and Americans about the time required to complete the job.

Some think the negotiations may last into June mainly because although a great deal of work has been done, some of the toughest problems have been saved for the final negotiations.

Perhaps the trickiest of these is the division of German defence expenditures between the Allied armies in Germany and the coming German military contribution to European defence.

The high commissioners have tried to cut luxury expenditures in the occupation costs, which will be replaced by defence costs. Their objective is the use of German marks for strictly military purposes.

But the Germans are grumbling at the amount to be given the Allies for such purposes and already are proposing that the Allies pay their own way. This touches on a very serious situation.

500 Delegates At O.A.C. Parley

GUELPH, April 21 (CP)—More than 500 delegates of the Junior Farmers' Association of Ontario Sunday night attended a church service which opened their three-day provincial conference at the Ontario Agricultural College.

The conference has as its theme a line from a junior farmers' song: "The land is ours. We treasure it, a heritage have we."

Gordon Graydon, Progressive Conservative member of parliament for Peel, will speak today.

In the afternoon a panel discussion led by Dr. H. L. Patterson, director of farm economics, Ontario Department of Agriculture, will discuss the part of the theme, "we treasure it."

American 4-H Club representatives—the United States equivalent of the junior farmers—will discuss activities and organizations of young farmers in the U.S.

Sees Vigorous Expansion Economically

MONTREAL, April 21—(CP)—Dr. O. J. Firestone, the Federal Trade Department's economic adviser, today forecast a "vigorout" expansion in Canada's spectacular economic growth "for many years to come."

But whether that expansion will be smooth or bumpy will depend mostly on the "wisdom and resourcefulness" of the Canadian people, and their leaders in business, labor and government.

Dr. Firestone made his prediction in a speech prepared for delivery before the fourth annual conference of the Industrial Relations Centre at McGill University.

Backgrounding his speech with a review of Canada's half-century of growth, Dr. Firestone said that there will be many challenges and problems to face in the second half of the 20th century.

These problems and challenges may cause the rate of economic growth to vary from year to year and may even cause a temporary halt in expansion. But on the whole prospects for continuation of Canada's economic expansion "are bright."

Western Oils Climb On Toronto Exchange

TORONTO, April 21 (CP). — Western oils climbed steadily today in early afternoon stock market dealings. Mixed support levelled gains and losses in other sections.

Western oils and a scattered list of penny golds attracted speculative interest but turnovers were moderate. Industrial dealings remained in selected leading issues. Volume for the first three hours was 2,105,000 shares.

Agricultures, banks and manufacturing companies posted a scattered list of fractional advances to form industrials' strongest sections. Papers, liquors, and refining oils slipped.

Western oil gains ranged from pennies to about 50 cents. Devon-Leduc, New British Dominions, Britalta, Triad, trans Empire, and Canadian Devonian climbed strongly.

Base metals were mixed. Coldstream Copper, Emerald Glacier, Fenimore, Hudson Bay, New Calumet, Pend Oreille, and Steep Rock strengthened, while Mackeno, Sherritt-Gordon, and United Asbestos weakened.

Senior golds edged uppward. Hollinger, Malartic, Teck Hughes, and Wright-Hargreaves climbed moderately. Secondary issues were mixed.

Report Hyatt Has Long Record

OTTAWA, April 21 (CP) — "Crazy Jack" Hyatt, involved in a prison mutiny in Michigan, has a long criminal record in Canada considering his age, R.C.M.P. officials said today.

A native of Leamington, Ont., the 29-year-old Hyatt was first sentenced to six months in reformatory for theft and shopbreaking in Leamington in 1938 at the age of 16.

He was convicted of theft in Windsor, in 1940 and in Woodstock, in 1941, receiving suspended sentence in both cases. In 1942, he was convicted for automobile theft and carrying a gun in Windsor, and was sentenced to two years in penitentiary on the first charge, with an additional year, running concurrently, on the second.

He was released in 1943. R.C.M.P. had no further record on Hyatt until the armed robbery in Detroit in 1945 for which he was sentenced to 25 to 30 years.

Throughout Britain flags flew on public buildings. Salutes were fired by ships of the Royal Navy and in Hyde Park.

A 62-gun salute also boomed from the ancient Tower of London.

It was the first time in three years that Elizabeth has celebrated her birthday in Britain. Last year she was in Rome with her husband, and the year before she was in Malta.

Like her father, the Queen will have another "official" birthday, on June 5 when the weather may be more suitable for public ceremony.

Honor Bullfighter

JUAREZ, Mex., April 21—(AP) —Pat McCormick, Texas' lady bullfighter, won an ovation Sunday at the Plaza de Toros and was awarded an ear for her handling of her second bull. Pat fought bulls there last year and critics said she had "great promise." Observers Sunday said her work was of "professional calibre."

To Lower Harbor

DUISBURG, Germany, April 21 —(Reuters)—The Duisburg-Ruhrort harbor, biggest inland harbor in continental Europe, is to be lowered nearly six feet by exploiting coal deposits beneath it. The harbor had to be lowered to accommodate changes in the depth of the Rhine River bed through erosion. By mining the coal and letting the harbor sink expensive dredging will be avoided.

Give 9 Fellowships InCommunityPlanning

OTTAWA, April 21 (CP) — Nine fellowships of $1,200 each will be awarded to graduate students for study in community planning for the academic year, the crown-owned Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation announced today.

The fellowships will aid students in receiving advanced education which will enable them to enter the field of community planning and allied occupations either in a professional capacity or in public service.

For study at the universities of McGill, Toronto, Manitoba or British Columbia, the fellowships are available to graduates of recognized universities in the social sciences, architecture or civil engineering. This is the second year that fellowships have been made available at four universities.

Grass, Rubbish Fires Keep Firemen Busy

Firemen were kept busy over the weekend answering alarms to put out grass and rubbish fires.

Six hand pumps were required to squelch a grass fire east of the Civic Hospital Sunday morning and the others were put out before they could do any serious damage.

Fire Chief George Smith today reminded residents that it is illegal to burn grass or rubbish on Monday and that everyone must phone the department at 5713 to obtain permission before they start a fire outside of any kind.

Book Reveals Secret

U.K. Held Veto Power Over A-Bomb Use

WASHINGTON, April 21—(AP)—Britain held veto power over United States use of the atomic bomb for several years during and after the Second World War, but lost it with the ending of the atomic partnership of Canada, the United States and Britain.

In proposing to create a new partnership a few years ago, President Truman told congressional leaders in secrecy that he wanted to share all U.S. atomic weapon secrets with Canada and Britain. Republican leaders strongly objected.

This information on U.S. atomic policy has been brought to light with the release of "the private papers of Senator Arthur Vandenberg," a volume of personal and official records of the late Republican Foreign Affairs Leader in the Senate.

The 599-page book, edited by the Senator's son and long-time assistant, Arthur Vandenberg, Jr., covers the whole range of U.S. foreign policy from Pearl Harbor to the Senator's death one year ago. The perspective is that of a man who first went through a personal revolution from "isolationism" to "internationalism" Vandenberg advised the Truman administration on foreign affairs and even shared some of its secrets.

Fear Repercussions

There was some speculation here that there might be repercussions in Britain from the disclosure that London had and lost a voice in use of the A-bomb.

The essence of the information respecting the veto is that the late President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill entered into secret arrangements at Quebec and at Hyde Park, N.Y., in the war years for the joint development and control of atomic energy.

Vandenberg later (1947) learned that along with providing for the sharing of facts on atomic development, the joint sharing of uranium ore from the Belgian Congo and the joint promotion of the atomic program, agreement had been made that neither the U.S. nor Britain would use the A-bomb unless both agreed.

Vandenberg and Senator B. Hickenlooper (Rep-Iowa) brought considerable pressure on the administration to change this, the book shows, and in January, 1948 the veto agreement was finally ended in a new understanding which had the effect of placing ultimate decision on using the A-bomb with the U.S. president.

Developed Own Weapons

Under the 1948 arrangement, Britain could obtain little information about U.S. atomic projects and undertook to develop its own weapons.

The President argued in 1949 for a new agreement to cut Britain and Canada in on U.S. developments. He said this would do away with the need for them to have independent programs, and would give the U.S. the benefit of British and Canadian research.

Vandenberg opposed the sharing.

New Rain Threat Worries Flood Fighters

KANSAS CITY, April 21 (AP) —Tricky Missouri valley weather today posed new problems on 700 miles of the flooded Missouri River.

What worried flood-fighters was: How much will it rain and where?

All the experts would say was that a chance of heavy rain exists. But they couldn't tell yet whether it will hit the Missouri basin, especially the overloaded area from St. Joseph, Mo., to Kansas City.

Even if it rained a full inch in the Kaw (Kansas) basin, they said, it will raise the Missouri at Kansas City only about a foot. They would still be well below dike level.

The Kaw was what gave Kansas City, Mo., and Kansas City, Kas., their worst flood when it poured into the Missouri here last July. It is at a low level now.

Hard Fight

Brig.-Gen. D. G. Shingler, division engineer at Omaha, stuck to his prediction that the Kansas cities would be safe this time. But while the downstream battle was not as spectacular as the fight to save Omaha and Council Bluffs last week, it was still a hard one. Men still fought to confine the river which has driven thousands from their homes and caused millions of dollars worth of damage.

"Today we are in flood stage from Blair, Neb., above Omaha almost to the mouth near St. Charles—a distance of about 700 miles," Shingler said.

Weather threat developed on the Northern Mississippi River. A flood crest of 15.3 feet — lower than originally predicted—reached La Crosse, Wis., yesterday.

Soggy dikes held but repair work went on. Weatherman A. D. Sanial said today and Tuesday will be critical times there because the river won't start dropping much until Tuesday night.

179 Convicts

There are 179 convicts in the five-tier cell block, all but 29 of them there for violating prison rules of discipline. Guards reported, however, that a group of 15 or so seemed to be fomenters of the uprising.

Warden Julian N. Frisbie reported nine hours after the guards were seized: "Everything is under control. It's a matter of sweating them out now. The building is surrounded and there is plenty of artillery trained on it."

He denied any brutality.

The convicts denied there was any connection between their mutiny and riots in New Jersey prisons, where barricaded convicts have been demanding an end of alleged beatings, an outside investigation and better food. Currently 231 are in the third day of a mutiny at Rahway. Another such mutiny ended Friday at Trenton.

2. Deny use of any federal funds, regardless of the source, to seize or operate any plant without specific consent from Congress. This tougher version was proposed by Senator William Knowland (Rep. Calif.), a leader in the anti-seizure manoeuvring.

The proposed amendments would be tacked onto a $960,000,000 bill to finance operations of most government agencies until June 30. Among them is the commerce department, operating the seized steel mills under Truman's orders.

Defy Truman

Knowland's Senate forces contend Truman had no legal right to seize the plants, and say the government has no authority now to grant steel workers any pay raise while it is operating the mills.

Meanwhile, there was no major development on the steel front itself. Mills continued to operate under nominal government management. As far as was known, no new labor-union talks were scheduled.

There is no guard rail or checkerboard at the spot. One weatherbeaten 'SLOW' sign near the top of the hill is too small to be seen at a distance from the curve.

Residents of the area believe a guard-rail painted with luminous paint, and a warning sign at the approach to the hill, would put an end to the danger of the spot.

400 B.C. Firemen Battle $500,000 Vancouver Fire

VANCOUVER, April 21. (CP)—Four hundred firemen—just about every firefighter in the city—grappled for 13 hours Sunday with a warehouse fire which left the four-storey building a black shell. Ten of them were overcome by smoke while trying to subdue the flames, which chewed through pianos, refrigerators, mattresses, bedroom suites and a variety of other stored household articles.

Insurance adjusters estimated damage in excess of $500,000. In addition, smoke and water damage was inflicted on four industrial firms near the warehouse owned by Bowman Storage and Cartage Ltd.

Cause of the three-alarm fire—first sighted about 3 a.m.—has not been determined. Sunday afternoon even firemen were forbidden to enter certain sections of the building because of falling debris.

Biggest In Two Years

Altogether 11 trucks answered the three alarms to what was Vancouver's biggest industrial fire in two years. An estimated 14,000 feet of hose were used and the city fireboat pumped water through hose strung several hundred feet from the waterfront.

Firemen chopped holes through walls to free water which became dammed in the building and threatened to collapse the walls.

Of the 10 firemen overcome, two needed hospital care. However, they were allowed to go home following treatment.

A taxi driver turned in the first alarm. A police constable who reached the scene minutes after the alarm said the building's interior was "ablaze from end to end."

Bullet Kills Young Wife

COBALT, April 21 — (CP) — Mrs. Doris Monk, 21-year-old expectant mother, was killed Saturday by the accidental discharge of her husband's rifle.

The husband, Kenneth Monk, popular young Cobalt hockey player, ran from his home crying: "I've shot her, I've killed Doris." He collapsed inside the home of a neighbor. Nearby residents found the body of his wife lying on her back in the kitchen in a pool of blood.

The two were married last year and were expecting a baby next month. Neighbors said Monk had taught himself to knit and just the day before had finished a pair of white booties for the infant.

Monk told police he was sitting on the floor polishing the stock of the rifle when it suddenly fired. The bullet hit Mrs. Monk about six feet away.

Monk said the gun hadn't been out of its case all winter.

"I wish to God I had never touched it," he said.

Air Cadets Hold Church Parade

For the first time since it was formed in September, the Royal Canadian Air Cadet Squadron, 534, Peterborough, appeared before the public Sunday when it held a church parade to St. Andrew's United Church and St. Peter's Cathedral.

The squadron, assembled at the new market square on George St. south at 10 a.m. and there more than 80 per cent of the enrolment formed ranks. They marched up George St. to Hunter St., west to St. Peter's Cathedral and then to St. Andrew's Church.

The Rev. Henry Cotton, St. Andrew's church, during his sermon told the boys that regardless of where they are God is always watching over them. A former airman, and Protestant padre of the squadron, Mr. Cotton recalled several of his experiences in the war and showed how God was always near.

The C.G.E. Pipe Band paraded the boys to the churches and after the services paraded them back to the C.N.R. freight sheds where the squadron was dismissed.

The busy week-end for the squadron started on Saturday when 60 boys were transported to Trenton by the R.C.A.F. bus for a station inspection. This was the second visit this year by the Peterborough group, 15 boys forming the earlier party.

The feature of the Trenton trip was a flight over Peterborough in Dakota planes. The boys were taken in four separate flights which swept low over the downtown section for a good view of their homes from the air.

The second feature was the opportunity to see all the latest types of planes now at the station. These included the new jet trainer.

The next large undertaking by the squadron will be its inspection which will be in about a month's time.

Plan Trials Course For Motorcycle Club

COBOURG, April 21 (ENS)— There was a good turn-out Sunday for the regular meeting of the Northumberland and Durham Motorcycle Club. Ed Oldfield presided. A letter advised the club that officials of the Canadian Motorcycle Association would be in touch with the club, which was organized a short time ago, in order to assist them in lining up competitions.

It is expected that a representative from the C.M.A. will be in Cobourg next Sunday at which time a committee will accompany him to Baltimore to interview a group from the Community Centre comittee with the view of discussing the use of the track for racing during the summer and for other competitive events.

Jim McIlvena of Peterborough, member of the Lindsay Motor and Cycle Club, attended Sunday's meeting and will assist next Sunday in laying out a course for future trials events. The local club will endeavor to secure a film showing last year's T.T. races at the Isle of Man.

Present at yesterday's meeting were riders from Cobourg, Port Hope, Campbellford, Peterborough and Lindsay.

Sokols Win Volleyball Meet

Toronto's Sokols, a Czech organization volleyball team, captured the all-Ontario intermediate volleyball championship Saturday in Toronto winning all six games in a round-robin series.

Windsor Y. M. C. A. placed second with five wins, Toronto Kalev and Sudbury third each with four wins. Hamilton fourth with two, London and Peterborough each with one win.

The style of play threw the Y. M. C. A. team off its usual pace for the series. A new ruling, used in this series, demanded that the ball not be played underhand unless with a fist.

However, Fraser Wade's team played its best volleyball against the top teams. They were edged in the first game, against Sokol 11-9, and then second-place Windsor again by 11-9.

Toronto Zalev handed the "Y" a 15-10 set-back followed by a 15-8 defeat by Hamilton.

Peterborough broke into the win column in its fifth game with a 15-12 triumph over the north's representative Sudbury. The "Y" finished off losing to London Y 13-11.

JANET LITTLE

CAMPBELLFORD, April 21 — (ENS) — Janet Linton Little, widow of James Shillinglaw, of Seymour township, died at her home on Thursday. She was 84.

Mrs. Shillinglaw was the daughter of the late Robert Little and Margaret Whitton, and had lived in Seymour all her life. She had been ill throughout the winter.

Surviving is one son, Leslie Shillinglaw of Seymour, and one brother, Frank Little of Campbellford. Another son, Linton, died about 11 years ago.

The couple farmed on the 7th concession of Seymour and attended St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, and Burnbrae Presbyterian Church. Mrs. Shillinglaw was active in church work in her younger years, and at one time taught a Sunday school class.

Funeral services were conducted from the late residence on Saturday by the Rev. A. E. Toombs of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, with the Rev. James McAvoy of Burnbrae Church assisting.

Pall bearers were Jessie Locke, Lindsay Watson, Ernest Ingram, Fred Hay, John Campbell and Arthur Redden. Bearers of the many beautiful floral tributes were nephews of the deceased: Harold Lewis, Stanley and Alex Little, and George Stephens and George Airhart.

Burial was in Burnbrae Cemetery.

MARY DOLPHIN

CAMPBELLFORD, April 21 — (ENS) —A well known and much respected resident of this community, Mary Dolphin, wife of Thomas Nuttall, died at her home on Thursday. She was 75.

Mrs. Nuttall came to Canada in 1912. She was born in Ribchester, England, the daughter of Ralph Nuttall and Mary Dewhurst. She lived here for 37 years, prior to which she resided in Lindsay and Valleyfield.

Surviving besides her husband, Thomas, are three sons, William of Detroit and Frederick of Dearborne, Mich., and Ralph of Campbellford; two sisters, Mrs. Thomas Walsh, (Alice) of Los Angeles, Cal., and Mrs. M. Walbank of Preston, England. One nephew, Thomas Walbank of Detroit, Michigan, attended the funeral.

Mrs. Nuttall's husband, Thomas, is retired. He worked for 31 years for the Campbellford Cloth Company and retired in 1945.

Active in the C.W.L. and women's groups of St. Mary's Roman Catholic church in her earlier years, Mrs. Nuttall had many friends in the community.

Funeral services were held on Saturday from the late residence on River Road in Campbellford, the Rev. J. C. Moloney officating. Burail was in St. Mary's cemetery.

Pallbearers were Paul O'Sullivan, Eugene Mahoney, Fred Cargin, Jack Meier, Emmett Kelleher and William (Buddy) Nuttall, a grandson. Bearers of the many floral tributes were Elton Hubble, Donald Russell, J. H. Smith and Leo Wilson.

Giving Guns To Infants

Last week a gang of boys with .22 rifles and BB guns stood beside the railway bridge over the canal at the eastern edge of town and took pot shots at the C.P.R. Ottawa-Toronto train as it slowed down for the station. Some slugs went through a dining car window, but fortunately nobody was hurt. Just good clean fun; no harm intended, of course.

* * *

This is only one incident of many in Peterborough and its district, of boys armed with rifles, air-guns and assorted other weapons shooting them off carelessly, wantonly and irresponsibly. Jackson Park, fields and woods outside the city and even township roads are menaced by them.

* * *

This sort of thing is not confined to Peterborough. St. Thomas citizens and police have discovered mock battles in their city ravine areas. Thirty or forty boys line up as opposing armies and carry on pretty real warfare with live ammunition. They are armed with BB guns and .22 rifles. St. Thomas has imposed a curfew and revived an old bylaw prohibiting the discharge of firearms within the city limits. But still rowdyism continues and boys gang around with weapons.

* * *

Where do they get them? Where do they get the ammunition? Perhaps it is bootleg stuff. But often parents innocently buy their son a rifle or let him get an air-gun. Storekeepers may wink at a young customer and sell him ammunition for the sake of a sale. Parents and the public should know that under the Criminal Code it is an offence to sell or give firearms, pistols, revolvers or air guns, or any ammunition for them, to a minor under the age of fourteen. If more parents were haled into court to answer for their sons' wantonness with firearms the woods might be safer.

* * *

We sometimes weep for the logic of the law. In matters affecting the holding and management of money and property the law calls any person under the age of twenty-one an "infant." But the Criminal Code assumes that a boy of fourteen is perfectly responsible in the handling of weapons and ammunition. It is a crime to give or sell a boy under fourteen a rifle, an air-gun or ammunition. But a boy of fourteen or more may be permitted to have them. This is a stupid and dangerous permission.

* * *

Teen-agers who roam the countryside with shot-guns, rifles and BB guns have demonstrated time and again that they are irresponsible. If they do not maim people, they destroy property, shatter the peace and public safety and at the very least destroy harmless birds and small animals. If a person under twenty-one is an "infant" about money-matters, he is an "infant" carrying and firing weapons. The Criminal Code should be amended to preclude anybody under the age of twenty-one from owning, carrying or firing weapons whenever and wherever he pleases.

* * *

Lovers of shot-guns, rifles and air-guns (and of wild westerns and comics) may say that the nation puts rifles, mortars and grenades in the hands of uniformed youths of eighteen. Yes; but no soldier is permitted to fire them indiscriminately, not even at the battle-front. In training, no firing takes place at all except under the most rigid controls and supervision.

* * *

Parents must accept responsibility for their sons' antics with weapons. The law as it stands should be strictly enforced. And the criminal code should be amended to take guns out of the hands of infants.

From The Top Down?

The announcement that U.S. Senator Tom Connally will not be a candidate for re-election may have more international significance than any development to date in this year's pre-election activity in the United States. It is interpreted as meaning that both Texas and Tom Connally are convinced there has been enough of President Truman's present foreign policy, and that interpretation, if correct, may indicate a trend toward as wide a cleavage on the issue of foreign policy in the Democratic Party as exists in the Republican Party.

Senator Connally is one of the best known members of Congress, having first been elected to it in 1917. He has also been one of its first most influential members, and his parliamentary ability and personal influence, in the past, were in large part responsible for Congressional approval of many contentious foreign measures. He was for years regarded as a champion of internationalism, and rightly so. It may seem odd, therefore, to ascribe his decision not to run again to disapproval of present U.S. foreign policy, but signs point to that conclusion.

In recent months, complaints have been heard from the senior Senator for Texas about the job the Administration had given him. He carried on with it, but he expressed personal displeasure with schemes to aid Europe; he has been heard to grumble that the United States could not go on supporting Europe forever. Always a quick-tempered man, he has been more irascible than usual during the past few months. The Tom Connally of other years, for instance, would never have been guilty of a serious political blunder such as his intemperate remarks about citizens of Hawaii, which aroused bitter feelings in the Islands and in several States—particularly in his home State, for a Texas regiment owes a particular debt of gratitude to Hawaiian soldiers for aid in the field. The outburst was regarded as an indication of the strain placed on the Senator by sponsoring policies of which he disapproves.

Whatever the reason for it, Senator Connally's decision not to run followed President Truman's announcement of retirement in only a few days. It may be that this is the beginning of the dismantling, from the top down, of the powerful political machine so skilfully assembled by the late Franklin Roosevelt.

Dr. James Endicott Should Be Called Back

Moscow radio last week quoted Dr. James Endicott, chairman of the left-wing Canadian Peace Congress as "confirming" that U.N. forces are waging bacteriological warfare against Communist Chinese. Dr. Endicott suggested, according to Moscow radio, that some of the "infested insects" allegedly dropped in Northeast China were bred in Canada. He accused a Canadian official named "Soland" (presumably Dr. O. M. Solandt, chairman of the Defence Research Board) of saying in a newspaper article that the prospects for mass deaths were "extremely heartening." The Moscow radio also quoted Dr. Endicott as saying that Canada has organizations producing bacteriological weapons for the U.S.A. in a "huge plant" in Alberta.

The Moscow radio may be misquoting Dr. Endicott, who gave his views at a recent press conference in Mukden, China. Whether it is misquoting or not—that gentleman before this has made prejudicial charges against his own country—Endicott should be called back to explain both himself and his words. He should not be allowed to travel freely abroad on a Canadian passport and make damaging accusations against Canada which have not been proved. He should go before a parliamentary or judicial tribunal to prove that he was misquoted and to renounce the Moscow radio as a liar; or he should prove his statements.

Certain facts are known both here and abroad. The Defence Research Board is investigating bacteriological warfare—solely to protect Canada if another country should touch off that sort of warfare, Dr. Solandt says. Dr. Solandt expressed satisfaction with the progress being made by the Defence Research Board, which has a plant in the West. "Bacteriological warfare may be important in a limited way, but not as a weapon of mass destruction," Dr. Solandt has said. But the only "confirmation" we have of Russian-Chinese charges that U.N. forces are using bacteria as weapons in China or Korea is Dr. Endicott's statement. We cannot accept this unsupported. Call him home to back up what he is reported to have said about their use, and to justify the malevolent suggestion that the bugs used were bred in Alberta.

Without proofs acceptable to the Canadian people, Dr. Endicott's statements border on treason, as defined in the amendment last year to the Criminal Code. We reprint today an editorial from the Kingston Whig-Standard which discusses this amendment and current left-wing objections to it. As the code now stands, Dr. Endicott is dangerously close to the line of a treasonable action of aiding or abetting, at home or abroad, a declared or undeclared enemy. Canada is not at war with Communist China, but as a member of U.N. she has troops fighting Chinese Communists in Korea. It disgusts us that a Canadian is now in China on a Canadian passport maligning his own people.

NOTES AND COMMENT

Queen Juliana prefers to be incognito during most of her Ottawa visit. But a dozen newsmen want to be tagging here even when she is playing this role. Perhaps they could be incognito too—dressed up as civilians.

President Truman held a press conference for newspaper editors last Thursday. Reports a Toronto paper: "First, he disarmed the editors. He said he hoped they like the remodelled President's house, which tey ad just etaoin srdlucmfwypvbh." That is not disarming; it is complete dismembering.

Musical Notes

by PETER PIPER

ON WEDNESDAY in Holy Week I listened in to Mendelssohn Choir singing Bach's St. Matthew Passion. This choir, with its distinguished history, has probably the highest reputation of any choir in North America: they certainly fulfilled the highest expectations on Wednesday. Sir Ernest Macmillan, whose phenomenal musical memory is a byword, did an inspired job of imaginative recreation of Bach's masterpiece. By his choice of tempi and dynamics the dramatic import of the choruses was enhanced tremendously. As is common nowadays there were considerable cuts, mainly of contemplative arias. These were made without damaging the loose framework of the Passion, and made it more acceptable to us moderns, besides enabling Sir Ernest to comply with the tyrannous demands of the broadcast programme schedule. Even a masterpiece such as the St. Matthew Passion is not pure gold throughout: there are sections where Bach's inspiration is working at a lower pressure. Our ancestors were apparently made of sterner stuff. In Bach's day the Sunday service in St. Thomas' Church started at 7 a.m. and lasted until noon. The church was unheated, and if the cold was too severe for the choir boys they were let out for the sermon, which was read out to them later for their edification. It must be remembered that the Church was almost the sole dispenser of music in Leipzig in Bach's day. There were very few concerts; the famous Gewandhaus orchestra had just started in a very modest way with only 16 performers under Doles, Bach's successor as cantor, in 1743, seven years before Bach's death. There were no secular choral societies; Bach relied for the performance of his choral works on 60 boys and youths between the ages of 10 and 19 drawn from the Thomasschule, the choir school attached to the church. The opera, which has never flourished in Leipzig, was still the diversion of the court and nobility, and there was no court at Leipzig. Consequently the good citizens of Leipzig went to church for their musical as well as their spiritual pabulum.

◇ ◇ ◇

IN THOSE days people seemed to be in less of a hurry than they are today. One of the paradoxes of our times is that the many labour-saving devices that we have do not seem to have increased our leisure time: the contrary is true of many people. On the face of it one would assume that it would take less time to arrange some matter of business over the telephone than to make a visit, yet the telephone always rings at an inconvenient time. It is so easy to ring somebody up for a trivial reason which would not warrant a visit. Even journeys are made so swiftly and easily that we probably spend more time in travelling (largely on unnecessary errands) than our forefathers. We demand that our concerts adhere more and more strictly to a given length. We prefer our music to be "snappy" and concentrated. To take an obvious example the repeat sign placed at the end of almost every exposition of a movement in sonata form by Haydn, Mozart, Beethoven and the rest is almost invariably ignored. The argument that these repeat signs were inserted by the composer as a concession to convention and need not be observed does not hold water if one observed the number of times that Beethoven has gone to the trouble of writing different endings for the first and second time. Even the exposition of the colossal first movement of the Hammerklavier (13 pages in my edition) should be repeated, if Beethoven's wishes are to be respected. The only occasion when it was the accepted practice in classical times to disregard a repeat sign was in the minuet and trio, when the minuet is played the second time.

◇ ◇ ◇

ALTHOUGH cuts in major works are sometimes justifiable the onus of proof should lie with the performer. In any case recordings should not omit whole numbers without so much as a word of explanation, even when they are "customarily omitted", it may be a bad custom.

◇ ◇ ◇

NOW THAT spring is (more or less) upon us we are apt to get bitten by the poetic urge. In some it takes the form of an itch to compose. Some have vague ideas of gaining fame and fortune by writing a song-hit that will be the success of the year. Might I utter a word of caution. Even the most ephemeral trifle of a fox trot or a slow waltz demands craft as well as what one might for convenience sake call inspiration. Few amateur musicians can write a piece of music without making some stupid mistake in musical orthography, such as placing the accidentals after the note or the stalks on the wrong side of the blobs, let alone committing solecisms in the harmony. Again, what may strike the composer as quite shattering may be viewed as commonplace or merely clumsy by the publisher's reader. For every hit there are thousands of misses. Even if one's effort possesses some merit it is by no means easy to get it published. Music publishing is a chancy business, and publishers, like other businessmen, are apt to play safe. They are not going to launch out into the unknown when there is a good supply of established composers to draw upon unless they are pretty certain that they have discovered something out of the ordinary.

◇ ◇ ◇

SO FAR I have been speaking of reputable firms. Unfortunately there exists a class of parasites who gain a shady living by bleeding gullible amateurs. These "song sharks" offer to set music to word or vice versa and hold out rosy hopes to their victims. My strongest advice is to have nothing to do with them. If one's effusion is worth publishing it has a chance of being accepted by a good firm on a royalty basis: that is to say the publisher will pay the composer a fixed amount for each copy sold. If a composition is rejected one can always try again with a different number or a different publisher. The usual form is "the editor regrets", but sometimes a specific reason for not publishing is given. If one really has something to say one will never give up. I think I may speak with some authority on this topic, as it was twenty-five years after my first feeble efforts at composition that I eventually managed to cajole a publisher into acepting one of my efforts!

◇ ◇ ◇

I HAVE JUST returned from the annual convention of the Ontario Registered Music Teachers' Association in Hamilton, and hope to bring you a few impressions. The Association exists for the dual purpose of raising the status of the music teaching profession and improving the quality of the teaching. It will be understood that these aims are complementary.

An American Opinion: SPRING FROLIC

Canada Needs Its Tighter Treason Law

(KINGSTON WHIG-STANDARD)

A DISPATCH from Ottawa tells of a current and ineffectual protest made against an amendment which was embodied in the Criminal Code last June. The protest was lodged by a delegation of the League for Democratic Rights, described as a Communist-front association with just enough party members "to give it a slight air of respectability". As far as the Communist members of the League were concerned, they could have expected no other outcome than rejection of the protest, for they know very well that the amendment referred to was designed to give this country more adequate protection against tactics constantly employed by Canadian Communists, and few things could be more unlikely than that the Government would reverse its stand on this issue.

The amendment of last June was not drastic. It arose out of the fact the Canadians who, prior to that time, might have helped either the North Korean or the Chinese Communists troops in their battles against Canadian forces could not have been prosecuted for treason. The old law was sufficiently comprehensive for the circumstances under which it was drafted, but the undeclared hostilities of today created the possibility of a new crime of treason—a possibility which became actuality through the behaviour of certain Canadians.

The old treason law provided punishment—even the death sentence—for anyone "assisting any public enemy at war with His Majesty in such war by any means whatever". The amendment altered it to read that treason consisted of "assisting while in or out of Canada, any enemy at war with Canada or any armed forces against which Canadians are engaged in hostilities, whether or not state of war exists between Canada and the country whose forces they are". That quite clearly covered assistance to the Communist forces fighting against the Canadians in Korea, and such coverage, we think, was and is most desirable.

This amendment followed a short time after a visit of inspection, made to North Korea by a Mrs. Norah Rodd, whose tour led her to praise the Communists and to condemn this country's part in the imperialist aggression the Communists were resisting. Mrs. Rodd parroted the party line with great faithfulness; she is known to be either a Communist or an enthusiastic fellow-traveller. There could be no doubt that her criticism of Canada and Canadians was of aid and comfort to the enemy, and if she tried making it today she would almost certainly be prosecuted. It is significant that her husband was a member of the delegation that led the Communist attempt to have the amendment repealed.

Canadians may disregard the Communist submission that any "striking worker (or farmer) has a ten-year prison term hanging over his head" because of this legislation. That would be true only if it could be proved that there was intent to assist the enemy—and where that could be proved, any Canadian could be punished under the old law as well as the new. What the Communists want is freedom for Communists of this country to carry on treasonable activities with immunity. We are sure Canadians generally want a law that will allow persons who deliberately aid an enemy to be punished severely,—and that is all that the amendment allows.

A Flute On The Hill

(OTTAWA JOURNAL)

Since the days when R. B. Bennett and Mackenzie King were in their oratorical prime there has been a sorry decline in the art of apt quotation in Parliament. Mr. Bennett could roll out the fine phrases of Shakespeare and Mr. King had a rich memory for poetry and great prose he did not employ for the pleasure of fellow-members as often as they would have liked.

Hon. C. G. Power, still in the Commons, has the knowledge and the art but he does not speak often. Three years ago John McDougall, a new Liberal member from Vancouver, gave a handsome and well-rounded speech that showed literary taste and imagination. But he has not done it again, perhaps because he may not have been encouraged to do so.

Our thoughts on this subject are aroused by re-reading an address given by Mr. Pearson when he was installed as Chancellor of Victoria College, University of Toronto, in February. This was a sentimental occasion, for the association of Mr. Pearson and his family with Victoria College are long and treasured. It was a great day for the Minister of External Affairs and his conclusion was splendid:

". . . May I express my feelings in a few lines translated from the Chinese by Arthur Waley. In them the poet describes how one may pass a Winter's night with friends and he ends: 'And after the guest has gone, watch him make his way into the distance. If he leaves just at daybreak this is very agreeable, particularly if he plays upon his flute as he goes'. I shall leave before daybreak, I fear, to return to another world in Ottawa but I shall certainly be playing upon my flute as I go."

All that The Journal can ask is that Mr. Pearson and his friends of learning and taste do not throw their flutes away when they rise to speak in Parliament. We have heard the drum, the bugle and the harsh notes of unadorned fact far too long in pedestrian speeches. We listen with new hope for the sweet and gentle flute.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Enter not into the path of the wicked, and go not in the way of evil men . . . For they eat the bread of wickedness, and drink the wine of violence.

But the path of the just is as the shining light, that shineth more and more unto the perfect day . . .

Keep thy heart with all diligence: for out of it are the issues of life. (Prov. 4: 14, 17, 18, 23.)

◇ ◇ ◇

Who shall ascend into the hill of the Lord? or who shall stand in his holy place? He that hath clean hands, and a pure heart; who hath not lifted up his soul unto vanity, nor sworn deceitfully. He shall receive the blessing from the Lord, and righteousness from the God of his salvation. (Ps. 24: 3-5.)

◇ ◇ ◇

And I heard a voice from heaven saying unto me, Write, Blessed are the dead which die in the Lord from henceforth: Yea, saith the Spirit, that they may rest from their labours; and their works do follow them. (Rev. 14: 13.)

Unconsidered Trifles.

A dashing young man pulled his sports car into the kerb to speak to a pretty girl. "Going my way?" he asked.

"Young man," she said, tossing her head, "a public street is no place to speak to a strange girl who lives at No. 4 Ashleigh Flats, Creighton Square, telephone 22437."

◇ ◇ ◇

The head of a concern needed a secretary, looked over three prospects, then sent them to the personnel office for interviewing. A little later the personnel director came down to make his report: "The first girl is industrious but sloppy—the second girl is quite capable but temperamental—the third girl is quick-thinking but lacks confidence. Whom should I hire?"

"I'll take the red head with the green eyes," was the prompt reply.

Boomerang

(From the London New Statesman and Nation)

(To the tune of "Waltzing Matilda")

Once an Aussie Premier, camping in Canberra,
Permits for imports from Britain withdrew.
And he sang as he watched and waited till his billy boiled,
"I won't go bankrupt, Britannia, for you!"

Bankrupt, Britannia, bankrupt, Britannia,
Sterling releases are long overdue.
And he sang as he severed the lifeline with the Commonwealth,
"I won't go bankrupt, Britannia, for you!"

Up jumped the M.P.s' protesting to the Minister.
Made in the Commons a hullabaloo,
But he sang as he boycotted textiles and machinery,
"I won't go bankrupt, Britannia, for you!"

Down came the squatters from Coventry and Lancashire.
Exports are piling and markets are few,
But he sang as he chucked out their cotton goods and motor cars,
"I won't go bankrupt, Britannia, for you!"

Up spoke the clothiers, bookbinders and publishers,
Set for a showdown with Canberra's crew,
But he sang as he threw back their trousers, coats and literature,
"I won't go bankrupt, Britannia, for you!"

Then said the Motherland, holding out her tuckerbag,
"Starving your mar is a crook thing to do."
But he sang as he slung out her fountain pens and aeroplanes,
"I won't go bankrupt, Britannia, for you!"

Bankrupt Britannia, bankrupt Britannia,
Dumping of exports is my bugaboo,
And he sang as he landed his economic boomerang,
"I won't go bankrupt, Britannia, with you!"

Outlook Against Cancer Reported Getting Brighter

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE, Associated Press Science Reporter

NEW YORK, April 21—(AP)—The outlook against cancer is getting brighter. Great discoveries might come unexpectedly.

These are impressions after a two-week tour of cancer centres in nine cities, meeting with nearly 200 specialists. The tour was sponsored by the American Cancer Society, to help tell the public what research dollars are doing.

I saw some people well and happy, for a time at least, who would have been dead months ago. New treatments had brought new life.

These treatments, surgical and chemical, work only in some forms of cancer and then only for some people.

Used More Effectively

The best good news is more cures from x-rays and surgery. These two old weapons are being used more effectively.

They work best when cancers are detected early; and early detection is improving.

There are improved tests for cancer of the cervix and prostate gland; better x-ray methods promise early detection of tiny lung cancers; an electrical skin test for cancer is being developed; cancer detection clinics are spreading.

Surgery cures by cutting out localized cancers. But surgeons now are doing far more. One man is living and well five months after surgeons removed his pituitary gland, the body's master gland.

Arteries from artery banks are making possible operations in which great arteries, involved by cancer, must be cut out. Plastic windpipes and bronchial tubes are promised by animal experiment.

Pain is being fought by brain surgery that cuts nerve fibers.

Viruses Trained.

Viruses are being trained to enter cancer cells and kill them, without harming healthy cells.

Hormones are being used more efficiently for temporary benefit of some forms of cancer. In a few women, the male sex hormone has altered cancer cells so they become vulnerable to X-rays.

Specialists are learning more about what makes a normal, healthy cell tick, how cancer cells differ, how cancer cells escape from biologic controls to grow wild.

This kind of search is bringing unexpected dividends.

Two potentially great dividends are the possibility of giving humans new glands, by taking embryonic glands from unborn babies lost by miscarriage or necessary operations. The other is the growing hopes for medicines that will cure or prevent radiation sickness. Such medicines would mean that cancer patients could get bigger doses of X-rays to cure their cancers. They also could mean the saving of hundreds or thousands of people hit by deadly X-ray radiation from atom bombs.

Doesn't Affect Papers

WASHINGTON, April 21—(AP)—Newspaper editors were told Saturday that television is not diminishing newspaper readership. Dean Ralph D. Casey of the University of Minnesota School of Journalism reported that a two-year survey in the Minneapolis area showed newspaper circulation "has continued to rise." Casey reported the findings to the American Society of Newspaper Editors.

Car Hits Grandstand

DAYTON, O., April 21—(AP)—A racing car whirled out of control at Dayton Speedway Sunday and plunged into a crowded grandstand killing four persons and injuring 42. Its driver, 29-year-old Gordon Reid of Burbank, Calif., a father of four, a track guard, Robert Thatcher, 22, who tried to shunt people out of the racer's path; Gene Lawson, 19, and an unidentified woman were killed.

Councillors Get Raise

TORONTO, April 21—(CP)—At least three suburban municipalities may follow the lead of Toronto and raise the salaries of elected members of council, a Toronto paper says today. Etobicoke and Swansea councils have discussed salary increases and New Toronto is preparing to raise the salary of its four councillors from $300 to $500 a year, the newspaper adds.

Master Mechanic Has Device To Help Trip Bank Robbers

HALIFAX, April 21 (CP) — Bank robbers, beware.

J. Dan Pride, a Halifax marine engineer and master mechanic, says he has a device which will make your work a most unpleasant and unprofitable business.

The device, patented in Canada and with patents pending in other countries, consists of a "jet gas gun."

Not intended to kill or injure permanently, it operates on a pressure principle, with dyed ammonia hydroxide shot from a tiny nozzle under 2,000 pounds pressure.

The idea is this:

A bank teller, under threat of a revolver, has no chance to call for help or ring the burglar alarm. But, quite unnoticed, the teller by a quick foot movement can trip the gas gun apparatus on the floor.

Bandit Sprayed

Immediately a stinging blast of ammonia—with its tell-tale purple dye—is sprayed on the bandit—and he is left blinded and ill.

Even if he does escape from the building he will be easy to spot, and will be for several days until the dye washes off. The dye will never come off the currency so he can never spend it.

Accidental firing of the gun is impossible as 75 pounds pressure is required to release the compressed air which operates it.

Mr. Pride worked with the idea of impregnating the gas with a repulsive odor but the problem of clearing a building of the smell after its use was too great.

The inventor says that not only banks but trust and bond companies and other businesses where cash is handled openly can be protected by the device.

Canadian Vets Hold Service In London

LONDON, April 21 (Reuters)—Canadian veterans of two world wars Sunday atended the annual Vimy memorial service of the Canadian Veterans' Association in London.

Five hundred veterans, representing the 40,000 Canadian exservicemen now living in Britain, paraded.

The service, in memory of those who fell at Vimy Ridge in 1917, was conducted by the Rev. E. J. Hood, chaplain to the Canadian Veterans' Association.

Suggests Canada Have Patron Saint

TORONTO, April 21 — (CP) — The Most Rev. Philip Carrington, Anglican Archbishop of Quebec, said Sunday that Canada should have a patron saint. He nominated St. John the Baptist.

"St. John should meet with the approval of French Canada," he told Toronto's St. George's Society. Canadians of Scottish origin should also approve.

"John the Baptist was the patron saint of Scotland before they ousted him and adopted St. Andrew . . . You meet a Scotsman and 10 chances to one he's called Jock. Jock, not Andrew. And the Jock is after St. John the Baptist."

World Population Seen Over 3 Billion

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., April 21 (AP) — The United Nations figured today there may be 3,686,000,000 persons in the world by 1980.

The world population two years ago was about 2,400,000,000, a new U.N. publication, The Population Bulletin, says.

The increase in the next 28 years will be at least 500,000,000 and may be as much as 1,300,000,000.

Rescuers Stranded

PICKERING, April 21—(CP) — Two Toronto men reached safety Sunday night after five hours on the choppy waters of Lake Ontario. Four Canadians Get Fellowships

NEW YORK, April 21 (CP). — Four Canadians — an impressionistic painter, a chemist, a writer, and an economist— were named Sunday as winners of fellowships by the John Simon Guggenheim Memorial Foundation of New York.

The 1952 Canadian fellows are: Wilfred Roloff Beny, Lethbridge, Alta., artist; Dr. Karel Wiesner, professor of chemistry at University of New Brunswick, Fredericton; Andre Giroux, Quebec, publicist for the Quebec Department of Trade and Commerce; and George Alexander Elliott, professor of political economy at University of Toronto.

The fellowships are granted to scholars and creative workers who have demonstrated high ability and wish to continue in their fields. Although the average stipend is $3,000 the amounts vary depending on the particular work on which the fellow has embarked.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Walt Smillie, manager of Civic Arena, has reported that the Petes and Eagles between them in the past senior "B" puck season played to 38,025 paid fans to gross $21,784.75. The junior "B" Oddfellows drew 5,807 customers and $2,747.75 into the rink coffers. That's not much of a showing over the long hockey haul, being considerably less than an average of 1,000 fans a game. And the money raised had to be cut up in several ways, arena rent, O.H.A., piece in all playoffs, advertising, refereeing, etc., and finally the equipment, time off work, medical bills, and so on.

* * * * * *

All of which indicates that organized hockey is an expensive business and requires large crowds at all games to be a paying proposition. A better arena here would certainly help improve turnouts, but that isn't the first need. You've got to get up your hockey interest first. The answer to that would seem to be to combine our senior "B" clubs to ice one strong squad, getting all the fans' support, and to obtain a better grouping. One other angle, shorten the season three or four weeks, and you'll get much better turnouts for home games. Look at the fine crowds we drew at the tail-end of the long season, and look at the slim gatherings drawn before Christmas.

An "Angel" In Disguise

A pleasant surprise popped upon us the other night. Recently we mentioned in the Show Window that the junior baseballers here would be accepted into the Lakeshore League only if they posted a bond of $100 to guarantee meeting their obligations. They had spent all their dough lining up equipment and didn't know where to look for that century note. Well, a chap called us to say he'd post the bond, as he wanted to see the youngsters have a chance to play. Along with Manager Gord Snape, of the juniors, we called upon him and he handed over a cheque. A mighty fine gesture from a sportsman. His name? He wanted no credit, and refused us permission to publish it.

First open workout of the local junior lacrossers is tonight at 6:30 in the secondary bowl down George St. All positions open. Prexy Dr. J. R. Epping and his executive expect to field a potent pack this season, with some exhibition games, too, and plans afoot for a new dressing room. Frank Patterson is sponsor again. This club in 1950 produced Bill Killingbeck and Joe Whitnall, who later played senior "A", and three of last year's graduates, Gary Robinson, Lou Nickel and Grant Burns, are after spots with the Timbermen this season. Jimmy Heffernan will play senior in Nanaimo, B. C. They lost but four of the good 1951 squad and should fill their spots with other capable performers without too much trouble.

Climbing O. L. A. Ladder

Glad to see Ken Kingston of Peterborough make the third vice-presidency of the O.L.A. at the Saturday annual. He's been a keen lacrosse worker for years. Art Brown of St. Kitts is president, with Wally Cattel of Dundas and Jack Worthy of Brampton other vice-prexies. Chuck Rowan is back as secretary-treasurer, executive committee comprising Joe Baker of Port Dalhousie, Jim Brock of Sarnia, Sam Tillett of Mimico, Eric White of Fergus and Bill McGill of Orillia. Owen Sound returned to the senior "A" fold, but Brampton is a doubtful starter, leaving seven clubs in at the moment. A lot of business dealt with at the huddle.

Before 2,00 perspiring puck fans at East York on Saturday, Stouffville Clippers downed Lyndhursts 3-1 to take their O.H.A. senior "B" semi-finals series three games to one. Pearcey Allen called back one goal against Lyndhursts, who were playing 11 men to Clippers' 14 all through the sawoffs. On their showing here, we thought Lyndhursts would take it all, but Stouffville must have solved their style and then cashed in on extra manpower to grab the round. Two good clubs, and now the Petes' conquerors will proceed into the provincial finals this week.

Clippers Erase Lyndhursts To Reach Final

TORONTO, April 21—Stouffville Clippers moved into East York Memorial Arena Saturday night and eked out a thrilling 3-1 victory over the East York Major League Lynhurst Motors, to take the O.H.A. Senior "B" Eastern section title, 3-1 in games. The Clippers, by virtue of the triumph earned the right to engage the winners of the Burlington-Port Colborne set for the championship.

Before the largest crowd of the season, nearly 2,000 jammed the rink with the temperature in the mid 60's, it developed into one of the feature games of the long season with play ranging from one end of the arena to the other. Both netminders, Norm Stunden of Stouffville and Jim Irvine of Lyndhursts, came up with fine performances as defencemen at times seemed to show wear from the heat and torrid pace set by the forwards.

Hal Gibson, speedy Clipper forward, was the payoff goalgetter, getting their second and third counters. His first came as the result of a passing play with Morley Petch and Frank Stephenson. Old pro, Bobby Bangay, who also finds time to mastermind the club, was responsible for Gibson's second one. Bangay's relentless checking accounted for the clincher. He lost the puck twice and finally retrieved it, sifted through to one side and drilled it in front of the Motors' cage while speedboy Gibson was Johnny-on-the-spot to tap it past an astonished Irvine. Ronnie Bell opened the scoring in the first period, shaking loosing from the scramble to pot the counter unassisted.

A Good Try

Greg Currie's East Yorkers came up with a gallant effort, although their lack of manpower, 11 players to 14 for the victors, played a large part in the defeat. Freddie Haughton, with help from Bobby Finlayson and Don Couch, accounted for their lone marker in the middle period.

In the first two periods the Motors outshot the winners, 25-18, and in the final canto Clippers nipped them 8-7, in this department. Lyndhurst had a goal called back in the first period as referee Allen ruled one of their players was in the crease during a scramble. Nick Bangay of the Clippers was helped off the ice in the third period with an injured knee. Norm Stunden also held up the rugged test in the same canto to receive repairs after a jam around his goal.

Guatemalan Runner Has Operation

BOSTON, April 21 (AP). — Guatemalan runner Guillermo Rojas was recuperating today from an emergency appendectomy performed 12 hours after he finished 27th in the famed Boston Athletic Association marathon last Saturday.

The illness cast a little gloom over the victory of Rojas' countryman, Dorote Flores, and the fine third place finish of teammate Luis Velasquez.

Rojas, a 30-year-old policeman fell across the finish line after covering the 26-mile, 385-yard course. It was thought he had stomach cramps.

Dr. J. Chavez, a Guatemalan studying advanced medicine at Harvard diagnosed the ailment and had him taken to Massachusetts General Hospital.

Rojas was well enough to receive visitors Sunday after the early morning operation.

Fifteen Canadians started the race but only six finished. George Gallant of Shediac, N. B., made the best showing, placing 25th.

Hornets Win A.H.L. Crown

By The Canadian Press.

Pittsburgh Hornets are the new holders of the American Hockey League crown but it took a sudden death overtime goal to turn the trick.

It was Ray Hannigan's goal at 16:08 that gave the Hornets a 3-2 decision over Providence Reds and the best-of-seven series 4-2.

More than 6,100 fans — the largest crowd here in three years—watched Sunday night as Hannigan fired the goal that brought Pittsburgh its first championship. Chuck Blair set up the deciding tally.

It was the second sudden-death overtime won by the Hornets in the keenly-contested series. The Hornets also took the fourth game after 28:40 of overtime but the Reds bounced back to win the fifth game in Pittsburgh and remain in contention.

The Reds rallied twice to overcome deficits. After Andy Barbe had given the Hornets a 1-0 edge in the first 69 seconds, Barry Sullivan tied it up for the Reds while Pittsburgh was shorthanded at 16 seconds of the second period.

Defenceman Tim Horton regained the lead for Pittsburgh on an unassisted tally at 9:07 in the middle session, but Kenny Smith tied it up for Providence with an 18:46 goal.

That set the stage for overtime and Hannigan's goal.

Fort Frances Wins Place In Cup Finals

FORT FRANCES, April 21 — (CP).—It's Fort Frances Canadians and Stratford Indians in the Allan Cup hockey final this year and nobody's happier than residents of this northwestern Ontario town.

Half the 6,000 population turned out Saturday night to watch their favorite sons whip Edmonton Pats 5-3 in overtime to retain the Western Canada senior hockey title and the Patton Trophy.

Fort Frances disposed of Pats in six games of a best-of-seven series, losing one and tying another. Canadians now go into the first game of the best-of-seven final to be played Tuesday at Fort William.

Saturday's game was tight with a 3-3 count going into overtime. Canadians needed only a tie but added two goals in the extra minutes.

"We at least gave them a close battle," said coach Jimmy Graham of Pats when the game was over.

Pats opened quickly, hemming Fort Frances in their own end for long stretches. They lost some of their steam after seven minutes when Dun Sampson combined with Mike Hubchuk for the first Fort Frances score.

Show Determination

Pats showed determination in the second period and started a precision passing attack which gave Canadians plenty of trouble. Johnny Black put Edmonton back on even terms after three minutes when he slipped in a loose puck after a relay from Jim Kilburn and Harry Allan.

Pats took the lead midway in the period when Allan broke away and fired a shot between goalie Bill Cleaveley and the post.

Canadians turned on the power in the third period and in five minutes caught and passed the Edmonton team.

Goose Gosselin tied the count 2-2 when he flipped in Vern O'Donnell's rebound and a minute later Ed Kliner took Gosselin's pass and rifled a long, bullet drive to the top right corner.

At 11:55 Alex Pringle picked up Fred Smitten's relay and fired a screened shot past Cleavely to knot the score again.

Both clubs missed scoring chances in overtime before Canadians took command as Walt Christiansen, Frank Eizensoph and Sampson combined on a tricky passing play to notch the winner. With three seconds remaining, Eizensoph fed Hubchuk into the clear and the big winger tallied a final, easy goal.

Pats Win Top Honors For Second Time

REGINA, April 21 (CP). — Regina Pats are the Western Canada Memorial Cup champions for the second time in three years.

Pats applied the clincher in their best-of-seven series with Fort Frances Hurricanes for the title on Saturday. They came from behind before 4,500 fans to gain a narrow 2-1 victory and take the series four games to two.

Pats now meet Guelph Biltmores in the best-of-seven Memorial Cup final. The first game will be played in Guelph April 25, with the remainder of the series in Toronto.

Team captain Eddie Litzenberger was the spark plug Saturday. He triggered both Regina goals, one in the second period to tie up the game, and the winner in the third period.

May Trade Tipton

BOSTON, April 21 (AP).—The Boston Herald says today that catcher Joe Tipton of Philadelphia Athletics may be traded to Boston Red Sox for infielder Fred Hatfield and outfielder Ken Wood.

Boston had been trying to get Tipton, 30, for Hatfield and a "big-name infielder or pitcher," the newspaper says, until as outfielder Allie Clark suffered a broken wrist last Saturday.

Clark's injury, the Herald adds brought Wood into the picture while Tipton "was making inquiries about an apartment near the Sox park.

Have Dominion Championship In Lacrosse This Year After All

TORONTO, April 21 (CP). — There will be a Dominion championship series in senior lacrosse this year after all.

Gene Dopp, secretary-treasurer of the Canadian Lacrosse Association, said at the annual meeting of the Ontario Lacrosse Association, here Saturday that differences between the British Columbia Intercity League and the C.L.A. have been patched. The B. C. group had threatened to withdraw over complaints of the handling of the 1951 Mann Cup series in B.C.

This year's east-west senior lacrosse final will be played in Toronto starting Oct. 5.

There will be at least seven teams in Ontario senior competition this season with the return of Owen Sound Crescents, 1950 Mann Cup winners. But Brampton Excelsiors, one of the oldest teams in the league, may drop out because of rising costs.

Other teams in the senior loop will be: Hamilton, St. Catharines, Peterborough, Mimico, Fergus and Toronto West Yorks.

Elect Officials

A. E. (Art) Brown of St. Catharines is the new president of the O.L.A., succeeding Geoffrey Hipkin of Brampton. Other officers are: Wallace Cattel, Dundas, first vice-president; Jack Worthy, Brampton, second vice-president; Ken Kingston, Peterborough, third vice-president; executive council, Joseph Baker, Port Dalhousie; James Brock, Sarnia; Sam Tillet, Mimico; Eric White, Fergus and William McGill, Orillia.

Chuck Rowan of Mimico was returned as secretary-treasurer.

New teams entered this year in O.L.A. leagues are: intermediate, Mimico and Acton; junior, Fergus, Brampton, Dundas and Orillia; juvenile, Orillia and Owen Sound

An amendment to O.L.A. rules will permit sudden-death overtime in playoff games.

Another change will require a minor league player to obtain a release from a parent club to play for another team unless he changes his permanent residence.

Flying Start

FINCASTIE, Alta. —(CP)—District farmer Donald Porter got off to an early start on the 1952 crop. He started breaking the sod on his land on April 2.

SET WORLD RECORD

The University of Michigan's mighty relay team, with three Canadians and one American, set a world record Saturday in the distance medley event at the Ohio relays in Columbus. The runners, including Jack Carroll of Montreal, John Ross of Oakville and Don McEwen of Ottawa, flashed home in 9:56.3 for the two-mile run.

Here And There In Sports

By The Canadian Press

Waterloo won the third annual Young Canada Peewee hockey championship of the Goderich Lions Club Saturday, defeating Brooklyn 6-4. Goderich edged Port Hope 2-1 in the consolation event.

Two intercollegiate wrestling champions won titles Saturday night at the provincial amateur wrestling tournament at Toronto, Bob Steckle of the Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph, beat Charles Bowyer of Toronto in the 191-pound final. John Driesman of the University of Western Ontario won over Jim Stolar of Toronto in the 125-pound class.

Harold Johnston, a top contended for the world light-heavyweigth boxing crown who called off a scheduled bout with heavyweight Clarence Henry, was fined $1,000 during the weekend and suspended indefinitely. The fine and suspension were imposed by the Pennsylvania Athletic Commission.

Frank Sedgman of Australia, top seeded, and Jaroslav Drobny, ex-patriate Czech star, entered the finals of the international tennis tournament at Rome Sunday. Sedgman defeated Kurt Nielsen of Denmark, 6-1, 6-2, 6-4 while Drobny ousted Budget Patty of the United States, 6-1, 6-10 and 7-5.

Master Fiddle turned on a late stretch drive Saturday to defeat the favored Tom Fool by a neck in the rich Wood Memorial race at Jamaica, New York. It is the last big race in the east before the Kentucky Derby.

In spring a football fan's fancy turns to thoughts of fall.

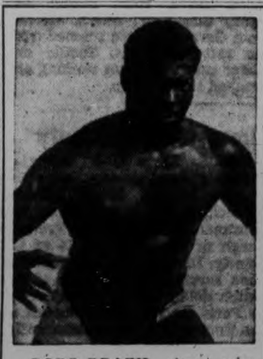
Edmonton Eskimos of the Western Interprovincial Football Union revealed during the weekend that they are not standing still while Calgary Stampeders sign up stars like Johnny Bright of Drake University. Manager Al Anderson said he has approached Notre Dame's famed Johnny Lujack, outstanding quarterback who quit Chicago Bears.

But Anderson said he was "in no hurry to close a deal" because Lujack is reported to have a bad shoulder. He said he didn't want any high-salaried American stars around with injuries.

Lujack, who signed to become assistant coach at Frank Leahy at Note Dame, is reported anxious to get back into active playing. He decided to hang up his cleats earlier when Chicago offered him a salary cut.

Anderson said it could be assumed that Rod Pantages, Montreal Alouettes' kicker, would be in the Eskimos backfield when the season rolls around.

George Ratterman, who returned to the football New York Yankees after a dismal season last authumn with Montreal Alouettes has been sold to Cleveland Browns of the National League.



BOBO BRAZIL, above, who meets Warren Bockwinkle in a special match Tuesday night at the Brock. This is a 45-minute affair and fans who witnessed the last meeting of this pair, said it was one of the best bouts of the year. It was a mat classic. Sawchuk Has Elbow Operation

DETROIT, April 21 (AP). — Terry Sawchuk, Detroit Red Wings' star goalie, will undergo an operation on his right elbow this morning.

Sawchuk entered Detroit Osteopathic Hospital after X-ray examinations had shown bone chips which needed immediate removal. It will be the third time he has had such an operation.

Sawchuk disclosed he had been in constant pain for about a month with a recurrence of an old ailment.

"But I didn't say anything about it," he said. "I didn't want people to think I was alibi-ing in case I didn't play well in the playoffs."

Sawchuk had four shutouts in Detroit's eight-game sweep to the Stanley Cup.

Syracuse Sweeps Doubleheader From Ottawa

By The Associated Press

Joe Page, former star relief pitcher for New York Yankees, is off to a fine start in his latest comeback bid. The 34-year-old lefthander came up with a three-hitter Sunday as Syracuse Chiefs swept a doubleheader from Ottawa Athletics, 8-1 and 8-3.

Page went the distance in the seven-inning nightcap. He held the Athletics scoreless on one hit until the sixth inning, when Lou Limmer crashed a two-run homer. Page walked five and fanned four. His opponent, Joe Coleman, walked nine in four innings.

Bob Keegan, who got a tryout with Yanks this spring, scattered seven hits in winning the first game. Loren Babe led the Syracuse attack, driving in three runs on a homer and a single. Babe collected four hits in the nightcap.

Tied For Lead

The sweep enabled the Chiefs to tie Montreal Royals for the lead. Royals split a doubleheader with Buffalo Bisons, winning the first game 13-9, but losing the second 7-2.

Hamp Coleman and Bob Alexander blanked the Bisons on four hits. Royals collected 18 safeties, including a pair of home runs by Carm Mauro.

Rookie Alyaylian limited Royals to six hits in the second game, including a home run by Junior Gillian. Bisons smacked three Montreal pitches for 10 hits, including a four-bagger by Bubba Phillips.

Springfield Cubs trounced Toronto 12-4 in the first game of a doubleheader, but the Leafs bounced back to win the second game, 8-2.

Cub ace Bill Padget breezed to his second victory in the opener and little Vic Lombardi coasted to his second triumph in the nightcap. Ed Stevens and Ferrell Anderson homered for Toronto in the second game and drove in three runs each.

Rochester Red Wings and Baltimore Orioles also divided a doubleheader. Wings won the first game 11-2 and Orioles bagged the second 7-2.

Remember When

By The Canadian Press

Portage La Prairie Terriers defeated Oshawa Generals 8-2 to win the best-of-five final for the Memorial Cup 10 years ago tonight at Winnipeg. Terriers had taken the first two games 5-1 and 8-7 in the Junior Amateur Hockey Classic, but the Oshawa team won the third game 8-4. In the fourth however Lin Bend and winger Jack McDonald each scored three goals in the decisive win for Portage.

Major Hockey Events Will Open This Week

KEMPTVILLE, April 21 (CP)—The two major amateur hockey events of the year—the Allan Cup and Memorial Cup finals—will open this week.

The first two games of the best-of-seven Allan Cup final between Stratford Indians and Fort Frances Canadians will be held at Fort William April 22 and 24. Other games will be played at Fort Frances, April 26, 28, 30 and May 2 and 3 if necessary.

Opener in the best-of-seven Memorial Cup finals between Regina Pats and Guelph Biltmores is set for Guelph April 25.

The remaining games will be staged at Maple Leaf Gardens in Toronto April 27, 30, May 2, 4, 5 and May 6 or 7 if necessary.

Cleveland Nearing Record Dumps Tigers In Twin Bill

By JOE REICHLER, Associated Press Sports Writer

Cleveland's rampaging Indians, baseball's only unbeaten team, are closing in on the Major League record for consecutive victories at the start of a season. At the same time, Detroit Tigers are on their way to a record in reverse—that of losing the most games from opening day. Combining brilliant pitching with long-range hitting, Al Lopez' win-happy tribe Sunday swept a doubleheader from the toothless Tigers, 3-2 and 7-2, for their sixth and seventh triumphs in succession.

Cleveland needs two more wins to equal the record of nine that the 1944 St. Louis Browns, 1918 New York Giants and 1940 Brooklyn Dodgers reeled off right from the start.

Detroit, without a victory in its first seven games, is more than halfway to its own major league record of 13 successive losses at the start of the 1920 campaign.

Luke Easter's homer in the ninth, his third in three days, broke up a pitching duel between Bob Lemon and Art Houtteman in the opener. The Indians unloaded four round-trippers in the nightcap. Al Rosen hit two and Pete Reiser and Ray Boone one each.

The Brooklyn Dodgers had their unbeaten skein snapped at five when Sal (The Barber) Maglie pitched the New York Giants to a 6-0 victory. Maglie limited the hard-hitting Brooks to two singles as he became the first pitcher to shut out the Dodgers at Ebbet's Field since Johnny Schmitz, then with Chicago, did the trick Aug. 25, 1949. That was 176 games ago.

Home runs by Davey Williams and Hank Thompson sent rookie Ben Wade to defeat.

Cincinnati Takes Two

Cincinanti advanced to within one game of the National League leading Dodgers, winning a pair in Pittsburgh, 8-6, and 12-2. Ted Kluszewski, slugging Cincinnati first baseman, had a field day at bat. He smashed a home run in each game and drove in nine runs. Besides hitting a "grand-slammer" in the nightcap, Kluszewski also banged two triples to account for seven Redleg tallies. Joe Adcock also homered twice for the Reds in the nightcap.

Ned Garver hurled his second shutout in two starts for the St. Louis Browns, who split a twin bill with the Chicago White Sox. Garver held the Sox to two safeties as the Browns won the first game 8-0. Chicago bats awoke in the second game to pound out a 10-2 win.

Jim Rivera drove in four Brownie runs in the opener with three hits including an inside-the-park homer. Nelson Fox paced Chicago's 13-hit attack in the nightcap with a double, triple, two singles and four RBI's.

A home run by pinchhitter Billy Goodman with two on in the seventh gave the Boston Red Sox a 6-3 victory over Washington.

Ted Williams drove in the first of Boston's four runs in the seventh with a pinch single off loser Sid Hudson.

Manager Casey Stengel shook up his lineup and the New York Yankees responded by beating the Philadelphia Athletics 9-6, to halt a three-game losing streak and extend the Athletics' losing skein to four.

Steve Bilko hit a home run with Enos Slaughter on base in the fifth inning to give the St. Louis Cardinals a 2-1 victory over the Cubs in Chicago.

Boston's Braves took a 2-1 decision from Philadelphia after the PPhillies had eked out a 4-3 victory in 10 innings of the opener.

Three successive eighth-inning singles and a wild throw by outfielder Den Ennis gave the Braves their second-game runs.

Ennis was the hero of the first game, however. He tripled in the 10th to score Willie Jones with the winning run. A ninth-inning homer with two out and one on by catcher Forrest Burgess had tied the game at 3-3.

Tin Miners Don't Get Pimples

Because Cornish tin miners appeared to avoid skin blemishes, British chemists suggested the use of tin in treating Boils, Acne, Pimples.

Now convenient, tasteless tablets containing 42.5% metallic tin are available under the brand name "Tinoxid" Rapid, satisfactory results are claimed for this inexpensive treatment.

Tinoxid Tablets are sold without prescription at all drug stores, 75c.

Document Of Terror Reveals Reds' Ways Of Weakening

By SIGRID ARNE

WASHINGTON, April 21 (AP). —A document said to have been found on a dead Russian secret policeman and which has just been published in the United States details Communist methods of weakening opponents through terror before a shot is fired.

This "document of terror" is published by the National Committee for a Free Europe, New York.

The committee says it was found on a dead N.K.V.D. (Russian secret police) officer in Poland in 1948 and smuggled into Germany, where a refugee Ukrainian made a shorthand copy.

The document indicates the major problem is to get segments of the anti-Communist world to fight each other and weaken themselves without any loss to the Communist world.

The document cites as a "classic example" the struggle between Poles and Ukrainians in 1942. Both were supposed to be fighting Germany.

Triple Strike

This document reveals that the Communists decided to strike three groups at once—Germans, Poles and Ukrainians.

The Communists formed small groups acting as Poles and Ukrainians. They started to fight each other. Says the document: "The action was particularly ruthless."

Almost immediately true Poles and Ukrainians got into the fight. The Communist conspirators got out and let the Poles and Ukrainians go on killing each other.

The document says this action prevented co-operation between Poles and Ukrainians, weakend Poland's position before the world when it came to ask for its old eastern border and revealed which Poles and Ukrainians had strong national feelings. Such people were later "liquidated".

This document says that there are two types of terror to use, direct and "enlightened".

Direct Terror

"Direct terror," it says, "are overt acts of violence, for use against the entire population, and it aimed at achieving command over the will of the people.

The document warns it is best to use direct terror only once. Otherwise fear is likely to turn into hatred and resistance.

"Enlightened terror" is the type of action through which segments of the free world are needled into fighting each other.

The document warns that the Communist terrorist must "camouflage" his actions so that the blame falls on the enemy and meanwhile appear before the world as an advocate of peace.

Youth Wounded Chasing Gunmen

MONTREAL, April 21 (CP)—Robert Chalmers, 19, was wounded Sunday night when he attempted to capture two gunmen who had robbed a taxi driver of $10.

Police said cab driver Dave Moses was robbed by two young men whom he had picked up. He followed them when they jumped from his cab, shouted for help and young Chalmers took off after the gunmen. He was hit in the thigh by one of four shots fired.

Two men, said to be the gunmen, were later captured in a blind alley. Police said one is 16 years old and the other 20. They did not release their names.

Chalmers' condition was reported not serious.

Fire Burns Trestle

SEARSPORT, Me., April 21 — (AP)—The loading trestle and coal pockets of C. H. Sprague Fuel Company's Penobscot division were destroyed Friday by a spectacular fire on this busy port's waterfront. Plant superintendent James Nickerson estimated loss in excess of $200,000.

Cotton Growing Develops Into Major Russ Industry

By EDDY GILMORE,

MOSCOW, April 21 (AP) — Cotton production is being pushed hard in the Soviet Union and indications show efforts are underway to develop it into a major industry.

The chief cotton areas of the U.S.S.R. are in the warm, sunny climes of central Asia.

Due to excellent farming methods the productivity per acre is very high. Of the total acreage under cotton, about 44 per cent is located in Uzbekistan which contributes about 60 per cent of the total cotton production.

Cotton is rapidly being developed in the Kirghiz and the Tadjik republics, and to some extent in regions of the Kazakh republic. But Uzbekistan is still the "deep south," the big contonland of the Soviet Union.

Latest figures on the cotton situation in the U.S.S.R. have been revealed by two deputies of the supreme Soviet.

"In the last three years," said S. Babaev, "cotton production in Turkmenia has been doubled."

Dream Realized

He said the decision of the government to build the main Turkmen canal expressed the age-old dream of the Turkmen people for water, for new flourishing fields and pastures on the Karu-Kuma desert.

This construction will fundamentally change the appearance of Turkmenia.

According to Babaev's estimations the main Turkmen canal wil enable 1,300,000 hectares of new land to be irrigated and developed, chiefly for the development of cotton growing.

(Russia's total cotton output in 1951 was 3,700,000 bales, according to the New York cotton exchange, as compared with United States' production of 15,123,000 bales.

Deputy A. Alimov, in a Moscow speech, discussed the situation in Uzbekistan.

On Upgrade

"The agriculture of the Uzbek republic," he said, "is on the upgrade. The amalgamation of the collective farms, their organizational - economic strengthening ensured substantial development of all branches of agriculture."

(The Soviet Union has a program of combining small collective farms into larger ones. This is to what Alimov referred when he spoke of amalgamation.)

"At the same time," he said, "there have been serious shortcomings in the direction of agriculture."

He said in the central Fergana valley alone there are about 150,000 hectares that have not been developed and which are suitable for irrigation.

MAIN STREET TOPICS

ELECTED VICE-CHAIRMAN

Gordon Dobbin was elected vice-chairman of the Ontario Association of Plumbers and Heating Contractors at the annual convention of the association held in Sudbury Saturday.

KEY CLUB OFFICER

Art Low of P.C.V.S. was elected one of five lieutenant-governors of the Key Clubs of Ontario, Quebec and the Maritimes at the annual convention which concluded Sunday in Ottawa.

BUS SERVICE STALLS

Stratford taxpayers voted in December to buy the local bus system. The operating company cancelled the service Wednesday. Temporary agreement, management said, was not satisfactory. Mayor D. A. Simpson said it would take 90 days for new buses to arrive.

FILM SHOWN ROTARY

A film showing a survey conducted by the Aluminum Company of Canada of their British Columbia developments was shown today at the Rotary luncheon meeting in the Empress Hotel.

ARTISTS AT WORK

Board of Works artists are sketching in the yellow crosswalk lines for pedestrians at the city's intersections. Ice, snow, spring rains and heavy traffic have combined to pretty well erase the lines. Some are faint, and some are non-existent.

WET PAINT

Wet paint on parking meters caused a great deal of irritation in Port Hope Friday. The paint was supposed to be a quick-drying variety. Either the paint was slow-drying or people came in contact with the meters too soon after is was applied, but more then a few registered complaint with the town clerk.

CORRECT PHONE NUMBER

Fire Chief George Smith says the fire department are getting a score of calls every day from residents wanting permission to start a rubbish fire. That's the correct procedure. The trouble is they are using the emergency number —5711. The correct number to phone for other than emergency purposes is 5713.

ELECTED ONTARIO CHAIRMAN

James Craig, Roper Drive, was elected chairman of the Ontario junior section of the Canadian Amateur Ski Association at the annual Ontario meeting over the weekend in Barrie. For several years Mrs. Mollie Craig, his wife, has been chairman of the Ontario women's section.

Voting Light, Farmers Decide On Egg Market

Ballot boxes were returning light from rural Peterborough polls this morning after three days' voting on the question of establishing a producer marketing scheme in the eggs and poultry industry.

The agricultural representatives were in charge of the arrangements for setting up polling places and receiving the vote by secret ballot. Frank C. Paterson said today that he would open the boxes Tuesday, count the ballots and report, as required to the Minister of Agriculture.

Results will not be known until complete returns are compiled in the Department and announced by the Minister, Hon. T. L. Kennedy.

Only information available today was from the comments of some of the deputy returning officers. Although they did not know how the ballots were marked, for or against the marketing plan, their concensus was that the number of voters was comparatively few.

Polls were kept open three days, Thursday to Saturday, from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. each day. Alex Huston, deputy at the office of the Department of Agriculture, reported around 57 ballots marked. That count may have been the largest in the Peterborough area.

Did Not Understand

Farmers who called at some of the polling places declined to take ballots. Most of them said they did not thoroughly understand the details of the scheme for setting up a marketing board. Some objected to the funding levy of one cent a dozen on all eggs sold through grading stations. They said it was too high a toll.

On the other hand promoters of the scheme declared that the expected revenue from eggs of $1,077,700 was essential to carry on large scale operation of receiving and marketing Ontario eggs.

Producers who sell directly to consumers were in many instances disinterested. They said they had regular outlets for their supplies and were satisfied with that form of marketing. Actually, there is no law interfering with producer-consumer business in agricultural products. Some farmers, however, felt that they might later be brought into the marketing scheme. They said they were content to remain outside its scope.

AN ONTARIO CHAMPIONSHIP was the reward Saturday night for John Dudas of Welland when he won the under-12-years 100-yard free-style event at the Y.M.C.A.'s spring invitation meet. Dudas (lower left) with trainer Gord Sykes of Welland discuss Dudas' time for the swim. The Y.W.C.A. girls team made a strong showing winning two of four events while (upper left) Sandra Wood, Dorothy Kingston, Eleanor Standish and Carol Howe also performed an exhibition diving event. Carol Howe (right) is caught in mid-air by the camera as she performs a back flip. —(Examiner Staff Photos).

Welland Boy Edges Triggs For Ontario Honors In Feature Of Swim Meet

Welland's 11-year-old John Dudas became an Ontario champion swimmer Saturday night when he won the under-12-years 100-yard free-style championship event at the Y.M.C.A. spring invitation meet. Splashing through five lengths of the pool in 1:20.2 minutes, Dudas edged Peterborough's Michael Triggs by inches for the feature event honors. Toronto West End Y.M.C.A.'s Paul Lucas placed third. Dudas with a slightly slower time of 1:20.4 won the first heat of the championship race, with Robert Carson, Toronto West End Y, and Ross Reid, Peterborough Y, second and third.

In the second heat Triggs won the right to enter the final by zipping through the 100 yards in 1:20.9 minutes, ahead of Toronto's Paul Lucas and Hamilton Aquatic Club's Albert Zelenski.

The second interesting feature of the meet was the setback handed the domineering Toronto West End Y team by the London and Woodstock Y.M.C.A. swimmers. For several years the Toronto boys have won regularly at meets but Saturday were on the short end of the honors.

A Fine Show

The third feature was the strong showing by the Peterborough Y.W.C.A. swimming team which was swimming in its first home meet against other Y.W.C.A.'s and swimming clubs in the past several years.

In the boys' events Woodstock opened with a first in the under 10 years 40-yard free style event when Charles Mitchell edged out Clark Burgess of Toronto West End Y in the final heat. Mitchell's time was 31 seconds. Another Woodstock swimmer, Rea Clark, placed third.

Woodstock chalked up its second first in the under 14 years 40-yard breast stroke event when Peter Fowler won out in 28.9 seconds. Tom Verth, Toronto West End Y, was second and Welland's Jack Miller third Eddie Zelenski, Hamilton Aquatic Club, won the under 14 years 100-yard free style swim in 1:07.2 minutes. He outclassed Peter Fowler, second, and Paul Smart, third, West End Y.

West End Y dominated the under 15 years 100-yard free style with John Odell placing first and John Hill second in the final heat. Woodstock's Bill Sanders was third. Odell's time was 1:08.5 minutes.

London Strong

London's Y.M.C.A. took over the meet in the junior men's events.

John Thompson, London, triumphed in the junior men's 100-yard free style swim with a time of 58.9 seconds. Teammates Bob Eynon was second and West End Y's Ron Gillespie third. Thompson had a better time of 58.3 seconds in the first heat.

Woodstock's Wayne Milburn, with a time of 2:47 minutes, won the juniors' 200-yard back stroke. Andy Christie and Bob Eynon, both of London, were second and third.

London's swimmers picked up another first when the relay team in an evenly matched event edged out Toronto West End Y and Peterborough Y in the 160-yard free style relay race. The London quartet finished in 1:28 minutes, a touch ahead of Toronto, and a touch ahead of Peterborough.

London climaxed its wins with a decisive victory in the junior men's half mile. Thompson won his second first, winning in 11:-46.3 minutes; a lap ahead of Don Wood of Peterborough. London's Bill Newton was third.

In the girls' events, Peterborough started off well then slipped slightly. But all the times were better than average for the girls' class.

The Y.W.C.A.'s Rosemary Epston finished only a touch ahead of Hamilton Aquatic Club's Donna Newcombe in the under 10 years 20-yard free style event. Epston's time was 13.1 seconds.

Peterborough's second first fell to Carol Howe in the under 12 years 40-yard free style. With a time of 25.5 seconds she outdistanced Hamilton's Margaret Clark and teammate Donna Merrett.

Valerie Lewis, of Toronto Lakeshore Swimming Club, won the under 14 years 40-yard free style in 25.7 seconds. Hamilton's Donna Jaskula and Peterborough's June Merrett were second and third.

Lakeshore Swimming Club won its second race in the girls' 80-yard free style relay race, defeating Hamilton and Peterborough.

Utilities Cracks Sidewalk —Not For Hydro

Utilities Commision men were picking and shovelling through the pavement on Charlotte St. just west of Aylmer St. this morning, and one of these days they may be breaking a trench through the concrete sidewalk on the west side of George St., south of Hunter St.

Transfer of electric power lines from overhead to underground has lighted up again with the prospect of Principal Investments Ltd. beginning construction of a big store on the property they have bought from the Zacks family.

At a recent meeting of the Utilities Commisison, R. L. Dobbin, manager, mentioned the likelihood of the closing of the rear lane, south from Hunter St. Mention was made of probability in the planning of an underground circuit which would extend from the first work in the vicinity of Hunter and George Streets.

Mr. Dobbin was asked to bring in a report for discussion at an early meeting.

Much Discussed

The sinking of power lines is a project which has received in its day a full measure of discussion. Enthusiasm usually petered out the nearer deliberation approached action and costs.

It was intimated at the Commission meeting that the work along the west side of George St. would involve cutting a trench through the sidewalk. That was done in Toronto and elsewhere when the underground work had to be carried through established streets.

Commission has an expansion program that is not yet complete, and is confining its operations to expenditures that are necessary and are within the city. Attitude of the members toward the financing of the project to put the wires underground will be indicated when they get into its details.

Incidentally, the breaking of the strip of pavement on Charlotte St. this morning was aimed at a leak in the gas main. It is another instance of the effect of the new propane gas on the old rubber filling of the joints in the gas main.

Kingston Couple, Just Wed, Injured

COBOURG, April 21 (ENS). — A Kingston couple, just married, were involved in a traffic accident east of Cobourg Saturday afternoon, not many hours after their wedding. Their car collided with a "hot rod" driven by Bob Payne of Cobourg.

The couple, Mr. and Mrs. William Teeple suffered a shaking up and bruises when their car rolled one-and-a-half times and landed upside down on Highway 2. Payne's car, a coupe with the cab cut down and a souped up engine was not so badly damaged.

First Dip?

The first dip of the season may have been taken by Leo Guerin of McGill St., early Saturday morning. But Guerin's swim was not premeditated. He landed in Little Lake fully clothed. An employee of the Utilities Commission, he was testing rubber boots to see if they leaked while working on a water main on Edgewater Blvd., when he toppled off a log into eight feet of water. The swim wasn't a long one. And Guerin crawled out in a hurry to report that the water was COLD.

Sunshine, Wind Drying Fields

Spring popped around the seasonal corner faster than some farmers expected it. Sunshine and light winds of the last week have done their combining chore of drying a large acreage in the Peterborough district.

Another few days of this weather will accomplish the seeding probably of the bulk of the spring grain, mostly oats and barley. Quite a lot of clovers are also being sown, some of it on the fall wheat.

The new farm year is getting under way fairly early. Wheat came through the winter in good condition, although some knolls are reported "a bit bare."

Some Winter Killing

W. W. Dawson of Otonabee said he had noticed some evidence of winter killing in clover fields, that looked patchy in places. On the whole, however, the aspect for the last week of April is generally favorable.

Most farmers will welcome rain about Wednesday or Thursday to help surface moisture.

Seed cleaning plants in the city have been busy with the "usual" rush of grain when the arrival of spring demanded action by those who had delayed the cleaning job. Only in the thicker bushes is any snow left, and it has been melting fast.

Autopsy Held To Find Cause Of Death Of Woman At Burleigh Falls

Unconscious More Than Three Days In Civic Hospital; Came From Toronto Two Weeks Ago

An autopsy is being performed to discover the cause of the death of Mrs. Edna Atkinson, 53, who died in Civic Hospital today. An employee of the Park Hotel, Burleigh Falls, since she came from Toronto about two weeks ago, Mrs. Edna Atkinson was admitted to hospital Thursday evening in a semi-conscious condition. It is believed she may have suffered a heart seizure before she fell downstairs injuring her head. During the night she fell, Mrs. Atkinson lapsed into unconsciousness and remained in a coma until she died.

Stitches were required to close the head wound which resulted from the fall, but there was no evidence of a skull fracture, and it is believed Mrs. Atkinson died from other causes.

The whereabouts of Mrs. Atkinson's husband, Harold Atkinson, are not known, but it is believed he is in England.

Mrs. Atkinson's only son Joseph predeceased her some years ago. Two grandchildren survive, both living in Toronto.

Also surviving is an aunt, Mrs. Frank McIndoo of Millbrook.

Strange Aircraft Seen Over City

Reports of strange types of aircraft continued to pour in during the weekend.

London, Ont., experts report seeing an unidentified aircraft streaking across the western section of the province Sunday at a speed "in excess of 1,000 miles an hour."

Nearer home, Peterborough residents report seeing a vapor line cross the sky Sunday morning. One woman said that she couldn't see the machine making the trail and the other said all she could see was a bright reflection of light at the head of the trail. The speed of the object appeared to be much slower than 1,000 m.p.h. to the city people, although it was very high.

Mrs. George H. Ralston of Port Hope reported that she saw a flying saucer early one morning last week. She said she saw a bright amber fish-shaped object in the sky over Lake Ontario the same night similar objects were seen over Hamilton.

Boat Overturns, Three Rescued In Rice Lake

GORE'S LANDING, April 21. (ENS)—Three persons spent a chilly half hour in Rice Lake on Sunday afternoon after their motorboat overturned near Black Island.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Throop of Cobourg and Mrs. Clifford Atkinson of Toronto were rescued by people in two other boats, chilled and thoroughly soaked.

The three, who were staying at the Atkinson cottage at Gore's Landing, were trying out the boat, built during the winter for Mr Atkinson. The outboard motor stopped, and while Mr. Throop tinkered with it, the two women started to paddle the boat.

Both women were paddling on one side of the boat, and in the high wind the boat turned over. Mr. Throop and Mrs. Atkinson pushed Mrs. Throop on top of the overturned boat.

Lyle Wallace of Gore's Landing and Joe Armstrong of Bailieboro came out in one boat, while Tom and Lawrence Rehder of Bowmanville came out in a second craft to bring the cold and wet trio to shore.

STONY LAKE CLEAR

The Kawarthas are casting off the last of winter's traces. Ice went out of Stony Lake Friday,, and Clear Lake is back to the normal appearance of summer.

Who Will Succeed Stalin?

Molotov Needs Malenkov To Rule Russia

By LEON DENNEN
NEA Staff Correspondent

PARIS—(NEA)—If Stalin died tomorrow, Vyacheslav M. Molotov would almost certainly succeed him as chief of the Soviet empire.

This is the belief of most Soviet experts in Europe. It is supported by available Cominform and satellite information.

But Cominformists also believe that Molotov could remain in power only if he had 50-year-old Georgi M. Malenkov with him.

Molotov's position in Russia and in the Cominform—although misunderstood and underrated in the West—is unique and, for the present, unassailable.

From the beginning of Stalin's climb to power Molotov was at the dictator's side—acting as his principal adviser and chief of staff. The ruthless and bloody extermination of Lenin's entire "Old Guard" was carried out jointly by Stalin and Molotov.

Vyacheslav Mikhailovich Scriabin (Molotov) was born in 1890 in the Vyatka region. The super-Red stems from a typical bourgeois family. But at 16, as a student, he joined Lenin's Bolshevik Party and changed his name to Molotov (The Hammer)—much to the amusement of his older fellow-conspirators.

Cold, dull and reserved, there was nothing in the make-up of the future Red Crown Prince to suggest a "hammer". Few saw a brilliant career for him as a revolutionist.

The brilliant Soviet journalist Karl Radek called Molotov "stony pants" because of his great capacity for sitting quietly at a desk and working hard.

Radek's "stony pants" stuck to Molotov as long as the older Bolsheviks were alive. Lenin appreciated Molotov's capacity for detail, but considered him mediocre otherwise. "The best filing clerk in Moscow," he is reported to have said of Molotov.

Ex-members of the Communist International recall a heated argument between the obscure, stammering Molotov and the great Leon Trotsky.

Trotsky was then at the peak of his glory as the creator of the Red Army and Lenin's closest collaborator. He was particularly vitriolic in his attack on Molotov. Pale, but cold and composed as usual, Molotov stammered out:

"We can't all be great and brilliant, Comrade Trotsky. But we shall see who lasts longest."

Molotov was then 34. He outlasted them all. Karl Radek ended his days in a Siberian concentration camp—a victim of the Stalin-Molotov blood purge of Lenin's "Old Guard". Trotsky was stabbed to death in his Mexican exile by a hired assassin of the MVD.

But "stony pants" became the Red dictator's right-hand man—and may be the next ruler of the Soviet empire.

Actually Molotovism

The West knows Molotov as the man who stands at attention when Stalin speaks. But Cominformists are aware that much of what is today known as "Stalinism" is actually "Molotovism".

Molotov defied Communist and world opinion to negotiate the Stalin-Hitler Pact. Then, with cold stubbornness, he drove an infuriated Hitler to attack Russia—and thus seal the doom of Nazism.

Molotov is the most pitiless promoter of the Soviet slave-state. He is tireless in his efforts to stalinize (or molotovize) the satelite countries. Since the end of the war—as chief of the "Molotov Plan"—he has ruthlessly exploited all ther evolutionary and pro-nationalist ferment in China, Korea, the Middle East and the West—all to Russia's apparent advantage.

Molotov learned early to despise the "decadent" West and its democratic ideas and institutions. He is said to believe that a Third World War "will become the grave for world capitalism."

Lazar Kaganovich, Stalin's aging brother-in-law and the only Jew in the Politburo, is reported to hold Molotov responsible for the rise of anti-Semitism in the Communist Party of Russia and the satellite countries.

An anecdote current in western Cominform ranks give a glimpse into the Molotov-Kaganovich relationship and Stalin's methods.

Stalin calls Kaganovich to his office and inquires: "Tell me, Lazar, why is Molotov making anti-Semitic remarks about you?" Kaganovich is indignant.

Stalin then calls Molotov: "Tell me, Vyacheslav, why is Kaganovich telling people that you stammer?" Enraged, the Red Crown Prince runs out of his boss' office.

Stalin rubs his hands and exclaims: "A good day's work!"

Molotov, at 62, has the advantage of being of the old Bolshevic generation. He knew Lenin. With all the old Belsheviks dead—or in the living death of concentration camps, he is in direct line of succession. In this respect he has a decided advantage over Malenkov, his nearest rival, "who knew not Lenin."

Molotov is also reported to have the full support of Marshal Nikolai Bulganin, another member of Stalin's "inner cabinet."

Bulganin is the boss of the Red Army. He is the spokesman of Russia's armed forces in the Politburo. He is himself not a candidate for Stalin's throne.

But he is the only man in the Politburo in a position to counter-balance the power of the MVD, whose chief, Lavrenti P. Beria, is said to be working hand-in-hand with Malenkov.

Tomorrow: Malenkov, perfect example of a Communist careerist.

British Government Starts Building Satellite Towns Near The City Of London

By ROBERT F. S. JONES

HEMEL HEMPSTEAD, Hertford, England, April 21 (AP). — The government is grafting a slice of pure Cockney on to this quiet little market town about 30 miles north of London.

The Hemeldonians — as the townsfolk call themselves—don't like it one bit.

For Hemel Hempstead, where for nearly two centuries they have been making paper and growing watercress in lush meadows, is one of a ring of eight "satellite" towns which in 10 years time will have absorbed some 400,000 of London's teeming slum dwellers.

The late Labor government passed the New Towns Act in 1946. This put teeth into a wartime plan to lift whole communities of Londoners and their factories from the middle of the capital and leap-frog them over a "green belt" of open countryside into an outer ring of new towns.

It's going to cost far more than the government anticipated in 1946. It figured about £152,000,000 would see the plan through until 1962.

Preliminary Work

So far nearly £20,000,000 have been spent—and little more than preliminary work has been done in most of the satellites.

The new Conservative government thinks the idea a good one and intends to go ahead with it.

The idea of building self-contained new towns, where Londoners could live and work in semi-rural surroundings, came from Sir Patrick Abercrombie, Britain's foremost town planning expert.

Abercrombie, asked by Winston Churchill in 1943 to work out a plan to relieve London's congestion after the war, took his idea partly from Sir Ebenezer Howard, originator of the "garden city" type of town intended to rid Britain of her slums.

Style The Same

In each case the general style is the same — new houses are grouped in "neighborhood units" on the outskirts of the existing town, with a factory belt in an outer ring.

Hemel, with a population of about 22,000, is probably the most advanced of all the satellites and expects to absorb 40,000 Londoners by 1962.

The total for all 12 satellites to date is 3,120 houses built, 5,050 under construction, and 28 factories working.

Has To Wait

BRANTFORD, Ont. — (CP)—A provincial inspector, spotting a newly-painted sign reading "gaol" on the Brant county jail, said that the proper way to spell it is "jail." Major Sidney Rogers, jail governor, said it would probably remain "gaol" until they get another prisoner who can paint signs. The man who did the present sign was released recently.

GMC PRESENTS A NEW WELTERWEIGHT 2-CYCLE DIESEL

A GENERAL MOTORS VALUE

ANOTHER MAJOR MILESTONE IN HAULING PROGRESS

This new addition to the large range of GMC trucks is the Three-cylinder Diesel Engine. It brings all the economy of the famous GMC "Million-Miler" power to a large number of truck operators, and will save them more money every mile of operation.

HERE's something every over-the-road hauler has long dreamed of—a smaller Diesel, light in weight, yet offering all the efficiency and economy of GMC's famous "Million-Milers". This new 3-cylinder Diesel brings all the proven advantages of General Motors 2-cycle design to the 35,000 pound combination weight class.

"Million-Miler" Engineering

GMC trucks now provide a complete range of two-cycle diesel engines from 110 H.P. to 225 H.P. with 3-, 4- and 6-cylinder engines for use in trucks from 19,500 to 120,000 lbs. Gross Combination Weight. These engines are all designed and built to run a million miles or more. Features like the automatic fuel modulator, the new 170° camshaft, Tocco-Hardened crankshafts, and many others combine to produce engines that have introduced a new era in low cost truck operation.

Diesel Pays Dividends

"MILLION-MILERS" will continue to pile up savings long after conventional engines are worn out. They're designed to go more miles than any truck you've ever owned, and to cut your fuel and maintenance costs by a wide margin. Yes, GMC diesel trucks are a natural for low cost per ton mile operation.

Millbrook Choir Gives Operetta At Bethany

BETHANY, April 21 (ENS) — The town hall at Bethany was filled to capacity Friday evening for the operetta "The Sunbonnet Girl" presented by members of St. Andrew's United Church choir from Millbrook, under the direction of Mrs. G. A. Spicer.

Mr. Homer Ouellette was accompanist at the piano throughout the entire operetta, with Reg Atchison playing the violin for the square dances.

Mrs. Hannah Cairns, Toronto, is visiting with her sister, Mrs. Isabel Perry.

Mrs. L. Merrick and son David of Kingston visited for several days this week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Stacey.

Recent guests with Mr. and Mrs. William Cavano were Mr. and Mrs. Bert Gillespie, J. Chrysler of Hastings; Mrs. Percy Elgar and Mrs. W. Wilkinson of Millbrook.

Mr. Henry Jakeman was in Toronto on Friday.

Miss June Wright has spent the past week's vacation in Toronto.

Canadian Artist Yearns For Cabin In Alberta, Scores Paris Success

By MICHAEL O'MARA

PARIS, April 21— (Reuters) — Wilfred Roloff Beny, 27-year-old artist who Sunday night was awarded a $3,000 Guggenheim fellowship in art, is riding the crest of a wave of popularity unusual in contemporary art.

He has a one-man show running here, another set for Milan in June and a third scheduled for London next fall.

And the fellowship makes him "free as a bird to do what I want" for a year. What he wants is to disappear for a year to "paint furiously," probably at his Rocky Mountain log cabin at Waterton Lake, Alta.

The Alberta Prairie boy is a minor rage in European art circles, but insists he doesn't want to lose touch with his Canadian background and sources of inspiration.

CANDIAN ARTIST—Wilfred Roloff Beny, impressionistic painter, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. J. F. Beny, of Lethbridge, Alta. Born in Medicine Hat in 1924, he graduated from the University of Toronto and Iowa State University. He tourned Europe in 1948 and next year held a one-man exhibition in Strozi Palace, Florence. His works have been shown in many galleries in Canada and the United States.

Pays His Way

He's delighted with the fellowship, but actually he's something of a rarity among young painters. He has managed to pay his way—nearly—by sales of lithographs and original oils and water-colors since he first won recognition in Canada about 10 years ago. The rest of the expenses have been borne by his father, Charles Bent, an auto dealer at Lethbridge, Alta.

"Up to the age of seven," said Beny Junior, sitting in his luxurious apartment hard by the Champs Elysses. "I thought of being a doctor. Then I decided to be a painter. And I've painted madly ever since."

"By the time I was 15," he said, "I even had the nerve to give lectures on art."

He studied at the University of Toronto and in 1944 was the first undergraduate ever allowed a one-man show at Hart House Gallery.

From Toronto, he went to Iowa State University on a two-year scholarship, then east again for post-graduate work at New York and Columbia Universities.

First New York Show

His first New York show was at the Wyhe Galleries in 1947. Several of his lithographs were bought by the Brooklyn Museum.

Beny then paid his first visit to Europe and exhibited in Florence —"My Second Home"— in 1949. Last year he held a successful show at New York's Knoedler Gallery, and others at Merano and Vicenza, in Italy.

After the London show in the fall, his plans are uncertain, but the retreat to Watertown Lake seems the likeliest move.

Beny is not satisfied with "just painting."

He has worked out various methods of lithographing and print. His book, "An Aegean Notebook," published in Lethbridge in 1950, was his own work, from binding to type-selection. He also is constantly dabbling in out-of-the-way methods of painting.

"Textures, papers, techniques fascinate me," he said. "I like trying different methods."

One of his oddest specialties is "printing on water," as a basis for experimenting. He fills a small bath with water and coats it with a mixture of turpentine and oil paint. Then he "paints" on the surface of the tank's contents — "partly finger-painting and partly by adding different oil colors"— and finally puts his paper flat on the surface of the liquid.

Always Chance

"When I take it off, the oil clings to the paper . . . and I have a design on the paper. The design may be a ghastly failure, or it may be exciting and lead me on to fill it in with further painting.

"It's a variation of my other favorite technique—you might call it 'automatic' painting. I fill in a framework of color and design by flicking drops of paint on to the canvas or paper. Then I fill in a classical design.

"I wouldn't call it totally subconscious painting. Only the basis is automatic. The rest is planned."

Throughout his travels in Greece, Italy, France, Britain, Austria Germany Beny always carries his sketchbook.

"I can't properly realize I've been some place until I draw it," he explained.

"But wherever I go," he said, "I still don't forget I'm a Canadian. To live and work in Europe is a great privilege, but I still want to get back to my little cabin."

THIRTY DIE IN PLANE CRASH — All that remains of the North Continent Airlines C-46 that crashed near Los Angeles, Calif., with 30 persons aboard is mute, tangled wreckage strewn along a grassy hill. The non-scheduled craft crashed on the last leg of a flight from New York to Los Angeles. There were no survivors.

Emblem Returns

VANCOUVER, B.C. — (CP). — The "Rising Sun" was flying in the Port of Vancouver recently for the first time since Pearl Harbor, over 10 years ago. The once-familiar Japanese ensign was flying from the steamship Meiwa Maru as she arrived on her maiden voyage, first Japanese ship here since the motorship Hikawa Maru sailed for Japan a few weeks before Pearl Harbor.

Stands Up For Rights

BELLEVILLE, April 21.—(CP)— Muskrats will not stand to be kicked around. Kenneth Carter of Ameliasburg saw one crossing the road, chased it and kicked at the animal's head. The muskrat turned and sank its teeth through Carter's rubber boot and into his foot. The foot and leg later swelled up as far as the knee.

Industrial Accident Costs Exceed $450 Million Year

TORONTO, April 21 — (CP) — Direct and indirect costs of industrial accidents in Canada exceed $450,000,000 a year, A. D. Baillie, of Hamilton, said today.

Mr. Baillie, president of the Industrial Accident Prevention Association (of Ontario), addressed the I.A.P.A.'s annual meeting, which is being attended by 3,500 employees and industrial-safety workers.

"Too frequently," said Mr. Baillie, "we see only the direct costs of an accident, whereas the indirect costs, including items such as work stoppage, account for four times more. Like the iceberg, only the smaller parts of the costs of an accident is visible on the surface."

Despite the fact that more accidents occurred in 1951 than in 1950, Mr. Baillie added, "the employees of our largest industries are safer at work than in their own homes or in their automobiles on the highway."

Increase General

Gordon Anderson, general manager of the I.A.P.A., said the rise in accidents was evident in other provinces, as well as Ontario, and in the United States.

"It is," he said, "generally ascribed to the increase in the total number of workers and consequently the amount of exposure to hazardous conditions; the transfer of workers from one job to which they have long been accustomed, to new work; and the inthroduction into the working force of many younger workers unfamiliar with industrial practices.

"This points up again the need for additional training facilities within industry. The worker who is trained in the hazards of his occupation and how they may be avoided, is seldom injured."

Total claims reported by Canadian Workmen's Compensation Boards in 1951 were 488,361, an increase of 49,267 over 1950, including 1,1555 deaths, an increase of 144. Total benefits paid were $68,632,809, an increase of $2,-618,774.

Figures Broken Down

By provinces, total claims, with deaths in brackets, and total benefits paid, were:

Sutton Woman Dies From Crash Injuries

SUTTON, April 21—Mrs. Grover Morrison, wife of the former Reeve of Sutton, died Sunday in a Miami, Fla., hospital from injuries received in a two-car collision April 17 which took the life of her husband and her brother, Col. Harold Breuls.

Col. Breuls was associated with a Toronto law firm for 12 years. He was born in the Sutton district. Mr. Morrison was Reeve of the village in 1948 and for a three-month term in 1951 after the death of the incumbent Reeve.

The accident took place on the Tamiami Trail. The driver of the other auto, a Florida school teacher, was also killed.

Voice of Experience

MONTREAL—(CP)—Mrs. Millie Richler, 99-year-old great-great-grandmother attending a family party at which five generations were represented, expressed the hope that the newest baby would not have to live through so much war as she has done. The baby is the son of her grandson.

Civil Defence

MONCTON, N.B.—(CP)—E. V. Wilson, resigning as Moncton's co-ordinator of civil defence, said there was not enough activity in this field at present to warrant holding the position as a part-time job. He suggested that if and when more work developed, the post be held by a retired man.

Hornblowers Warned

TIMMINS, Ont. — (CP) —Mine workers, who drive up to the homes of fellow employees in the early hours and toot their horns to rouse fellow laborers, caused complaints from other residents. Police Chief Albert Lepic warned that if they continue "unnecessary horn-blowing," charges would be laid.

10 Fatalities Reported Over Weekend

By The Candian Press

Motor accidents accounted for half of the 10 violent deaths recorded in Eastern Canada during the weekend.

Two boys, each two years old, were among the three drowning victims in a Canadian Press compilation.

Five of the fatalities occurred in Ontario, four in the Montreal area and one in Nova Scotia.

Freddy Kerr, 2, was drowned in a mill stream by his home near Durham, Ont., and William Dale Gibbons, 2, was drowned when he fell into a well on a birthday visit to his grandfather at Port Burwell, Ont.

Charles Pelletier, 59, was missing and presumed drowned after a rowboat capsized in the St. Lawrence River at Montreal.

Ambulance Victim

One fatal motor accident near Kentville, N.S., when Mrs. Bessie Wheaton, 77, a patient in an ambulance, was fatally injured in a highway collision. In Montreal, Armand Binette, 59, died when a car he was driving hit a tree, and Steve Hermanuk, 60, a pedestrian, was fatally injured when hit by a car. A pedestrian on the outskirts of Toronto, Mrs. Alice Friers, 47, died after being hit by a car.

Near Sudbury, motorcyclist Eugene Lafrance was killed when his cycle crashed head-on with a truck.

Mrs. Kenneth Monck was accidentally shot in the kitchen of her Cobalt, Ont., home while her husband was cleaning a rifle.

In Montreal, Armand Lamothe, 42, died in hospital after he was knocked to the pavement in a street brawl.

Honor 20th-Century Victims Tyranny At Paris Festival

By JOHN RODERICK

PARIS, April 21—(AP)—On the last day of this month, in the historic church of St. Roch—named after the pious Frenchanm who dedicated his life to alleviate human suffering — the throbbing melody of a new composition by Francisci Poulenc will honor the memory of the 20th Century's victims of tyranny.

The composition is "Stabat Mater." Its singing by the chorus of Saint-Guillaime of Strasbourg, under the direction of the celebrated conductor, Fritz Munch, will open a month-long program of music, theatre, art and literature entitled "masterpieces of the 20th century."

The great artistic festival, one of the most ambitious projects undertaken in 50 years, is sponsored by the Congress of Cultural Freedom. The Congress is a collection of western intellectuals.

Earl Russell, better known as Bertrand Russell, philosopher-author-mathematician, conceived the idea of the festival in 1950.

Freedom Theme

Its theme is freedom, and it will feature the great works of art which have been produced in an atmosphere free from the strictures of Communism.

The famed expatriate Russian composer, Igor Stravinsky, will make his first Paris appearance in 13 years for the event.

The orchestra of Western Berlin conducted by Ferenc Fricsay, will devote an entire program to the works of Soviet composers banned in Russia and in the Soviet satellites.

There will be an exhibition of rarely seen paintings of the 20th Century, loaned from private collections.

On the literary side, there will be a series of six lectures and debates by eminent authors and critics.

The Congress chose the Church of St. Roch as a particularly appropriate place to open its festival. The 13th-Century Frenchman gained sainthood for his heroic efforts to combat the plague.

Former Reeve Dies

NAPANEE, April 21 — (CP) — Frank W. Ham, 48, former reeve of South Fredericsburg township, died Saturday following an operation. He was a leader in the establishment of the Lennox and Addington health unit while a member of county council.

MR. AND MRS. GERALD BLACKWELL, the bride formerly Marion Smith, pictured after their marriage on Saturday.—Choate Studio Photo.

Blackwell-Smith Wedding

The marriage took place in St. John's Anglican Church on Saturday of Marion Ruth Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Orvel L. Smith, to Gerald Leeds Blackwell son of Mr. and Mrs. Eric Blackwell, R.R. 2, Peterborough.

The Rev. T. H. Floyd officiated in the ceremony. Music was played by the organist, Mr. F. G. Mann.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a light grey suit with navy and white accessories. Her corsage was of pink roses with white sweet pea and pink carnation. The bridesmaid was Miss Dorrit Nielson, of Toronto, cousin of the bride. She wore a navy suit with white accessories and had a corsage of pink carnations and white sweet pea.

The groom was attended by his brother, Mr. Rodney Blackwell.

The reception was held at the bride's home, where her mother received wearing navy and pink with deep pink carnations. The groom's mother wore grey with navy and pink accessories, and a corsage of pink carnations.

After the reception, the couple left for a short honeymoon.

McLean-Cullen

The wedding was solemnized Saturday afternoon at three o'clock in the living room of Spruce Glen Farm, Springville, of Olive Dianne, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Morgan C. Cullen, and William Herbert Ralph McLean, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Eric McLean, Mount Pleasant. The Rev. A. E. Larke officiated.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was lovely in a ballerina length gown of white Chantilly lace over double flounces of misty net with matching headdress and hand embroidered shoulder veil. She carried a cascade bouquet of red roses and white hyacinths.

Miss Barbara Marshall, of Toronto, in a pale blue taffeta gown with a nosegay of deep pink carnations and narcissi, was the bridesmaid. The groom was attended by Mr. Robert Cullen, brother of the bride.

After the wedding supper was served to the immediate families, the bride and groom left by motor for a short honeymoon.

Extension Society Displays Work At Spring Tea

The annual tea of the Catholic Extension Society by which funds are raised for the making of altar linens and vestments was held on Sunday afternoon at St. Peter's Brock St. social centre.

Arrangements were beautifully carried out by the past president Mrs. S. J. Houlihan who also received and introduced the new president Mrs. Jack Lane.

The door was attended by little Miss Mary Cahill and Catherine Ahern who made charming hostesses in long white taffeta and wearing corsages of rosebuds and roses in their hair.

The tea table was outstanding with a beautiful statue of the Madonna surounded with Easter lilies, white snapdragon and white sweet peas at the centre. A beautifully hand-crocheted lace cloth was used and white tapers in silver candalabrae completed the setting.

Two mantels in the room were festooned with ferns and aglow with lighted candles corresponding to those on the table. Sandwich plates were decorated prettily with tiny flags and umbrellas.

Vestments and linens that have been made recently were displayed by Mrs. George Lynch and Miss Teresa McNamara.

An attractive felt kniting bag, made and donated by Mrs. Leo McCabe, was offered as a draw prize and Mrs. F. Blackburn was selling tickets. The winner was Mrs. P. Lucas of Elm St.

Mrs. F. Guilfoyle was in charge of the tea table and those pouring were Miss A. Doris, Mrs. C. F. Cahill, Mrs. Leo McCabe and Mrs. Jack Lane.

Servers were Mrs. J. Torpey, Mrs. G. Ahern, Mrs. C. Whibbs, Mrs. J. O'Neil, Mrs. H. Crowley; Mrs. J. Vondette and Miss Loretta Murray.

Mrs. G. Marshall Wins "Bonnet" At Easter Bridge

Everyone wore her Easter bonnet to the "Easter Bonnet Bridge" at the Y.W.C.A. Saturday afternoon and Mrs. Gordon Marshall came away with the feature prize of this event—a new hat. Whether she will have the lovely "Easter bonnet" displayed or not is left to her choice.

Exemplar Chapter members of the Beta Sigma Phi Sorority were hostesses for this delightful party. They used little straw hats to decorate the Green Room and had set up 28 tables attractively to accommodate the reservations.

A lovely centrepiece of yellow 'mums was on the table where they displayed the draw prizes, and it was a prize itself, won by Mrs. E. Trueman.

The bridge prize winners were Mrs. W. A. Burrell, Mrs. Robert Hamilton, Mrs. R. E. White, Mrs. J. M. Hales, Mrs. E. W. Rahmel, Miss Wilma Armstrong, Mrs. Ross Burnham and Mrs. R. T. Bogle.

A lucky cup and saucer prize went to Mrs. B. E. Metcalfe and Mrs. Robert Garner won the lucky chair prize.

New social sponsor of the Sorority, Mrs. Charles Huffman, was receiving and officiating in the draws with president Mrs. Donald Anderson and vice-president Mrs. Quentin Dantzer, Mrs. Maurice Holt and Mrs. Michael Caccavella were the conveners.

Rev. Dr. E. Sherry Speaker At Annual Breakfast

The annual communion breakfast of the Catholic Junior League was held Sunday morning at the Empress Hotel after the members had assisted at mass and holy communion at St. Peter's Cathedral. Arrangements were in charge of the social convener, Mrs. J. O'Brien.

Miss B. Hickey welcomed the members and acting as toastmistress called upon Mrs. B. LaBranche who proposed a toast to the Pope and the church; Miss Florence O'Toole proposed a toast to the Queen and Miss A. O'Leary to the league.

Members were favored by a singing quartet including Mesdames E. Collis, W. Gannon, R. Baldwin and J. Henry who sang "Veni Jesu." The beautiful hymn "O Solutaris" was rendered by Mrs. Collis and Mrs. Baldwin, and "Santa Lucia" by Mrs. Henry and Mrs. Gannon. Accompanist was Miss Veronica Scollard.

Miss B. Meagher introduced the guest speaker, the Rev. Dr. Edward Sherry, S.J. of Toronto who chose the interesting subject, "The Rites Within the Catholic Church." Dr. Sherry is a much travelled person and told of some of his experiences in the Far East as compared with here.

Miss G. Costello expressed thanks and appreciation to Dr. Sherry on behalf of the league.

ST. JOHN THE BAPTIST SCHOOL

Dr. W. S. Fitzpatrick addressed the regular meeting of St. John the Baptist Parent-Teacher Association last week, speaking on anaesthesia and its many uses and history. His remarks were both interesting and educational and appreciation was expressed by president Mrs. H. J. McLarnon. He was introduced by Mr. Fergus O'Connor.

Mrs. McLarnon gave a comprehensive report on the O.E.A. convention at Toronto last week, urging members to give attention to curbing the bad literature that is so prolific these days. She was thanked by the Rev. Dr. F. M. Grant.

Mrs. Frank Hurley thanked her many willing helprs for their effort in making possible such a successful Easter tea.

Mr. J. Quirk, Mr. C. Boulter and Mrs. C. Connelly, were named the nominating committee for the election to be held in May.

Parent attendance prize went to Miss Brick's room.

Refreshmens were served by Mrs. E. Woodhouse and committee.

MR. SYLVESTER LYNCH and his bride, the former Miss Shirley Ann Keogan who were married Saturday morning at the Immaculate Conception Church.—Duke Studio Photo.

Shirley Keogan Is Bride Of Sylvester Lynch

Easter lilies, tulips and carnations decorated the Immaculate Conception church for the lovely wedding on Saturday morning of Shirley Ann, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vincent W. Keogan of Hastings, to Mr. Sylvester Frederick Lynch, son of Mrs. Lynch of Peterborough and the late Frederick Lynch.

The Rev. J. Sullivan said the nuptial mass and performed the ceremony. Wedding music was played by Mrs. C. O'Donnell, organist, and Mr. Anthony DeNoble sang "On This Day" during the signing of the register.

The bride's gown was of Chantilly lace with nylon marquisette underneath. The bodice was buttoned to the waist and finished with a small lace collar and the sleeves came to fingertip points. Her veil was of silk illusion enhanced with an embroidered edge and fell to fingertip length from a tiara of seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of red roses and white carnations.

Mr. Keogan gave his daughter in marriage and she was attended by her sisters, Miss Helen Keogan as bridesmaid and Kay Keogan as flower girl.

The bridesmaid's gown of yellow nylon net over taffeta was styled with a strapless bodice and she wore a bolero and headdress of the taffeta.

Her bouquet was of mauve carnations and yellow roses. The flower girl was dressed in apple green taffeta and wore a matching headdress. She carried a nosegay of pink and white rosebuds and hyacinths.

Mr. Alex Mahoney was the groomsman and the ushers were Paul Keogan and Albert Crowley.

The reception of guests took place at the Club Aragon. The bride's mother received in a blue gabardine suit and wore a white straw hat and a corsage of red and white carnations. She was assisted by the groom's mother who wore a grey suit and a pink straw hat and her corsage was of pink and white carnations.

Leaving later on a honeymoon trip to the United States the bride wore a grey pic and pic suit, red hat, shoes and purse, and a corsage of red and white carnations.

They will live in Peterborough on their return.

3 Performances This Wednesday Of Opera Films

Centre Theatre management has made a different arrangement for this month's one-day opera feature by which it is hoped to serve a greater number of the citizens. Matinee will begin at two o'clock, making possible an early evening performance, at six o'clock, for convenience of those who have other commitments and cannot attend the eight-thirty show. Reduced prices have been set for the first two performances, but the seats will not be reserved.

Rossini's comic opera "The Barber of Seville" is the feature on this program. It stars the famous Metropolitan Opera singer Feruccio Tagliavini and included in the cast are Tito Gobbi and Nelly Corradi who have been heard in other operas shown here this season.

Miss Mildred Dilling, harpist, is one of the artists in the accompanying concert film, and she will be in the city this week visiting friends. Community concert goers enjoyed Miss Dilling's performance at the fall concert and will be anxious to see her again.

Buyers Remain Shy Despite Shop Bargains

By MURIEL NARRAWAY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON—(CP) — The slump in Britain's textile industries resulting in unemployment and falling prices has so far made little impression on consumers. The market is still experiencing buyers' resistance.

A marked tendency to purchase only essentials both in clothing and household linens became notable last fall and continues. This means idle stocks lining shelves in the big department stores and piling up in the manufacturers' warehouses.

Many stores, in an attempt to clear old stocks, are cutting prices of slow-moving goods — outside the general run of seasonal sales. Household goods, furniture, textiles and clothing carry price tags showing large reductions on the figures of a year ago.

"Nearly everything in these lines has tumbled in price," said Donald Barber, secretary of the Retail Distributors' Association. "There are literally bargains galore today."

An example is a man's shirt with two collars that last year sold for 32s. and now costs only 16s. This is one of the cheaper grades.

Bargains for Women

In furniture stores, women find that double-size spring mattresses that once cost £9 14s. 6d. now sell for £8 11s. Typical women's wear bargains include tub frocks of slightly more than £1—18s. 7d. less than last year. Cotton frocks once costing from £2 to £3 are going for 30s.

Official figures issued by the Wholesale Textile Association, in collaboration with the Bank of England, confirm the gap between sales and stocks. Wholesale stocks showed an increase of 33.9 per cent in February over those held in the same months last year. But sales for the first two months of the year showed a drop of 31.8 per cent.

Spokesmen of big department stores in London's West End agree with those in other cities that despite delectable prices and a wide variety in stock, people are not buying. Sales are, in fact, at the lowest ebb since the end of the Second World War.

Women customers and shopkeepers alike agree that the fault lies with the rising cost of living. Recent figures given by the National Savings Committee show that withdrawal from small savings accounts has reached an all-time high of more than £19,000,000 a week.

In giving these figures, Lord Mackintosh, of Halifax, chairman of the Savings Committee, said it reflects the fact that rising living costs are forcing people to dip into their accummulated savings.

Euchre Held

MARMORA, April 21. (ENS)—Marmora Chapter I.O.D.E. held a bridge and euchre party in the Sacred Heart Parisn Hall Friday evening. There were 10 tables of bridge and nine of euchre in play. Prizes were won by: euchre, Mrs. Cronkwright and Mrs. Annie Lowery, James E. Gehan; bridge, E. D. O'Connor and Miss Miriam Savage, Mrs. J. R. Reynolds. Novelty prizes went to Mr. R. G. Walsh and Mrs. F. Bobyk.

Says No Set Rule For Baby's Sleep

LONDON—(CP) — How much sleep a child needs depends on his daily habits and personality—not his age.

Professor R. S. Illingworth, of Sheffield University, said in a lecture that active children tend to sleep longer than placid ones, and that the more intelligent a child is, the less sleep it is likely to need.

If babies cry in the night, the professor said, they should not be taken to bed with the parents—that only encourages them to stay awake.

Professor Illingworth gave these other pointers:

At nine months a child ceases to be unable to avoid sleep and can stay awake for hours after he is tired out. Parents should therefore refrain from mentioning the child's refusal to sleep.

Don't snatch a child suddenly from his toys and expect him to sleep immediately. Warning should be given that bedtime is near and a joint "packing up" of toys started.

Never threaten a child with bed—it gives him the idea that bed is unpleasant.

DOROTHY DIX

Inveterate Student Hides Reluctance To Earn Living

DEAR MISS DIX: After supporting my husband for the first six years of our married life, is it unreasonable for me to ask him to take some kind of paying position, rather than continue with several more years of graduate work?

He is now 35, and has turned down several jobs in order to continue medical research. I have been caring for a baby and working full time with no help whatsoever from him. I am now at the point of complete exhaustion. However, he feels that his work comes before his family, my health, or his son's security.

How can I convince him that he has an obligation to his wife and child? I tried a separation once, hoping it would jolt him into getting a job, but he scarcely seemed to notice I was gone. During that time his only letter to me was a bill he wished me to pay for equipment. I love him still, but am afraid I am nothing to him but a "meal ticket".

T. A. I.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Your husband is, to put it bluntly, scared stiff to face the practical conditions of a modern working world, and is taking refuge in the laboratory. Here, in his medical holy of holies, he is safe from intrusion, safe from responsibility. He doesn't have to battle crowds each morning to get on a bus, or at noontime to grab a meal in a crowded restaurant. No clock-punching, no salary to collect. All that work it left to you, while hubby, in the guise of a struggling scientist searching for formulae that will enrich the world, lives his placid existence surrounded by test tubes and books.

He's Immature

The reason for his attitude is, of course, that he never grew up. Even though he may be a brilliant scientist — though I strongly doubt it—he retains the need for protection characteristic of very young children. He must have been aware of this weakness (and so, I think, must you) before he married. His marriage, therefore, was a deliberate, purposeful project to get, as you put it, a "meal ticket".

If, by chance, his work is of major importance, he would find no difficulty in getting assistance in his research from a college, hospital, or scientific organization. If you want to ascertain the value of his present experimentation, consult someone with whom he works.

For a man of 35 who has never earned a nickel in his life to undertake the role of breadwinner will now be a formidable task. Certainly he must do it if you are to continue as any sort of a family. Withdrawing your support entirely—even to the refusal to pay equipment bills—is about the only way to bring him to his sense. You needn't go to the extent of separation to do it, simply announce that you are too ill to continue working outside as well as inside the home. Your nerves have reached a point where they will crack if you don't get relief from the double tension, and hubby must face the fact that his schooldays are over, and he is now grown up.

There is no question but that many people honestly have so high a regard for learning for its own sake that they can never be happy unless their education is constantly continued. It is from such people that we recruit our splendid teachers. By transmitting their own desire for knowledge to others, they enrich both themselves and their students. So with your husband. If his desire for learning is as great as he claims, let him transfer some of his energy to the teaching profession.

DEAR MISS DIX: I'm a young girl of 21 and for a year have been going with a man eight years my senior. We had gone out together quite a while when I discovered he was separated from his wife—not divorced. My mother advised me to stop seeing him, but didn't actually forbid me to go with him. She talked with him and he promised to go about getting his divorce. For a while everything went well, then he began to take me for granted, breaking dates at the last minute, being late and things like that. He still insists, however that he loves me. My mother nags continually about him, saying I'm very foolish to waste time on him.

BETTYE L.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Surely you can see for yourself, without mom's prompting, that there is no sincerity in this man at all! His deception at the beginning of your friendship, his postponement of divorce action, now his unchivalrous treatment of you, all add up to a most insecure future. Your mother should have taken a firmer action in the beginning to end the friendship, and I urge you to end it now and save yourself from certain heartbreak.

Springville W.M.S.

SPRINGVILLE, April 21—The April meeting of Springville WMS was held at the home of Mrs. Gordon McIntosh. There was an attendance of 21 ladies.

Mrs. Owen Murray, president, opened the meeting with prayer. Mrs. Cullin's invitation to hold the May meeting at her home was accepted. Mrs. Cecil Neals will be in charge of the program. It was announced that Mrs. A. R. Mathews of Peterborough would be guest speaker.

Mrs. W. Lytle presented the Chapters of Study Book dealing with Marine, Missions and Amalgamation and readjustment work of United Church. She closed by saying "a nation is as strong as its spiritual foundation. Without service loyalty and sacrifice we will have no church development or national security."

Mrs. F. Stevens, program convenor, introduced Mrs. Ritchie of Salvation Army, who led the ladies in singing of hymns accompanied by the guitar played by Mrs. Ritchie. Scripture was read by Mrs. Clifford Johnston. Mrs. Parnall of S.A. led in prayer. Mrs. Ritchie, guest speaker addressed the gathering choosing as her text "First they gave their own selves unto the Lord."

Mrs. Dunford moved a vote of thanks to Mrs. Ritchie and Mrs. Parnell; and also to the hostess. The meeting closed and a social hour was enjoyed.

Norwood Bride-To-Be

HAVELOCK, April 21 (ENS)—The home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Chase was the scene of a surprise party Friday evening when Miss Beulah Ellis whose marriage to Lawrence Gerow will take place on May 3, was honored with a miscellaneous shower by her schoolmates. Miss Beulah Chase and Miss Elva Gerow were the hostesses for the event.

The guest of honor was seated under an arch decorated with pink and white streamers and centred with a cluster of balloons from which she was given a shower of confetti. The gifts which were attractively arranged in a miniature sailboat were presented by the hostesses.

Miss Edith Thompson and Mrs. H. Gerow were the winners of the contests. Lunch was served by the hostesses.

Those who attended were: Misses Lois McKay, Virginia Ellis, Betty Post, Edith Thompson, Barbara Van Steenburgh, Helen Robinson, Lois Wilde, Mrs. F. Ellis, Mrs. H. Gerow.

Those who were unable to attend but sent gifts were Misses Eleanor Scott, Audrey Newell, Shirley Seabrook, Nancy Curtis, Barbara Gerow.

Doctor Says Feeble Minds Are Curable

By SIDNEY FEINGOLD

COLUMBUS, O., April 21—(AP)—Dr. Lise Gellner, a pleasant-faced woman doctor from London, is convinced feeble-mindedness can be cured. She's been given the chance to work out her ideas in the United States.

The English doctor, awarded a Fellowship for an indefinite appointment at the Columbus state school, began her studies of mentally handicapped children at the institution in February.

Dr. Gellner's theory is that a defect of the brain need not produce a defect of the mind. She says she already has been successful in teaching "hopeless" mental deficiencients to read and write.

Dr. Gellner began her specialized study of mental retardation five years ago, after practising medicine for 25 years. The youngest of her three children — 22-year-old Michael—was born mentally defective.

Doctors told her Michael could not be educated, but she refused to accept their verdict.

"I knew that my son, in spite of many limitations, had also a number of abilities," Dr. Gellner explained.

Specialists insisted that in feeble-minded children "the potentialities of mental growth have been stunted or destroyed . . . and it is no use to attempt the impossible."

But Dr. Gellner said she found the impossible possible.

Taught Son

"My son, despite his handicaps, made very definite advancements," she explained. "I taught him in a manner in which one would teach a blind child. I based my teaching on my theory.

"Now he can type and do all the things that his personal well-being requires."

The assumption made in all previous medical views on the cause of mental deficiency has been that the trouble, or "lesion," was in the cerebral cortex. The generally accepted interpretation has been that this is due to some inborn failure to develop.

Dr. Gellner says that the cortex, like other parts of the human body, develops only when it is stimulated to develop; that the capacity for higher mental activities is intact in mentally retarded persons, but the messages necessary for these functions can't get through. The cortex fails to develop because of long disuse.

The London specialist stresses that usually it is not the simple, individual senses, such as hearing and seeing, that the block interferes with, but the tying together of these senses that is lost.

Careful testing of a mentally retarded child may reveil the presence of some particular trouble in tying together nerve impulses, Dr. Gellner adds, and further testing will almost always reveal some normally unused pathway to the main centre of the brain which still is open. By teaching the child through such senses she hopes to develop intelligence which otherwise would never appear.

One noted specialist in the study of the brain has remarked of Dr. Gellner's work: "The promise which lies in her theory is incalculable."

What's Right?

You are describing an unmarried woman of middle-age.

WRONG: Call her an old-maid".

RIGHT: Refer to her as "unmarried".

FUNNY BUSINESS -- By Hershberger

"He brought him home from the club yesterday to caddy!"

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Reducers, There Is Hope On Three Meals A Day

Read the following quote, reducers, and weep, then dry your tears, for there is still hope.

". . . under no circumstances should a person on a reducing regime be allowed to eat his caloric requirements in less than 3 meals a day . . . (he may) grow fat on 1 meal per day; (can) grow thin on 3 or 4 meals per day, These measures are effective in managing (obese) patients."

I quote from an address given to the Dietetic Section of the Ontario Hospital Association by a doctor specializing in internal medicine whom many of you know by reputation.

Have you been vainly martyrizing yourself by skimping on breakfast and lunch then wading into dinner like a thresher? — with the hope that the scales would go down. This eminent doctor says it sounds good but won't work.

In a nutshell here is what he says you should do if you seriously want to lose weight: Eat 3 meals—medium-sized and bulky (see below) per day, high in protein (meat, eggs, cheese, fish, fowl—see below) and eat them slowly.

The "bulk" referred to will come from fruit and vegetables, most of them raw, and whole wheat bread, 4½-inch slices of which provide 300 calories per day, but are essential for whole wheat bread contains minerals and vitamins and bulk that are difficult to assemble in such ideal form in any other food. But it is not your salvation. Your hunger can be appeased with raw fruits and vegetables.

High in Protein: Protein foods produce an acid ash. By a complicated chemical process in the body this protein helps eliminate the sodium. Sodium (salt) is retained in the tissues, and it must have large amounts of water to hold it. So to overcome this mysterious weight-increasing factor, (1) eat meats or eggs or cheese or fish at every one of your 3 medium-sized meals per day. (2) reduce your salt consumption to a minimum; (3) increase water consumption to augment elimination of sodium. Drink at least 1 pint of skim or buttermilk per day.

Here is a sample of 3 medium-sized meals for 1 day that will help you chew your way to a slim figure:

BREAKFAST: 1 grapefruit, 160 cal.; 1 egg (not cooked in butter or fat) 66 cal.; 2 ½-inch slices whole wheat bread, 1 teaspoon butter, 180 cal.; 8 oz. cafe au lait (4 oz. hot milk, 4 oz. strong coffee) 42 cal. (448 cal.)

LUNCH: Homemade Cream Tomato Soup, 6 oz. 160 cal.; salmon sandwich on whole wheat, leaf lettuce, 1 teaspoon mayonnaise, 233 cal.; 1 ripe banana, 100 cal.; 8-oz. glass skim milk, 84 cal.; (577 cal.)

DINNER: 4-oz. slice broiled steak or roast beef, 300 cal.; ½ cup each steamed spinach, diced beets, 20 and 50 cal.; 1 teaspoon butter, 33 cal.; ¼ head lettuce, two tablespoons cottage cheese, 45 cal.; 1 orange, 56 cal.; 1 cup clear coffee, 0 col.; (504 cal.).

Those meals add up to 1,524 calories. So you may have a glass of tomato juice and a rye wafer with butter on, or an orange or an apple and a glass of skim or buttermilk at 4 p.m. or before bedtime, to bring your total calories for the day around 1,700.

But please do not adopt this strict diet without first consulting your doctor about it.

Women's Hats Never Die

LONDON—(CP)—A style writer for a London daily claims to have solved the mystery of what happens to women's old hats.

Here's her report of a typical exchange in her private investigations.

"What do you do with your old hats?"

"I remodel them," replied the party being canvassed.

"What happens then?"

"I keep them until the original style comes back and return them to their old shape."

"And then"—"Well, I put them back in the cupboard and after about three years get them out and laugh at their silly shape."

"And then you get rid of them?"

"Oh, no, I put them back again."

6—In Memoriam

ARMSTRONG—In loving memory of my dear brother, Jimmy, who died suddenly April 21, 1947.
Gone, dear brother, gone forever,
How we miss your smiling face,
But you left us to remember,
None on earth can take your place.
—Dearly loved and sadly missed by sister Kay and Justin.

ARMSTRONG—In loving memory of our dear little son, Jimmy, who passed away suddenly April 21, 1947.
Beautiful memories of one so dear,
We cherish still with love sincere,
A day that comes with sad regret,
And one that we will never forget.
—Sadly missed and lovingly remembered by Mom and Dad.

ARMSTRONG—In loving memory of my dear brother, Jimmy, who died suddenly April 21, 1947.
Years roll by but memories stay,
As near and dear as yesterday.
—Sadly missed by sister Frances, Chum and family.

ARMSTRONG—In loving memory of our dear little friend, Jimmy, who passed away suddenly April 21, 1947.
O happy hours we once enjoyed,
How sweet their memory still.
—Ever remembered by Mr. and Mrs. Weir and Phil.

ARMSTRONG—In loving memory of my dear brother Jimmy, who died suddenly April 21, 1947.
In our hearts your memory lingers,
Always tender, fond and true.
There is not a day, dear brother,
I do not think of you.
—Sadly missed by sister Gwyenth and Ben.

BURNHAM—In loving memory of Sgt. J. F. Burnham (Jake), who died at Prince George, nine years ago, April 21, 1943.
Time takes away the edge of grief,
But memory turns back every leaf.
—Lovingly remembered by Mother, Dad and family.

SHEWARD—In loving memory of a dear father, Alfred Sheward, who passed away April 21, 1932.
The depth of sorrow we cannot tell
Of the loss of one we loved so well.
And while he sleeps a peaceful sleep
His memory we shall always keep.

Churchill At Work

LONDON, April 21 (Reuters)—Prime Minister Churchill, recovering from a heavy chest cold, returned to his desk at 10 Downing Street today. The Premier drove to London from his country home in Kent, where he has been recuperating.

Caused Disturbance

Aloysius Peter Desbarbieux, 26, 468 Reid St., pleaded guilty to causing a disturbance in a public place and was fined $10 and $2.50 costs in police court today.

Not Driving Court Finds, Man Acquitted

Defence evidence that the accused was not driving the car he was alleged to have been driving while intoxicated secured an acquittal for John DeCarlo, 39, 100 Park St. South, on a drunk driving charge today.

In view of the Crown evidence that DeCarlo was somewhat intoxicated and confused when he was arrested on Arpil 11, Magistrate Philp said he was accepting the defence evidence that DeCarlo was not driving the car at the time.

DeCarlo said he had had two glasses of a "powerful" homemade wine a short time before an accident at Parnell Ave. and Park St., but he denied he was driving the car when it ran over the curb in making a left hand turn at the intersection.

It came to rest on a stump and a tow truck was required to move it.

Forced To Drive Around

Glen Heath said he was driving the car at the time of the accident and explained that he was unable to make the turn because of a truck which he said was on the wrong side of the road and forced him to swing too wide, in order to avoid an accident.

Heath said he went into the house of John Byers at 27 Park St. South to phone a tow truck. He said he stayed in the Byers house more than an hour and when he returned both DeCarlo and the car were gone.

After Heath testified, Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw asked for an hour adjournment until Byers could be contacted. Then, when the case was resumed, Trevor Clarke, who defended DeCarlo, was granted permission to call Raymond Armitage, 78 Park St., who said he saw the car stopped on the stump and Heath getting out of the driver's seat.

Mr. Bradshaw called Byers in reply and Byers said Heath was only in the house phoning about 10 or 15 minutes. He said the police came after Heath left. Both Constables Grant Gillespie and William G. Scott said DeCarlo told them he was driving the car when it ran into the stump but neither officer mentioned Heath being at the scene.

Arguing that the defence evidence was "not to be believed," Mr. Bradshaw urged Magistrate Philp to "discredit it entirely." Mr. Clarke asked for an acquittal because there was no evidence to refute Heath's and CeCarlo's claims that Heath was driving the car.

Heart Condition? Fined As Drunk

A 58-year-old Ottawa man, Stephen Morel, claimed it was a heart condition which made him appear drunk when he was arrested Sunday.

"I could not get drunk very well on Sunday," he told Magistrate W. R. Philp and added that he draws a total disability war pension for a heart ailment.

Magistrate Philp told Morel it was his choice whether he pleaded guilty or not guilty and crown attorney John A. Bradshaw offered him an adjournment until he could get "witnesses."

Morel replied he was a stranger in town and had no witnesses. "There is no use prolonging it," Morel said dejectedly, "I'll plead guilty and get it over with."

He was fined the usual $10 and $2.50 costs or ten days.

Obituary

WILLIAM JOHN ROBSON

A descendant of early Presbyterian pioneers in the Peterborough district, William John Robson, 426 London St., died Saturday in the Civic hospital after a short illness. He was the son of the late Andrew Robson and Pattie Ann Scott.

During his 35 years as owner of the Robson Cartage business, Mr. Robson became well known throughout the city. In recent years his sons have assisted him.

Mr. Robson attended Murray St. Baptist church and was a member of the I.O.O.F. No. 111.

He is survived by his wife, the former Violet Wheeler, three sons Jack, Robert and Kenneth and a sister, Mrs. Ethel Dunford, all of Peterborough.

The body is resting at the family residence until Tuesday, then to Belleghem's funeral chapel for service at 2 p.m., the Rev. Ivan C. Morgan, Murray St. church, officiating. Burial will be at Little Lake cemetery.

2,000 Casualties

ROME, April 21 (AP)—Senator Vincenzo Menghi said Sunday that about 2,000 Italian children lost their lives or suffered mutiliation while playing with unexploded bombs in 1951.

Predict Philip To Change Caste System At Palace

LONDON, April 21 — (AP) — The Sunday Pictorial said Sunday the Duke of Edinburgh plans a palace upheaval to reform a servant caste system in Buckingham Palace and to cut costs and red tape of Royal court life.

The servant problem was reported to be a case of servants serving servants—holding on to a system of gentleman's gentleman and lady's lady—and eating too too much on the house.

The London tabloid says the Queen welcomes her husband's tactful advice on the reforms. "He wants to bring her closer to her people," the Pictorial says.

"The reported reforms apparently would arise from investigations by the administrative chief of the staff of Clarence House, home of the Queen and the Duke. He is Lt.-Gen. Sir Frederick A. M. Browning, an old crony of the Duke's uncle and boyhood guardian, Earl Mountbatten.

Browning served as Admiral Mountbatten's military chief of staff in the Second World War when Mountbatten was Supreme Allied Commander, Southeast Asia. Browning is the husband of novelist Daphne du Maurier.

Expect Big Change

Things are due for a big change about June when the Royal couple moves into Buckingham Palace, the newspaper says. It adds that the navy-trained young Duke was surprise to find that only two dozen of a household staff of 230 actually look after the Royal family.

"Most of the remainder," it says, "wait on other members of the house, minor officials—and the senior servants themselves. Upper servants are served by those of middle rank; those of middle rank by lower grades.

"Such are the class distinctions," the Pictorial adds, "that five separate dining rooms are maintained so that various ranks do not mix at mealtime."

At Windsor Castle, the Royal family's hereditary home, the Duke was "surprised" to find 120 minor officials and servants hired to look after the Royal family of six, the Pictorial says.

"Already," it says, "he has called for exact reports on the duties of all officials and servants. He is already examining details of court procedure to see if its inroads into the private life of the Royal family can in any way be curtailed."

The Pictorial says "Philip realizes the importance of removing the artificial barriers between the Queen and her people. He believes it essential that red tape and archaic protocol ... should be slashed ..."

Three Youths Remanded On $2,000 Bail

Three Oshawa youths charged with breaking and entering Duffus Motors on April 14 were remanded on $2,000 bail until April 28 when they appeared in police court today.

William Rudyk, 19, 405 Oliver St., Oshawa, was arrested by Constable Gerald Emmons as he tried to escape from a door at the south-west corner of the garage on Water St.

Joseph Rzamy, 20, and John F. Meagher, 20, both of 105 Stacey Ave., Oshawa, stopped by a provincial police cruiser west of Welcome on Highway 2, a short time after Rudyk was arrested.

Rzamy and Meagher were brought back to Peterborough and later were also charged with breaking and entering the garage.

Two Attempts

After Rudyk was arrested, it was discovered that two attempts had been made to blow the office safe, with a high explosive. Rudyk had a bottle containing a mixture of nitric and sulphuric acid when Constable Emmons took it away from him at gunpoint.

George Boychyn, of Oshawa, appeared for Rzamy and Meagher. At first, Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw asked that bail be denied for Rzamy. Mr. Boychyn said he presumed Mr. Bradshaw was refusing bail because Rzamy is under bond on another charge in Oshawa.

"He has not been convicted of the charge and that is not sufficient grounds for refusing bail," argued Mr. Boychyn.

Magistrate W. R. Philp agreed with Mr. Boychyn and Mr. Bradshaw then said he would be satisfied with the same bail as set for Rudyk and Meagher.

Rudyk's solicitor was late in arriving and Mr. Boychyn also asked that his bail be fixed at the same time as the other two were being set.

Lonely For Wife, Risks Life In Rowboat On Atlantic Ocean

HALIFAX, April 21— (CP). — Norman McKiegan, a Sable Island radio operator, quit his job last week and impatiently started to row across 125 miles of the North Atlantic to home.

Picked up by a fishing vessel after getting 35 miles from the dreaded sandpit known as the Graveyard of the Atlantic, McKiegan was transferred to a government icebreaker and brought to Halifax Sunday.

McKiegan himself was nonplussed by the feat, one which Transport Department officials bluntly said could have cost him his life it it had not been for two nights of mild weather.

Lonely for his wife and five children, McKiegan set out with only a makeshift sail, a set of oars and his muscles for power.

Officially, he had resigned his job and his resignation had been accepted.

But the Transport Department had told him that no boat was available to bring him to shore immediately.

Could Not Wait

McKiegan although due to come off the island on April 30, was impatient. He wanted to see his wife before she enters hospital shortly.

By radio he heard a fleet of fishing trawlers speaking to each other and to shore headquarters from the banks off Sable Island, due east of Halifax.

On the clear and mild Thursday night he saw the bobbing lights of the craft twinkling in the distance. He climbed into his dory and pushed through the pounding surf. Early Friday morning he shouted "Ahoy" to the trawler Cape Lahave and asked the startled lookout if the ship was headed for Halifax.

"Not for several days," was the reply, so McKiegan, still impatient, bent his oars once again toward the mainland.

After 46 hours in the open boat he hailed the Cape Aghulas.

The RCAF Search and Rescue centre had a plane from Greenwood, N.S., over the area and the federal ice-breaker Edward Cornwallis was ordered to sea from Louisburg, N.S.

The Cornwallis picked McKiegan off the Aghulas and brought him to Halifax.

Transport Department officials, although pleased he had come through without harm, were peeved.

"Frankly," said one, "it was a silly thing to do and he shouldn't have done it."

"He's only lucky the weather was mild Thursday and Friday nights. Otherwise he would have perished, there's no doubt about it."

Department officials are still wondering whether he should be disciplined.

As an employee of the department, even though his resignation had been accepted, he was under the supervision of the island superintendent.

But department officials say he didn't ask permission to leave—at least not in the manner he did—and if he had, would have been refused.

NUNS SPONSOR BOXING—Sister John Lawrence puts the finishing touches to a dressing gown—modelled by seven-year-old Willie Napanee—for a unique boxing tournament, held in Vancouver during the week-end. Sponsors of the Buckskin Gloves, the two-day Indian boxing championships of the Pacific Northwest, had difficulty raising $50 deposit for the auditorium where the fights were to be held. The Sisters of the Child Jesus, an order of nuns in suburban North Vancouver, put up the money and are lending support to the venture.

Talk On Eisenhower Feature Of Meeting

SPRINGVILLE, April 21 (ENS) The Young Adult Group of the Springville and Fairmount Churches had a meeting Wednesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Vico.

Mr. and Mrs. Manson Cathcart arranged an impressive Easter worship service. Then Miss Mildred Brown gave a talk on her work in dealing with wards of the Training School.

One of the features of the recreation period for the evening was an art gallery contest.

Mrs. Cecil Neals, in her current event period, gave a timely talk on the life of General Dwight Eisenhower.

Plans were made for an open meeting to be held at Springville Church on May 21, when Miss Hazel Wilson, a well-known Y.W.C.A. worker, will tell of her trip to the Y.W.C.A. Convention in Europe two years ago.

This enterprising group of young people presented the church two years ago with 20 new hymnaries and just recently purchased a new communion tray and the glasses that go with it. The new tray was used for the first time at the sacrament service in Springville Church on Good Friday.

Mrs. Percy Johnston and Mrs. Clifford Johnston, with the hostess, Mrs. Bert Visco, were the lunch committee for the evening. Mrs. Raymond Kelk and Miss Jean Hanbidge also assisted in serving refreshments.

Convinced Russians Want Korean Peace

WASHINGTON, April 21 (AP) —A. Wilfred May said today a visit to Moscow convinced him the Russians want peace in Korea and are trying to restrain Chinese Communists who, "drunk with power," are delaying a truce.

May went to Russia to report on the recent Moscow economic conference. He said the visit changed his former ideas about the possibility of war and he now believes the Russian people are scared of the United States and Russia cannot stand a war.

May, executive editor of the New York Commercial and Financial Chronicle, is a former foreign correspondent, a one-time economic expert with the treasury department, and an author of many books.

Hold Two Men

THETFORD MINES, Que., April 21 — (CP) — Police Sunday said they are holding two young men in connection with the death Friday of an 18-year-old school teacher. Police said the girl had been criminally attacked earlier in the day and died later in hospital. They said she named her assailants before she died. Neither her name nor that of her alleged assailants was released.

Fire Destroys Truck 4 Passengers Unhurt

BURLINGTON, April 21 (CP) —A large transport truck was destroyed by fire and four passengers in a Quebec car narrowly escaped injury in an accident on the Queen Elizabeth Way early today.

Traffic was tied up for more than an hour when the burning trailer sprawled across the highway on its side, packages and debris scattered about.

The car driver was Emil Trut, of Temiskaming, Que. His passengers were his wife, his brother, Harry Trut, and John Bernadski, all of Temiskaming.

Eisenhower In Bed With Heavy Cold

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS ALLIED POWERS IN EUROPE, April 21—(AP)— A heavy head and throat cold will keep Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower in bed for another day. Informants said his temperature has dropped to normal but another day of rest is needed to lick an "upper respiratory infection." The general was ordered to bed by his doctor last Saturday.

Jerry Russell

WARKWORTH, April 21 — (ENS) — Funeral service for seven-months - old Jerry Alvin Russell, who died Thursday in a Peterborough hospital, was held Saturday in Warkorth Presbyterian Church. The Rev. J. M. Ritchie officiated.

The church service followed a private service at the home of his parents, Charles Russell and Jean Seitz.

Pallbearers were Allan Birney, Ronnie Covert, Jim Ellis, and William Honey. Flower bearers were Larry Buchanan, Sammy and Tommy Cornelius, Wayne Stoddart, Sheldon Covert, Donald and Charles Honey.

Burial was in Warkworth Cemetery.

Train Derailed

JASPER, Alta., April 21 (CP)— One crew member was killed and three were injured Saturday when a Canadian National Railway Transcontinental passenger train was derailed by a washout 50 miles west of here. Fireman D. C. Harris of Jasper was killed when the engine, tender and three express cars plunged down an embankment.

Strengthen 6 Bridges

ARGYLL, Scotland, April 21— (Reuters)—Six bridges had to be specially strengthened Sunday when the 106-ton pleasure steamer Countess of Bradalbane made a 20-mile excursion by road. After 50 years of ferrying vacationers around Inland Loch Awe, she is to be rebuilt to cruise on the River Clyde. The 91-foot ship was hauled by two heavy-duty tractors.

HAVELOCK, April 21 (ENS)— Prize winners at the weekly euchre party sponsored by the Ladies' Auxiliary to Branch 389 Havelock-Belmont Legion were: first, Mrs. Grace Brown; second, Mrs. Winnifred Simpson; third, Mrs. M. Williams. Eight tables were played and the prizes were donated by Mrs. Lorne Hornsby and Mrs. Henry Gerow.

Brampton Team Leaving O.L.A.

TORONTO, April 21 — (CP)— Brampton Excelsiors have withdrawn from senior competition in the Ontario Lacross Association Jim Burrows, president of the club announced Sunday night.

Reports that Excelsiors, one of the oldest clubs in Canada, were considering dropping out of the league circulated the O. L. A. annual meeting here last weekend. No Brampton delegates attended the meeting.

A shortage of Brampton players of senior calibre and not enough money for mass importations were given by Burrows as the reasons for Excelsiors' withdrawal. The club, which celebrated its 80th anniversary last year, will field a junior team this year.

The O. L. A. senior loop will retains its eight-team make-up, Owen Sound Crescents — 1950 Mann cup winners— will compete again this season after a year's inactivity.

Mrs. Henry Little Heads Hall's Glen W.I.

Mrs. Henry Little was welcomed again for the fifth time in succession as president of the Hall's Glen Women's Institute, at the meeting held in the Orange Hall Wednesday.

Aussies Plan To Rebuild Wartime Base

By BRIAN CROZIER

MELBOURNE, April 21—(Reuters)—Australia is pushing ahead with long-term plans to turn Manus Island into a bastion guarding the northern approaches to the Australian continent.

In 1944 the United States built a $224,000,000 naval and air base on Manus, one of the main islands in the Australian-mandated admiralty group about 200 miles north of New Guinea.

After the war ended in the Pacific, the then Labor government refused U.S. forces the uses of Manus as a base. One of the arguments was that Australia could not tolerate any alienation of her territory.

The U.S. then shifted its Pacific defence interests further north, by-passing Manus.

Today Australian defence officials believe that should the U.S. and Australia ever again be involved in war in the Pacific, Manus would be used as a joint base for operations.

October William McMahon, air and navy minister, announced that the government was pushing ahead as quickly as possible to develop the air and naval bases on Manus and would do her utmost to encourage the U.S. to use them.

A party of members of parliament plans to fly there this month to see how well the island is being put back into "operational efficiency."

When the Australian Navy took over the base in 1949 they found a desolate junk heap overgrown by the jungle.

Ships could not even tie up because the wharves at Lorengau, the port area, were rotten. All around were rusty junk heaps up to 30 feet high. Disused hangars and the wreckage of cranes and other machinery completed the picture.

The little that Australia found was of restricted value, even as salvage. In the intervening years, Chinese Nationalists, New Zealanders and Indonesians had taken their pick of what the Americans left behind.

Two Big Debates Face Commons

OTTAWA, April 21 — (CP) — Members of the Commons return today from the Easter recess and will start almost immediately to debate two major controversial matters.

The first day of their return will be devoted to debate on registration in the Commons on the basis of the 1951 census. Prime Minister St. Laurent will conclude a speech started shortly before the Chamber adjourned April 9.

If the debate is not concluded in one day, it will be adjourned to permit members to start a debate Tuesday on the budget, presented April 8 by Finance Minister Abbott. J. M. MacDonnell (P.C., Toronto-Greenwood), Chief financial critic for the opposiiton, will be lead-off man in that debate.

The Senate adjourned April 3 to April 29.

Otonabee Budget Reaches All-Time High Of $161,862

Otonabee's budget this year is a record $161,862.05—$23,000 more than in 1951.

The tax roll is also at a record high—$133,236. Other receipts such as licences, fees and subsidies will bring revenue up to the required amount of $161,862.

County rates are up $11,322.64. This doesn't include the annual payment on Norwood High School debentures which this year is $4,246.30. The Norwood High School Area, so far as Otonabee is concerned, begins at the eastern half of Concession 5 and continues to the Asphodel boundary.

Residents within the Norwood High School Area will be levied for $1,226.92 for high school debentures. The balance of the debenture payment will be paid by the Department of Education in its grant on the new high school.

Local Rates Reduced

Township rates have been reduced from 13.5 mills in 1951 to 11.6 mills this year. The township general rate has been reduced from 6.31 mills to 5.2 mills.

The Peterborough High School Area and the Norwood High School Area both show an increase in operational costs, though the Peterborough rate has decreased because of an increased assessment.

Increased operational costs, as well as a deficit from other years, have increased public school costs in the Otonabee School Area by more than $11,000.

The union school, S.S. No. 17 in Douro School Area No. 2, shows an $800 increase; the other schools vary—some more, some less.

Street Lights In Keene

A new levy of 5.4 mills is being made for the street lights in Keene village. Only those residents of the township living in Keene will pay.

A summary of the total tax bill of $133,236 follows: high school costs $21,544, public school costs $33,119, separate schools $2,416, county levy $45,430, township levy $26,127, Keene street lights $555, debenture payment on the Norwood High School $1,226, debenture payment on the Otonabee School Area $2,819.

A comparison in county rates with 1951 follows, the 1952 rate being listed first:

County rates general 7.8 and 5.34.
Roads 8.8 and 6.92.
Bridges .45 and .58.
Civic Hospital deb. .77 and .94.
Chemong Causeway deb. .58 and .70.
Peterborough hospitals 1.8 and 2.21.
Total—20.2 mills in 1952 and 16.69 mills in 1951.

A comparison in township rates with 1951 follows, the 1952 rate being listed first:

Township rates general 2.96 and 4.9.
Roads and bridges 8.64 and 8.6.
Total—11.6 in 1952 and 13.5 in 1951.

The general school rate is 5.2 this year, compared with 6.31 last year.

Other rates (1952 and 1951 figures listed, respectively):

Norwood High School (maintenance) 6.3 and 3.69; debentures 2.7 (new).
Otonabee School Area 11.2 and 5.75; debentures 1.79 and 1.5.
Asphodel School Area 1.5 and 1.5.
Douro School Area No. 1, 5.1 and 5.0.
Douro School Area No. 2, 17.1 and 9.37.
Keene street lights 5.4 (new).
No. 8 Separate School 12.0 and 14.0.
No. 17 Separate School 18. and 11.
Peterborough High School 10.5 and 10.73.

Effort To Keep Peace Born From Experience

ST. CATHARINES, April 21 — (CP).— The present international co-operative effort to preserve peace has been born out of the bitter experience of tragic losses in previous wars, Defence Minister Claxton said Saturday night.

He was addressing the annual St. Julien Day banquet. It marks the Battle of St. Julien in the First World War in which the 10th Battery of the Royal Canadian Artillery of St. Catharines won honor in the face of the first German poison gas attack April 22, 1915.

British Calm, Chinese Jittery In Strategic British Colony

By BILL BOSS,
Canadian Press Staff Writer

HONG KONG, April 21—(CP)—This tiny British colony is a mixture of calm and jitters.

The British side is quiet. It has an open mind about the possibilities but on the whole doesn't think "they will come." "They" of course, are the Chinese Reds.

The Chinese population is jittery. Many are refugees from the Communist mainland and Hong Kong is their last haven—the end of the line. They fear a Communist march onto the colony, a withdrawal of British and other foreign elements, and their own abandonment to their enemies.

There are 2,500,000 persons here, about 20,000 of them not Asiatic. The place is bulging at the seams. Its pre-war population was 800,000. Public utilities, especially water supply, are inadequate. The influx has been mainly from Communist China.

The Colonial government tends to discount the possibility of an outright red attack but is alive to the likelihood of disruptions from within.

Last March 1 a Communist riot was resolutely suppressed by the Colony's admirably-disciplined police force. Although the Communists are expected to have another try, they are believed to be persuaded that they can hope to gain nothing by such tactics.

The March 1 incident is considered by the government to have reassured the people of its ability to keep order and conversations with private Chinese confirm that view.

The official line is that even if Hong Kong were attacked it could be defended, though it fell to the Japanese in 1941. However, one look at the terrain—specially after the experience of Korea—convinces me that the troops available could not carry out more than a delaying action. The garrison comprises two-thirds of a British division and a reserve battalion recruited in the colony.

Hong Kong's Achilles' heel is water. It is dependent on rain, stored in its reservoir. Enemy action could empty or pollute the reservoir quickly.

The Army Views

Army officers say the Communists will not attack "because they know Hong Kong would be rendered useless to them afterward by bombing."

The fact is that Hong Kong's only significance to the Chinese Communists is that it is a western outpost in their continent. The value of possessing it would be not in material or strategic gain but in denying it to the west.

Hong Kong lives on its trade with the mainland. The bulk of its food comes from Communist China. Strangle that trade and you kill the colony.

Cynics here say United States foreign policy concerning Communist China is inconsistent and at the expense of Hong Kong.

They say Japan is allowed to trade with the Chinese "because the Americans concede their economy demands it." So does Hong Kong's but the colony gets no concession.

Trade with China has dried to a trickle because of the embargo. The colony has a sizable textile industry but its mills cannot import raw cotton from the United States while the Japanese can.

Not only are the Japanese trading with the Chinese Communists and competing with Britain in the world market, they are also undercutting Hong Kong manufacturers right in the colony by 25 per cent.

Nonetheless, by seeking out new markets in southeast Asia and the Pacific and by diversifying her own industry, Hong Kong has maintained her trade at higher-than-pre-war levels.

Huge Atomic Bomb Blast Jolts People At 10 Miles

Mutinous Prisoners Fight Each Other, Still Holding Out

JACKSON, Mich., April 22. (AP)—Mutinous prisoners, angry and tired, staged a bloody battle in their besieged cell block today after a dispute over what to do with 11 Southern Michigan Prison guards they hold as hostages. Two of the prisoners were stabbed and beaten badly in the melee which ended when their bloody bodies were tossed out of the cell block by other convicts. The civil war among the 179 mutineers, central figures in the outbreak that brought death to one convict and $2,000,000 damage to the huge Southern Michigan Prison, came as negotiations were under way for a truce in the prison outbreak, which has been going on for three days.

The mutineers, in tense parleys with prison officials, had indicated a desire to barter the lives of the 11 guards they held as hostages in return for promises of no-punishment for their part in the rioting and improved conditions at the prison.

More Trouble

Even as some 600 state police and prison guards stood watch over the fire-marked prison, squads of state police were rushed to another state institution—the Ionia Reformatory—on reports of trouble among its 1,300 inmates.

First reports said the Ionia inmates began smashing windows after staging noisy demonstrations. Officials said the situation there was "very tense."

With practically all available state police on duty at the Southern Michigan prison where nearly 5,000 men are imprisoned, officials expressed fears that the rash of prison disorders might strike at some other state institution.

The squabbles at Southern Michigan came as officials were deciding how far they could go in meeting the prisoners' demands in return for the release of the prison-guard hostages.

Watchful Waiting

The prison attitude was one of watchful waiting for an afternoon prison radio broadcast to be made by Russel Jarbo, one of the ringleaders of the mutiny. He agreed today to urge the other prisoners in the huge prison to stop their mutiny.

Then fighting flared up. The two wounded men were dragged out of the cell block and left lying outside.

Jarbo will speak over the prison radio in an effort to calm the prisoners, whose rampage caused an estimated $2,000,000 damage at the prison.

U.K. Statesman Cripps Dies, Ill Long Time

ZURICH, Switzerland, April 22 (CP).—Sir Stafford Cripps, 62, elder statesman who mapped India's road to independence and planned Britain's postwar policy for economic recovery, died Monday night.

The end came in a Zurich clinic, after years of physical suffering and many months of acute illness.

The wealthy lawyer, who had fought most of his life against bad health and for social reform, died at 11 p.m. at a clinic here.

With him was Lady Cripps, whose devotion and care of her husband were his principal strength in recent years. In three days he would have been 63.

The gaunt six-footer had been in a hospital bed here for four months under treatment for a spinal infection called spondylitis. The infection was discovered late in 1950 when he came to Zurich for treatment for an intestinal complaint.

Suffered Relapse

For six months last year he was incased in a plaster cast. He returned to Britain last October, apparently better, but suffered a relapse late in the year and returned to the clinic on a stretcher in January.

Poor health had caused the frail but powerful Mr. Austerity to resign as Chancellor of the Exchequer in October, 1950, while the Labor Party which he had served for many years was still in power.

Cripps had been unconscious for many hours before his death. Earlier in the evening, it was learned, a nurse thought he had died, so faint was his heartbeat. However, he rallied to live several more hours.

Cripps was well known to Canadians for his strong support of increased Anglo-Canadian trade. During the height of Britain's economic crisis in 1948-49 he made two trips to Canada and the United States.

Britain Favors People Moving

LONDON, April 22 (Reuters)—Britain is in favor of people moving around from one country to another within the Commonwealth, the Undersecretary for Commonwealth Relations said today. But in her present straits the Mother Country can do little to help these people on their way financially.

John Foster, the Undersecretary opened debate in the Commons on the Empire Settlement Bill. The bill would extend for another five years government contributions to agreed migration plans under a similar Act of 1922.

Although Britain favors migration, he said, the limitations of the receiving countries have to be considered. Migrants to Commonwealth countries must be assured of employment and decent living conditions when they arrive.

The bill received second reading—agreement in principle—without a vote.

The undersecretary said it had often been suggested Britain should ease limitation on transfer of capital to Canada for would-be migrants. But with the state of Britain's dollar resources this was obviously impossible — it would not affect many people but would affect many dollars.

See Mysterious Light In Sky Over Winnipeg

WINNIPEG, April 22—(CP)—Observers at Molson, Man., about 40 miles east of Winnipeg, said Monday night they saw a mysterious, colored light gyrating through the sky.

The light was star-sized and changed color from yellow to dark yellow, orange then blue. It apparently whirled in circles and moved slowly across the horizon.

Although the R.C.A.F. reported training aircraft in the area at the time, observers insisted the light "couldn't possibly be a plane."

The witnesses, all railwaymen, said they heard no engine noise. Either they nor the R.C.A.F. could account for the weird light.

Looking After Troops Produce Dried Beer

LONDON, April 22 (AP). — Science came up today with a new occupational hazard for the man in military uniform—dried beer.

All you add is water to the packet of starch-gum, hop oil and flavoring—there'll be beer galore when and where wanted.

It can be transported easily to the fighting fronts when shipping is at a premium.

But the men of science who perfected such wartime products as powdered eggs and dehydrated milk conceded there's a difference in the taste of this one too.

The new product, they said, has a "winy flavor like old ale but makes a reasonable drink."

They neglected to announce the alcoholic content of their new discovery.

Seaway Bill Sent To US Senate

Committee Decides Not To Make Any Recommendations

WASHINGTON, April 22.—(AP)—The Senate Foreign Relations Committee today voted to send to the Senate without recommendation legislation authorizing United States participation in building the St. Lawrence seaway and power project.

Chairman Tom Connally (Dem., Tex.) announced that a 6-6 tie vote defeated a motion that the committee recommend passage of the bill.

He said the group then voted 9 to 4 to deliver the bill to the Senate floor without a recommendation.

Canada has announced its intention to go ahead alone with the project if the United States does not wish to join it.

Expected Margin

Earlier today, Senator Alexander Wiley (Rep., Wis.), senior Republican in the 13-member committee, expressed to reporters his confidence that the proposal, of which he has been a strong supporter, would receive at least a two-vote margin.

A week-long hearing on the St. Lawrence project was conducted by the committee late in February.

The committee has approved similar bills in two previous sessions but each time the Senate has rejected measures.

If the group had approved the current proposal, it would have done what President Truman asked in appeals during the past weekend.

Queen Juliana Ignores Protocol

OTTAWA, April 22 — (CP). — A smiling Queen Juliana of The Netherlands swept protocol aside today and began her official round of functions with a happy reunion with a little group from home.

It happened as she completed placing a wreath on Canada's National War Memorial and walked back to her car.

As she neared the car, she spied a small group of clapping, singing men, women and children, broke away and went over and chatted happily with them while Cabinet ministers and aides waited.

They were Netherlands immigrants who have settled in Canada.

It was a quiet ceremony in keeping with the Queen's wishes. There was no large military guard, no band, only a few soldiers, sailors and airmen, and a small detachment of Mounted Police.

Reporter Feels Optimistic

Says Korean Cease-Fire Seems Just Around Corner

VANCOUVER, April 22 (CP)—Bill Boss, Canadian Press war correspondent in Korea since December, 1950, says a Korean cease-fire "seems just around the corner."

He said Monday that both at Eighth Army headquarters in Korea and at general headquarters in Tokyo the feeling is that a cease-fire might be declared within a month.

"Last week," said the reporter who returned to Canada by air on a brief business trip," the feeling was that an armistice might come any day.

Since then the Americans seem to have decided to get tough on air fields again."

The feeling among the majority of reporters covering the Panmunjom negotiations is that a formula was reached during last month's secret talks and that both the United Nations and Red delegations are waiting for instructions based on them, he said.

Boss will receive a National Newspaper Award at a dinner in Toronto May 2.

Boss, who returned with a troop draft under Maj. Gaby Perousse of Quebec, said troop morale was never better in Korea. The troops leaving on rotation were going home with a "well, it hasn't been so bad" feeling while the new battalions went through their test exercises splendidly.

Danger Great

He expressed concern at what he termed the west's failure to recognize that the rehabilitation of Korea meant more than reconstructing damaged buildings.

"Korea is lost," he said "unless we train her youth.

"Even were her pre-war universities and technical colleges to be rebuilt, there are not the men to staff them. Their libraries and laboratories, no matter how up to date they might be, are valueless unless the professors are there too. Most of her own trained men have been kidnapped by the Communists."

Boss, who will return to his Korean assignment in mid-May, said the outlook in southeast Asia was more dangerous than commonly believed.

"Burma is just about gone," he said. "The government can guarantee security only in isolated areas, like Rangoon.

"Indo-China surely will be effectively written off north of Hanoi this year, unless strong help reaches the French there."

Malan Gov't Explains Court

CAPETOWN, April 22. (Reuters)—Interior Minister Eben Donges said today the South African government proposes to establish a "high court of parliament," made up of members of the House of Assembly and the Senate, which would have final jurisdiction on legislative matters. He was introducing in the assembly a bill creating the court. The measure is the latest step in the government's efforts to establish parliamentary authority over the existing courts. Donges said the jurisdiction of the new court "will be limited to constitutional issues of a fundamental nature where the validity of an act of parliament is called into question."

The court would be superior to the existing supreme court "in the limited sphere of jurisdiction created by this bill," he said.

"The constitution of this court is influenced by a desire that representatives of the people whether elected directly or indirectly, shall be clothed with the power finally to determine whether an act of parliament is valid or not."

He said the bill provides machinery "by which our ordinary courts of law may be relieved of the invidious necessity of becoming involved in constitutional issues which have a party political tinge or which impinge on the legislative sphere."

"We have to see to it that the courts are relieved of the necessity of having to give judgment which must necessarily expose them to the charge or even to the faintest suspicion of being politically biased." Donges added.

This theme has been constantly stressed by Prime Minister Daniel Malan and his Nationalist party supporters in the current constitutional argument which has created one of South Africa's biggest political controversies.

The matter came to a head when the supreme court invalidated legislation removing voters of mixed-blood from the common register. Malan said he would refuse to accept the judgment, and today's bill is his answer to it.

Driverless Car Crashes Cruiser After 75 MPH Chase

LONDON, Ont., April 22. (CP)—A driverless car crashed into a police cruiser after a 75-mile-an-hour chase which ended with gun shots and the arrest of two men early today.

in east London. The two men leaped from their moving car on Trafalgar Street at Hale, leaving it coasting at nearly 20 miles-an-hour with the young wife and three-year-old son of one still in the back seat with a 250-pound safe and other goods believed stolen, police said.

The cruiser, driven by Constable Don Jolly, pulled alongside the coasting car and Constable Ken McCallum was in the act of getting out when the car careened toward the cruiser.

McCallum jumped back into the cruiser just before the veering car smashed into the open door and crushed it against the front fender of the cruiser.

Two shots were fired by McCallum, one by Jolly, at the fleeing men.

The nearest, pursued by McCallum, dropped after the officer's second shot. The second man ran through two fields before dropping into a ditch until Jolly caught up with him. Neither was hit.

It all started when report of theft of a quart of oil from McManus Motors at Thames and Horton streets was telephoned to police.

On Nelson St., west of rectory, McCallum and Jolly spotted a car answering the description and stopped it for questioning.

McCallum walked up to the driver and told him to return to McManus Motors with police. Agreeing, the driver stepped on the gas and roared away.

London detectives identified the suspects as Lawrence William Johnson, 29; his wife Lillian, 20; and Charles Cecil Johnson, no relation.

The three will be charged with breaking and entering in connection with the theft of the safe and other articles at Cairngorm, near Strathroy.

Milton Youth Elected Jr. Farmers' President

GUELPH, April 22 — (CP) — David Pelletterio, of Milton, today was elected president of the Junior Farmers of Ontario, succeeding Eleanor Saracuse, of Waterford, first girl president of the organization.

Don Middleton, of Middlesex County, was chosen vice-president at the group's eighth annual conference. Pelletterio and Middleton were also named zone representatives for their respective counties. Other zone representatives chosen were Don Thomson, Glengarry; Don Carruthers, Northumberland; and Carl Boynton, York.

Jail Wedding Asked By Girl

TORONTO, April 22 (CP). — A 16-year-old waitress has taken out a licence to marry her 22-year-old boy friend, now in jail awaiting trial on a bank robbery charge.

Dark-haired Shirley Lupton, who had to get her mother's consent before being granted the licence to marry Leo Laramee, said today in an interview:

"I love Leo and want to marry him anyhow."

However, the approval of Reform Institutions Minister Foote will be required before the marriage can take place.

If the couple gains permission, the ceremony will take place either in court or in Laramee's Don Jail cell, with police in attendance.

Laramee was arrested along with brothers George and Robert Nicholson in connection with the $34,000 bank robbery Feb. 22 at suburban East York. The girl was reyeased on $500 bail as a material witness.

Red Cavalrymen Puzzling U.N.

SEOUL, Korea, April 22 (AP). —A report of white-clad Chinese Communist cavalrymen on the Central Korean war front puzzled U.S. Eighth Army officers today.

Front-line units said they spotted 20 raiders in white moving toward Kumsong Monday afternoon. They said heavy artillery ripped the column to pieces.

Two other white-cloaked bands of 50 and 60 men were reported sighted in the area.

"We can't attach any significance to the report at this time," said an Eighth Army staff officer. "Intelligence officers are studying the details. All we have now are fragmentary reports."

He said the white uniforms possibly could be explained by the probability of snow in the mountains northeast of Kumsong.

Communist cavalrymen were last reported on the front shortly after the entry of Red China into the war in the fall of 1950.

Reporters Have Faces Singed By Explosion Heat

By BILL BECKER

ATOM BOMB SITE, Nev., April 22. (AP)—One of the most spectacular atomic bombs ever detonated jolted observers 10 miles distant today and gave 1,500 troops an experience they will never forget. It probably was the largest bomb ever dropped on continental United States soil. The smoke blotted out the troops who were within four miles on ground zero. The bomb burst 42 seconds after released from an air force plane flying at 30,000 feet in a typical, high-level drop.

Despite brilliant sunshine, the flash was visible 75 miles away in Las Vegas. Seven minutes later, the southern-Nevada gambling capital rumbled with the concussion.

The shock twisted this observer's neck one minute after the flash. The fireball lasted somewhere from four to 10 seconds.

The bomb formed a big mushroom before the concussion hit ground zero and raised the familiar, dirty, dusty column.

Heat Singed

The heat from the blast singed observers' faces. Most wished they were in foxholes like the troops.

The mushroom went through a series of colors, yellow, violet, and then turned snow white. Finally, above 35,000 feet an ice cap formed and separated from the main ball-shaped cloud.

Trucks moved in almost immediately to pick up the troops before radio-active dust could hit them. Several secondary fires started, veteran observers said These were indicated by darker smoke appearing through the dust base, 2½ miles wide.

Smoke rockets were used to measure the intensity of the blast, but they added little to the spectacle.

NJ Convicts Win Demand For Investigation

RAHWAY, N.J., April 22 (AP) —Rebellious convicts at Rahway state prison won their chief demand—a probe of the state parole board—but held out today on the issue of disciplinary action after a flareup in their five-day mutiny.

A prison officials said a "slight amount" of tear gas was used Monday night on the 231 rebel prisoners who took over a dormitory wing Thursday night.

R. William Lagay, superintendent of the prison farm, said the gas was used to quell a new disturbance by the rioting convicts.

The mutineers want no reprisals for their action but prison officials said they could not guarantee there would be no disciplining of the prisoners, who are holding eight guards hostage.

The agreement on the parole board investigation was the result of the first negotiations between the rioters and prison authorities since the revolt started.

Touch Off Disturbance

When their demand for no reprisal action was refused, the convicts touched off a disturbance in the dormitory wing which spread to the south wing of the prison. The south wing was quieted within 45 minutes when threatened with gas, Lagay said.

First reports of the use of gas came from the rioting convicts themselves. The rebels unfurled a bed sheet sign announcing, "We're being gassed. Even officers." The last phrase referred to the hostage guards.

At first, Lagay denied that any gas was used, but he later admitted a "slight amount" had been employed on the convicts.

Confirm New F-M Outbreak

REGINA, April 22 — (CP). — Health of animals officials here today confirmed the outbreak of a new case of foot-and-mouth disease, the first reported in the Southern Saskatchewan infected area since March.

Twelve head of cattle are reported infected in the Ormiston area, about 100 miles southwest of Regina. Another neighboring herd of 10 animals is reported to have made contact and will be destroyed with the infected animals.

The new cases were first suspected last Friday and the farm was placed under quarantine.

Federal officials here said the farmer, whom they did not identify, is believed to have bought a carcass from one of the previously infected premises last January and kept it frozen during the winter. Recently he thawed the meat, canned the edible portions for his future use, and is reported to have disposed of the remainder in his barnyard.

Wanger Convicted Of Assault By Judge

SANTA MONICA, Calif., April 22 — (AP). — Movie producer Walter Wanger was convicted today of assault with a deadly weapon for shooting his wife's agent.

The judge deleted the part of a grand jury indictment which alleged "with intent to commit murder," and reduced the charge to assault with a deadly weapon.

Rather than proving murder intent, said Superior Judge Harry Borge, the evidence "proves quite to the contrary that he had no such intent at all."

Borge reached his decision on the basis of testimony heard by the County Grand Jury last December 18.

Man Chinese Couldn't Kill

Bayoneted, Ontario Soldier Plays Dead

By BILL BOSS.

WITH THE CANADIANS IN KOREA, April 22 (CP).—Cpl. Ken V. McCormond of Sudury, is known hereabouts as "the man the Chinese couldn't kill."

They tried hard enough.

Details of their attempt, the night of March 26, was released by United Nations censorship which until now has restricted reports of the engagement to mention of "U.N. troops."

That was the night the Chinese made a "pincer raid" on a spur held by the 1st Battalion Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry and left 34 bodies for their trouble. They also suffered uncounted wounded who were carried off the next morning by a 70-man stretcher party.

The same night the Communists attacked an outpost position held by the 2nd Battalion Royal Canadian Regiment.

Raid Outpost

After shooting 500 shells into the R.C.R.'s forward localities, the Chinese sent a 30-man party onto the outpost, which was commanded by Cpl. James Gilmore of Brookline, Que.

The company commander, Maj. Fred Vine of Petawawa, ordered the little group back into the main defences.

The outpost's comunications had gone out and the orders weren't received. But Gilmore, appreciating the situation, acted on his own initiative and led his men back.

They were almost within the wire when a shell landed on the middle of the party killing Gilmore and Pte. J. H. Williams of Verona, Ont.

A party under Lieut. Russ Gardner of Arnprior, went out to search for wounded but the enemy's artillery and mortar fire were so intense that the plan was cancelled. Gardner was hit by shrapnel and Pte. A. G. Mitchell of Toronto was killed.

Break Up Attack

R.C.R. heavy mortars concentrated their fire onto the forward slopes of both outpost and the main position. Their fire broke up the attack.

Meanwhile, out among the Chinese was Cpl. McCormond.

He had been wounded slightly in the original mortaring, and when the enemy assaulted he played dead.

Communists who first swept over the positions came upon him, rifled his body for his personal belongings, and two of them dallied to fight over which one would keep his rifle.

Then one of them bayonetted him.

McCormond was still wearing his winter parka. The plunging blade snagged on one of the folds, was diverted in mid-course and grazed his ribs.

Exercising almost superhuman control, McCormand didn't utter a sound.

Playful Moves

Enjoying their play, one of the two men then rolled the Canadian over and butted him on the head with the rifle, inflicting a nasty gash but not quite knocking him out.

The other followed through by firing at him with his burp gun. The bullets stitched into the ground, embroidering the Corporal's silhouette but leaving him untouched.

Having had their fun the Chinese went on to other work.

Said Vine afterward:

He came in on his own just after first light—crawled back into the positions, pretty shaken but still in perfect control of himself.

"God, what nerve!"

Fishing Found Favorite Sport In Russia

By EDDY GILMORE

MOSCOW—(AP)—Year in year out fishing remains one of the favorite pastimes of the Russian.

He fishes in all the seasons. Even in the depth of winter, when there is ice on the rivers and the ponds and lakes are frozen to the thickness of a man's body.

No fishing licences are required. You just go and fish. Most of the spring, summer and autumn fishing is with a pole and line and worm bait, and from watching him, there would seem to be no more patient fisherman in the world.

The real fisherman can sit on a side of the bank for hours waiting for a bite. I once knew a Russian named Pavel Ivanich. When he finished his work around 6 o'clock every summer afternoon he would hurry home and drag out his fishing tackle and make for one of the many little rivers around Moscow.

Sometimes he would return home shortly after dawn with nothing more than a huge appetite and wet clothes.

"A very terrible night," I would remark.

"No, not at all," he'd reply seriously.

"Well, you didn't catch any fish."

"But I thought a great deal," he would say.

"Thought a great deal? About what?"

"Fish," he would say with a sigh.

"Don't worry," he would add brightly, "tonight I'll get them. I've got more patience than the fish. I'll out-wait them."

Sure enough, two or three mornings later he'd hold up a string with 10 or 12 fish.

"They couldn't wait," he'd laugh. "I could."

Fishing tackle stores abound in Moscow, this big inland city hundreds of miles away from the sea. Their annual business, it is said, runs into millions of rubles.

MYSTERY SOLVED?—The R.C.A.F. is pretty sure that Sunday's mystery aircraft that excited people in Peterborough and Western Ontario, was a 600-mile-an-hour British jet bomber. This plane reached Montreal Airport at Dorval Saturday en route to Omaha, Nebraska, headquarters of U.S.A.F. Bomber Command. The speedy bomber carried Air Chief Marshal Sir Hugh Pugh Lloyd, (centre) commander of the R.A.F. Bomber Command, who was greeted on arrival by Air Commodore R. Ripley, (left), commanding Air Transport Command here, and H. P. Illsley, of Montreal.

Never Discussed Attack On Reds

NEW YORK, April 22 (AP) — Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther stated Monday that the free Allies in Europe have never even discussed, let alone planned, an attack on the Communist world.

And he said Soviet Russia knows that, despite its fear propaganda to the contrary.

Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's chief of staff at SHAPE was cautiously but definitely optimistic in a speech at the annual Associated Press luncheon.

Gruenther said there are those who believe Russia will attack the West this year.

"I am not one of them," he added. "There are other discordant voices who say that war with the Soviet Union is inevitable and it is only a question of when that war will take place.

"With that doctrine of despair, I am in complete disagreement. It is my firm conviction that we have within our power the prevention of war. . . ."

Say Cheese Support Not Decided Yet

OTTAWA, April 22—(CP)—Agriculture Minister Gardiner told the Commons Monday he is not in a position to say whether the Federal government will support cheese prices.

Questioned by W. G. Blair (PC-Lanark), he said the question of cheese and milk has been "fairly well taken care of" by the government of Ontario, main cheese-producing province.

Asked by G. S. White (PC-Hastings-Peterborough) if that means there will be no Federal floor price, Mr. Gardiner replied:

"I am not in a position to say whether there will or will not be. I understand that in the Province of Ontario there is an established price under provincial law. I do not know that anything we would do about it would over-ride that law."

Philosophical Victim

WINNIPEG—(CP)—While firemen were extinguishing an attic fire in his home, Joseph Fourneaux, retired engineer, served coffee to reporters in the kitchen. He said "Why should I impose my own troubles on anyone else? Would you like some sugar in your coffee?"

Graded eggs, cases free, delivered Toronto: Grade A large 37; A medium 36; A small 33; grade B 30; grade C 28.

Wholesale to retail: Prices quoted are for loose eggs: Grade A large 40-41; A medium 39-40; A small 36-37; grade B 34-35; grade C 32.

Butter solids: first grade 57½-58; no price established on second grade; western 58½ (asked).

WINNIPEG GRAIN

WINNIPEG, April 22 (CP) — Prices of coarse grains futures showed a firm undertone in early dealings today on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange.

The firmness was bolstered by reports of good export sales of Canadian barley. There also was evidence of moderate export demand in oats. Some buying of rye for seaboard interests was reported.

Offerings were about in line with demand. Trading was moderately active.

11 a.m. prices:

Oats: May ⅛ higher 86¾A; July ⅛ higher 79A; Oct. not open.

Barley: May ¼ higher 1.21½B; July ¾ lower 1.17⅛B; Oct. unchanged 1.16⅛A.

Rye: May 1½ higher 1.94⅞A; July 1½ higher 1.93¼A; Oct. 1¾ higher 1.85A.

Flax: May 2½ higher 3.57; July 1½ higher 3.60; Oct. not open.

TORONTO LIVESTOCK

TORONTO, April 22 (CP) — Ontario stockyards cattle trade was dull today with prices on steers and heifers 50 cents lower in spots while cows and bulls held steady. Receipts: Cattle 520; calves 100; hogs 580; no sheep or lambs. The leftover from Monday was 2,700 cattle.

The federal government announced that they have asked farmers to hold back all feeder and lower grade cattle to prevent a surplus from piling up at the stockyards.

Choice steers sold at $24.50-$25.25 with good steers selling at $23.25-$24.25 and common to medium bringing $20-$23. Good heifers sold at $23-$23.50 while choice fed yearlings sold at $25-$26 and mediums downward to $20. Medium to good cows sold mostly $18-$20 with common cows downward to $15. Canners and cutters were downward to $12. Medium to good feeders brought $22.50-$25.

Calves were weak at $23-$26 for good to choice vealers with common to medium from $10-$22.

Hogs were at $26 for grade A with sows $16 dressed.

No sheep or lamb sales reported.

MONTREAL LIVESTOCK

MONTREAL, April 22 (CP) — Trading continued fairly steady on Montreal livestock markets today, but prices held unchanged.

Receipts were 75 cattle, 75 calves and 2,200 hogs. There were no sheep and lambs.

Total offerings Monday at both markets included 964 cattle, 60 sheep, 4,116 hogs and 1,812 calves.

Calves moved fairly well at about steady prices, with good quality vealers brought 21-23 while commons and medium sold at 15-20.

About 1,700 hogs had been sold Monday night. This morning only a few sales had been made at 26 for grade "A" and sows made 14.

BUFFALO LIVESTOCK

BUFFALO, N. Y., April 22 — (AP).—Cattle 100; good fat and dairy type cows 22.00-23.00; smooth young heifer type cows eligible to 26.00; cutters mostly 19.50-21.50; heavy cutters up to 22.00; fat yellow cows 19.00-21.00; canners, 16.00-20.00; good slaughter heifers 26.00-27.50; common heifers 22.00-25.00; sausage bulls 25.00-28.00.

Calves 100; culls 15.00-22.00; choice calves 37.00; good calves 33.00-36.00; mediums 28.00-33.00; common 22.00-27.00.

Hogs 100; N. Y. State hogs 17.50-18.00; good sows 14.00-15.00.

Sheep and lambs: good sheep 14.00-15.00; woolled bucks 12.00-13.00; clipped 10.00-11.00; culls 5.00-8.00.

Official forecasts issued by the Dominion public weather office at 9.30 a.m. today:

Synopsis:

Warm tropical air continues to flow over most of Ontario today. However an outbreak of cold polar air has reached northwestern areas of the province and is edging eastward. A line of showers marks the boundary of these two contrasting air masses, with considerably more rain falling in the northern sections. Consequently Northern Ontario will have rain today and Wednesday, while in the southern regions skies will be cloudy and there will be a few showers beginning tonight.

Regional forecasts valid until midnight Wednesday:

Lake Ontario, Niagara regions; Toronto and Hamilton cities:

Cloudy with a few sunny intervals today. Overcast tonight and Wednesday. A few showers Wednesday morning, turning cooler by afternoon. Winds light today, north 15 Wednesday. Low tonight and high Wednesday at Toronto, Hamilton and St. Catharines 55 and 60, Trenton 50 and 60.

Summary for Wednesday: Cloudy and cooler, morning showers.

Georgian Bay, Haliburton regions:

Cloudy today and Wednesday. Scattered showers ending Wednesday morning. Cooler Wednesday. Winds light today, north 15 Wednesday. Low tonight and high Wednesday at Muskoka and Killaloe 50 and 55.

Summary for Wednesday: Cloudy and cooler.

Rain Threatens Break Dikes

KANSAS CITY, April 21 (AP) —New rain, some of it heavy, sharpened the fears of flood fighters along the raging Missouri River today.

Major dikes held at critical spots. And the experts clung to their prediction that Kansas City, Mo., would be safe.

As the muddy sea broadened to the lowlands, Missouri Governor Forrest Smith proclaimed a flood emergency and asked President Truman—for the second time in a year—to allot emergency federal funds to his home state.

Along the Mississippi another record flood boiled seaward.

At La Crosse, Wis., weatherman A. D. Sanial said "the worst of it is over now." A little rain fell there but not enough to affect the river.

Churchill Lauds Cripps' Work

LONDON, April 22 (Reuters)—Prime Minister Churchill said in the House of Commons today that as a man the late Sir Stafford Cripps had "few equals in ability or virtue."

"Stafford Cripps was a man of force and fire," Churchill said in a tribute to the former Socialist Chancellor of the Exchequer who died Monday night in Zurich, Switzerland.

"He strove through life with a remarkable indifference to material satisfactions or worldly advantages."

Churchill said there were few members of the Commons who had not differed violently from him at some time or other.

"Yet there are none who did not regard him with respect and with admiration, not only for his abilities, but for his character. In all his complicated political career he was the soul of honor."

Judy Garland Scores Triumph

LOS ANGELES, April 22 (AP). —Judy Garland, who left a broken career in Hollywood a year ago returned in triumph Monday night and was greeted by a cheering, star-filled audience.

The actress opened the civic light opera season with her vaudeville show, which set records at New York's Palace. The movie crowd, decked out in mink and ermine, packed into the Philharmonic Auditorium for the sentimental occasion. There was scarcely a dry eye when Judy, in a tramp costume, sat on the rim of the stage and wistfully sang "Over the Rainbow."

When the show was over, the audience applauded wildly for minutes and Judy was presented with 20 large bouquets. She stepped to the footlights and murmured "This is the nicest night of my life."

Judy left Hollywood after she cut her throat with a water glass during an emotional upset over career troubles."

Prices Drifting On Toronto Exchange

TORONTO, April 22 — (CP)—Prices drifted today in early afternoon stock market dealings.

Western oils and secondary gold speculation slowed but a few lower-priced base metals drew attention. Volume for the first three hours was 1,986,000 shares.

Constructions, liquors, and manufacturing companies formed industrials' strongest sections with a scattered list of fractional advances. Steels, utilities, and miscelaneous issues also drew firm support but papers, banks, and textiles slipped.

Western oil leaders eased but power-priced issues showed a majority of penny advances. Dome Explorations, Federated Petroleum, Highwood, New British Dominions, Sapphire, and Western Leaseholds pushed upward.

Base metals were mixed. Anacon Lead, East Sullivan, Normetal, Steep Rock, and Labrador strengthened while Barvue, Ontario Pyrites, and United Keno Hill weakened.

Senior golds eased as Giant Yellowknife, Lake Shore, and McIntyre dipped. Secondary issues made little headway.

U.S. Dollar Unchanged

MONTREAL, April 22 — (CP) —The United States dollar today opened at a discount of 1 31/32 per cent in terms of Canadian funds, unchanged from Monday's close. That is, it took $0.98 1/32 Canadian to buy $1 American.

The pound sterling was $2.75¾, unchanged from Monday's close.

Racing Time To Build Buffer Dam

SWIFT CURRENT, Sask., April 22 (CP)—A battle to build a dam-within-a-dam continues today at Duncairn reservoir, 25 miles upstream from Swift Current.

Workmen and five large earth-moving machines are working round-the-clock on a buffer dam to protect the threatened main Duncairn dam. A break would release a wall of water down the Swift Current creek.

Battling against time, the workmen hope to get the buffer dam across a narrow neck in the main dam structure. The neck leads to flood control gates and an eroded concrete spillway.

The spillway began to break up Friday under the pressure of flood waters. Once the buffer dam is across the neck, it is expected to relieve pressure on the threatened spillway.

The situation at the dam was still considered critical. George Munro, acting chief engineer of the prairie farm rehabilitation administration, builders of the dam, cautioned late Monday night against false optimism.

Holding Up Well

Outflow from the reservoir through an emergency spillway built last week and a pipe in the bottom of the dam now is equalling inflow. The emergency spillway is holding up well.

Many of the 490 families in Swift Current who could be affected if the dam failed to hold have moved to higher ground. Others are prepared to do so on short notice.

Meanwhile, a provincial order-in-council Monday declared the southwest corner of Saskatchewan a distaster area. The area is roughly bounded on the north by the South Saskatchewan river, on the east by a line about 25 miles east of Swift Current, and on the west and south by the Alberta and United States boundaries.

Elsewhere in the area, hit by floods when a heat wave melted snow faster than usual in the Cyprus Hills, the situation was unchanged.

In September, 1948, he addressed the Canadian people from Ottawa and stressed the need of maintaining the greatest possible flow of mutual trade between Canada and the United States" . . . We regard Canada . . . as a vitally important partner in our closest economic circle," he said.

Cripps was back in the U.S. and Canada in the late summer of 1949 for monetary talks. Immediately upon his return home from a British - Canadian-American conference he announced the devaluation of the pound by 30 per cent. This was a bold gamble to sell more and cheaper goods to North America and earn precious dollars to save Britain from financial chaos.

Failing health in his late years made him change many of his ways of living. He became a vegetarian on doctors orders and gave up smoking in his 60th year.

Few men in British political history had a stormier career than the ascetic, razor-minded lawyer who had a reputed income of £30,000 a year.

Great Force

As a politician he became the Labor Party's greatest intellectual force.

Both in court and in parliament he was an opponent to be reckoned with. He picked on the weak point of an argument and tore it apart. A dominating figure, he spoke in cold incisive tones. In one court case he made a seven-day speech.

Yet his friends say he was a charmer — friendly and humane with a dry humor and a slow, leisurely, deliberate smile.

Sir Stafford Cripps was born April 24, 1889. He won a science scholarship to Oxford University, and his papers were so brilliant they were sent to Sir William Ramsay, the great chemist at London University.

Ramsay called Cripps to work as an experimentalist in the university laboratory. And in the First World War he was assistant superintendent at a government explosives factory.

Later he served in France with the Red Cross for a year, and there contracted the gastric disease which eventually forced him to live on a spartan diet.

Followed Father

He abandoned science for law and followed the footsteps of his father, Lord Parmoor It was his father's transition from Conservatism to a vague Christian Socialism that started Cripps' own political evolution.

At 38 Cripps became the youngest King's Counsel of his day and in 1930 was knighted and appointed Solicitor-General in Ramsay MacDonald's second Labor Government.

In the years before the First World War this sparse, untidily-clothed man became the "bad boy of the Labor Party." He championed and became chairman of the Socialist League—an extreme left-wing group which advocated abolition of the House of Lords.

In 1939 he was expelled for his constant agitation for a popular front including the Communists. Round the world went the joke: "The Labor Party has got rid of its brains."

Winston Churchill, as wartime Prime Minister, snapped him up in 1940 to be special ambassador to Moscow while the Nazi-Soviet pact was still in force. It was a neat move, Cripps accurately predicted the exact date of the German invasion of Russia.

Garson Expecting Report From R.C.M.P. On Statements Made By Dr. Endicott

OTTAWA, April 22—(CP)—Justice Minister Garson told the Commons Monday he is expecting a report from the RCMP on statements concerning germ warfare attributed to Dr. James Endicott of Toronto, head of the Canadian Peace Congress.

The Russian radio recently quoted Dr. Endicott as saying at Mukden, Manchuria, that the UN forces had spread germs in Korea and some may have come from Canada.

John Diefenbaker (PC, Lake Centre) called this a "dastardly statement" and asked what the government intends to do about such "serious and dangerous" statements.

Mr. Garson replied that "all the activities of such men as Dr. Endicott are kept under constant surveillance."

"I have no doubt," he added, "that this matter has been investigated and that the report concerning it will come forward in due course."

Traveller Has Sit-Down Strike

SAULT STE. MARIE, April 22 (CP) — A stubborn traveller staged a sit-down strike aboard a Trans-Canada Airlines plane Sunday at nearby Kinross, Mich. and delayed the flight to Toronto by 45 minutes.

An hour before flight time, a Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., resident telephoned for a reservation. He was told the plane was sold out.

He appeared at the Kinross airport and took the stewardess' seat.

The traveller wouldn't budge. Michigan State police refused to remove him unless the company laid a charge.

Finally, another passenger gave up his seat and spent the night here and flew to Toronto Monday.

Canadian War Effort Costs $100,000,000

OTTAWA, April 22 — (CP) — Canada's costs on behalf of the Korean war have passed the $100,000,000 mark it was indicated today by official figures.

The Commons Defence Expenditures Committee was given the figures as it started its work for this session.

The figures up to January 31, 1952, were broken down this way:

Pay for the men of the 25th Brigade—$20,000,000.

Costs at and getting to Fort Lewis, Wash., training base — $3,400,000.

Equipment purchased for brigade—$13,056,000.

Costs in Korea and Japan for Brigade—$45,300,000.

Costs of transporting the brigade to Korea—$3,672,000.

Cost of R.C.A.F. Trans-Pacific airlift—$11,000,000.

Cost of navy contribution — $7,700,000.

Festing Takes Over Egyptian Command

ISMAILIA, Egypt, April 22 — (Reuters).— Lt.-Gen. F. W. Festing arrived here by air today from England to take over command of British troops in Egypt.

He succeeds Lt.-Gen. Sir George Erskine, who is due to leave for Britain on Thursday after more than three years in the Suez Canal zone during which the zone saw some of its bloodiest rioting.

Erskine is to be general officer commanding Northern Command, England.

Festing, 49, is former Assistant Chief of Staff (Organization and Training) at Allied Supreme Headquarters in Europe.

Appoint Man To Investigate Army Thefts

OTTAWA, April 22 — (CP) — A special investigator has been appointed to investigate thefts at the Petawawa military camp and into security and accounting procedures there and at other defence establishments.

Defence Minister Claxton told the Commons Monday he has engaged for the job George S. Currie, Montreal chartered accountant and former Deputy Minister of National Defence. Mr. Currie is given power to make inquiries without restriction.

Mr. Claxton made the announcement as he reviewed the situation at Petawawa, 120 miles northwest of Ottawa, where a series of thefts of government material has brought the arrest of four civilians and an Army engineer captain.

The minister said the loss may be as much as $50,000. Investigations are still going on, he told the Commons, and everything possible will be done "to get to the bottom of this situation and to take such action and adopt such remedies as may be required."

Wholesale Looting

George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, charged there has been "wholesale looting" at defence establishments and made two attempts to adjourn regular Commons business to discuss the matter immediately.

Mr. Drew said the Farnham, Que., military training centre has been looted and has disappeared "down to and including the buildings."

Hundreds of tons of government supplies had been hauled from military bases in "carload lots." There also had been recurring outbreaks of incendiary fires which could have hidden the extent of further looting and thefts.

The Commons should be allowed to probe these things.

Speaker Ross Macdonald ruled Mr. Drew's motion out of order. He said members could go into the matters fully later.

Prisoners Fight

Jarbo, one of the original 179 mutineers, apparently agreed to come out of cell block 15, centre of the rioting, to make his appeal.

The rioting has brought death to one convict and injury to nine others. Eleven guards are being held prisoner.

Tension Strong

Despite the announcement of the appeal, tension still gripped the big prison in the wake of Monday's wild rioting.

Two hundred state police and scores of guards patrolled the prison. Practically all the nearly 5,000 inmates were kept locked in cell blocks. Four of the troopers had been injured up to today.

Some minor incidents occurred today as prisoners set fire to wads of paper and tossed them through cell bars.

Meals were served in the cell blocks instead of the mess hall. Rioters tore up the mess hall Monday.

An officer stationed on the roof of disciplinary cell block No. 15, where the convicts were holed-up with their hostages, said the men shouted to him this morning that they knew one prisoner had been killed by police gunfire.

However, there was no word of any reprisal for the prisoner death.

Immediately after the mutiny started Sunday night leaders of the uprising said they were protesting "brutality" and demanded that newspapermen be brought in to give publicity to their demands.

Authorities deny there has been brutality in handling of the more than 6,400 prisoners.

Four guards were grabbed originally. Then as 500 other prisoners joined the riot, toughs sneaked from No. 15 and got nine more guards at knife-point. Later they released two, one because of his age, another because he was ill.

Convict Killed

Darwin Millage, 35-year-old convict from Detroit, was the man killed. He was shot through the chest as some 200 prisoners threatened to take over fire trucks brought in to fight fire started by the rioters in at least five buildings. Millage was serving 15 to 25 years for statutory rape.

A ninth convict was wounded and police commissioner Leonard was nicked in the scalp by a piece of flying debris as troopers fired a fusilade in front of cell block No. 11—one of two mental units—to drive rioters into corridors. After a tumultuous day, the mental-case inmates finally were driven into the cells and secured shortly after dark.

The mutineers are being led by Jack Hyatt, 29, of Leamington, Ont., and Earl E. Ward, 30. Both are convicted robbers serving long terms, and both have police records from boyhood. Ward is classified as a mental-case inmate. Hyatt's nickname is "Crazy Jack" and police say it fits.

Before his transfer here, Hyatt tried in 1950 at knifepoint to abduct Michigan Governor G. Mennen Williams at Marquette state prison and use him as a shield for an escape. One of Hyatt's pals was fatally shot in that scuffle and Hyatt was overpowered.

The convicts claim they have plenty of food from looted store roms.

The bomb itself was show enough for anyone.

Thirteen minutes later the main cloud was drifting toward observers and still retained rust and yellow shades, although predominantly white.

The base dust column was twisted across the sky, blotting out the peaks 20 miles away. It was a mile across. Instrumentation planes droned overhead, tracking radiation.

Not Certain

Observers who were at Bikini were uncertain whether it exceeded the biggest blast there in 1946.

About 15 minutes after the blast the troops' air support—120 paratroopers—were taxied across the edge of the salt flats to be ready for a take-off.

Their job was to jump behind the atomic smoke curtain but at a safe time after it lifted.

The troops got a severe shock, the A.E.C. told newspapermen. They were braced in their 4½-foot-deep foxholes. But there could be no doubt that some of their necks were twisted, too.

A.E.C. observers used to watching blasts from News Nob said this was "a real big one."

At 9:52—22 minutes after the burst—the big cloud was spread out perhaps at 40,000 feet and blowing southeast away from observers. The dust column was twisted in the same direction. There apparently was to be no danger to the civilians invited to watch the first such show in the U. S.

Bell Telephone Takes Lease On New Building

Bell Telephone Company are taking a 20-year lease on the building for which Arnold Steele broke ground on High St. this morning. Estimated cost in the permits at the city hall is $100,000.

It is a one-storey structure of cement blocks, without basement. Dimensions are 95 ft. by 170 ft.

The property is on the west side of High St., south of the C.P.R. and Utilities Commission substation. It was once part of the premises of George May whose home was at the corner of Lansdowne St. and High St. The nearby school was given his name long ago by its trustees.

E. G. Baker, manager of Bell Telephone, said the building is required mainly for the accommodation and maintenance of the company's motor fleet.

"This new work centre," said Mr. Baker, "will have capacity for 42 vehicles which our company uses in the Peterborough district. That area extends from Campbellford to Omemee, including Havelock, Hastings, Norwood.

In addition to providing space for garage and upkeep purposes, the work centre will include facilities for the storage of tools and materials, offices and other quarters for personnel."

Ready In Fall

It is expected to be ready for occupanacy some time during the fall.

Telephone development during the last few years in Peterborough and its neighboring district has greatly increased. Maintenance of transmission lines, consumer connections, office equipment and so on has necessarily grown with the volume of business. Housing and care of the rolling stock was part of the enlarging physical problem which has now been concentrated in the new work centre.

Children's Aid Speaker At Rotary

CAMPBELLFORD, April 22 — (ENS) — Rotarians heard Miss Viola Parrott of the Children's Aid Society, Port Hope, tell of the problems and the accomplishments of the society when she addressed the Monday noon luncheon meeting here yesterday.

Miss Parrott was introduced by Mrs. John McKibbin, who told a little of her background.

Miss Parrott told how the society protects neglected children, and said that only as a last resort are children removed from their own home. The society is kept busy, with nearly 150 cases on hand at all times and about 100 new cases coming to their attention each year.

The speaker told of the methods of placing children in foster homes and of the problems experienced in doing so.

Bert Taylor thanked Miss Parrott for her address.

Grass Fire Threatens Three Bancroft Homes

BANCROFT, April 22 (ENS) — Red-hot ashes, a strong north wind and tinder-dry grass and shrubbery combined to produce a large ground fire that seriously threatened the properties of Henry Dafoe, Dr. R. Y. Haryett and the Rev. W. L. Smith on Sunday afternoon. Although it was being fought by a large number of men and youths with shovels, as well as the local fire department, Fire Chief Cecil McAlpine had to call for added assistance from the local branch of the Department of Lands and Forests to quell the blaze.

At the time of the fire both Dr. Haryett and Rev. Mr. Smith were absent from their residences and the blaze, approaching their houses from the north, had a good start before help was summoned.

This was the third grass fire for Sunday and the third run for the volunteer fire department. During the past week the local fire department has had more than its usual quota of spring fires, with the blame usually being placed on young boys with matches or fire-crackers.

Thief Steals Money For Hospital Bill

CAMPBELLFORD, April 22 — (ENS)—Chief Constable George H. Hardy of Campbellford is investigating a reported robbery of $180 from the residence of Howard Hogle on Centre Street.

The money is missing from a wallet that had been placed under a mattress in an upstairs bedroom. Mr. Hogle had drawn the money from the bank on Saturday to pay the expenses of his daughter who was to enter the hospital.

Gives Away Baby

DRATFORD, England, April 22 (Reuters) — A mother who does not like children today gave another woman her four-month-old baby boy— the third child she has has given away. Mrs. Lily Sweeney, 31, advertised in a shop window for someone to give her boy, David, a home. "I would rather go out to work than look after children," she said. A woman who cannot have children, 28-year-old Mrs. Santa Wright, adopted the child.

"Ministry Of Hand" Topic At Springville

SPRINGVILLE, April 22 — (ENS)—At the Sunday morning service at Springville United Church the Rev. A. E. Larke spoke on the "Ministry of the Hand". His Scripture reading told how the people under King David had given so willingly to build a temple to the Lord. His text was a verse of David's prayer of Thanksgiving—O Lord, our God, all this store that we have prepared to build Thee an house for Thy Holy Name. "Consecrating our hands", said Mr. Larke, "literally means filling our hands with service to God." He spoke of the work of the hands of the artist, the artisans and others. Quotations from the Bible showed the hand of God, guiding his people.

Mr. Larke read a letter of thanks from Carl Preston, Riverdale Isolation Hospital, Toronto for an Easter plant sent to him by Springville YP.U. group.

Mr. Larke has been granted leave of absence for two Sundays April 27 and May 4 to make a business trip to western Canada. Next Sunday, Leo Copp, principal of the Peterborough Normal School, will be in charge of the service.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hinchey of Belleville were Sunday guests of Mrs. Hinchey's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Bothwell.

The Y.P.U. are planning to enter a softball team in the Presbytery scftball league and Gordon Clifford is to represent them at the meeting to draw up the season's schedule.

Mr. Frank Stevens is attending a Christian Business Men's Committee convention in Renfrew this weekend.

Boosts Charges

SINGAPORE, April 22 — (AP) —The health officer has boosted charges for public cremation in Hindu and Budhist cemeteries here from 45 Stratis dollars ($14.75) to 50 dollars ($16.35). The announcement said the increase is due to the higher cost of firewood.

Cat Scratch Disease Affects Humans

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE.

CLEVELAND, April 22 — (AP) —A new human disease, cat scratch disease, was reported today to the American College of Physicians.

Humans often get it after being scratched by house cats .The cats are perefectly healthy themselves. But the disease is caused by something, maybe a virus, carried on the cat's claws.

This ailment apparently is not uncommon, said Dr. Worth B. Daniels of Georgetown University School of Medicine, and Dr. Frank G. MacMurray of Washington, D. C. They reported 60 cases in 15 States and Hawaii and Canada.

A few days after being scratched, humans get sick. They get a fever, which may run to 104 degrees, and last a few days to five weeks.

Lymph nodes of glandular kernels in the armpits, neck and groin may swell to the size of golf balls or small oranges. Often they break down into abscesses, with release of pus. The nodes may stay swollen and tender for seven weeks to six months.

May Last Six Months.

Humans feels sick, with poor appetite, weakness, nausea, aching chills, and headaches. Some show a small skin rash.

The humans always recover, but may feel ill for six months. No treatment is known yet. The antibiotics chloromysetin and auremycin may help somewhat if given early. Sulfa drugs and streptomycin don't do any good.

Daniels and MacMurray reported a skin test to detect the cat fever .They said the cat fever is sometimes mistaken for rabbit fever, infectious mononucleosis, brucelloisis or goat fever, Hodgkin's disease, or glandular tuberculosis.

No way is known of testing cats to see whether they can cause the disease.

Need Understanding Of Christian Faith

TORONTO, April 22 — (CP) — A group of United Church youth leaders who took a caravan across Canada to meet other church youths discovered "an alarming lack of understanding of, or conviction about the christian faith," Rev. Lloyd Shorten told the annual meeting of the Board of Christian Education of the United Church of Canada.

Leaders of the caravan told the board there is an urgent need for competent counsellors for younger groups. They found evidence of an inner nucleus of young persons ready to come to grips with fundamental needs. This includes a growing desire for meaningful Bible study.

It wil be proposed that the general council of the church be requested to change the church manual.

This would place Sunday-schools under the direction of the church, thus ending the situation of having schools operating separately.

St. Laurent Blames Reds For Death Of Missonary

OTTAWA, April 22 — (CP). — Prime Minister St. Laurent said Monday Red Chinese neglect or maltreatment may have caused the death of a Canadian missionary for the first time and disclosed that Canada has joined in a new note of protest to Peiping.

Mr. St. Laurent expressed shock and regret as he told the Commons of the death February 8 of Father Joseph Leon Arcand of Champlain County, Que. Father Arcand, who had been serving a six months' jail sentence, was brought in a "deplorable condition" to the hospital at Chefoo where he died shortly after admission.

This was the "first case which has come to our attention in which there is some reason to believe that the death ot a Canadian missionary has been caused or at least nastened by serious neglect or maltreatment on the part of the Chinese Communist authorities."

Father Arcand's death was prominently mentioned in a new note delivered to Red China by Canada, the United States, the United Kingdom, and Australia. It asked information about 55 imprisoned Westerners, including seven Canadian missionaries their alleged offences, their whereabouts, and their welfare.

Expresses Regret

George Drew, Progressive-Conservative Leader, joined the Prime Minister in expressing shock at the death of Father Arcand. He hoped that something could be done to improve the situation.

Before Father Arcand's death, Mr. St. Laurent said, there had been no reports of physical maltreatment, although some had been subjected to imprisonment and the humiliation and indignities of mock "trials."

He said it appears red China is bent on driving all Western missionaries from the country. The Canadian government would do all possible to help the 100 Canadian missionaries still there "until they can get out."

Mr. St. Laurent said he had received a first-hand account of the trial of five Canadian nuns at Canton last December, and it had profoundly shocked him. Three of the nuns have since returned home.

In the trial he said there was "deliberately callous treatment meted out to the sisters apparently for the purpose of discrediting Western humanitarian institutions."

Crash Hearing

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico, April 22 — (AP) — The government announced today hearings will be held May 5-7 in the sea crash of a Pan American airliner off San Juan Good Friday, which killed 52 persons. Seventeen persons survived, including the pilot, Capt. John Burn, husband of singer Jane Froman.

House Raffle

DUBLIN (CP) — Under the supervision of Lord Mayor Andrew Clarkim, 250 new houses will be raffled after Easter by the Dublin Corporation to give an even break to more than 3,000 house-seekers. The applicants include more than 700 newly-married couples.

Wardens Seize Ducks, Fish Nets On Brighton Bay

COBOURG, April 22 — (ENS) —Three fish and game inspectors, Vic Harris of Cobourg, Reg. McCullagh of Campbellford and Ken Tomley of Orono, seized fish nets, said to have been used to catch ducks, in a raid on Brighton Bay during the weekend.

On the lookout for this form of poaching, the game wardens found the net and five blue bills and will charge a Brighton township resident, it is stated.

The procedure, said the game wardens, was to anchor the net with four wooden posts and weight it parallel to and under water in the feeding grounds of the ducks. When the ducks dove down and forward for food they came up under the net, were caught and drowned.

Head For A-Site

PERTH, Australia, April 22 — (Reuters)—Small ships carrying secret atomic equipment leave today for the site of Britain's first atom weapon tests —now believed to be the barren uninhabited Montebello Islands. The islands, 900 miles off Australia's northwest coast, are limestone formations with low scrub and a few mangrove swamps.

Lower Against The Philistines

When he spoke to the Ontario Education Association last week, Professor A. R. M. Lower of Queen's University smote the Philistines hip and thigh; since then the enraged Philistines have been smiting Professor Lower; the British Columbia Teachers Federation have gone on record as calling the Professor "a nut and a crackpot"; a North Vancouver teacher said to the press, "I think he's nuts." The Toronto Globe and Mail, in an editorial excessively noble even for that strenuously noble paper, rebukes the Professor for academic snobbery. And what has Professor Lower done to provoke this hubbub? So far as we are able to discover he has said that many Canadian teachers are not keenly interested in the subjects they teach; he has said that a majority of Canadians are Philistines—by which we presume that he means that their deepest interest is in material things and that they undervalue the liberal arts; he has said that a truly educated man must expect a certain amount of loneliness.

* * *

Of course, Professor Lower has said these things in a very provocative way, and with a good deal of wit. How else would be make himself heard? Any man who expresses an opinion contrary to the popular one must use every device to gain attention for what he is saying; he must overstate his case vigorously, in order to make his hearers realize that he has a case at all; he must also expect personal abuse, and armour himself against it. Professor Lower has been the Aunt Sally of the Philistines before this, and for anything we know to the contrary, he may enjoy that position. To be thoroughly detested by people whom one thoroughly detests is not, after all, a disagreeable position.

* * *

We think that what Professor Lower said was, in essence, true and needed to be said. Exceptions to his general strictures on the teaching profession are, happily, many; scholarly teachers, and specially gifted teachers are by no means uncommon, though they are not a majority and we do not think that anybody, in his reasonable moments, expects that they can ever be a majority; we may be permitted to say, however, that the teaching profession still falls a little short of perfection, and that greater stress upon knowledge, as opposed to the techniques of teaching, might work some improvement. We also agree with Professor Lower in his belief that learning is not respected in Canada as much as wealth; we do not expect to see a reversal of this attitude, for millions can comprehend the value of wealth, while mere hundreds can comprehend the value of learning; we wish that these hundreds might increase to thousands, for as a nation our general standard of culture is lower than that of Holland, or Norway, or Sweden. As for learned men being lonely, there can be little argument about that; wealthy men, or strong men or men exceptional in any way also experience a measure of loneliness. Professor Lower has told us nothing that Canada did not know before; he merely had the bad taste to say, sharply and sarcastically, what many Canadians do not like to hear, and as a nation we are extremely touchy when we are mocked.

* * *

Learning can be a passion. We Canadians thoroughly understand the passion to be wealthy, or powerful, or to be famous. But we do not understand the passion to intellectually distinguished, and we take refuge in the silly notion that it does not matter how empty-headed a man may be so long as he is a good fellow. Browning's Grammarian, "soul-hydroptic with a sacred thirst," is a type exceedingly rare among us, and when he appears even members of such a learned profession as school-teaching may employ such derisive and vulgar words as "nut" and "crackpot" to describe him. The scholar, avid of knowledge, is easily mocked, as the saint is easily mocked by merely "good" people:

That low man seeks a little thing to do,
Sees it and does it:
This high man, with a great thing to pursue,
Dies ere he knows it.
That low man goes on adding one to one,
His hundred's soon hit:
This high man, aiming at a million,
Misses an unit.
That, has the world here—should he need the next,
Let the world mind him!
This, throws himself on God, and unperplext
Seeking shall find Him.

We have very much in Canada and in Canadian education, that is truly good, and we are justly proud of it. But let us not be so blinded with pride that we are sunk in an easy satisfaction with the good, and abuse Professor Lower because he has pointed out that the good is, after all, simply good, and has dared to yearn aloud for something that is great.

Too Much Of The Presidential Election

Canada gets more of the blare of the American election than any other country outside the U.S.A., since American means of communication—movies, press, radio and TV—are so numerous and close to us. Perhaps it is unneighbourly to complain that the people next door are too confoundedly garrulous about their election, but, really, what we are getting is more than an echo; it is a continuous din. And we are having to put up with it for nine months.

Admittedly, the presidency of the United States of America is one of the most important posts in the world. The person who is elected is important to Canada as he is to many other nations. But the chatter about nominations started a year ago. Since Christmas it has become loud, and in February it became a blare. Yet the elections do not take place until November. We wish that the Americans would not let election fever catch them so early. Canada has general elections every four years or so, too; yet they are not built up like Christmas six months before their time. We take our elections seriously too, but packet them into a month of preliminary gabble.

The long pre-election period in the United States is more than a noise to neighbours. It is a worry to many countries, and to thoughtful people in the United States. For the next seven months—and nine before the next President takes office—executive and legislative interest in the U.S.A. is centred on the elections. In domestic matters, legislative machinery grinds almost to a standstill. In the outside world, where the U.S.A. has assumed leadership, there is a virtual vacuum. The enterprises, military, international and economic in which the U.S. is a senior partner must bumble along while their leader spends seven months preparing for an election.

This situation occurs every four years, as the United States becomes legislatively idle seven months before every presidential election. It is a great waste, and particularly in these times, a dangerous one because the western world's leader abrogates its leadership while the other part of the world continues its machinations.

Why The Sexes Can Never Be Equal

A news dispatch from North Carolina, dated April 16, tells of a 21-year-old U.S. Marine who was abducted by three girls, and compelled to have sexual intercourse with them seven times, as well as performing what he describes as "an unnatural act"; the instrument of compulsion was a razor carried by the ringleader; they then stripped him and robbed him.

This was rape. The young man, for anything that is known about him, may have possessed very strict principles in matters of sexual morality; he may have been a virgin, and his virginity may have been very precious to him. We shall be not merely surprised, but flabbergasted, if anything is done to pursue the maenads into whose hands he fell, and punish them.

This is a simple demonstration of why talk about the equality of the sexes is humbug. We have mentioned this incident to several people, of widely varying outlook, and all have greeted it with laughter. But if we had told them of the rape of a girl by three men, they would have pulled long faces. There are realms in which women expect, and get, consideration of a type which no man can command. Sexual assault is only one of these realms. Every intelligent woman knows, and takes full advantage of, the fact that she lives in the twentieth century, and that men, so far as their attitude toward women is concerned, still drag about with them considerable portions of the chivalry of the Middle Ages.

Poland's Alarming Military Budget?

A headlined news despatch from Stockholm states that Poland is doubling her spending on militia and defence, according to her budget brought down recently. This provides 6,601,925,000 zlotys for military expenditure, or the equivalent of $1,630,000,000. This is a fantastically large sum for a nation of only 25 million people to be putting out. Perhaps it is an alarming indication of Polish communist belligerence.

Compare this with peaceful Canada's spending on national defence. (When one talks of military spending in one's own country, one labels it spending for national defence.) Canada, with a population of fourteen million is planning to spend this year about $2,000,000,000 on "national defence"; that is, more than Poland which has nearly twice the population. A further comparison is this. That country's budget for military expenses amounts to about ten per cent. of the total budget. Canada's two billion for defence amounts to half the total budget.

Who is alarming whom?

Britain's Offer Of Alliance

By SEBASTIAN HAFFNER

THE BRITISH OFFER of a long-term Treaty of Alliance with the future European Defence Community (France, Western Germany, Italy and the Benelux countries) may not materially add much to the present British military commitments in Europe. But it is still a significant new act of foreign policy, because it symbolises, more strikingly than anything that has gone before, the changed British attitude to the federalist developments and aspirations in Continental Western Europe.

◇ ◇ ◇

UP TO LAST YEAR, Britain had been reserved and even slightly opposed to European Federalism. She had had her own conception of European unity—a unity which was to develop through functional inter-governmental cooperation in many fields, without any formal surrender of sovereignty, supra-national authorities, or written constitutional division of powers between national governments and supra-national organs. She had herself pioneered this kind of unity through cooperation in the early post-war years (through such institutions as O.E.E.C., the Brussels Treaty organization, the Council of Europe), and she felt somewhat painfully surprised when several major continental nations, not content with this lose and informal unity, demanded full Federal Union and accused Britain of being the chief obstacle to its achievement.

THE YEARS 1949-1951 saw a fruitless attempt by the "functionalist-minded" Governments—Britain and Scandinavia—and the "federalist-minded" ones—France, Germany, Italy—to persuade each other to accept their respective points of view; an attempt inevitably accompanied by some irritation on both sides.

This attempt ended—on the British side at least in the late summer of 1951. Without much external drama, Britain changed her attitude towards European Federation from one of attempted dissuasion to one of encouragement and constructive aid. This change, still much too little publicised and not always fully appreciated by Continental public opinion, must probably rank as one of the most important positive achievements of Mr. Herbert Morrison in his short and otherwise not too happy tenure of office as British Foreign Secretary; but it has been fully endorsed and given increasingly positive expression by his successor, Mr. Anthony Eden.

THE NEW British policy towards Europe and European federalism is governed by two simple considerations.

First, that the longing for organic union on the Continent, though it is not shared by Britain and her Scandinavian friends for themselves, springs from genuine interests and psychological necessities, and cannot be resisted and frustrated without undermining the relations of trust, friendship and close cooperation which Britain sincerely desires with Continental Europe; that Britain should therefore help and not hinder the striving towards Continental Union.

Secondly, that once Britain withdraws her opposition to Continental Federation and puts active help in its place, there should be nothing to prevent the kind of functional unity and inter-governmental intimacy, which Britain originally envisaged between herself and the individual European nations, from being established between Britain and the future European Union as such.

◇ ◇ ◇

BRITISH POLICY since the autumn of 1951 therefore pursues two aims:

1. To give every possible aid and encouragement to the achievement of a Continental Union in Western Europe:

2. To link this Union from the start with Britain—and Scandinavia, as well as the rest of free Europe—by the closest inter-governmental ties.

In the background there is a third aim, namely to prepare the way for a similarly close relationship with the European Union of America and Canada;

So far, the striving for Continental European Federation—which, to begin with, will comprise France, Western Germany, Italy and Benelux, roughly the old Empire of Charlemagne—has found expression in the establishment of the coal and steel pool under the Schuman Plan and in the—now far-advanced—negotiations for a European Defence Community. British policy now is dominated, first, by the desire to help these two new international entities to birth, to help ensure their success, and to stimulate their development to the full Union that is implicit in them; secondly by the wish to establish from the start the friendliest and closest possible association of Britain with them.

THE DESIGN of this association has now taken recognisable shape in two British proposals which must be seen together—Mr Eden's recent proposals for the reorganization of the Council of Europe and this week's proposal of a British Treaty of Alliance with the European Defence Community.

The point of Mr. Eden's proposals for the reorganisation of the Council of Europe, as is by now well-known, is to link it organically with the Schuman-Plan organisation and the European Defence Community, in such a way that the latter become embedded in the existing Council of Europe. The Council of Europe will then become something like a two-tier organisation, with a broad connecting stairway betwen the two tiers; there will be the inner circle of the six federalist nations, embraced by an outer circle of all the present fifteen member-nations; and there will be every opportunity for those of the latter who should at some stage so desire to change their place from the outer to the inner circle, while the rest will at any rate be associated with the deliberations of the inner group, and the advantages of the wider though loser unity of the whole of Western Europe will not be lost through the closer but smaller union of the six federal-minded nations.

THE NEW OFFER of firm military defensive alliances drives home this conception. It might be said that Britain is already allied with France, Italy and Benelux under the North Atlantic Treaty, and that Germany is covered by the Three-Power Declaration of September 1950 that the three Western occupying Powers will consider any attack on Western Germany as an attack upon themselves. But there is, in the case of Germany, an obvious political and psychological difference between such a one-sided guarantee from on high, given by occupying Powers, and a long-term mutual alliance concluded between equals, and implying a political relationship such as has never existed between Britain and Germany since the days of the Napoleonic wars. There is a similar difference in political meaning and spirit between the individual alliances of Britain with France under the Treaty of Dunkirk, with France and Benelux under the Treaty of Brussels and with France, Benelux and Italy, in the framework of the North Atlantic Treaty, and a special alliance concluded with the European Defence Community as such, embodying the most solemn form of political support for this novel supra-national institution, and giving it, with the same gesture, both Britain's military guarantee and her political blessing.

Some French and Dutch circles would like Britain to go even further and also to guarantee the European Defence Community against internal break-up. This, however, lies hardly on the line of British policy. It must not be forgotten that European Federalism is not, originally, a British aspiration. Britain has now profoundly changed her policy towards it by giving it, not only the "green light" (go ahead) but positive aid and encouragement. But it would be asking too much of her to guarantee and enforce it against possible backsliding by the very nations which are its original champions. To vary a saying of Bismark's, Britain is now helping Europe into the saddle; but it must still do its own riding.

How Russia Won Lead In Jets

(MONTREAL STAR)

ONE of the surprises of the war in Korea has been the performance of the Russian-built interceptor plane, the MIG 15. In some respects, it excels the best fighter the West is able to put into the air at the moment to meet it. It is a little lighter, has the advantage in speed at ceiling altitudes. If it carried fuel for longer range, it would not be so agile, but the conditions of its use in Korea give it an advantage only offset by superior Allied piloting. How the Russians came to have a plane of such quality, in large numbers, so early, is naturally to be questioned. Are they in a position to maintain their present edge?

The situation was rather fully discussed in the House of Lords in debate on the air force estimates. The question to be answered was why Britain, leader in jet engine development, had fallen so far behind in the race both in quantity and quality of military aircraft.

Britain's early jet planes, the Meteor and the Vampire, it was explained, were second-rate because jet engines were mounted in airframes not built to take advantage of their power. Swept-back-wing design appeared to have been worked out earlier in Russia than in either Britain or the United States.

It is presumed that the Russians had the help of German designers. At any rate, when they bought a number of British Nene jet engines in 1947, they had a suitable plane worked out in which to mount them. By July of the next year, existence of the prototype of the MIG 15 was known, and a year later the craft was in volume production. By now, they have several thousands of them.

Their lead, in quantity, is ominous. But it is not without its offsets. By concentrating on volume production of the MIG 15, the Russians have equipped themselves with planes which will soon be inferior to British and U. S. counterparts. Intensive work has naturally been going on in both countries and results will soon be in evidence. Speaking in the House of Lords, Lord De L'Isle expressed confidence that Britain still leads in engine development and that "we have now developed airframes, as well as armament and electronics, to match those very fine engines."

In such undertakings, as building up airforces, the side which first sets out to provide itself with the most of a weapon in which rapid development is going on, gambles against finding itself equipped with the second-best. Mere numbers do not tell the whole story.

On Spanking

(The Tacoma News-Tribune)

A nine-year old San Mateo, California, girl got a spanking which she richly deserved and a 31-year-old aviation mechanic who administered the spanking, got threatened with jail and received a tongue lashing from a judge which, in our opinion, was not deserved at all.

The child, as reported in a news dispatch, ran out in front of the mechanic's oncoming automobile. He managed to stop without hitting her, then got out and administered the before-mentioned spanking.

The little girl's mother was incensed. She had the mechanic arrested and haled into court on an assault charge and the judge took over, with the spanker getting nothing but abuse, and lucky not to end up in the San Mateo hoosegow.

It's hard to get the mother's—or the judge's viewpoint. Seems to us the mother might better have thanked the motorist for doing what she should have done herself. The judge seemed too taken up with the discrepancy in the ages and sizes of the little drama's principles. As for the little girl, it's likely she'll look next time before she runs out into the street. If more little children got spanked then and there for carelessness in the streets, fewer little children would get run over by automobiles. A tip of the hat to the San Mateo mechanic, and may his discouraging experience not cause him to drive any less carefully.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Every valley shall be exalted, and every mountain and hill shall be made low: and the crooked shall be made straight, and the rough places plain: and the glory of the Lord shall be revealed, and all flesh shall see it together: for the mouth of the Lord hath spoken it. (Isa. 40: 4, 5.)

◇ ◇ ◇

Wherefore, my beloved, as ye have always obeyed, not as in my presence only, but now much more in my absence, work out your own salvation with fear and trembling. For it is God which worketh in you both to will and to do of his good pleasure. Do all things without murmurings and disputings: that ye may be blameless and harmless, the sons of God, without rebuke, in the midst of a crooked and perverse nation, among whom ye shine as lights in the world; holding forth the word of life; that I may rejoice in the day of Christ, that I have not run in vain, neither laboured in vain. (Phil. 2:12-16.)

◇ ◇ ◇

Brethren, I count not myself to have apprehended: but this one thing I do, forgetting those things which are behind, and reaching forth unto those things which are before, I press toward the mark for the prize of the high calling of God in Christ Jesus. (Phil. 3: 13, 14.)

Issuing Motor License on Commission

(Ottawa Citizen)

The Ontario Traffic Conference has recommended that the duty of issuing motor vehicle and operators' licenses, and of testing drivers, should be taken out of the hands of private persons wherever possible. The proposal deserves the most sympathetic consideration by the provincial legislature. The current system is understandable, since in smaller communities it would be uneconomic to keep a salaried official when he might only be called upon to issue a few score licenses a year. But it is far from perfect.

At present, the government itself handles the job where the volume of business warrants it. In Toronto, for instance, government employees issue licenses and give drivers' tests. Where it is felt the amount of business is in sufficient—as in Ottawa—the work is given to private persons who receive a commission or fee for each license issued or driver tested. Yet it seems a sound principle that wherever possible official business should not be conducted by private persons on a commission basis, however competently such individuals perform the job.

Quebec follows much the same system as Ontario but with a difference that might well be studied by Queen's Park. Wherever practicable, the provincial police are responsible for issuing licenese. This is done in Hull. Moreover, in Hull a member of the fire department gives the drivers' tests. It might be possible in Ontario to turn over a good deal of this work to the provincial police, who could both issue the licenses and give the tests. A large number of small communities could be covered in this way, and perhaps some of the larger cities. In any case, the provincial government should review the situation in the cities as frequently as possible, so that wherever possible licensing might be placed in the hands of salaried officials without delay, instead of continuing to be done of a commission basis.

Army Forming New Battalions For Training

OTTAWA, April 22 (CP)—The army announced Monday it is forming three new infantry battalions and a new artillery regiment, main ingredients of a brigade, for training purposes.

This will be done by bringing together for the first time the main replacement units for the 27th brigade, now in Germany. The sub-units for the replacement units have been stationed across Canada since they were recruited a year ago under the plan to rotate the men now in Germany, single men in two years, married men in one.

Similar replacement units in Canada exist for the 25th brigade in Korea.

Companies from the Queen's Own Rifles of Canada, Toronto; Victoria Rifles of Canada, Montreal; Royal Hamilton Light Infantry, Royal Winnipeg Rifles, and Regina Rifle Regiment, will form the new 2nd rifle battalion.

Companies of the Black Watch, Montreal; North Nova Scotia Highlanders, Amherst, N.S.; 48th Highlanders, Toronto; Seaforth Highlanders, Vancouver; and Canadian Scottish Regiment, Victoria will form the new 2nd highland battalion.

Other Companies

Companies of the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment, Belleville; Les Fusiliers Mont-Royal, Carleton and York Regiment, Fredericton; Algonquin Regiment, Kirkland Lake; and Loyal Edmonton Regiment will form the new 2nd infantry battalion.

The new artillery regiment, the 81st Field Regiment, Royal Canadian Artillery, will be formed from 205 Field Battery from Valcartier, 213 Field Battery from Winipeg and 216 Field Battery from London, Ont.

Both the infantry and rifle battalions will arrive at Valcartier and the highland battalion at Aldershot, N.S., by May 15 for battalion training. The 81st field regiment will train at Wainwright, Alta., beginning June 1, with its supporting signal troops and light aid detachment.

JIMMY AND FRIENDS—Most young boys are content with one puppy but 11-month-old Jimmy Beckett of Edmonton has hit the jackpot. His 1½-year-old English bulldog gave birth to a litter of 11 puppies, 10 of whom lived.

Canadian Dollar Boost Problem For Exporters

By HAROLD MORRISON
Canadian Press Staff Writer.

The Canadian dollar has swiftly scaled the heights to world supremacy, but a lot of Canadians wish it would come rolling down the hill again.

These are the vast army of Canadian exporters— newsprint producers, gold miners, and wheat growers—who stand to lose millions of dollars in trade potential and actual exchange simply because Canada has the strongest dollar in the world.

With the dollar at a two-cent premium, the cost of Canadian imports from the United States is cut, but Canadian prices goods become that much more expensive to the foreign buyer.

And exporters who fix the price of a product in terms of U.S. funds find part of their revenues has suddenly disappeared. They were far better off, they have told the government, when the dollar was worth only 90 cents U.S.

Newsprint Headache

Take the case of the newsprint exporter, the leader in Canada's export trade. His price is fixed at $116 a ton in U.S. funds at New York.

When the dollar was at a near 10-per-cent discount, he got more than $125 a ton in Canadian currency. But now with the dollar at a two-cent premium, his price in Canadian dollars has suddenly shrunk to less than $114.

The Canadian gold-producer, already heavily hit by a fixed official gold price and mounting production costs, found that the official Canadian price has shrivelled to about $34.40 a ounce from $38.50, the price he got when the dollar was at a discount. The official price in U.S. dollars is $35.

Perhaps the most astonished of all is the wheat-grower. He agreed to sell wheat under an international wheat agreement at a ceiling of $1.80 a bushel for No. 1 Northern, again in U.S. funds. When the dollar was at a discount, he got about $1.98 a bushel from foreign countries. Now Canada gets even less than $1.60.

Equally Upset

Equally perturbed by the glittering Canadian dollar is the tourist-camp operator. Formerly, the biggest bait to haul in the American tourist was the 10-per-cent premium on American funds. Now the American spender can't even get a dollar for his American green-back. It's worth about 98 cents.

Rise of the dollar has cut the cost of essential and non-essential imports—which total about $4,000,000,000 annually. But it has cut Canada's chances of competing with American exporters for markets abroad.

The United Kingdom, for example, now can buy cheaper—on an exchange basis—in the U.S. than in Canada. Canadian manufacturers, who have to compete with American producers in the Canadian market, now find the Americans have a slight edge.

Working Against Them

And Canadian exporters who have to compete with American producers in the American market find the dollar working against them. The Canadian price tends to act as a temporary tariff barrier—almost the same kind of barrier which Canada has been trying for years to cut away in a drive for higher exports.

The dollar boost has a lot of other tricky results. It makes Canada's official reserves of gold and dollars—which total about $1,750,000,000—a little more expensive.

A big part of these reserves was built up when the Canadian dollar was at a discount—that is the American dollar was purchased at about a 10-per-cent premium. Now the value of these dollars have dropped. If the government sells these dollars, it can get only about 98 cents—a loss of about 12 cents.

These penny losses sound small when related to a dollar, but it becomes big business when Canadians consider that their export trade almost touched the $4,000,000,000 mark last year.

Elect Russell IAPA President

TORONTO, April 22 (CP) — N. E. Russell of Toronto Monday was elected president of the Industrial Accident Prevention Associations of Ontario. He succeeds A. D. Baillie of Hamilton.

W. H. Gibson, Tillsonburg, was elected first vice-president, and R. H. Rutherford, Hamilton, second vice-president. E. O. Morgan, Toronto, is honorary treasurer.

Newly-elected chairmen of accident prevention associations representing various classes of manufacturing industries include N. M. Kensit, Sault Ste. Marie and W. G. Kotchapaw, Fort William.

Divisional chairmen who become directors include: H. M. Burley, Belleville; R. V. Dixon, Kitchener; E. W. Button, Welland and J. Petford, Stratford.

Farm Population Drop

OTTAWA, April 22 (CP)—Canada's farm population declined by more than 320,000 in the last 10 years, the Bureau of Statistics reported Monday. The decennial census completed last June showed a 10-per cent drop in farm population to 2,827,732, the bureau said.

Must Work Together Junior Farmers Told

GUELPH, April 22—(CP)—The ability to work together is one of the most valuable things that can be learned, Gordon Graydon, Progressive Conservative member of parliament for Peel, said Monday.

In an address to the annual conference of the Junior Farmers Association of Ontario, Mr. Graydon said that in his opinion the individual cannot do much alone. The strength of the group or nation lies in being able to work with others.

Dies From Injuries

HAMILTON, April 22 (CP) — Mrs. Hazel Reinveille, 38, died Monday of injuries suffered Saturday when she was run over by a train near her home at Beamsville, 20 miles east of here. About 20 boxcars passed over her legs as she lay between the rails. Both feet were severed. She and her husband, Donat, were taking a short cut across the tracks when the accident occurred.

Granted Divorce

SANTA MONICA, Calif., April 22 — (AP) — Mrs. Clark Gable Monday won a divorce from the actor on testimony that Gable told her "I don't wish to be married to you or anyone else." The former Lady Ashley hobbled into court on crutches to make a brief appearance. Gable was not present. A recent auto accident was responsible for injuries necessitating crutches for Mrs. Gable.

Two Airwomen Marry As Joke

TORONTO, April 22 (CP) — Two airwomen who married airmen last week "on a joke" following a 10-hour acquaintance are being held by police.

Their airmen husbands, Roy Penner, 20, and Robert Gordon, 20, both of Vancouver, have been charged with stealing the automobile used in the elopment.

The girls, Grace Brinton, 20, of Vancouver, and Joyce Ferguson, 19, of Winnipeg, are being held for arrival of authorities from the Aylmer bombing and gunnery school where they were stationed. Police said the girls, who joined the R.C.A.F. six months ago, treated their marriage "as a joke."

The men also have been charged with robbing with violence a man they met while drinking and with breaking into a factory.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Efforts are being made by the O.L.A. executive to keep Brampton in the senior "A" grouping. Excelsiors said loss of several players and spiralling costs of operating a club in such a wide-spread group were forcing 'em to fold. That club down the years has proven a fine attraction around the circuit and has produced many top players. It is hoped that Excelsiors change their minds within the next week and get back in under the May 1 deadline. Owen Sound Crescents have returned to make it presently a seven-team loop along with Petes, Toronto, Mimico, Hamilton, Fergus and St. Catharines. Naturally, an eight-club grouping would be a better-balanced setup.

* * * * * *

Top 10 scorers last year in senior gutted-stick play, according to O.L.A. figures, were: Don McPhail of Mimico with 108 points, Harry Wipper of Petes 90, Jack Dorney of Hamilton and Ike Hildebrand of the locals with 82 each, Ken Dixon of Mimico with 81, Arn Dugan of Petes next with 72, four more than clubmate Curly Mason, while Al Garbutt of Brampton and Russ Slater of Timbermen had 67 each, and Blain McDonald of Hamilton 66. Showing that we have five of the top 10 point-getters in senior lacrosse ranks. And three on the all-star squad: Moon Wootton, Jerry Fitzgerald and Harry Wipper. Some of the reasons why this club took it all in Canada last year.

Some Adverse Criticism

Oshawa scribe says: "News that Oshawa Merchants' executive feels that a one-dollar admission fee will be necessary to even partially offset the expenses of travelling, etc., in the Niagara league this summer has created considerable opposition comments among local fandom. Nearly all those opposed suggest that the fee be 75 cents. We suggest that the fee be even less than 75 cents! There'll be only 14 actual home games in the schedule — Tonawanda playing four-point tilts — so why not sell a season's ticket for $10? That would make it a little less than 75 cents for each scheduled home game and would prove if a lot of these fellows are really ball fans or merely squawkers."

* * * * * *

One could easily be accused of chewing sour grapes, but we do feel that John Harris & Co. are going a bit overboard on packing a senior ball club — of our so-called amateur variety — up in this part of the province. The packed Merchants really belong in the Intercounty League, which is of nearly Class "B" pro calibre. They're too strong for the C.O.B.L. and the Toronto loops, and hence have to go away down to the Niagara district for a league since the Intercounty Loop turned down their application. Well, such trips for paid players cost a lot of money. Whether or not the fans will pay the freight in Oshawa remains to be seen. Meantime, local Oshawa talent isn't being given much encouragement. It might be that Mr. Harris is hurting more than helping ball in the Motor City.

Petes Back In C. O. B. L.

Six or seven clubs will operate this season in the C.O.B.L., Batawa being undecided till this weekend. Sure entries last eve were: Kingston, Napanee, Picton, Belleville, Trenton Flyers and the Petes. Either three or four home games against each club, depending on the number of entries, play starting May 24. Jack Devine of Belleville is president, Yip Radley of Kingston vice-prexy, and George Carver of the Quinte town secretary-treasurer. A representative of each club on the executive, too. Schedule will be drawn up next week and okayed at a final spring meeting on May 12. Meantime, the Petes have a re-organization meeting at seven p.m. Thursday in the "Y."

Men's City Softball League will go this semester with either four or six teams, 'twas announced last e'en. East City —seeking a sponsor—will be back, along with U.E.W., Revoy's and Lakefield, while George Hawke's Keene crowd and a southend squad are interested in climbing aboard. There's room in the loop for a team manager and a couple of coaches; anyone interested can contact one of the executive. Another meeting to be held next Monday evening in the Y.M.C.A. to further plans. Season will be opening the latter part of next month, with twin bills going again twice weekly under the Bowl arcs.

Batting Figures Cross Up Baseball Experts

NEW YORK, April 22 (AP)—Figures never lie but statistical-minded fans must have wondered as they scanned the American League batting averages Monday. And who could blame them?

What name do you think headed the list of hitters? George Kelly? Ted Williams? Larry Doby? Ferris Fain? No, sir. It was none other than Gerry Coleman of the New York Yankees.

Coleman, who swatted a robust .249 and placed exactly 104th last year, was leading the pack with a torrid .556 mark.

And what name was on the bottom of the list of about 200 hitters? Some wild swinging pitcher? Or some nervous, rookie reserve infielder? Not at all. Last on the list was none other than last year's batting king, Ferris Fain, of the Philadelphia Athletics.

Coleman, who never has hit .500 in his big league career, had collected 10 hits in 18 times at bat, hitting safely in each of his first five games. Fain, who hit .344 in 1951, was batting exactly .000. The fancy-fielding first baseman had gone to bat 21 times without making a single safety.

The same question was put to Coleman and Fain but with a different approach.

"How do you account for your super hitting this spring?" Coleman was asked.

"I've been lucky," the modest Coleman replied. "I'm just hitting them where they ain't. I'm swinging the same way and I'm using the same bat. The balls are just falling in."

The question was put a little more tactfully to Fain.

"How do you account for your failure to get started?" Fain was asked.

"I've been gosh-darned unlucky," the cocky Fain growled. "I'm just hitting them where they are. I'm swinging the same way and I'm using the same bat. The balls are just going right at the fielders.

"I hit two line drives opening day against the Yankees and both were caught. I hit four line drives in Boston and all were right at somebody."

All this took place before the Yankee - Athletics game. How did Coleman and Fain fare during the game, you ask? Just as you might suspect. Coleman failed to get a hit in four times at bat. Fain collected two hits and drew two walks for a perfect day.

LEAVES FOR HOME

Coach Dick Irvin, of Montreal Canadiens, Monday night bade an official goodbye for the summer to his hockey players at a farewell dinner. He said he hoped to see them all next season and that retention of some older players at the outset of the season just closed had eventually proved wise. There was no word of any changes in the make-up of any club, which finished second in the N.H.L. season and lost to Detroit in the Stanley Cup final.

13 Horses Probable Derby Starters

LOUISVILLE, Ky., April 22—(AP) — Thirteen horses were counted today as probable starters for this year's Kentucky Derby.

The historic race, 11 days away, was developing into a wide-open affair.

This uncertainty may result in a startling field of more than the "baker's dozen" when the strains of "My Old Kentucky Home" call the horses to the post.

Here they are, and there'll likely be more:

Sub Fleet, Happy Go Lucky, Master Fiddle, County Flame, Cousin, Hannibal, Pintor, Blue Man, Arroz, Hill Gail, Cold Command, Gushing Oil and Smoke Screen.

The superstitious eyed that "13" figure with some misgiving. For the Derby jinx, in the form of training injuries or illness, was taking its toll.

Just Monday, Tom Fool, Primate and Jampol, three of the east's candidates, were declared out.

But this, somewhat paradoxically, may mean more entries for the $100,000 added classic that'll be run at Churchill Downs Saturday, May 3, for the 78th time.

Chances Reviewed

For when a top-flight horse, like Tom Fool, say, is withdrawn, other prospects' chances are reviewed. And, where before a nominee might have been considered doubtful, he's made a starter.

Trainer John Gaver decided Tom Fool is "too valuable" to risk shipment for the derby after the winner of $155,910 as a two-year-old developed a cough. The Jock Whitney colt was second to Master Fiddle in last Saturday's Wood Memorial.

Injuries suffered in the Wood running put out the Starmount Stable's Primate and Max Kahlbaum's Jampol.

An injury in a prep event at Keeneland, near Lexington, Ky., also resulted in Alladier of the Harborvale Stable being withdrawn.

COBOURG PILOT — Howie Dalton, former senior ball star with the Petes, has taken over the job of managing Cobourg Legionnaires in the intermediate "A" Lakeshore League this season. He may be playing manager, holding down an infield berth.

Cobourg Champs In New Circuit

COBOURG, April 22—Cobourg's 1951 provincial ladies' intermediate A.A. softball champion club will be back in the running again this year, Thomas Shaw, manager-coach of the titlists announced Monday. The club probably will be named Cobourg Merchants.

The team will also enter a different setup this year since the parent loop last year, the Peterborough City League, will be broadened to include Belleville. Only three teams are expected to enter from Peterborough. They are Ashbys, Outboard Marines and Westclox. Another team is a possibility but in that event it is expected one of the Liftlock clubs would be replaced, probably the Clocks.

The future of the Lakeshore Ladies' loop is in doubt at the moment. The withdrawal of the Belleville entry reduces it to two teams, Baltimore and Grafton. Belleville have signified their intention of entering the Peterborough City League.

Devine Heads C.O.B.L. With Six Clubs

Jack Devine of Belleville last night was elected president of the Central Ontario Baseball League at the re-organization meeting in Belleville. Harry (Yip) Radley of Kingston is vice-president, George Carver of Belleville secretary-treasurer, with an executive committee of one member from each competing club. Club delegates from Peterborough were Cy Whatley, Lloyd Grose and Jack McNamara.

Six teams made definite entry: Kingston, Napanee, Picton, Belleville, Trenton Flyers and Peterborough. A seventh, Batawa, is undecided and has till this weekend to enter. If seven clubs are in, the C.O.B.L. will operate a 36-game schedule. If six make up the loop, a 40-game schedule will be drawn up for the May 12 meeting. Play begins on May 24.

THE Calvert SPORTS COLUMN

by Elmer Ferguson

This column is composite—a voice crying in the wilderness, and a man engaged in the futile process of locking the stable after the horse has departed. But wilderness or not, this voice is still in favor of the Grey Cup final being played as a home-and-home series, between the eastern and western football winners. Pretty nearly everybody else has declared to the contrary, including the Canadian Rugby Union itself, but we still claim the right to speak our piece on behalf of fans, east and west, because we happen to think that under the present one-game final, the fans don't get a fair break.

We grant freely that the one-game football final in Toronto is the greatest sports show Canada produces, and that Varsity Stadium at Toronto with its tarpaulin-covered field is better fitted than any other one place in the Dominion for such an event. On the drama of a one-game final, and on the setting and equipment, there's not the slightest argument.

But the world's baseball series and the Stanley Cup series are reasonably dramatic events too. Yet they are not settled in one game, in a city which may be a neutral battle-ground, many miles from the home-sites of the contending teams. The folks who make possible, by their seasonal box-office contributions, the very existence of the winning teams in the American and National baseball leagues, and in the National Hockey League, get a chance to see their beloved heroes in the final classic, and that's more than you can say, as a general rule, of the Canadian football final. And we happen to think this isn't fair to the fans who have supported the winning teams.

To this radical observer, the one-game set-up is the height of frustration for fandom in the home cities of the winning teams, something akin to throwing the audience out of a theatre just as the dramatic finale of a gripping thriller is about to begin.

Perhaps we're wrong. We're merely offering the opinion that the Grey Cup could follow, in lesser fashion, the pattern of the world's baseball series or Stanley Cup series, and be settled by home-and-home games, one in each of the cities whose team won the title. We believe the fans in Ottawa, Montreal and Hamilton would like to see the team they made possible playing for the top honors. So would fans in Winnipeg, Edmonton, Regina and Calgary who under present plans can't get a peek at the play at all, at least not until television comes in.

While we're in a mood which is not one of sweet reasonableness, we might as well disagree, too, with the hoist to eight imported players per team, as against seven. This, we believe, furnishes double discouragement for Canadian athletes seeking a football career. Eight imports minimize their chances of making any of the major teams, and the salaries necessary to lure American players here leave little money, comparatively, for Canadian athletes, thus obscured in their own game.

We believe the C.R.U., as an economic measure to protect clubs which are spending too much money on imports as it is, should have reduced the number of imports. But, after all, we're merely a voice crying in the wilderness.

Chicago Cubs Stump Experts In Second Place With 7-1 Win

By JACK HIND, Associated Press Sports Writer

Phil Cavarretta is mixing a "mickey" for the contenders who expect to fatten up on his Chicago Cubs. Nobody gave the Cubs a tumble in the pre-season picks. One brave soul gave them fifth place. But 93 of the 124 baseball writers stuck them in the cellar, a position they may yet merit. In the first week of the season the Cubs didn't go down to visit their old basement quarters once. With a 4-2 record they're traipsing along in a second-place tie with Cincinnati —of all people.

Maybe the Cubs and Reds will find their level when the boys hit their stride. In the meantime they deserve the "much improved" label.

The Brooklyn Dodger surplus, gleefully unloaded on the Cubs in the last few years, is doing a big share of the job. Paul Minner, Turk Lown, Bob Ramzzotti, Toby Atwell and the rest.

Minner threw a three-hitter at Pittsburgh Monday night for a 7-1 victory while the Cubs racked rookie Ronnie Kline and three successors. One of the hits off Minner was Jack Merson's second homer of the season.

Minner's double and Ramazzotti's single chased Kline in the second. The Cubs added the rest off Forrest Main.

Finds Range

Bobby Thomson found the home-run range for the first time since his dramatic pennant-clincher in the 1951 playoffs as the New York Giants wallopped the Phillies, 10-4. Don Mueller also homered and added a triple and single to drive in four runs in the attack on loser Howie Fox and three other Phil pitchers.

Jim Hearn, who beats the Phils like Yankee Vic Raschi beats the A's, made his lifetime record against them 12-2.

League-leading Brooklyn, scheduled for a twi-night doubleheader with the Boston Braves tonight, was idle Monday. So were the Braves, St. Louis Cards and Cincinnati Reds.

The Cleveland Indians with seven straight wins were not scheduled in the American. They open a series at St. Louis with the Giddy Browns tonight. St. Louis, Chicago and Detroit also were not scheduled.

Raschi racked up the Philadelphia A's for the eighth straight time, running his lifetime record against them to 22-2, with the New York Yankees' 5-1 triumph.

Little Bobby Shantz gave only five hits, including Mickey Manale's homer, but the boys didn't back him up. The A's left 10 on base and hit into four double plays.

Big Headache

Gil McDougald was the big headache for the A's. They couldn't seem to do anything right when he was up. Gus Zernial's error on his double let the tie-breaking run score in the second and set up another. Gil whiffed at a third strike in the fourth but catcher Joe Astroth let the ball get away and then threw wild. Before the A's recovered, a double by Jackie Jensen and a single by Charlie Silvera added two more runs.

Julio Moreno, fit and ready after a winter in the Cuban league, whipped the Boston Red Sox for the second time, 3-2. Moreno is the only pitcher to beat the Sox this season. Sam Mele's long fly to centre with the bases loaded in the eighth gave Washington its winning run.

Detroit Players Dominate Team

MONTREAL, April 22—(CP)—For the second year in a row, the National Hockey League's all-star team is dominated by members of the Stanley Cup champions, Detroit Red Wings.

Four Detroit players were chosen for the team, picked by hockey writers and broadcasters in the six cities of the league. The other places went to members of Montreal Canadiens.

The Detroit players, who also made the team last year, are goalie Terry Sawchuk, defenceman Red Kelly, right wing Gordie Howe and left wing Ted Lindsay. The Montrealers are defenceman Doug Harvey and centre Elmer Lach.

The awards were made on the basis of five points for a first choice, three for a second and one for a third with three ballots being sent in from each city.

Chosen on the second team were goalie Jim Henry of Boston, defencemen Hy Buller of New York and Jim Thomson of Toronto, centre Milt Schmidt of Boston and wingers Maurice Richard of Montreal and Sid Smith of Toronto.

"Last Season" Mize Declares

NEW YORK, April 22 (AP)—John Mize, terror of major league pitchers for nearly two decades, said Monday that this is his last season for lugging the big willow to the plate.

"I decided to play this one out and then quit," the first baseman of New York Yankees said.

"I'm tired of all this travelling. That bat feels heavier every time I walk up there to hit. I'm tired of reading in the papers every time I see my name mentioned: 'Old Man Mize. Old Man Mize'."

The 225-pound slugger, traded to the Yankees by New York Giants in August, 1949, added:

"I'll be 40 by the time another season rolls around. I figure I've had it.

"I've bought into a little business down in Deland, Fla.—the liquor package business. I've also bought a 12-acre place with two fishing lakes in my back yard and some nice orange groves . . .

"Down in Deland (pop. 10,000) they've told me I can manage their club Class D any time I get tired up here. I may take them up on that."

Race Winners

YONKERS, N.Y., April 22 (AP) Symbol Chance and Volo Chief won the split sections of the $6,000 Eastchester Pace at Yonkers raceway Monday night. Driven by Paul Vineyard, Symbol Chance defeated Stanley Dancer's Josedale Bold by a half length in 2:07 flat to pay $12.40. In the second section Dancer's Volo Chief took the lead at the start and 2:06.4 seconds later he was in the winner's circle for a $6.50 payoff.

Indians Fly To Fort William

TORONTO, April 22 — (CP) — Stratford Indians left by plane Monday night for Fort William for the opener tonight of their Allan Cup hockey finals against Fort Frances Canadians.

Playing - coach Pat Wilson crossed his fingers before the take-off and said: "Believe me, we'd like to take this series in four games." The series is a best-of-seven-games affair.

"We're in good shape and the morale is high," he said. "We're confident enough, but don't know very much about Fort Frances."

Home-town support has been high. The Stratford Junior Chamber of Commerce collected $2,746 in an attempt to have the games broadcast and expects the fund will reach $4,000 by tonight. An announcer and radio technician have been sent to Fort William, site of two games. Remainder of the games will be played in Fort Frances.

Deny Bubba Church In Phillies Doghouse

PHILADELPHIA, April 22 — (AP) — Pitcher Bubba Church, who won 15 games for the second-division Philadelphia Phillies last year, hasn't appeared in a game this season.

Manager E. Sawyer Monday denied that Church was in any kind of "doghouse" and said that the young righthander, rated number two on the Phillies staff behind Robin Roberts at the beginning of spring training, was not yet in shape.

Church has refused to talk about the subject except to say that it was up to the manager when he would pitch.

Church, with a 15-11 record last year, was right behind Roberts in the win column for the Philadelphians. Twice during training this season he was relieved in exhibition games after losing big leads. He missed five days of training due to the illness of his mother.

Tomorrow's Games:

Wednesday—Buffalo at Ottawa; Syracuse at Montreal; Springfield at Rochester; Baltimore at Toronto.

Orioles Whip Rochester 14-2 For Second Win

By The Associated Press

Paul Stuffel, promising Baltimore righthander has one drawback—wildness.

Stuffel has fanned more than 1,000 men during his five seasons in the min[illegible] including a term with Toronto Maple Leafs—and also has two no-hitters to his credit but lack of control has kept Stuffel in the International League.

The 24-year-old prospect, property of Philadelphia Phils, turned turned in his second victory without a defeat Monday night as the Orioles walloped Rochester Red Wings 14-2 in the circuit's only game.

Stuffel scattered seven hits, fanned three but walked seven. The Orioles blasted three Red Wing pitchers for 18 hits including home runs by Roy (Stormy) Weatherly and Russ Kerns.

A scheduled game between Toronto and Springfield was postponed to permit Toronto to catch a train. The league is idle today.

"Opening day" will be staged in four cities tomorrow with Syracuse at Montreal, Baltimore at Toronto, Springfield at Rochester and Buffalo at Ottawa.

Who Will Succeed Stalin?

Malenkov Might Steal The March On Molotov

By LEON DENNEN,
NEA Staff Correspondent

PARIS — (NEA) — With Stalin dead, will Vyacheslav M. Molotov and Georgi M. Malenkov decide to fight it out for the succession?

Twelve years younger than Molotov, fat, cold-eyed Malenkov occupies a position almost as exalted as his older rival. He is a more forceful personality than Molotov. He is potentially more powerful since, as General Secretary, he controls Russia's Communist Party machine with its 6,000,000 members.

In Lenin's "Testament" Stalin was described as "rude" and "brutal." The "Father of Russian Bolshevism" cautioned his followers not to give Stalin too much power. But the warning came too late.

In a dictatorship where only a single political party wields power, Stalin had the Communist machine firmly in his grip by the time Lenin died. By skillfully manoeuvering among Lenin's potential successors he was able to eliminate them one by one until he achieved unlimited power.

Controls Patronage

Like Stalin, Malenkov climbed to power by controlling Communist Party patronage.

Will history repeat itself?

Malenkov is the perfect example of the Communist caregrist. Little is known about his personal life. The private lives of the Politburo members are surrounded by strict secrecy. Malenkov is known to have married twice—first to one of Molotov's secretaries and now to a Moscow actress.

Next to Molotov, Malenkov and Lavrenti P. Beria, chief of the MVD, are perhaps the only men Stalin trusts completely. They know more of the aged dictator's secrets than anyone else in Russia.

Ten years ago, Malenkov was an obscure student of engineering at Moscow's Polytechnic school. Today he is the most feared man in the Communist underworld.

He is Secretary General of the Russian Communist Party, member of the Politburo, Vice Premier of the Soviet Union, boss of the Cominform and Stalin's personal secretary. And he has been the fat man at the Red dictator's elbow in recent group pictures of the Soviet hierarchy.

Stalin's Crown Prince number two celebrated his 50th birthday last January. His face glowered from the front page of every Soviet and satellite newspaper. As a birthday gift he received the Order of Lenin (for the second time)—communism's highest decoration.

The Politburo's tribute to Malenkov was so lavish and gushing that many western Cominformists wondered if Stalin's secretary had been finally chosen in place of Molotov as the dictator's successor.

But this now seems more likely to be another move in Stalin's "zig-zag tactic." It was official confirmation that the young, energetic and ruthless Bolshevik is now to be regarded, like Molotov, as a kind of supplementary "protector" of the Russian people.

In 1949, the 50th birthday of Lavrenti P. Beria, mysterious chief of the secret police (MVD), director of Russia's vast net of slave-labor camps and Minister responsible for atomic energy, was celebrated similarly.

Having started his political career by aiding Stalin in his fight against "Trotskyites" and other "enemies and spies of capitalism," Malenkov's rise in the Politburo hierarchy has been meteoric. His ambition is unbounded.

Bold And Ruthless

As director of Russia's tank and aircraft industry, Malenkov was tireless during the war, working around the clock for days at a time. He was bold, ruthless and fearless.

On many occasions he even cracked down on top Communist bureaucrats. One of his victims was Polina Zhemchuzhina, Molotov's wife whom he fired as Commissar of the Fish Industry. Since then, not much love has been lost between the two Red princes.

When the first conference of the Cominform was held, Malenkov was at the side of Andrei Zhdanov. Now Zhdanov is dead and it is Malenkov who, in the heart of the Politburo, is charged with the "liquidation" of the "Tito Affair."

Malenkov, like Beria, belongs to what novelist Arthur Koestler calls "the generation without an umbilical cord." It is a generation that knows practically nothing of public life, before the advent of communism. It is even remote from the tradition which, for good or ill, inspired Lenin and the early fathers of Bolshevism.

Malenkov has never set foot on non-Communist soil. He knows nothing of democratic society. He never had a chance to compare political systems. He learned his lessons under Stalin and has always been blindly faithful to the Stalinist brand of aggressive communism.

With Beria's help Malenkov might even steal a march on Molotov. Beria and Malenkov were once reported to be bitter enemies. Now they are apparently united in their common opposition to Molotov.

$100-$168 Cut In Car Price

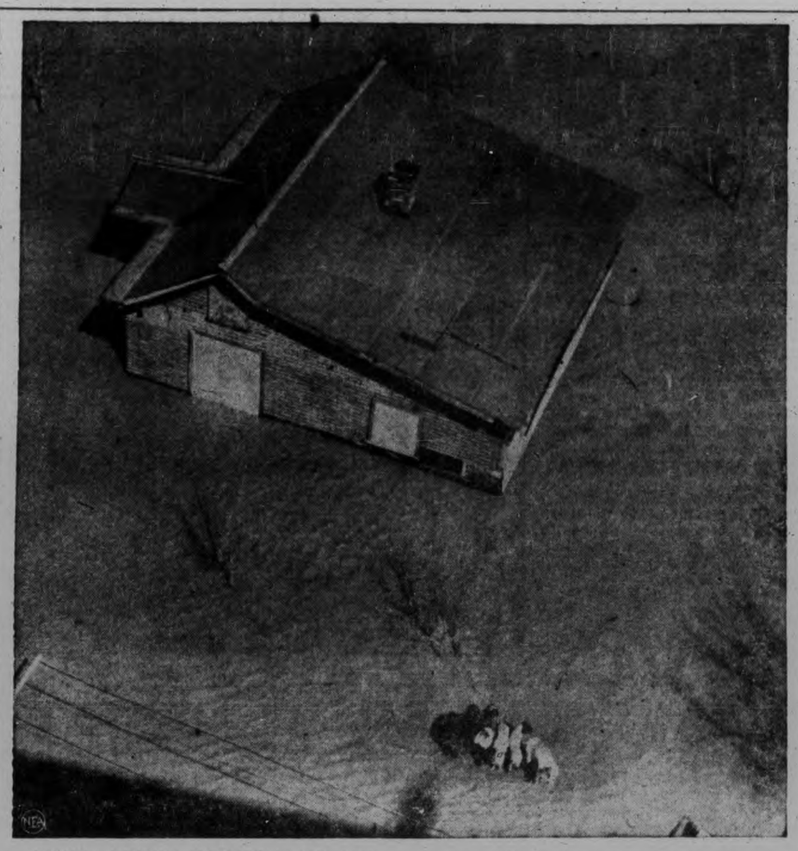
DETROIT, April 22 (AP). — The first substantial price reduction to be announced by any auto company in many months became effective Monday, with a $100 to $168 cut in Kaiser-Frazer's Henry J. line.

The reduction does not indicate a trend in auto prices generally, according to automotive authorities. Increases have been the rule and there isn't likely to be any definite price action by other manufacturers until certainty about steel prices has been removed.

Automotive circles interpret the Kaiser-Frazer action as an effort to readjust the competitive position between this newest model in the Kaiser-Fraser line and the average price of other larger cars in the lower-priced field.

DIAMOND STATE

Arkansas is the only state of the United States in which diamonds have been discovered.



FLOOD BRINGS TRAGEDY TO ANIMALS — Five dogs huddle miserably on the last dry spot of land to be found on a farm near South Sioux City, Neb. Unable to escape the flood waters, hundreds of domestic animals have perished in territory inundated by the Missouri River.

Would Transfer Divorce Cases

OTTAWA, April 22 — (CP) — Stanley Knowles (CCF—Winnipeg North-Centre) Monday night appealed to the Commons to relieve parliament of jurisdiction over divorce cases from Quebec and Newfoundland.

He called for second reading of a bill that would have divorce cases from Quebec and Newfoundland referred to the Exchequer Court rather than to parliament.

Dr. Pierre Gauthier (L—Portneuf) opposed the measure, saying it would give the people from Quebec and Newfoundland more "facilities" for divorce.

The bill, still under discussion at the adjournment hour, may not come up again during the session.

Canadian Farmers Have Bright Future

GUELPH, April 22 — (CP) — Canada's farmers have bright prospects, Dr. H. L. Patterson, director of the Ontario Agriculture Department's farm economics branch, told the Ontario Junior Farmers' conference here Monday.

Mr. Patterson said farm help can be expected to demand higher wages in line with industrial wage rates.

But Canada's population is likely to increase 20 per cent in the next 10 years, he said. Few crops showed a 20-per-cent surplus this year, and the population increase would provide a good demand for farm produce.

Springville Y.P.U. Holds Annual Dinner

SPRINGVILLE, April 22 — (ENS). — The Young People's Union of the Springville charge held its annual banquet in the basement of Springville United Church on Thursday evening. Forty-two young people sat down to the supper. The tables were beautifully decorated with flowers and at head table the placecard favors made by Miss Lois Paddock were especially pretty.

Hazel McIntosh, president of the Y.PU., presided for the banquet. In proposing the toast to the Queen she mentioned that on acount of her youth, she was especially dear to the hearts of the young people of the Commonwealth. The toast to the Church was proposed by Miss Eleanor Whitfield, who, after relating some humorous stories of what had taken place in a church building, stressed the thought that Jesus had said His house was to be a house of prayer. "The church," she said, "is not merely the building, but it is the Christian believers and it is the only moral and spiritual upbuilding force in the world today."

The Rev. A. E. Larke responded to the toast.

Bryce Larke proposed the toast to the girls of the Y.PU., and Betty McIndoo responded. Eleanore Bowles, in proposing the toast to the boys of the Y.P.U., emphasized their thoughtfulness in seeing that everyone was provided with transportation to meetings at home and when visiting other unions. Howard Johnston replied on behalf of the boys.

Allan Stevens was the guest song leader for the evening. He was accompanied at the piano by Miss Jean McLeod of Peterborough, who also gave a piano solo.

Creighton Carr entertained with a guitar selection.

The Rev. A. E. Larke introduced the guest speaker of the evening, the Rev. Floyd Honey, a missionary returned from China, who gave a word-picture of the work of the Christian church in China.

Catherine Earl spoke words of thanks to the guest speaker, the song service leader, pianist, and all who had helped make the banquet such a success.

Miss Lois Paddock was convener of the committee in charge of the banquet. She was assisted by Wilma and Myrtle Seymour, Catherine Earl, Lorrbine Paddock, Howard Johnston, and Hazel McIntosh.

Doctor Helps Boy To Walk

TORONTO, April 22 — (CP) — Marty Ornbloom, four-year-old poliomyelitis victim from Los Angeles, will be able to walk normally again because a Toronto doctor performed an operation that no other doctor is believed to have done.

Stricken just after he learned to walk, Marty was left with a muscle in his right hip almost dead.

Dr. William Mustard, of the Hospital for Sick Children, transplanted a muscle from the front of Marty's hip to the back to replace the dead one.

Marty began to walk on crutches and last week took his first step for the second time in his life.

MARCH FIRE LOSS

March fire loss was $2,903 of which $2,538 was estimated for buildings in Chief George Smith's report to the council Monday night. Of 66 alarms, 57 were reported by telephone, and two by sprinkler system.

APPROVE APPLICATION

Application of Trevor Robb and Ivan R. Hendren to build a service station and repair garage at the northwest corner of Aylmer and Brock Sts. was granted by the council Monday night. The motion by Ald. J. E. Gillespie, was seconded by Ald. Norman Graham. The building is to be 46 ft. by 48 ft.

METERS PAY $43,761.79

Curb parking meter receipts in March amounted to $2,578 as compared with $2,219 for that month last year. City square meters contributed $772.77. Total meter receipts since May, 1947, were $136,517.84 to the end of March, plus $7,243.95 for nine months' parking collections at the former market, amounting to $142,761.79.

346 CONVICTIONS

Of the 397 police court cases in March, 246 resulted in convictions, of which 280 were under the Highway Traffic Act, 76 Traffic Bylaw, 19 Liquor Control Act and 3 Income Tax Act. Fines amounted to $2,494.75, of which the city received $1,161; provincial treasury $774, and Justice of the Peace $382, as reported to the council by City Clerk Outram.

EXECUTIVE DEED

A deed of conveyance of the property in Ashburnham which Canada Bread Co. is buying from the city as the site of the modern food industry which they plan to build, received the council's formal sanction Monday night. The bylaw was introduced by Ald. H. S. Longhurst. The company is buying the one-time sandpit for $1,325. It is understood that construction will be begun early in July.

HOME AGAIN—Sgt. Charles Johnson, 721 McKellar St., arrived home from the wars for the second time in less than seven years over the weekend when he returned home from Korea. Johnson is a veteran of the Second World War, seeing action in France and Holland with the Royal Hamilton Light Infantry. In Korea he served with the 2nd Battalion, Royal Canadian Regiment. Johnson and his wife (above) are happy about his 60 days leave.—(Examiner Staff Photo)

Gravestones Broken In St. Peter's

Gravestones, statues and flower vases were completely destroyed at St. Peter's cemetery on Monaghan Road sometime Monday night, causing damage which is expected to be more than $800.

The damage was discovered at 8 a.m. today when caretaker, Romeo Sullivan, 176 Adaline St., arrived at work.

"Whoever wrecked the stones must have been working between 5 p.m. last night and early this morning," said Mr. Sullivan. "It likely was done last night."

The route of destruction staggered throughout the cemetery without any set pattern. But it centred generally along the west side, the back, on the north and south sides. There was no damage done to the tombstones at the front of the cemetery.

The damage included: two statues knocked off the tombstones, one statue completely broken; four $20 flower vases completely destroyed; two white marble monuments snapped off their bases and broken; three smaller gravestones pulled out of the ground; two crosses snapped off; several monuments toppled.

One of the statues broken off was on the grave of little Pauline Gardner, one of 1951's city polio victims. A box of flowers standing nearby had its glass front smashed.

The Rev. F. J. McGuire, head of the cemetery board, said after investigating the damage that it seemed to be the work of "someone with a queer sense of humor and low mentality." The Rev. Ray Garvey accompanied Father McGuire on a tour throughout the cemetery.

Sgt. Charles Johnson Finds Korean Fighting Harder

Fighting was far easier in France than in Korea, an 11-month veteran of the Korean war said today. Sgt. Charles Johnson, who returned to 721 McKellar St., Peterborough, over the weekend explained "the country in Korea is against you." Sgt. Johnson added that Korea is "mountainous, full of rice paddies and dirty."

"We had to get over the country to get at the enemy," he said.

"We tasted blood shortly after," he said. Then his battalion, the 2nd Battalion, Royal Canadian Regiment, was moved into the line.

"It was only a matter of hours; we gained our objectives, the hills and valleys surrounding Chalei, a small village. But then we withdrew under heavy enemy fire."

Got Feel Of Fighting

Johnson explained that the battalion in that clash "got the feel and found out what that warfare's like."

From there they proceeded to rest camp. Later Chalei was retaken and occupied.

The largest undertaking Johnson took part in was with the Commonwealth division, formed last July. The division started pushing on October 3 for the Chinese winter line. Johnson's battalion was only 10 miles from Panmunjon, centre for peace negotiations.

"We captured all our objectives without too much trouble and the casualties were comparatively light for the number of troops."

Johnson praised the Canadian artillery for its part, saying "It was marvellous support, right on the target."

After that push, action was limited to patrolling with the occasional clash with Chinese patrols who were probing the Commonwealth positions.

Won Medal

During one of these clashes, Lieut. Ed Mastronardi, Able company, 2nd Battalion, won the Military Cross for a heroic stand only 1,300 yards from Johnson's position.

Mastronardi, according to Johnson, was in charge of an outpost when the Chinese Reds threw a battalion attack. His platoon repulsed the Chinese twice but later was forced back on the third attack; only one man was killed and 14 wounded.

The platoon's stand apparently discouraged further attacks on the battalion's positions.

Veteran of the Second World War, serving then with the Royal Hamilton Light Infantry in Normandy, France and Holland, Johnson praised his battalion officers "because of their military strategy and consideration of the men's welfare."

I WANT GOOD MONEY

Michael Sadlier, director of the Peterborough Summer Theatre, thinks that the premium on the Canadian dollar is wonderful. In his Bermuda theatre he says that the effect is remarkably bolstering to Canadian prestige. "When a Canadian comes to our box office with a $20 Canadian bill, and is loudly peevish if American dollars are offered in change, the Americans sit up and take notice. They aren't used to the notion that anybody's money is better than their own. It gives them a jolt." Mr. Sadlier ought to know; he is working in Bermuda in a conglomeration of pounds, Canadian dollars and American dollars.

4-Hour Parking After Midnight

Parking limit of motor vehicles on any street in the city is limited to four hours between midnight and 8 am. daily by the action of the council Monday night in adopting recent recommendations of the special traffic committee.

They were included in the report of the finance committee presented by its chairman, Ald. T. D. Miller.

Traffic amendments recently published also prohibits the "parking of motor vehicles on the side of streets which fronts on the entrance to schools, and that City Engineer make a report setting out in detail the parts of streets to which this will apply".

Parking Meers

Parking meters are to be placed on Charlotte St. from Aylmer to Park St.

The one-hour parking area is extended to include: Hunter St. both sides, from Aylmer to Bethune; Simcoe, both sides, Water to Queen; Queen, both sides, Simcoe to Hunter; and Simcoe, both sides, Aylmer to Bethune.

Traffic lights are to be bought for Reid and McDonnel Sts. intersection.

City Clerk Outram was authorized to issue a licence for a used car sales lot to M. A. Curvin and E. Ellis at the southeast corner of Monaghan Road and Albert Sts.

Bradburn's Securities Ltd. received permission to put in a coal chute at the rear of 342 George St.

Hit By Car

Mrs. W. Johnson, R.R. 4, Lakefield, received minor abrasions and bruises to her left hip and arm when she was struck by a car while crossing Reid St., Monday evening.

Mrs. Johnson said she was hurrying to catch a bus. The car, going west on McDonnel St., driven by James Eason, 687 Donegal St., was turning north on Reid St.

17 Chambers Meet At Conference

Discuss Problems Of Organizing C. of C. Programs

Problems of planning a Chamber of Commerce program were discussed today at the first session of the regional conference of chambers and Board of Trade in the district.

Forty-two representatives of 17 boards and chambers met in the Empress Hotel, and after introductory remarks, were split into four groups to discuss program planning.

Representatives were here from Barrie, Stirling, Belleville, Port Hope, Lindsay, and other cities and towns in the region.

Each Reported

A chairman reported for each group, and after all reports were in, Howard H. Gomery, manager of the Kingston Chamber, evaluated their reports.

His evaluation summed up the better points of each report. On determining service projects, he said, it appeared that the best method was to combine a definite program with the opportunistic exploitation of things as they occur.

Besides that, a board or chamber should have a continuing project—such as traffic—which will last over a period of years.

For the assistance of farmers, he said, what was needed was the opinion and sentiment of farmers as a group. Knowing their wishes and needs, a program of assistance could then be laid out.

Should Co-operate

On promoting good local government, Mr. Gomery said the Chamber of Commerce should co-operate with the government in its community, whether or not it endorses that government. The chamber should present its views to the council, so that they will be known.

"It boils down to gettting together," he said of the fourth point—promoting better understanding between businessmen and educators.

Chairman for the day is Dave Thompson, president of the Lindsay Chamber of Commerce. Greetings to the conference were given by Mayor Hugh F. Waddell and Gordon McGavin, president of the Peterborough chamber. C. A. Pollock, of Kitchener, Ontario vice-president of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce, outlined the purposes of the conference.

Foot-Mouth Disease Spreads To Hampshire

LYNHURST, England, April 22 (Reuters).—Britain's foot-and-mouth epidemic has spread to Hampshire where nearly 4,000 animals will be rounded up because of an outbreak at Harbridge, it was announced today.

They include all cattle, sheep and swine in the new forest area in the southwest of the country.

Since foot-and-mouth first showed itself last November about 150 outbreaks have been reported, mostly in Suffolk in the east but also in Surrey, Sussex and Kent, in the south.

About 7,500 cattle, 4,500 sheep and 4,500 pigs have been destroyed.

Agricultural experts place the blame on migratory birds from France, Germany and adjacent European countries.

The Learner

A city youngster received his introduction to wild life the easy way. He walked up to a bear with one hand firmly held in his father's and with the other carefully touched the coarse dark brown fur of the bear—after considerable urging by his father. He didn't appear to be very convinced when his father said it wouldn't hurt him. To him it looked just as fierce and menacing as if it hadn't been killed, mounted and put in front of a store years ago.

Salvation Band From England To Play Here

The Salvation Army's International Staff Band of London, England, comprising 40 musicians, will be heard in a concert at the Brock Street Gardens on Monday, May 19.

Their visit will help accentuate the 70th anniversary of the Army's existence and service in Canada. The first corps in this country was formed in London, Ontario, in May, 1882.

Accompanying the band from London, England, will be its executive officer, Colonel Norman F. Duggins. Commissioner William R Dalziel, Commander of the Army in Canada, is coming from Toronto to Peterborough.

The attendance of the head of the Salvation Army in this country will be an exceptional incident of its tour for the reason that Commissioner Dalziel will be unable to visit many of the Corps in the Band's itinerary.

These were several facts mentioned to the city council in a letter received Monday night from Major J. D. Sharp.

Arrange Dinner

A tentative program for the time available for the Band on May 19 suggests a reception at the City Hall at which Colonel Duggins will convey to Mayor Hugh F. Waddell a written greeting from the Lord Mayor of London.

The council's reception committee of which Ald. Herbert Young is chairman is arranging for a civic dinner for the Salvation Army musicians at the Empress Hotel at 5.30 p.m., leaving ample time until their concert engagement.

It is expected that the International Staff Band will play to a capacity crowd at Brock St. that evening. They represent the highest musicianship of the Salvation Army, and com- to Canada with a great reputation. Queen Elizabeth recently extended to the Band her hope for a successful tour and also that many Canadians would hear its concerts.

Major Sharp, officer in charge of the Peterborough Corps, wrote that fifty members of its band wished to attend the civic dinner and would pay for their own tickets.

Council approved Ald. Young's report of the civic program. The London visitors will be taken on a motor tour of the city during the afternoon, and may have time to visit several of the industries.

Tickets For Members

A motion by Ald. Miller, seconded by Ald. Gillespie, authorized the tickets for the members of the council.

"Those of us who can attend the dinner do so as representatives of the citizens," Ald. Miller said, "and I think it should be at the expense of the city. The members of the council give their service for a small remuneration. We are the only group that has not received any increase in pay."

Ald. John A. Dewart said the appropriation for the dinner was only $100. "I can't see how we can keep within that amount. If the members can attend, I think they should pay their own way."

Ald. Dewart moved an amendment to that effect, but no one seconded it.

Said Ald. Miller: "It was not my intention that we should hold the reception committee to $100."

The motion carried.

Man Sues City Constable For $10,000, Charges False Arrest

Glen R. Tate Arrested Jan. 29 In Home On Charge of Attempted Break-in "Not Sufficient Evidence," Said Magistrate

Glen R. Tate, 24-year-old insurance agent is suing Constable Douglas Farthing of the city police department for $10,000 for false arrest. Believed to be the first action of its kind in the county, the writ was filed on behalf of Tate by his solicitor, John C. Currelly, at the sheriff's office on April 18. Tate was arrested shortly after midnight on January 29, in his home at 197 Dublin St., by Constable Farthing. He was taken to the police station and charged with attempted breaking and entering Doxsee's grocery store.

The store at the corner of George and Dublin Sts., had been broken into about 1:15 that morning and Constable Farthing was investigating the break-in when he arrested Tate at his home.

Mr. Currelly defended Tate who elected summary trial before Magistrate W. R. Philp in police court. He was tried on February 12 and Magistrate Philp dismissed the charge.

"There is clearly not sufficient evidence to put the accused on trial," the Magistrate said when the crown concluded its case against Tate.

The writ states that the plaintiff's (Tate's) claim is "for the sum of $10,000 for annoyance, disgrace and loss of time and earnings and credit and reputation as a result of being falsely arrested and imprisoned without proper cause by the defendant."

Council To Buy Weed Cutter-Plow

Purchase of a machine for weed cutting with snow plow attachment, was authorized by the council Monday night at a cost of $618.95. It was recommended by City Engineer Chalmers.

Details of this versatile machine are: Allen motor scythe with extension axles and three-foot cutting blade (weed cutting) $296. Reversible broom attachment (sweeping sidewalks) $235; extension for reversible broom $16, spare brush section for broom $47.95; snow plow attachment $24; Total $618.95. It is guided by hand.

Mr. Chalmers' report mentioned that the Utilities Commission has had one of the scythes in use for some time and found it "very satisfactory."

Beer Taps Open, Shut 43 Years In Campbellford

CAMPBELLFORD, April 22 — (ENS) — A long dry spell ended here on Monday when, for the first time in 43 years, citizens of Campbellford could legally purchase alcoholic beverages in the town.

An Ontario Liquor Control Board store opened its doors at 10 a.m. Monday, and liquor was purchased legally for the first time in the town for more than four decades. The town went wet October 31, 1951, when voters favored the establishment of both the liquor store and a brewer's warehouse. It was not until Monday that the store was opened.

A new brewer's warehouse will soon be constructed in the town, and until this is completed, the present store is dispensing both liquor and beer.

Although the store was well patronized on its opening day, there was no drunkenness noticed on the streets.

Big Celebration Planned For Duplessis

By RICHARD DAIGNAULT

QUEBEC, April 22 (CP). — The Union Nationale—a party born from strife in Liberal Party ranks and the political flair of a dynamic lawyer—goes all out Wednesday night to toast the man who has given it 12 years of power.

The man is Premier Duplessis, "Le Chef," to some 1,500 party organizers, members and rooters who will be on hand for the affair.

The celebration, a bang-up affair in a decor of fleur-de-lis flags is actually three celebrations in one and promises to be the biggest of its kind ever seen in Quebec.

Partisans from the province's 92 electoral divisions will celebrate the Premier's 25th anniversary of political life, his birthday, and get the party's election campaign rolling.

Mr. Duplessis, a dynamic, active man with a touch of grey in his hair, was 62 last Sunday.

25 Years' Activity

Next May will round out 25 years of active and sometimes headline-making political life in Quebec Province, a fantastic career that saw him rise from party ranks to the leadership of the Conservative party and finally to the head of his own Union Nationale in 1936.

Although official announcements don't come right out and say so, the main reason for the monster gathering is the forth-coming provincial elections.

When the elections will be held is one of the big question marks in Quebec today. July seems to be the likeliest date but there are persistent reports they may be delayed until August or later.

It's pretty sure bet the Premier won't announce the date when he rises to applause and cheers Wednesday night to deliver his big speech of the year to party members.

In 1948, when a similar dinner was held on the eve of elections, the Premier did not announce the date.

With the biggest majority ever held by a party in the provincial legislature, the Union Nationale meets the elections in a confident manner.

Getting In Shape

Its powerful organization now is being geared for an all-out contest against the revamped Liberal party headed by Georges Lapalme.

Despite the powerful organization, the party's sparkplug still is the Premier himself, one of the best off-the-cuff speakers in Quebec and a star performer in Quebec's rural municipalities.

The Quebec electorate will see a slightly older Duplessis when he makes a point against an opponent.

The Premier has apparently recovered completely from a back injury he suffered in Montreal Feb. 2. For a time, the Premier's illness had a wet-towel effect on the party. However, his fast recovery has acted like an elixir.

In the 1948 elections, the Union Nationale elected 82 Legislative Assembly members, against the Liberals' eight in an unprecedented landslide.

BIRD GETS THE BOY—Paul Summit, two-and-one-half years old, doesn't give "Deacon," the talking crow, a chance to give him the bird. 5,000 Workers Accept Offer

HAMILTON, April 22 (CP). — More than 5,000 employees of Canadian Westinghouse Company on Monday night accepted a company offer of a general wage increase of 12 cents an hour.

A stroke had been set for midnight at the company's three plants here.

The contract settlement, negotiated by Local 504, United Electrical Workers Ind., also provides an additional two cents for day workers.

The union originally asked for 30½ cents and the company offered five cents. A conciliation board recommended an eight-cent increase.

Veteran Horseman Trains Mounties For Musical Ride

REGINA (CP)—Richard R. Van Patten, like many country youngsters, had his own horse to ride to school during his childhood days at Kylemore, Sask.

Today Van Patten, a sergeant in the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, is still riding after more than 19 years with the force. As riding master at Regina barracks, he will train 32 mounted men for the famous R.C.M.P. musical ride which is being revised for a tour of Canada and the United States this fall.

The ride was a popular feature at fairs and other large gatherings throughout Canada and the United States before the Second World War. There were no more musical rides until the fall of 1951 when a brief performance was given at Regina barracks for Queen Elizabeth II and the Duke of Edinburgh.

There is nothing new about musical rides to Sgt. Van Patten. He toured with the riding policemen in 1933, 1934, 1936 and 1939. He has ridden in Toronto, New York, San Francisco, St. Louis, Portland, Ottawa and other places.

The Mounties' prestige is high in the U.S. Sgt. Van Patten recalled that when their train stopped over a couple of hours in Spokane, Wash., the entire riding squad was treated to a chicken banquet.

Most of the horses to be used in the ride were raised on the force's ranch at Fort Walsh in the cypress hills of southwestern Saskatchewan. Many are descended from steeds that toured previously.

The horse is not used as extensively by the force as in former days, says Supt. J. C. Story, who, as officer commanding Regina depot division, is in charge of the musical ride. But the animal still comes in handy.

Although R.C.M.P. highway patrols are usually undertaken by automobile, Supt. Story says a mounted man still is tops for handling crowds.

Since the recent announcement that the Mounties would revive the ride, requests have poured in from many parts of the United States and Canada.

Performance points already scheduled include San Francisco, Portland, Ore., and Los Angeles. And the ride will be a major attraction each night at the provincial exhibition in Regina July 28 to Aug. 2.

Lake Ontario Water Level Reported High

TORONTO, April 22 (CP). — Lake Ontario Monday was barely half an inch below its record height in June, 1948, of 249 feet, three inches above sea level.

Should the lake follow the pattern of recent years it was believed it might rise another five or six inches within the next 60 days when water begins to pour in from melting northern lakes and rivers.

Meanwhile, Dr. G. B. Langford, head of the Department of Geological Sciences at the University of Toronto, said today that the best information from engineers in the United States and Canada showed the level of the lake may reach 250 feet this summer. This level, he said, would mean abandonment of "a good part" of the island in Toronto Bay where some 3,000 people live during the summer.

Dr. Langford said the prediction of 250 feet was made unofficially to him by officials of the Corps of Engineers of the U.S. Army.

MONTREAL SINGER WINS —Robert Savoie, who celebrates his 25th birthday Monday, April 21, was announced as the winner of the $750 award as the top male singer in the Singing Stars of Tomorrow 1951-52 radio series. Mr. Savoie, baritone, was a finalist last year. Other awards of $500 went to Joan Hall, of Winnipeg, and John Dunbar, of Victoria, B.C., who were second female and male winners in the series.

Writes Letters When Bored Actor Declares

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, April 22—(AP)—Are you bored, listless, ill at ease? Then write a letter, advises Louis Calhern.

But don't just write your mother-in-law. Write the president of U.S. Steel or someone similar.

"It's sort of a hobby of mine," the actor explained. "I got started with it when I was touring with plays. I was bored with having nothing to do in the evenings. So I began writing letters.

"I happened to own a few shares of stock in the Standard Oil Company of California, so I wrote the firm a letter, giving a few helpful hints on how to run the oil business. Oddly enough, I got a reply in the same vein as my letter. That got me started."

He's Off

"I wrote another oil company, asking if they had ever heard of a blue-eyed Indian named Glassy Tongue. I told them this Indian came into my favorite Speakeasy back in the '20s, said he had oil land in Oklahoma and was going to make a deal with Standard Oil, but took a liking to us in the Speakeasy that he left us in on the deal. I said I hadn't seen him since.

"The company wrote back that it would keep an eye out for any blue-eyed Indian named Glassy Tongue."

For years Calhern has been penning such letters to corporations and famous personages.

"It's an impertinence on my part," he admitted, "but the results have been very amusing. Often the President will write me."

"At present, I am writing the Democratic and Republican National committees," the actor continued. "I am describing to them the qualities which the nation will demand in a presidential candidate. In each case, the inevitable choice leads to Calhern."

Part Of Woman's Dress In U-Boat Wreckage

COPENHAGEN, April 22 (AP) —A bit of a woman's flowered-print dress came out of the sea Monday from the wreckage of a U-boat.

It aroused new speculation and deepened the mystery that probably never will be solved. Were Hitler and his mistress aboard the boat?

The submarine was sunk by R.A.F bombs in 1945.

The wisp of cotton cloth was brought up by a diver, blasting the U-boat apart to salvage the metal.

When the first dynamite charges blasted the hull open two weeks ago, the torpedo tubes were found filled with canned food.

This led to speculation that the boat was loaded with Nazi bigshots, maybe even Hitler and Eva Braun, on the run.

Divers said it probably will never be known who was aboard. Only fragments of human bones were found.

Will Give Pheasants

TORONTO, April 22 — (CP) — Lands Minister Scott said Monday that 50,000 young pheasants will be available from his department this summer for distribution in certain Ontario areas. The birds will be released to sportsmen's organizations and townships for distribution in the Lake Huron, Erie and Simcoe areas and the Trent, Quinte and Rideau districts.

More Blindness

TORONTO, April 22 (CP) — Scientific advances which save the lives of an increasing number of prematurely-born children are indirectly to blame for an increase in a new eye disease, Isabel Thomas, of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind, said Monday. Retrolental fibroplasia, a formation of tissue behind the eyeball, is found only in babies born prematurely. Babies which once would have died now are being saved and the result is an increase in blindness.

A Long Trip

MONTREAL, April 22—(CP)—Sgt. Victor Cormier of the R.C.M.P. arrived in court Monday via dog team, airplane and train to testify in a damage suit. Sgt. Cormier made the long run from the Arctic Circle to appear as a witness in a claim against the Crown. Mrs. Joseph Charette claimed $5,800 for injuries suffered in 1950 when struck by a car in which Sgt. Cormier was a passenger. Judgment was reserved.

Oil Intake Pipes To Be Placed Below Sidewalk

Changes in the bylaw relating to the installation of filler pipes for fuel oil burners were approved by the council Monday night. They were recommended by Fire Chief George Smith and City Engineer Chalmers.

These amendments apply in the central area within the centre line of the following Streets: Aylmer, Murray, Water and Sherbrooke.

"Where premises in that area are being serviced by fuel oil filler pipes, and such premises have no side entrance or rear laneway, such filler pipes shall be installed beneath the sidewalk by city workmen; and charges for the work, based on the City Engineer's estimate of cost of the oil filler unit, shall be paid to the city in advance by the oil unit dealer responsible.

Such filler pipes must be installed beneath the sidewalk not closer than six inches to the face of the curbing . . .

Must Change Installation

All existing filler pipe installations presently on the street shall meet the conditions as provided by Section 496 dealing with enforcing the performance of things required to be done in the bylaw.

After Sept. 1, 1952, it shall be an offence under the bylaw for any supplier of fuel oil to deliver oil into a fuel oil filler pipe on the street unless the owner of the premises, served by the said fuel oil filler pipe, has a permit from the building inspector (City Engineer Chalmers) for such oil filler pipe."

The following is an amendment to the building bylaw: "Permits may be granted by the building inspector for the installation of fuel oil filler pipes under the street sidewalk without reference to the city council when the owner shall have signed the agreement required as above."

Leatherwork Exhibit To Be Shown In West

TORONTO—(CP)—Canada is developing a new native culture.

The Canadian Society of Creative Leathercraft, founded two years ago with 17 members and first of its kind in North America, is sending an exhibit of leatherwork by top craftsmen across the country to prove to Canadians that they have a new art.

The society established by President Deane H. Russell of Ottawa, vice-president, William McFarland of Weston, Ont., secretary, Mrs. R. K. Larmour of Toronto now boasts more than 200 members.

The exhibit, already shown eight times this year in Ontario will be shown in Western Canada and later in the Maritimes.

"Everybody has some ability," says Don MacKinnon, one of the Society's founders and a professional teacher in Toronto. "It's just at matter of getting to them, digging it out."

Say Farewell To Bancroft Family

BANCROFT, April 22 (ENS)—The home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Ashley was the scene of a gathering Thursday evening when about 80 friends of the family from the town line, Bancroft and vicinity gave them a farewell party on the eve of their departure for Beachburg, Renfrew county.

Mr. Ashley and son William are moving immediately to establish their residence on a recently-purchased farm, a mile from the village. Mrs. Ashley, the teacher at Trout Lake public school, will remain here until the conclusion of the school term in June.

The evening was spent in visiting. A large percentage of the guests were present and former school pupils of Mrs. Ashley. For many years Mr. Ashley has been a member of the Faraday township and Bancroft - Faraday public school boards.

Jean Bierworth read an address and the family were presented with an electric clock, iron, toaster, two-burner hotplate and two bedroom lamps. Speaking for the family Mrs. Ashley, the former Norris Weedmark, thanked the gathering and expressed their regrets in leaving the district where they had lived for over a quarter of a century.

Refreshments were served by a committee of friends and neighbours under the leadership of Mrs. Claude Sarginson and Mrs. Gerald Stringer.

Vancouver Firm Gets Contract

SARNIA, April 22 (CP)—Contract for the major portion of a $13,500,000 construction program at the Imperial Oil, Ltd., refinery at Ioco, B.C., near Vancouver, was let today to Canadian Bechtel, Ltd., of Vancouver.

R. W. Dunlop, manager of the engineering division of Imperial's manufacturing department, said ground preparation and preliminary engineering work will start immediately. Erection and preliminary engineering work will start immediately. Erection of new equipment will start in the early fall, and work is expected to be completed by the fall of 1953. About 650 men will be employed at the peak of construction.

The expansion program will raise refinery capacity from a present 12,000 barrels a day, to 22,500 barrels. The enlarged refinery will process crude oil brought from Alberta by pipeline of the Trans Mountain Pipe Line Company.

The expansion includes a fluid catalytic cracking unit with a capacity of 7,600 barrels a day, atmospheric and vacuum distillation units, a gas-recovery unit and a treating plant.

Here and There In Sport

By The Canadian Press

Manager Jim Paul, of Edmonton Flyers reports there is a "definite feeling that before long" the Pacific Coast Hockey League will be the professional circuit next in importance to the National Hockey League. He made the statement after returning from talks with officials of Detroit Red Wings, parent club of the Flyers.

Paul said the status of several clubs of the American Hockey League, now second to the N.H.L., is clouded because of dwindling attendance. He added that the more sucessful A.H.L. cities may wind up being annexed by the N.H.L., with the others meeting the same fate as the defunct United States League.

The Canadian lawn tennis championships will be held at the Toronto Tennis Club, August 16-23, it was announced Monday.

Canadian Olympic cycling trials and the Quebec provincial championships will be staged at Victoriaville, Que., May 3 and 4, it was announced Monday night. The trials are exepcted to produce at least two riders for the Olympics. The provincial championships, open to riders across the country, will see seven champions crowned.

Featherweight boxing champion Sandy Sadler was inducted into the United States army Monday. The lanky, 25-year-old New York Negro will serve for two years. If precedent is followed he'll be allowed to retain his title until he leaves the army.

Australia has added 35 men and four women to its original Olympic games team of 35, but all may not get to Helsinki, Finland, for the summer games. The additions will go only if their sporting bodies can raise sufficient funds for the trip—about $1,650 a head.

Three of the east's Kentucky Derby candidates, including Tom Fool, the two-year-old champion of 1951, were declared out of the May 3 classic Monday because of illness or injuries. Tom Fool, winner of $155,910 for owner Jock Whitney last year, developed a cough. Others out are Starmount stable's Primate and Max Kahlbaum's Jampol, because of injuries. Alabama-owned Alladier also was withdrawn because of an injury.

Ray Famechon, French holder of the European featherweight championship, successfully defended his title Monday night by stopping Britain's Bonnie Clayton in the fifth round of a 15-round bout at London. It was Famechon's fourth victory over Clayton.

Johnny Sewchuk, coach of Brantford Redmen Ontario Hockey Association team and an expert golfer, won't be able to play golf this summer because of a fall at home which injured his spine. The former defenceman for Boston Bruins of the National Hockey League has won a number of Brantford golf titles.

Charles Humez, rising 24-year-old French middleweight, Monday night hammered out a 10-round decision over Laurent Dauthuille in a bloody battle before 15,000 fans at the Palais de Sports, Paris. Humez weighed 156, Dauthuille 158½.

Frank Stranahan and Frank Strafaci, each a double-winner at Pinehurst, N.C., and Billy Joe Patton, last year's runner-up, tied for north and south amateur golf tournament medal honors with two-under-par 70s Monday at Pinehurst. The tie, first in 16 years for the tournament, will be played off later in the week.

The City of Chicago filed suit against the Chicago Stadium Corporation Monday, charging the stadium was overcrowded during the Sugar Ray Robinson-Rocky Graziano fight last Wednesday. Maximum penalty is a $200 fine on conviction but Mayor Martin H. Kennelly has the right to revoke the licence of any business. The case will be heard May. 1.

Springville Mission Plans Special Meeting

SPRINGVILLE, April 22 (ENS)—The Mission Band of Springville United Church met on Saturday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Northey. Fifteen boys and girls were present with their leaders, Mrs. Clifford Johnston, Mrs. Manson Cathcart and Mrs. Ken Hall.

Lynda Northey gave a temperance report and Nancy Johnston a peace report. Plans were made for the May 10 meeting to be held at Roeli Flokstra's home. The handwork period was used in making invitations for the children to take to their mothers, inviting them to this special meeting.

"People Need Friends" was the theme of the worship period and Mrs. C. Johnston gave a talk showing that the most needed friend of all was Jesus Christ. Scripture passages were read by Lynda Northey, Karen Dunford, Donna Northey and Fred Flokstra.

Mrs. Ken Hall led the primary group in their study book period while Mrs. Manson Cathcart had charge of the junior group.

Singing motion songs, playing games and the service of refreshment brought the meeting to a close.

Plans were made to attend the spring Mission Band rally in Mark St. Church on May 3.

Easter Is Meeting Theme

Easter meeting of King's Own Class at St. James Church Monday evening commenced with devotions btsed on Easter, by Mrs. Frank Turner and the singing of Easter hymns. Soloist Miss Eleanore Logan sang "Beside Still Waters" and "Hold Thou My Hand" with accompaniment by Mrs. H. F. Doig. Mrs. Turner also gave an Easter reading which was followed with prayer. Mrs. L. Gibson presided for business when reports were read by Mrs. M. Fowler, Mrs. G. Pearson, Mrs. H. Ball and Mrs. K. Sloan. A splendid financial report from the Easter tea was given by the convener Mrs. G. Harris. It was planned to give a banquet for the boys of St. James Sunday school hockey team on April 30th. The ladies voted a $100 donation toward the expense of wiring the church. Two amusing contests were conducted by Mrs. L. Bird before the serving of light refreshments by Mrs. R. Watson, Mrs. Ball, Mrs. L. Webb and Mrs. W. E. Wright. A vote of appreciation was given by Mrs. G. Pearson.

Thankoffering Meeting Held

George St. Evening Auxiliary Easter thankoffering meeting was held Monday evening in the board room, opening with a hymn and prayer. Mrs. C. D. Munro, president, was in the chair and Miss E. Clysdale at the piano. Guest soloist was Miss Phyllis Hart singing "Just for today." Mr. Charles Allen accompanied at the piano. Mrs. Munro conducted business with encouraging reports from the secretaries. Miss L. Knapp presented the study book in a most interesting and concise manner, dealing with "Our Canadian brothers from Europe and the Orient." A sacred Easter worship service was conducted by Mrs. W. J. Armstrong. She was assisted by Mrs. E. A. Outram, Mrs. A. Clark, Miss E. Manning, Mrs. E. Lines, Miss G. Creba and Mrs. R. Dick. The theme was "Christ gave us the Bible." Miss Knapp's group served lunch at the close.

Trinity Circle Hostess To 100

Representatives of Mission Circles of the Peterborough Presbytery and members of other missionary groups of the city, numbering more than 100 in all, were guests of Living Link Mission Circle at Trinity Church Monday evening. The speaker was Mrs. W. B. Arnup, who with Mr. Arnup and their three children returned to Canada last year from a post in West China Union University in Chengtu. Mrs. Arnup gave an interesting resume of their journey to Chengtu, their experiences while there and the final trip through Communist territory. Chairman was Mrs. George Hill, advisory president of the Circle and Presbytery secretary of Mission Circles. Welcome was extended to the guests by Circle president Miss Helen Thompson who also led the worship service. Responses were read by Misses Doris Hendry, Betty McKay, Ruby Johnson and Mrs. Ray Robinson. Scripture was read by Mrs. Donald Hess and Miss Clara Seens led in prayer. Miss Mignon Mayneord entertained with two of her unique whistling solos and was accompanied by Mr. Donald Kennedy. The speaker was introduced by Mrs. Hill and thanked by Miss Thompson. Coffee and fruit bread were served to all of the assembly by the Circle members.

Welsh Honor Mrs. Pakenham

St. David's Welsh Society meeting at the Y.W.C.A. Monday evening was highlighted by the presentation to past president Mrs. Maud Pakenham. Fellow members honored Mrs. Pakenham especially when they gave her an amethyst brooch and ear ring set becauses he has now been their past president on two occasions and has also served in other offices. Mrs. Jos. Henderson presented the gift with suitable remarks and Mrs. Pakenham replied with an offer of her help at any time. Guest speaker was Miss Marion Pogue who gave an account of her trip to England and the continent, illustrated with slides shown by Mr. Stan Grant. A letter was received from the young people's group of the Welsh Church in Winnipeg asking for gifts for a parcel post fair they are planning in May. It was planned to hold a rummage sale soon. Miss Ida Whimsett read minutes and Mrs. Henderson read the auditor's report. Seventeen members answered the roll call given by Mrs. Wm. Bull. Mrs. E. E. Young sent a message of thanks for flowers received in hospital. President Mrs. C. L. Armstrong opened the meeting with the Welsh anthem and closed with the Welsh closing oath. Miss Margaret Flowers was the pianist. Lunch was served by Miss Mary Evans, Miss Ida Whimsett, Mrs. Armstrong and Mrs. W. King.

Petticoat Rule Gets Men Down

BISHOP'S ITCHINGTON, England — (Reuters)—Next month's parish elections in this Warwick village (population 970) will not be determined on a basis of politics but on a basis of sex.

It's strictly "men" against "the rest" as the frequenters of the public bar of the Malt Shovel Inn fight to wrest control of the old-world village from the women-dominated council.

The present council—composed of six women and the village blacksmith—took office in 1949 when the previous council refused to run.

Now, because the women are getting "bossy," the boys are hatching deep plans to take power. Most of the plotting is being done over pints of beer.

But the betting in the village is that the women will be re-elected maybe even with an increased majority. While most of the men would prefer things as they used to be, only four have announced their intention to run for office.

Council chairman Mrs. Edith Chappel-Hyam said: "We have nothing to worry about as long as the people judge us by our conscientiousness and what we have done, we shall be returned."

What have they done

They've improved the street lighting in the cobbled streets, laid new sidewalks, built 12 houses and planned another 90 to ease the housing shortage. They've built their own bus shelter, bullied the authorities to provide a police cottage for the local constable and made them promise a sewage system by next year.

Even the parish clerk, Danny Morgan, is in favor of the "petticoat council."

"The women have done a grand job," he said.

The women aren't too worried about the pub junta, but they're concentrating their attack on the blacksmith, Fred Marlowe.

Fred only scraped in by five votes last time, and now Mrs. Fred Morgan (no relation to Danny), who was runner-up, is campaigning to oust him "once and for all."

New Zealanders Critical Of Briton Who Couldn't Take It

By J. G. GRAHAM,
Canadian Press Correspondent

AUCKLAND, N.Z.—(CP)—A disappointed migrant to New Zealand who attacked the country on his return to England has brought a hornet's nest about his ears from fellow settlers.

New Zealanders have steered clear of the controversy as the newcomers have defended the country with vigor.

The disappointed migrant, R. H. W. Wright, said:

"The semi-veiled resentment and hostility to an Englishman all the time gets you down, particularly when you have come out with the intention of settling down to become a useful citizen. It will probably not be easy to understand our reasons for packing up again, especially when one adds up all the factors like tons of cheap food, the five-day week, cheap cigarets, high children's allowances, a better climate, and so on. I think it is something you have to experience to understand—this feeling of being a complete outcast."

He said the standard of education was poor and living conditions primitive and that there was a prejudice against giving an Englishman a job. He said the country was "progressing backward as fast as unwillingness to work would let it" and that shipping companies were overloaded with returning migrants.

Indignant Denials

Shipping companies say that only a handful of migrants ever want to return and every other claim by Wright has been indignantly denied by English settlers.

Through its membership the society shares knowledge of various techniques and develops interest in leatherwork. The members intend to visit veterans' hospitals this summer and pass on their skills to patients.

One contributor to the exhibit is a young Estonian woman, Mrs. Ilva Limberg of Toronto. She had four years' training in a college in her native country and is now sharing her knowledge of coloring techniques with other members.

The society sees leather craft as more than a hobby; to them it is an industry. Mrs. Larmour, secretary of the society, tells of color work, designs and tool technique being developed by Canadians in the craft which are astounding such other natural leathercrafters as Californians and Mexicans.

Mrs. McFarlane explained the work of the society:

"We're out to prove that what has been regarded as purely summer camp work should get recognition it rightfully deserves. It's art."

Book Irks U.N. Delegates

By A. I. GOLDBERG

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y.—(AP)—The U.N. is having book trouble with a little pamphlet supposed to explain in simplified English—and other languages—the relationship of U.N. to the natives under trusteeship care.

This booklet has appeared only in English so far. The howl that has gone up is going to delay its translation into other languages until U.N. authorities take another look at what it says.

It's called "The Story of Aman (a man—get it?) and the United Nations."

It's one of those anonymous documents somebody in the U.N. wrote and published under the U.N. seal after his superiors solemnly sent it through channels and got just as solemn an O.K. from top-rank U.N. officials.

"It is written in simple, straightforward English that could be understood by a 10-year-old," one of these anonymous men explained.

"Pudging English," snorted the French delegate in the U.N. trusteeship council.

"The language used will make it a laughing stock among the peoples of the trust territories," the Belgian delegate complained.

The British delegate was more cautious but said it "was certainly not generally-known English," and he would strongly counsel those preparing the document to modify the language used.

Drop "Officialese"

Trusteeship and Department of Information people who turn out things like this said they were trying to present information to people of darkest Africa and the far Pacific Islands who could not cope with the formal "officialese" usually found in U.N. documents.

This is the way the booklet starts:

"We will give the name of Aman to the man of our story. He is a man like you. He lives in a land where the people do not yet have a big government of their own.

"Aman is a schoolteacher. When he was young, he was sent to a mission school and then to a government school to learn to read and write. Now he teaches in the government school helping others of his people to learn to read and write.

"Aman's school is in a small village which is a journey of a day from the big town of his country. The people of the village have kept to the ways of their fathers. They work on the land to grow food and to raise cattle."

There are 31 more pages of the same, with pictures and maps.

To one criticism that the language was at least a little sugary, the U.N.'s anonymous authors retort: "Try and write something that people of this education level would be able to understand."

The Belgian delegate attacked the pamphlet for making it appear that countries like his had never done anything for Colonial people until the U.N. came along to tell them to do it.

U.N. officials threw up their hands. The assistant secretary-general in charge of trusteeship affairs promised the council it will look over the book again and report next summer whether it can be improved.

Millbrook Scene Of Youth Rally

MILLBROOK, April 22. (ENS)—A young people's rally for Millbrook and surrounding points was held on Saturday in Millbrook. The afternoon session was held in St. Thomas' parish hall where the theme of the rally "Christians are Different" was introduced by the Rev. Charles Richmond of Omemee.

After a sing-song and devotional period discussion groups were held and their findings given to the rally as a whole. Supper was served at the conclusion of the afternoon session in St. Andrew's Sunday schoolrooms by members of the three churches of the village.

The evening session in St. Andrew's auditorium opened with devotional period conducted by the Rev. W. H. Heustin. By special request of the young people, the five ministers present, the Rev. A. M. Butler of St. Andrew's United, the Rev. A. A. Chote of St. Thomas' Anglican, the Rev. W. H. Heustin of Grace Presbyterian, Rev. A. E. Larke of Springville and Rev. Charles Richmond of Omemee joined to form of quintet. They sang "O Love that wilt not let me go" and "Lead Kindly Light" accompanied at the piano by Grace Ingham.

Paul Sanders, president of Millbrook Young Peoples conducted the service. The young peoples quartette comprising, Yvonne Richards, Edith Elson, Fraser Carr and Don Spicer sang "Abide With Me" accompanied by Beverley Patton at the organ. The special speaker. Mr. Richmond, was introduced by Arnold Brackenridge. He continued the theme "Christians are diffent." He defined a Christian as person who had become "one with God". He said that one grew into a Christian. The longer a person procrastinated about making a start the harder it would become. Chistians must produce absolute honesty. They must remember "Keep theyself pure" as the sailor said about his last leave "It took my last penny but it was worth it", so the Christian must feel that God took everything he had to find out that He was worth it.

After the evening session Donald Spicer was in charge of the recreation period held in the Sunday schoolrooms.

There were in attendance people from Pontypool, Cavan, Springville and Omemee as well as from Millbrook.

Brundage-Green

The wedding was solemnized at St. George's Anglican Church at one o'clock Saturday afternoon of Joan Marie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur H. Green, 217 King George St., and Vance Delmont Brundage, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Brundage, also of Peterborough.

The Rev. H. J. Scuse performed the ceremony and wedding music was played by Mrs. Albert Watkins. Pink and white snapdragons were banked with ferns as the altar setting.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in a suit of navy sharkskin with grey accessories and a corsage of pink roses. She was attended by her cousin Mrs. Donald Pagett whose suit was of Gainsborough blue gabardine and she wore grey accessories and a corsage of pink roses also.

The groomsman was Mr. Keith Brown.

For the reception at her home the bride's mother wore navy crepe with a grey hat and pink flower corsage. The groom's mother chose green lace and wore white accessories and a pink corsage.

Mr. and Mrs. Brundage went on a honeymoon trip to Niagara Falls and Rochester, N.Y. They will live on Lansdowne St. W. on return.

"... saved me days, perhaps weeks, of work"

After returning from his first trip to the West, a business man wrote his bank:

"I arrived having no idea where to start in to make the connections I required. The thought occurred to me that perhaps the bank, which has been very helpful to me on numerous occasions, would give me some guidance. Mr. W. proved to be of tremendous help. He introduced me to the people I should have met and saved me days, perhaps weeks, of work."

Every chartered bank works this way. Whether you walk into your neighborhood branch or one a thousand miles away, you will find the same full range of banking service—and the same readiness to help.

Jazz Question Settled, There Can't Be Such A Thing

By EDDIE GILMORE

MOSCOW—(AP)—There's a lively discussion going on in the Soviet Union about jazz and the conclusion is—there can be no such thing as Soviet jazz.

Most of the opinions are being expressed in the newspaper Soviet Art, which admits it has received letters from all parts of the country on the jazz question.

"Side by side with a sharp condemnation of American jazz music," said the paper, "certain readers touch upon the question of 'Soviet jazz.'"

These people ask: "Why cannot Soviet jazz exist?" "How does a variety orchestra differ from a jazz orchestra?" "Are not many jazz instruments included in the variety orchestras conducted by Utesov, Knushevitsky, Aivazyan?" (These three lead what are perhaps the most popular light music bands.)

Certain other readers have suggested that if the "roaring" and "croaking" of jazz has no place in the Soviet way of life, then maybe there's room for the tango and the slow fox trot.

"But what," asked the paper, "is there in common between the whining, tearful intonations of the tango, without kith or kin, of the exaggeratedly erotic rhythms of the slow fox trot and healthy, Soviet lyricism and the bright optimistic temperament of Soviet people?"

Comrade Suslov of Moscow, in a letter to the paper, got the notion somehow that light Soviet music is jazz music.

"We have no jazz songs by Soviet composers, Comrade Suslov," said Soviet Art, "but there are Soviet mass songs and variety songs. If the influence of jazz is felt in some of these, this by no means is characteristic of Soviet song creations, but only indicates that deficiences in the creative works of certain composers and singers have not yet been overcome."

Fete Couple On Anniversary

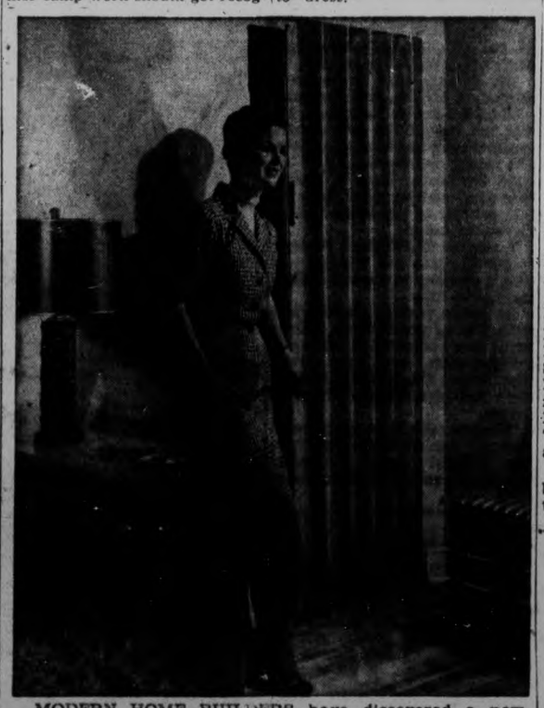
ROSENEATH, April 22 (ENS)—Following the service at Alderville United Church on Sunday afternoon, approximately 60 relatives and close friends of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Crowe gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Marsden in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Crowe's 32nd wedding anniversary.

An oyster supper was served to the guests by the hostess and her assistants. After all the guests were served, the Rev. J. N. Lovelace, pastor of Alderville Church, assisted by H. Lander, Coldsprings, a former pastor, conducted a song service, including the singing of hymns, and Mr. Lander gave an evangelistic address. A baptismal service was held when Janet Lynn, infant daughter of Chief John Beaver and Mrs. Beaver was baptized. Mr. Lovelace pronounced the benediction.

Chief John Beaver then read an address to Mr. and Mrs. Crowe expressing the good wishes of the residents of the Alderville Reserve and the relatives and Mrs. C. O. Beaver, on behalf of the gathering, made the presentation of a pair of orchid wool blankets.

Mr. Crowe replied briefly.

Included among those present from a distance were: Mrs. Ernest Crowe, Gores Landing; Mr. H. Lander, Coldsprings; Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Smith and family; Mr. and Mrs. W. Gibson and family; Miss Marion Marsden; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Marsden, Jr. and Mr. and Mrs. Verne Marsden and family, Toronto.



MODERN HOME BUILDERS have discovered a new space-saver which can be used in every room of the house. It's a door which opens and closes like an accordion, instead of swinging into a room. Every hinged door needs about eight square feet of floor space to open—a big consideration when arranging furniture in today's small houses and compact apartments. An accordion-type steel frame is covered with a plastic-coated fabric which withstands a lifetime of flexing and can be kept clean with soap and water. Colors harmonize with decorating schemes. The new folding doors can be installed in any doorway and cost approximately the same as an ordinary wooden door.

DOROTHY DIX

Says Speech No Guide To Character

DEAR MISS DIX: My husband is a university graduate with every appearance of a good background, but in reality his parents are the most uncultured people I have ever met. Their grammar is atrocious .This humiliates me beyond words, as many people have remared how shocked they were when they met his parents. The parents themselves think that because they educated their children, any girl is extremely fortunate to marry into the family. Now they live near us and drop in all the time. I'm constantly on pins and needles for fear some business associate of my husband may come in. I have suggested to my husband that he correct their English but he says it would hurt their feelings. Of course, he is so used to it that he has no idea how humiliating it is to me.

ANSWER: Of all the unmitigated snobs I've encountered in a long time, you take first prize. What you are actually suggesting is that no one is entitled to an education unless his parents are of artistocratic background. If everyone felt like that, our colleges and universities would close their doors. The people who keep them open are the parents who, lacking the opportunity for education themselves, are willing to make any sacrifice to see their children have advantages.

Thank God most children, and children-in-law, don't share your attitude. Most of them look with high respect and deep devotion, as apparently your husband does, to the parents whose hard work bettered their offsprings' positions.

Better Hide Your Attitude

Your husband and his brothers have a fine background for which they need never apologize. Their business associates would be far more shocked if they knew what went on in your puny mind than they ever would be by a lapse in your father-in-law's grammar.

If you were a woman of any character, you would produly explain, upon hearing your in-laws criticized, that though they themselves lacked the advantage of even an elementary education, they nevertheless managed to put three children through college—not a mean feat, I assure you.

Acquire a little charity. learn to love and admire people for what they are—not for how they speak. Few of us use flawless grammar; in fact, among some groups it's almost a cult to employ poor speech as a form of so-called vivid expression. Your parent-in-law may be ignorant of grammatical forms, but they are very wise in the ways of bringing up children, and of human relationships.

Don't worry so much about their casual visiting. Be glad they feel welcome in your home, and make them feel that they are honored guests. Perhaps constant association with your own good speech may automatically bring about an improvement in theirs. In the meantime, this is really a very trivial fault to find with people who are otherwise fine and good. Overlook it.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I was a widow and married a widower two years ago. He has two daughters who resented his marrying again, but he was lonely and wanted a companion. We are very happy together, but the unmarried daughter, who has a good position, has been paying us weekend visits. During each visit she is domineering, critical and disagreeable. When she leaves my husband and I are both in a turmoil.

AGNES K.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: To avoid at least a few of these devastating weekends, could you plan a few trips yourself? It would be very difficult to come right out and tell the girl her attitude is creating a tense situation. She probably is looking for just such an opportunity to act like a martyr and announce that since she's not wanted in her father's house she won't return at all. However, if you and your husband feel that the condition is sufficiently troubled to warrant drastic action, it's your only course.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: My boy friend, Joe, is 21, and I am 20. We've been going together almost a year, and although he has never asked me to go steady, we have taken it for granted. He never speaks of marriage, nor has he said he loved me. We have lots of fun together, there is no religious problem and we get along very well with each other's families. What can be the trouble with him?

SUSANNA.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Joe's only trouble is that he's too young to consider marriage as yet. I'm sure in due time he'll make all the declarations for which you are waiting with bated breath. Just don't rush the boy.

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Picnic Season Has Opened Once Again

Twit me if you like—I don't care. My family and friends do—but they go— and go on our picnics, and let me cook and feed them all of the cook-out food ideas I can dream up over the winter. Confidentially though they indulge me, for they know I'm chained to a desk and a stove all week, and then when I'm off the leash, do I ever scamper for the wide open spaces.

Good Friday was cold but sunny so every windbreaker and sweater was donned and off we drove with the trunk full of the giant frying-pan, charcoal and picnic hamper.

We went to a favorite spot which we claim as our very own and call Twin Falls. It is near the stone ruins of an old mill, and on Good Friday the stream and falls were roaring in a torrential race. Above one of the dams and spanning the whole stream there is an old steel beam, that has a high and low side about 6 inches wide—a foothold for each foot and that's all. To my horror I saw Pete (170 lbs.) carry Art (180 lbs.) across this beam over that roaring Niagara, when I happened to glance up casually from turning the vealburgers. My hair is gray. You know why.

We had a wonderful day and not even one wet boot.

Out of consideration for one of Marianne's lent - observing friends we had a varied menu:

Vealburgers and Cheeseburgers in Momemade Buns
Catsup
Hot Hard-Cooked Eggs
Celery Hearts
Fresh Cocoanut (and Cocoanut Milk!)
Raw Carrots and Radishes
Oranges, Bananas and Apples
Homemade Hot Cross Buns
Sliced Chocolate-Coated Easter Egg
Milk Coffee

Our giant frying-pan with the yard-long handle was ample for the veal patties. At the last moment we toasted the cut buns on the drier side of the pan—also the thick slabs of cheese for the cheeseburgers. Both kinds of "burgers" were popular but I wished I had a second round of those hot hard-cooked eggs. They were perfect because they were so fresh and so hot. We remembered the salt too.

I took along just one pot for eggs and coffee. Pauline scooped up some water in the pot from below the falls, put the eggs in it, put on the lid and snuggled it down in the fire in a spot where they actually simmered (as those dietitian-people tell you to do) for 20 minutes. When the eggs were cooked and eaten, that water was dumped out, the quart milk bottle full of tap water I had brought was poured in and 5 tablespoons of pulverized coffee were added (with the shells from Marianne's egg!), lid put on and slowly brought to boiling. Art took great pleasure in "dashing" ¼ cup water I'd held out, into the pot to "settle" the grounds. I defy anyone to make better or hotter coffee. (Could I have been extra cold and thirsty?)

Overnight Buns (for burgers)

Soften 1 package granular yeast in mixture of ¼ cup each cold and boiling water with 1 teaspoon sugar, stirring once or twice until it is soft and fills measuring cup. In large bowl mix 1¾ cup boiling water, scant ½ cup sugar, 1 tablespoon salt and 2 tablespoons shortening. Cool to lukewarm and beat in 2 beaten eggs and 4 cups sifted bread flour. Beat until smooth. Stir and mix in 4 more cups of sifted bread flour. Brush top with soft butter, cover with cloth and plate and keep cold overnight. In morning cut dough down, and shape into 2½-or 3-inch buns, place on greased pan to rise until very light, not touching, and bake at 425 deg. Fahr. This is "refrigerator" dough, and may be kept there and cut from for 3 days, if you want fresh rolls for dinner 3 nights running.

6—In Memoriam

KENT—In loving memory of Mrs. George Kent, who passed away five years ago April 22, 1947.
Sweet memories will linger forever,
Time cannot change them it's true,
Years that may come cannot sever
My loving remembrance of you.
—Always remembered by husband and family.

KERRY—In loving memory of my dear brother, Raymond, who passed away April 22, 1949.
Oft and oft my thoughts do wander
To the grave not far away
Where I laid my dear brother
Just three years ago today.
—Remembered by his sister Vera (Mrs. John Edgerton).

McILMOYL — In loving memory of Wm. McIlmoyl, who passed away April 21, 1947.
Nothing can ever take away
The love a heart holds dear,
Fond memories linger every day,
Remembrance keeps them near.
—Ever remembered by a friend.

SCOTT—In loving memory of my mother, Mrs. William James Scott of Harcourt, Ont., who passed away April 23, 1951.
Away in the beautiful hills of God,
By the valley of peace so fair,
Some day, some time, we know not when,
We shall meet our loved one there.
—Lovingly remembered by her daughter Mabel, son-in-law Hugh and grandson Billy Buchanan.

TERRY—In loving memory of a dear husband and father, Raymond, who passed away April 22, 1949.
Gone from us but leaving memories,
Death can never take away,
Memories that will always linger,
While upon this earth we stay.
—Sadly missed and lovingly remembered by his wife Doris, sons Gary, Allan and Gordon.

WADDELL—In loving memory of a dear grandmother, Mrs. Mathew Waddell, who passed away one year ago April 22nd, 1951.
We who loved you sadly miss you,
As it dawns another year,
In our lonely hours of thinking
Thoughts of you are ever near.
—Ever remembered by grandson Howard, wife and children.

WADDELL—In loving memory of our dear mother, who passed away April 22, 1951.
We watched you sufer day by day,
But could not help in any way,
We just stood by and saw you pass
Into the Saviour's arms at last.
—Lovingly remembered always Mary and Eva.

Michael Sadlier Reports Bermuda Success

Michael Sadlier, director of the Peterborough Summer Theatre, was in town today and Monday on a flying visit from New York and Bermuda to attend to some arrangements for the coming summer season in Peterborough. He brought with him glowing reports of the success of his Bermuda theatre which is now in the midst of its spring season, ending in Mid-May.

Many of the company in Bermuda are Summer Theatre regulars, including Frank Perry, Ron Bailey, Peter Mews, Kate Reid and Betty Leighton. Mr. Sadlier and his partner in the Bermuda enterprise Bruce York, have used the star system of casting, bringing into the company for a few weeks each, notable stars of stage and screen to play leads.

They have had Burgess Meredith, Zachary Scott, Everett Edward Horton, Franchot Tone and Ruth McDevitt. The stars have given weight to the productions, but now, Mr. Sadlier says, the audiences which overflow the plush - seated, air - conditioned theatre in the Hotel Bermudian, come to see the permanent company. Mr. Sadlier rates Burgess Meredith as the outstanding actor of the American theatre.

Their Own House

The actors have taken over a big house five minutes' walk from the theatre, and they have their own cook and servants. Mr. Sadlier and his wife Kate Reid, have a cottage beside the main house. The place has its own private ocean beach.

Michael Sadlier tells, of an unhappy experience recently. One night when the cottage was empty for 20 minutes a burglar came and lifted some of his clothing. He thinks that the burglar was interrupted in his thieving when he (Sadlier) came back at the end of the 20 minutes. The incident was reported to the island police.

Burglar Take All

A few days later a burglar (perhaps the same one) got into the cottage again and did a thorough job, taking almost every stitch which Mr. Sadlier had, other than what he was wearing.

Sadlier went down to the police again. 'Oh, that cottage is always being burgled", he was told. "But if you like we shall lend you a gun and if you see any other burglar around you'll be able to shoot him". Sadlier preferred not sit and wait in the bushes with a shotgun over his knee; the place had already been cleaned out.

His Bermudian theatre has been tremendously successful, both artistically and financially, Mr. Sadlier says. "We had a slow bull in the autumn season, but how it has caught on, and we are turning people away." His theatre seems to be the haunt of millionaires, Broadway, Hollywood and ordinary Bermudian tourists with dollars dripping from their fingernails.

There are some difficulties. For instance, the pound. The island colony is in the sterling area. Yet many of the supplies his theatre needs must be got in dollars, and also his stars must be paid in dollars. Mr. Sadlier has many private wrestles with the currency officials of the island.

Also, the pace of the island people is slow, and a repertory theatre must work at top speed. If it needs new gelatines for its lights, or scripts or costumes, the theatre usually has to have these flown in. Scripts for one scheduled play failed to arrive. Mr. Sadlier telephoned New York. Yes, they had been sent . . . But they still did not come. The play had to be changed. It eventually turned out that the scripts had been sent to some remote West Indian island entirely inhabited by blacks, who lackadaisically kept them, perhaps thinking they were books of uncommon prayer.

AMBASSADOR TO JAPAN —Robert D. Murphy, U.S. ambassador to Belgium since 1949, will become this country's first post-war ambassador to Japan, if the Senate approves President Truman's nomination of the veteran diplomat. He will probably take the post on April 28, the date on which the Japanese Peace Treaty becomes effective.

History Of Coins Outlined To "U" Women

Numismatics, the science and study of coins and medals, was the subject of a lecture given by Stanley Hayman, designer and engraver, to the University Women's Club on Monday evening.

He began by showing the relation of numismatics to art and then outlined its use by archaeologists to establish proof and dates of civilization from their findings. Mr. Hayman used the example of coins found in Iceland which proved that Romans had been there as early as 500 BC. The Roman coins were of gold and practically indestructible.

First coins dated back to 750 BC in Lydia and were very crude pourings, he related. Greeks had the finest types in the world, depicting their games and war gods. Their designers were often sculptors as well, and Mr. Hayman noted that many designs in use today, such as "Brittania" are modelled from Greek goddesses and gods.

He said the Romans were copyists mostly, except in the time of Caesar when a great many coins were struck. Early coins did not attempt a genuine likeness as is done today, but were cut in symbols.

Use Same Method

Medals came into use in the time of Charles II, Mr. Hayman stated. They were cast by the wax process which is used even today. Matrix instituted the punch and die system, using either a paper or wax model, and today a plastic cast is used as well. Early engravers cut the design in steel.

Mr. Hayman has been employed to strike the medal for the opening of Toronto Exhibition in recent years, and he advised that this year he is using a likeness of Governor General Vincent Massey.

He explained the practice of milling coins to prevent clipping. Then he traced the different engravers of the Royal Mint mentioning several who are outstanding in history. A Mr. Shingles of Canada is one of the best today, he said. This man designed the dollar piece commemorating the confederation of Newfoundland in 1949.

There is no chief engraver in Canada but a tender system is in use so that designers like Mr. Hayman may have an opportunity to submit designs. Workmen in the Royal Mint in England are very often imported in order to have the best in the world, he remarked.

Numismatic collectors are most anxious to buy the rare coins which are specially minted for the "Monday to Thursday" giving of the sovereigns of England. (Queen Elizabeth gave one last week.) Mr. Hayman said he has a set which he obtained from the Royal Mint before leaving England.

President Mrs. C. G. Boyd presided for the meeting, conducting a business session before the lecture.

Prince Edward DDGM Visits Marmora Lodge

MARMORA, April 22—(ENS)—Freemasons from other lodges of Prince Edward district swelled the attendance at the banquet and lodge session of Marmora A. F. and A.M. 222 which greeted Right Worshipful Bro. Alva Collier, D.D.G.M. for Prince Edward district, on the occasion of his official visit on Monday evening.

The Women's Association of St. Andrew's Church catered at the banquet held in St. Andrew's Hall. Wor. Bro. J. M. Brownlie, worshipful master of Marmora lodge was toastmaster. The toast to "Visiting Brethren" was proposed by Wor. Bro. C. R. Whittemore. Right Wor. Bro. C. H. Buskard, P.D.D.G.M. for Prince Edward proposed "Grand Lodge" In his response, Right Wor. A. Collier gave a fine discourse on "The Altar", which he pointed out was older than the temple and was used in earliest times as the centre of human society. Bro. R. E. Neal gave "The Ladies" with Mrs. T. Cousins responding on their behalf. Wor. Bro. G. Ackerman, district secretary, submitted "Marmora Lodge" and with the submission of the Junior Warden's toast the brethren adjourned to assemble in the Masonic Hall where D.D.G.M. and other distinguished visitors gave further appropriate addresses and commended the lodge on the work of the evening.

Won In Fight Lost In Court Brothers Fined

When three Ennismore brothers tangled with four St. Peter's High School students Monday afternoon, the brothers came out on top, but they did not fare so well in police court today.

Robert Young, pleaded guilty to assaulting John A. Richardson, 663 Donegal St., and also to damaging Richardson's suit coat, valued at $35.

Crown attorney John A. Bradshaw said he would offer no evidence on a third charge of causing a disturbance against Young and Mr. Bradshaw said the same applied to the same charge against Young's younger brother Fergus Young who pleaded not guilty to causing a disturbance.

Joseph Young, a third brother who figured in the fracas pleaded guilty to causing a disturbance and was fined $15 and $2.50 costs or 14 days.

Farm In Ennismore

"They farm in Ennismore and have about 80 head of cattle," said Mr. Bradshaw, "they are by no means penniless," when Magistrate Philp asked Robert Young if he could pay for the coat.

Young glanced at the shredded sport coat produced in court by Chief John Thompson and said he could but did not think it was worth $35.

For assaulting Richardson, Magistrate Philp fined Robert Young $10 and $2.50 costs or ten days and for ruining Richardson's coat he placed him on suspended sentence for one year on payment of $2.50 court costs and $35 to Richardson.

In sentencing Robert Young, the magistrate reminded him of the seriousness of the charge of wilfull damage and pointed out the maximum penalty was two years' imprisonment.

The only explanation Young was able to offer was that he was waiting for his girl friend outside the school. She was slow in coming out after school he said and "about seven" of the boys were taunting him, so he went downtown and rounded up his two brothers as re-inforcements. The Youngs met the high school boys at Hunter and Aylmer Sts., and a Donnybrook broke out. Robert Young had a decidedly blackened left eye today. Richardson did not appear but his tattered coat was brought into court.

Adjudicator Praises Three Festival Plays

TORONTO, April 22 (CP). — Adjudicator Edward Thommen praised the three plays presented at Hart House Theatre Monday night at the opening of the second annual one-act play festival of the Central Ontario Drama League.

The plays were the comedy, "The Devil and Miss Appleby," by Mary Warner Howard, given by the Orillia players; Terrence Rattigan's "Harlequinade," performed by the Toronto Playcraftsmen, a night-school drama group from Central Technical School; and the atmospheric "La Strega" by the Brampton players.

Mrs. Caroline Burns

MARMORA, April 22—(ENS)—The funeral of Mrs. Caroline Burns took place on Monday afternoon. Service was conducted at her late residence on North Hastings Ave. by the Rev. G. D. Young. Burial took place in the family plot in Marmora Protestant cemetery.

Pall bearers were C. Tandy, W. Forestell, W. J. Cottrell, E. O'Connor, P. Gordon and H. P. Nayler.

Mrs. Burns was one of the oldest residents of the village having been born in the northern part of Marmora township on May 25, 1864, her parents being the late Mr. and Mrs. Valentine Tennyson. Her father claimed relationship to the noted English poet.

After her marriage to John Burns, who came of pioneer stock, she spent the rest of her life in the village and had lived at her late residence for more than half a century. She was of an industrious and kindly nature and was well respected in this community. She had been confined to her home for some years by reason of ill health and for over a year was confined to her bed.

She died on Friday afternoon. She was a great lover of flowers and made a hobby of cultivating them. Her husband predeceased her six years ago.

She is survived by one son George, Marmora; and four daughters, Mrs. Albert Tennyson (Minnie), Toronto; Mrs. Leslie Phillips (Myrtle), Marmora; Mrs. Thomas McQuigge (Lavdra) Peterborough and Gertie at home. She is also survived by 11 grandchildren and 17 great grandchildren. She is further survived by two sisters, Mrs. Able Derry, Foxboro and Mrs. Frank Billings Marmora township.

Ignored Order Drivers Fined

Severe reprimands accompanied $50 fines imposed on two Apsley men charged with driving a car while their licences were under suspension.

"When the province takes away your licence it doesn't expect you to drive," Magistrate W. R. Philp told Gerald Elder. The car which Elder said belonged to his mother was impounded for three months. Both Elder and Thomas H. Rowe pleaded guilty to the charges and were each fined $50 and $2.50 costs.

In fining Rowe and Elder, Magistrate Philp and Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw both commented on the seriousness of the offence and the men were reminded that conviction on a second offence would result in the car which was being driven at the time, being confiscated by the Crown.

Mr. Bradshaw said that the car Rowe was driving could not be impounded since the owner had since sold it for junk.

Released On Bail

Earl Woodcock, Otonabee township was remanded until April 28 on bail of $500 when he appeared in police court Monday charged with having liquor not obtained on his own permit.

Woodcock did not enter a plea on the charge of illegal possession, or to a second charge of selling liquor. The bootlegging charge was adjourned to the same date as the first charge will be heard.

F. And G. Store Vacates Downtown Shop

The F. and G. Store at 356 George St., next to the Dominion Bank closed its door this morning, terminating a tenancy since June 1, 1933. The lease is being transferred to Ed. Riley, effective May 1.

The F. and G. retail grocery firm of John F. Fitzpatrick and James W. Geraghty are continuing their business at their headquarters premises at Rubidge and Dalhousie Streets.

Mr. Riley is returning to George St. after an absence of nearly a year on Simcoe St. His men's wear shop was almost completely wiped out in the Zacks building fire May 19, 1951.

Plans for renovating the property owned by Bradburn Securities Ltd., at 356 George St. will provide modern accommodation for men's wear stock and display, and include a new store front.

F. and G. assumed the lease of that premises in succession to Canada Packers Limited. At one time, the packing firm had three retail outlets in Peterborough. One was next to the Dominion Bank, another at Brock and George Streets, now occupied by A. B. Burrows and Son, and the third was at Park and Sherbrooke Streets, which has been for years the site of Campbell's Dairy.

Jack Fitzpatrick of F. and G. managed during busy years to find time from his personal business to be elected to the city council in which he left a good record as a capable administrator. More recently he was appointed to the Board of Governors of Civic Hospital and in between times he has been a prominent member of the Peterborough Lawn Bowling Club.

RIOT SCENE—This is the wrecked dormitory at New Jersey State Prison Farm, near Rahway, where 231 rioting convicts are staging a "protest demonstration." The three-day rebellion started here, but then the inmates moved to the floor above and barricaded themselves in along with nine hostages. Despite plea for water, mutineers are still holding out grimly.

South Smith W.I. Elects Officers

SOUTH SMITH, April 22 (ENS) —South Smith Women's Institute held their regular meeting in S.S. 4. South Smith was organized just one year ago and has had a successful year. As this was the annual meeting Mrs. Harry Shearer, district W. I. President, conducted the election of officers and also gave an address and many helpful suggestions. The president, Mrs. Henry Sharpe presided. The secretary, Mrs. Leo Allen, reported a membership of 26 with three new members at this meeting. Miss Margaret Milburn, treasurer, reported a balance of $27.40.

Mrs. Clarence Mann, home economics convener, who has coached the local girls homemaking club in their project "The Cereal Shelf" brought the display that was presented at their achievement day held recently and Miss Barbara Mann gave the commentary on their years work. The local girls' club will represent Peterborough county at the exhibition in the fall. Mrs. Mann stated that five girls had completed the "Cereal Shelf," and eight girls had signed up for garden clubs this year. Mrs. Mann also put on a contest to test the ladies knowledge of cereals.

The election of officers resulted as follows: president, Mrs. Henry Sharpe; vice-president, Mrs. Clarence Mann; secretary, Mrs. Leo Allen; treasurer, Miss Margaret Milburn; district director, Mrs. Wesley Bell; conveners: home economics Mrs. Clarence Mann; education, Mrs. Elmer Milburn; historical research and current events, Miss Margaret Milburn; agriculture and Canadian industries, Mrs. W. D. Wilson; citizenship, Mrs. Carman Bell.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. W. D. Wilson when there will be a speaker on horticulture.

Mrs. Lunn Heads Millbrook W.I.

MILLBROOK, April 22 (ENS)—The Women's Institute met Saturday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Charles Thorndyke for the annual meeting.

Mrs. J. J. Lunn was elected preident for the second year. New officers included Mrs. J. W. Hilton and Mrs. Gerald Larmer, first and second vice presidents, and Mrs. Allie Fallis, secretary-treasurer. Mrs. J. W. Hilton was appoinnted as district director. Auditors were Mrs. Gerald Larmer and Mrs. Gordon Davidson.

Convenors of the various committees were: Canadian industries and agriculture — Mrs. W. H. Armstrong; citizenship, Miss Marjorie Skitch; community activities and public relations, Mrs. Delbert Olan; historical research, current events and publicity, Miss Crystal Stewart; home economics and health, Mrs. Gerald Larmer.

Those appointned to the sunshine committe were Miss Mary Widdis and Mrs. George Freelove. Mrs. W. H. Armstrong presided for the election.

The report of the district executive meeting held at the home of the president, Mrs. W. H. Armstrong on March 21 was given by Miss Mary Widdis.

Mrs. J. J. Lunn and Mrs. J. W. Hilton were appointed as delegates to the East Durham Women's Institute to be held in Elizabethville on Wednesday, May 28.

All W. I. members were requested to wear purple mourning badges in memory of the late King George VI until May 30.

Mrs. W. H. Armstrong was appointed as delegate to the W.I. conference in Guelph being held on May 2.

Mrs. Allie Fallis, Mrs. Gerald Larmer and Miss Marjorie Skitch assisted the hostess in serving refreshments.

Mrs. Robert Holden received word of the death of her sister, Miss Colleena Malone in Edmonton last Thursday.

Expresses Sympathy

ST. PAUL, Minn., April 22 (AP) —The Pope expressed sympathy to middle west flood victims on Monday. A message from the Vatican secretariat of state to Archbishop John Murray of St. Paul, said: "News of the sufferings of the victims of the flood in middle west has touched the paternal heart of His Holiness Pope Pius XII. While bearing with them the weight of this calamity, the Holy Father prays that it will soon cease and that the well-being of the people will be re-established."

Says Papers Must Do Better Selling Job

NEW YORK, April 22—(AP)—Newspapers "must do a better selling job" to make the people realize what "civilian censorship in our government" means to them, the American Newpaper Publishers Association was told today.

Robert M. White II, editor and general manager of The Mexico (Mo.) Ledger, said the newspapers have a "real job" of telling the people about President Truman's executive order of last September allowing civilian departments of government to hold back information on security grounds.

White said in a prepared speech that civilian censorship is a "sickening body blow" to freedom of the press.

The Missouri editor presided at a meeting for publishers of dailies with circulations of less than 10,000. Another meeting was being held at the same time for publishers of dailies with circulations between 10,000 and 50,000. The sessions, part of annual newspaper week, opened here today.

While most newspapers denounced the President's order, White said, "the people as a whole"—the real losers in this matter of civilian censorship—he did not denounce it."

He said he concluded that "you and I as newspapermen have failed to make the case clear to the American people."

"Civilian censorship does not hit us in the pocketbook," he continued. "Newspaper circulation was never stronger. Readership was never better. Advertisers spend more money with us than with any other medium. Why should we start a fight?

"There is only one reason: Our service to our readers is no longer complete. And the particular service the reader has now been denied by our government is the most basic one of all: How the politicians are spending the people's money and using the people's power. In other words, a degree of democracy, itself, is at stake."

WITH THE BOY SCOUTS

By G. E. GROOMBRIDGE
St. John's

There was plenty of action in the pack Friday evening when Tommy Lewis, David Irwin, Wallace Davidson and Bobby Dawson were made full members of the Pack. We were glad to welcome Mr. and Mrs. Irwin and Mr. Lewis as special visitors to witness their sons step along the Jungle Trail and especially when Mrs. Lewis accepted the offer to assist in the inspection of the boys pockets! A really special visitor to the Pack was Alex Haddow a member of Vickers Pack, Montreal. Alex joined in all the games and ceremonies with true Cub spirit. Several games were played in which many spills were taken in the Cub style. Mr. Trueman, of the group committee again visited the Pack and assisted in the passing of tests after the close of the meeting when the following results were recorded , Highway Code, Ken Druce, Book Balancing, Brian Dunford, Jamie Welsh, Ken Druce, Somersault, Jamie Welsh, Skipping, David Irwin, Jamie Welsh, Leapfrog, Brian Dunford, David Irwin, Wallace Davidson, Bobby Dawson, Collector, Blain Calhoun.

The Troop

Two important items took place in the Troop meeting on Friday The first being the presentations to patrol leader Bob Kingston. Scouter Ford presented Bob with his second class badge and then called upon skipper "G" to give Bob his leaping wolf badge and his marksman's badge.

The second item was the candlelight ceremony at which "Andy" Sherk was invested into World Scouting. Bagheera Stan Purser was special guest at this investiture and took the closing prayers. We are indeed sorry to loose one member of the Troop and also of the Pack in the Wannamaker brothers. These two lads are leaving the city this week to live in Bewdley. Plans are being formulated by which they will still retain connections with the unit and are looking forward to a trip to Bewdley for a little ceremony in the near future.

Over Ashburnham

Here again we must report plenty of action in the St. Luke's Pack, the first a going up ceremony as Terrance Mulchahy, Jack Darwin, Lionel Harvey and Allan Paton was accompanied off the Cub Trail by Akela Bill King and were met at the foot of the Scout Trail by Scouter Hank Nokes. From there they were introduced to their patrol leaders and started out into this senior branch of the movement. Then came the investiture of Roger Meslay and Wayne Ash, whoi n a simple ceremony took their Cub promise before Akela and the Pack and planted their feet firmly on the jungle path. Another little ceremony found Jack Watson and Bob Simons being presented with their badges of office as Sixers and another welcomed Douglas Pammett as a new Chum into the Pack. Two games "Man The Ship" and "Squankles" greatly assisted in loosening up the muscles. The evening was completed with Terrance Mulcahy passing his final Cub test, that of homecraft and Jack Steen coming through with his knowledge of the Cub promise. Prayers by H. Willis brought another red letter night to its close.

At All Saints'

The jungle atmosphere is permeating throughout the Pack these days as the members are gradually earning the jungle names, the last two to be named this week being Billy Kibble-white who is now known as "Ko" meaning the crow and A.C.M. Len Foskett "Kim" little friend of all the world. Fred Carveth, Ron Waters, Doug Garner and Bruce Jackson received their tenderpad badges after a long wait for the badges to arrive. The main object to the Pack at present is to repass all first and second star tests to bring the boys up-to-date. Each six has been started on a scrap book collection. Before the meeting came to its close the following badges were presented—homecraft, Bobby Davies, artist, David Perks, Bob Pulford, team player, Glen Stuart, collector, Larry O'Connor. On Saturday, 19 members of the pack left All Saints' hall at 10.30 A.M. and went to Green Hill on a hike taking in games and also a chase in which they had to track down Akela. This they did in fine style. The lads found frogs, captured them and then let them free the only incident being when Ted Curvin went to wash his face and fell into the creek getting slightly cold but none the worse for the ducking.

Ganaraska Camp

Are you planning to have a patrol at the Ganaraska forestry camp on the weekend of the 10th or 17th of next month. Definite date not known as we understand they have changed it. But, according to reports your applications must be in before the 26th of this month. Peterborough district has always been represented at this camp. Rumour has it that one patrol will be going from St. Johns.

Trinity

This week was again started off with investitures as Don Spearin and Lawrence Horton added their names to the world wide brotherhood of Scouting and became full fledged members of the Troop. Here again they repeated the performance on their brother Scouts of last week when they received their leaping wolf badges, a recognition of the fact that they reached the standard of two star Cubs in the Pack. John Pierce was in atendance at the meeting and passed Ron Cooper, Ted Spearin, Jack Freeman and Pete Chown in their map reading whilst Mr. Donaldson advanced Lawrence Horton, Don Spearin, Jim Robinson and Bob Perry two steps nearer their second class goal, and Gerry Vincent proved his ability on axemanship to Frank Neison. Dick Burgess and Rusty Cole completed their tenderfoot tests and will be invested in the coming week. We were glad to welcome Graham Horton back again and hope he will be with us regularly from now on. As special guest, Oscar Jamieson attended the troop meeting and gave the boys a better understanding of the group committee and its work in conjunction with the group and the church, etc.

Mark St. United

Five new members were invested into the pack last week during a ceremony held at the Red Flower program. Here, in the flickering lights, Wayne Coombs, David Payne, Paul Gilbert, Roger Dennessen and Roy Brady gave their promise to do their best as Wolf Cubs in the world of scouting. And there to witness their advent into scouting were Mr. and Mrs. Coombs, Mrs. Payne, Mr. and Mrs. Dennessen and Mr. and Mrs. Brady. Mr. Brady is one of the assistant leaders of the pack. During the evening Wayne Owens passed tests for guide and first aider badge, Don Munro completing tests for homecraft and guide, these tests being under the guidance of Bill Holland, a former leader of the pack. Owing to other arrangements in the church, the pack will be divided into three sections this week and will meet at the homes of the Cub officers, Bill English, Bill Brady and Charles Munro.

Mothers' Auxiliary

We are pleased to report that a Mothers' Auxiliary has been formed in Mark Street group and their first work was the making of the handkerchiefs. The officers are: president, Mrs. George Dickson; vice-president, Mrs. Ken Ferguson; secretary, Mrs. Beth Huggins; treasurer, Mrs. Charles Munro. A meeting of the auxiliary will be held on Thursday next, April 4, in Mark Street Church, and all mothers of Cubs and Scouts are invited to join with this worthy work.

Ask Ottawa Finance Dom. Drama Festival

TORONTO, April 22 — (CP).—The newly-formed Assembly for Canadian Arts has asked the Federal government to finance the Dominion Drama Festival In a telegram to Prime Minister St. Laurent, the Assembly said the possible financing of the festival by advertisement-minded interests "would seriously undermine Canadian cultural prestige, making our country the laughing-stock among nations."

Saturday, a D.D.F. official said that the festival has been offered an annual contribution of $15,000 from a distillery.

Churchill In Action

LONDON, April 22 (Reuters)—Prime Minister Churchill arrived back in parliament Monday after a chest cold wearing a hearing aid in his left ear. He looke unusually pale but the pallor vanished when he ran into a hurricane of Labor questions about recent public transport fare increases. He has had difficulty recently in picking up remarks and often was seen leaning forward, hand cupped at his ear. Monday he answered his critics with gusto and typical sharpness of wit.

British and Chinese Reds Aloof and 'Correct' At Hong Kong Border Line

By BILL BOSS, Canadian Press Staff Writer

LOWU, Hong Kong, April 22. (CP)—It was almost 11 a.m. and the Kowloon-Canton train was about due at the frontier. The frontier with Communist China is 32 miles north of Kowloon, the mainland part of the colony of Hong Kong. The border is 17 miles long, and is guarded for 13 miles by a string of pill-boxes. The other four miles are considered impassable. Through heavy drizzle, under an umbrella, a Communist postman came past the barrier to an open shed beside the track.

"They come through for the mail," said a Hong Kong police inspector. "They don't let us take it through. When the train is from the other direction, they also bring the mail to us.

"We never go into their territory."

Passengers have to leave the train from Kowloon, walk across the barrier where they are screened, and enter a Communist train which awaits them on the other side.

This is the Oriental iron curtain, a gap through which trade, travel and mail pass between Hong Kong and Communist China.

The matter-of-fact scene was astonishing since soldiers from the two sides kill on sight in Korea.

The Chinese police on opposite sides of the frontier scarcely exchanged glances. They have not spoken for two years. There has been no incident since the Communists replaced the Nationalists on the north barrier. None is expected.

On the British side, the police control the frontier zone. Army officers entering the area must be escorted. The police want no trouble.

Sharp at 11 o'clock a Russian march thundered from a loudspeaker lashed to a tree on the Communist side, then a couple of folk choruses.

"They think the train's pulling in," said the inspector. "But it's going to be about seven minutes late."

"Welcome comrades," said the Red announcer. "Have your vaccination certificates ready."

"Leave behind all your imperialist currency. It will be of no use to you here. Be prepared to surrender any you bring with you."

There followed other directions for travellers returning to "new China"—especially about "anti-social luxuries" they would not be allowed to take, including oranges and tinned foods.

The broadcast ended with Communist news and a signature tune.

"We rather like that one," said the inspector. "We find ourselves tapping our feet to it.

"When they play tunes like that we'd like to play a few back to them. I think we're missing a trick, you know."

The march was just finishing as the train puffed in.

"Now they'll catch it for disobeying instructions they haven't heard," said the inspector.

None of the travellers seemed concerned about the frontier. There were rich men and peasants. Some caried their luggage, others used coolies. The forbidden oranges peeped from many bags.

About 500 persons cross the barrier daily in each direction. One mile eastward at Mankamto there's a foot crossing used by perhaps 150 daily.

Refugee movement across the frontier is not allowed. The colony is overcrowded already.

Hong Kong police admit only Chinese with re-entry permits authorizing their return to Communist China.

But many refugees are smuggled into the colony, either by boat or over that "impassable" bit of frontier.

The price is as high as a frontier guide thinks the traffic will bear. He generally has an agent in Hong Kong to prospect his customer's connections before he takes on the job.

CRASH-DIVE—A taxi cruising along a Montreal street suddenly changed direction, but instead of turning, it tried to go underground. The driver of the cab had to climb into the back seat to get out, as the pavement held the front doors closed. Water seeping under the pavement was the city's explanation for the collapse.

London Worried About Deal

LONDON, April 22 (CP).—The Financial Times, noting what it called a determined effort by "some opulent Canadians" to obtain a controlling interest in Hudson's Bay Company, expressed hope Monday that control will remain in London.

A columnist wrote in the Conservative newspaper that the men believed trying to gain control are "able and reputable,' had profited greatly out of Alberta oil, and "see a good prospect of securing a sufficiently large holding in this ancient and magificent company to enable them to transfer its headquarters to Canada."

The columnist said it would be a "great pity" if this were to happen.

Reports circulated here six months ago that Canadian groups were manoeuvring for control. A statement was issued then by the governor, Sir Patrick Ashley Cooper, denying that company headquarters might be transferred.

Warkworth Woman 40 Years WA Member

WARKWORTH, April 22 — (ENS). — Mrs. W. Grant Allen was hostess Wednesday evening to the Women's Association of St. Paul's United Church with an attendance of 35. Mrs. George Carr, vice-president, conducted the meeting. The Willing Workers Group was in charge of the devotional period. The business period was in charge of Mrs. Carr.

As Mrs. Smale was present for the last meeting before she moves to Belleville, an address was read in her honor by Mrs. J. E. Edgar and Mrs. W. Grant Allen made the presentation of a pin and earring set on behalf of the two groups of W.A. and the Sunday School.

Mrs. Smale thanked the members, and stated that she had been a member of the W.A. for the past 40 years. She said when she came to Warkworth there wasn't a W.A. Society, but that a group was organized soon after she moved to this village, and the late Mrs. W. H. Henry was the first president.

The Dorcas Group presented a contest and a sing-song, under the direction of Mrs. J. Sangster and Mrs. M. Laver.

Jailed Four Years For Robbing Firm

QUEBEC, April 22 (CP).—Armand Rochette, Montreal business man, was convicted Monday of theft of $291,000 from La Traverse de Levis, Ltee. and sentenced to four years in penitentiary and fined $10,000.

Judge Eugene Lafontaine ordered the 46-year-old accused to serve an additional two years if he fails to pay the fine.

Hearing of a second charge of defrauding the ferry company and shareholders of $357,000 was postponed.

Internees Moved To New Quarters

PUSAN, Korea, April 22 (Reuters)—Thousands of civilian internees from the United Nations prisoner-of-war camp on Korwe Island passed through here Monday on their way to undisclosea new quarters.

The internees waved Korean and United States flags and sang South Korean army songs as they arrived aboard U.S. navy craft from their island prison.

Officials confirmed that the contingents are part of 45,000 prisoners classified as civilians by U.N. negotiators during prisoner discussions at Panmunjon truce talks.

Last week pro-Communist prisoners from an enclosure north of Pusan were transported to Korwe Island, singing Communist songs and waving red flags as they passed through the port.

St. Laurent Sends Message To Queen

OTTAWA, April 22 (CP). — Prime Minister St. Laurent Monday sent greeting to Queen Elizabeth on the first birthday of her reign.

In a message addressed to Rt. Hon. Sir Alan Lascelles, the Queen's private secretary, Mr. St. Laurent said:

"My colleagues and I should appreciate it if you would convey to Her Majesty our congratulations and good wishes on the occasion of her birthday."

M.P's Tackle Redistribution Issue In House

OTTAWA, April 22 (CP)P. — The Commons, returning from a 12-day Easter recess, got right down to the controversial subject of redistribution of its seats on Monday and set up a 37-man, all-party committee to consider the matter.

The debate occupied most of the afternoon and night sitting and all parties expressed their views on the basis of a motion sponsored by Prime Minister St. Laurent. The motion recommended establishment of the committee and suggested members consider whether the constitutional formula should be changed so that no province would lose more than 15 per cent of its seats at any one time.

This would mean that Saskatchewan would lose only three instead of five seats under the present representation-by-population formula, based on the 1951 census.

Suggests Conference

A number of speakers thought Mr. St. Laurent's motion did not go far enough and George Drew, Prgoressive Conservative leader, suggested a federal-provincial conference to obtain the views of the provinces. This was rejected by the Prime Minister.

The motion was approved at the night sitting and members of the committee were named immediately.

Redistribution of Commons seats will become effective with the next federal election, which must be called by June 1954.

Acceptance of the Prime Minister's motion by the committee would mean that representation in the Commons would be increased to 265 from 262 seats. Under the proposals this is how the seats would be divided, with the existing representation in brackets:

Newfoundland seven (seven); Prince Edward Island four (four); Nova Scotia 12 (13); New Brunswick 10 (10); Quebec 75 (73); Ontario 85 (83); Manitoba 14 (16); Saskatchewan 17 (20); Alberta 17 (17); British Columbia 22 (18); Yukon-Mackenzie River two (one); total 265 (262).

Up To Parliament

Stanley Knowles (C.C.F.-Winnipeg North Centre) said the question of redistribution was one for an independent commission and such a commission should be appointed without delay. He also believed Prime Minister St. Laurent should consider a proposal that no province's representation should be cut by more than 10 per cent at one time.

Mr. St. Laurent said representation in the Commons was something for parliament alone. Replying to Mr. Drew's proposal for a federal-provincial conference on the matter, he said it was always the same when the opposition put forward such proposals—they "say there should be consultation with the provinces, but they don't say what should be done if one of the province's says 'no.'"

Mr. St. Laurent said suggestions that no province be allowed to lose more than 10 per cent of its seats at any time had an undesirable feature. This was that Saskatchewan for instance, would have a larger representation than Alberta, while having a smaller population.

Christian Living Topic At Norwood Meeting

NORWOOD, April 22—(ENS)—The Women's Association of the United Church held their monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. Robert J. Girven with an attendance of 36.

Following the opening hymn the minutes were read and approved and Happy Birthday was sung for a guest Mrs. Edward Patterson who was 92 that day.

Mrs. S. S. Breckon and her group took charge of the program. Mrs. Arthur Bitten read the scripture lesson. Mrs. David Hall read the "Lesson thoughts" after which Mrs. Fred Gardner led in prayer. Mrs. Robert Gardner then played a piano solo, "Where my Caravan has rested."

Mrs. Rork S. Ferguson gave the topic, "Christian living in the Community."

Wounded Constable Improving Steadily

HAMILTON, April 22 (CP). — Doctors said Monday that Constable Ray Houlihan, critically wounded in a gun battle Friday, is improving steadily.

Constable Houlihan was shot three times by a man whom he and another officer tried to question after the man had driven through a red light.

Later, police arrested Louis Cote, 27, and charged him with attempted murder. Cote was suffering bullet wounds but his injuries were not serious.

Baltimore Publisher Paul Patterson Dies

BALTIMORE, April 22 (AP).—Paul Patterson, 73, former president of the A. S. Abell Co., publishers of the Baltimore Sun papers, died at his home Monday night.

"The only thing I want recorded in my obituary," he said once, "is that I was always a newspaper man."

Patterson had been critically ill for several months. His widow and four sons Paul, Donald, James and Malcolm, were with him when he died.

GUARDS SET UP BATTLE LINE—Dramatic photo transmitted from behind the walls of Southern Michigan Prison in Jackson, Mich., shows State Troopers preparing to fire over the heads of mutinous prisoners in an effort to force them back into their cell blocks. In background is the prison quartermaster building which was set afire by the convicts. The convicts continued their mutiny today although the warden had accepted their major conditions.

Asked Not To Dump Cattle

OTTAWA, April 23. (CP)—Cattle men on Tuesday were urged not to dump their stock on the market because a new outbreak of foot-and-mouth disease has appeared in southern Saskatchewan. Agriculture Minister Gardiner said in the Commons that Canada will retain a floor price on beef as long as the United States market is closed to Canadian meat and livestock. Canada lost the market by U.S. government action when foot-and-mouth disease first broke out in Saskatchewan earlier this year. Mr. Gardiner cautioned against "dumping" of cattle in fear of sharply lower prices next fall.

Meanwhile, officials planned to widen the area put under quarantine when the first outbreak of the easily-spread disease became known this spring.

Beef Support

Mr. Gardiner explained the program to support beef prices. The floor price on beef was 25 cents a pound for good steers at Toronto, Montreal and Moncton, N. B., and 23.35 cents a pound at Winnipeg, 22.8 cents at Saskatoon, 22.55 cents at Edmonton and Calgary and 23.1 cents at Vancouver.

The floor will be changed next July in relation to market conditions and will be placed on a monthly basis. He hoped consumers would take advantage of lower prices to buy up some of the cattle "for which no outside market is at present available.

"With the fixing of a floor, it will be possible for the producer to market his cattle in an orderly manner with only finished cattle reaching the market.

Queen Juliana Given Peek At Canada's Secret Tests

OTTAWA, April 23. (CP)—Queen Juliana of the Netherlands caught a glimpse today of Canada's growing power in defence and industry. She was whisked through six National Research Council laboratories in 90 minutes to watch scientists at work at aerodynamics, secret escort-vessel testing, gas turbine and jet aircraft development. The tour was at the Queen's request. She wanted to see as much of Canadian industrial development as possible.

Newspapermen were barred from the tour on security grounds but a release was distributed to the press.

For the tour, the queen, on the second of a six-day visit to her wartime home, wore a black-and-white check suit, white gloves and hat and a diamond and ruby brooch at the throat.

At the council's aerodynamics laboratory, scientist T. E. Stephenson explained how Canada's wind tunnels are used in the design and development of R.C.A.F. and commercial aircraft.

She was shown eight test huts used for testing of building materials under various climates and a new gas turbine engine used for performance tests under low temperatures.

The reigning sovereign whose country forms an integral part of the North Atlantic Community, was shown secret work at a specially-constructed model testing basin.

Queen Juliana made the rounds of well-remembered places on Tuesday, recalling friends and incidents of other years.

Minimum of Formality

A minimum of formality marked her day. Even at the ceremony during which she placed a wreath at the national war memorial, the Queen found friends to greet her. She chatted briefly with a group of Netherlands immigrants decked in orange colors in her honor.

She also talked with Canadian men and women who hold Netherlands decorations, among them Gen. H. D. G. Crerar who commanded the first Canadian army that liberated Holland and Lt.-Gen. Charles Foulkes who accepted the German surrender in Holland in 1945.

Then she paid a visit to the Red Cross blood donor clinic where she donated during her wartime stay here while the Germans held the Netherlands during the Second World War. Here, too, she found friends.

Before anyone could perform introductions, Queen Juliana spotted Mrs. L. R. Gisborne, an official of the clinic.

"Mrs. Gisborne, you won't get any blood from me today," she said.

May 24 Holiday May Be Changed

OTTAWA, April 23 — (CP) — Canadian school children may be forced to revise the old rhyme about running away if they don't get a holiday on the Queen's birthday.

For years Canada has celebrated Queen Victoria's birthday—May 24—as a holiday. But a change may be in the offing. There still will be a statutory holiday, but not always on May 24.

The Commons Tuesday night agreed in principle to a bill that Canada should celebrate Victoria Day on the Monday preceding May 24, effective in 1953.

Next year May 24 falls on a Sunday. Should the measure become effective, it would make Monday May 18, 1953, a holiday. Everything would be fine in 1954 when May 24 falls on a Monday.

This possibility came about as a result of a bill introduced by J. L. MacDougall (L-Vancouver-Burrard). In the original form the bill also would have changed celebration of Dominion Day from July 1 to the first Monday following that day.

Light Patrol Contacts Across Battlefront

SEOUL, April 23—(AP)—Light patrol contacts and probes rippled across the Korean battlefront today as Allied soldiers observed the first anniversary of a massive Red offensive.

The Communists showed little willingness to repeat the punch they threw last April 22-23.

An Eighth Army staff officer said only five small Red probes were reported.

Allied planes continued saturation raids on the battered Red supply lines today. The U.S. Fifth Air Force said Communists MIGs offered no opposition.

Jet Squadron Making Tour

OTTAWA, April 23. (CP)—The R.C.A.F. announced today a squadron of Sabre jet fighters will make a four-week tour of eastern Canada starting April 30.

Twelve fighters, part of the Air Defence Command's first-line strength, will take part in the tour. The planes will be drawn from squadrons at Bagotville, Que., and Ottawa.

Weather permitting, the Sabres will make these appearances on the eastern tour:

April 30, Summerside, P.E.I.; Charlottetown and Sydney, N.S.; May 3, Truro, Amherst and Dartmouth, all in Nova Scotia; May 4, Yarmouth, N.S.; May 6, Saint John, N.B.; May 7, Fredericton and Moncton, N.B.; May 10, Quebec City; May 11, Three Rivers, Shawinigan, Sherbrooke and Victoriaville, in Quebec; May 12, Toronto; May 14, Orillia, Barrie, St. Catharines and Niagara Falls; May 15, Brantford, London, Galt, Preston, Kitchener, Guelph; May 16, Stratford and St. Thomas; May 17, Bracebridge and Sudbury; May 18, Huntsville and Midland.

Campaign Under Way

First Violence Reported In South African Dispute

CAPETOWN, April 23 (AP)—Prime Minister Daniel Malan's government won by a vote of 70 to 57 today on the first of three readings in the assembly of a bill to create a high court of parliament.

The government proposes to create the new court to keep South Africa's courts from blocking Malan's white-supremacy program.

One protest meeting by the opposition in a campaign against the legislation was broken up with violence Tuesday night.

Besides the hottest campaign, Opposition leader J. F. N. Strauss is reported to be planning a technical test in parliament to determine whether Malan's bill to set up a "high court of parliament" was legally introduced. Companion court action against the legislation is also being considered.

First violence in the bitter dispute came at Alberton in Transvaal province. The United Party's meeting was broken up in disorder by Nationalist followers of Malan. They threw rocks and eggs, started fights in the meeting hall, set fire to the United Party banners, and tried to turn over a car. No casualties were reported.

Protest meetings in other parts of South Africa were heckled but were not assaulted.

The series of meetings began only a few hours after Malan's bill was laid before parliament. It would hamstring the supreme court by setting up a high parliamentary court to rule on constitutional issues. Malan's party holds a majority in parliament which probably would be reflected in the make-up of the new tribunal.

The bill was Malan's answer to the appeal court which last month declared unconstitutional a law to restrict the voting rights of 50,000 coloreds (persons of mixed blood) in the Cape province.

War Amputees Get More Financial Aid

OTTAWA, April 23 (CP).—The Veterans Department will give more financial aid to Canada's war amputees to help take care of wear and tear on their clothes from the wearing of artificial limbs.

Notice was given on the Commons order paper today of a bill to increase the allowance. Amputees who lost all or part of a leg now get $54 a year for this purpose. It will be increased to $72.

Men who lost an arm or part of it will be raised to $30 from $22.

The increases are in line with increases in the basic pension rates introduced late last year.

Says Business Imposing Feudal Ways

Truman Refuses To Budge On Steel Seizure

WASHINGTON, April 23. — (AP)—Senator Wayne Morse (Rep. Ore.) today accused the steel industry and big business in general of trying to impose a "feudal system" on the United States people "in the name of private enterprise."

He told the Senate labor committee that big business is "cheating the American public" and trying to put the burden of industrial expansion on "the backs of the common people of America."

"They talk about ethics in the government," he went on, "but how about these lavish expense accounts, their whisky accounts, their entertainment accounts, their hotel and lobby accounts?"

By claiming such expenses as costs deductible from taxable income, Morse said, U.S. business is conducting a "lavish, unwarranted expenditure of the taxpayer's money" and "they now are working for a federal sales tax to put the burden of all this on the common people of America."

Lashes At Committee

Morse lashed out at a committee investigation of the deadlocked steel dispute. C.I.O. President Philip Murray was on the stand.

Murray said the government has allowed more than $12,000,000,000 in fast tax-amortization benefits for new plant construction since the Korean war started, but during the Second World War the fast tax write-offs amounted to only $5,000,000,000.

President Truman meanwhile stuck to his guns in his seizure of the steel industry despite a House member's proposal to impeach him.

A powerful Senate drive to force him to cancel the seizure order fell just short of the two-thirds majority vote required Tuesday. But its Republican backers led by Senator William Knowland of California redoubled their cries of "dictator" and cast about for other devices.

Actually 27 senators, 11 of them Democrats, voted for the move, and only 29 voted against it. Not a Republican voted "no". A switch of four votes would have provided the two-thirds margin needed to suspend Senate rules and permit action on Knowland's proposal to forbid the use of any federal funds in the seizure.

New Investigation

The Senate banking committee ordered a new investigation into government handling of the steel dispute, which many of its members have denounced vigorously.

Meanwhile Truman's boss of the seized steel plants, Commerce Secretary Charles Sawyer, was reported about to take his first official move to hand the steelworkers a big part of a disputed pay boost. Employers refused to grant the raise without government permission to increase steel

Only 14,000 Forks Ordered

OTTAWA, April 23 — (CP) — J. M. MacDonnell (PC-Toronto Greenwood) was told Tuesday that the defence department didn't order 63,000 serving forks after all—just 14,000.

He got the information in the Commons from David Croll (L-Toronto Spadina), chairman of the Commons defence committee. Mr. Croll said the information that only 14,000 serving forks had been ordered was given the committee.

Mr. MacDonnell brought the matter up during criticism of the budget. He recalled that he had carried one of the forks into the committee last autumn to inquire why the army would need 63,000 of a utensil usually only used by waiters at formal dinners.

He had been told then that only 40,000 had been ordered.

Mr. MacDonnell said he was not "going to risk my life carrying the fork around any longer" but hoped the department would do something about it.

He still couldn't see the need for the serving forks.

To Increase Trade

OTTAWA, April 23. (CP) —Canada will seek to increase trade with Dominican republic, Haiti and Puerto Rico with the establishment of a trade commissioner at Ciudad Trujillo, Dominican Republic, it was announced today. The office will be headed by Raineau E. Gravel, of Gravelbourg, Sask., who has been commercial secretary in Lima, Peru, since September, 1949. He is expected to take up his new appointment next September, following a tour of Canada.

Troops Learn Lesson In Bomb Blast

ATOM BOMB SITE, Nev., April 23 (AP)—For the first time men have lived, unhurt, standing under the flaming, hollow heart of the cloud that rushes upward from an A-bomb.

This happened to soldiers and officers close to the giant explosion Tuesday at Yucca Flat.

This bomb was greater than anything in Japan or Bikini, and just over or under the most powerful fired in the United States.

The fire-cloud followed the fireball, and swelling to miles in diameter, with red flames and yellow gases swirling in whorls bigger than Niagara Falls, the cloud drifted over the heads of some officers.

"We looked right up inside," said one. "It was hollow, but you could not see daylight through the hole. It was like an umbrella and whirling crosswise like a smoke ring, the inner dome was ribbed with dark and light colors, the dark ones probably nitrogen dioxide."

Baked White

The desert under the bomb was moist from rains Saturday and Sunday. The flash of heat lasting three seconds—baked this area white, with alkali giving the color.

For more than two miles in all directions the bomb started fires in hoshua trees—a cactus about 10 feet high. There was the smell of scorched brush all around. One temporary first-aid shack burned to the ground. The blast that followed the heat flash blew out most of the fires.

The troops—closer than anyone has approached except in Japan—knelt in trenches. They faced the bomb, with heads bowed just below the top of the dirt.

They joked, and they jumped and laughted after the terrific flash of light and heat had passed.

Then they learned the first lesson—keep your mouth shut. Nearly all were standing still in trenches, looking up, mouths open, when the blast drove a wave of dust into their faces.

Every man would have been a burn casualty except for the shadow of the trenches.

A tank was placed almost directly under the bomb. The hatch was left open to see what would have happened to men inside. They would have been killed by heat.

Planes on the ground far away had twisted tails or spot burns. But most weapons were not seriously damaged.

Signboards more than two miles away were ripped from their posts, but rtoops not much farther were unhurt, because they knew how to take cover. They wore no goggles and no extra protective clothing.

Takes Queen's Photo From Envoy's Shoulder

OTTAWA, April 23 (CP) — A short-sized Montreal photographer "shot" Queen Juliana of the Netherlands from a rather eminent position—the shoulders of a diplomat.

It happened Tuesday. The Queen was coming out of a Red Cross shop and talked with a group of children, but Lucien Desjardins of Montreal La Presse was on the opposite side of the Queen's limousine. He wasn't tall enough to get his camera in position.

"I can't thank you enough," said Desjardins. "Who are you anyway?"

"Lovink is the name," replied A. H. J. Lovink, Netherlands ambassador to Canada. "Did you get the picture you wanted?"

"I did not," Desjardins replied.

"How come?' asked the ambassador.

"The picture I wanted is the one of me sitting on your shoulder."

Find Cattle Stricken After Drink

Authorities Report Poison Enough To Kill Youngsters

TORONTO, April 23. (CP)—Police said today that a deadly fast-working poison polluting a tributary of Black Creek in suburban York township killed two cows and a bull and blinded a third cow on the farm of George Bower.

The three animals died after drinking creek water. The fourth was saved by medical treatment.

Authorities asked parents and teachers to warn children to keep away from the creek. They made sure signs warning against swimming in the water or drinking it were up. They also told residents to keep their dogs in the house so they will not drink the water.

Dr. Allan Ripley, the veterinarian who saved the one cow, said he is convinced the poison is chemical because bacteria "could not possibly" act so fast.

Real Emergency

"The poison is definitely in the water and in very heavy concentration," he said. "This creates an extreme emergency in the area. One mouthful taken by a small child would probably be fatal instantly."

Health Department officials said they do not know what kind of poison the water contains nor where it came from.

Black Creek flows through a heavily-populated section of York township before reaching the Humber River, which empties into Lake Ontario on Toronto's western outskirts.

Mimico Has Trouble

Mimico Creek in suburban Mimico was also investigated today for possible pollution after 3,000 chub died in underwater bait boxes in a single day.

Lands Department officials said the creek may be affected by overloading of the Mimico sewage plant. They took samples of water for analysis.

William Bonar, operator of a bait stand, said his supply of chub was cleaned out. "This never happened before."

Can't Explain Extra $161,609

WASHINGTON, April 23 (AP). —Treasury agents testified today that Joseph D. Nunan, Jr., former internal revenue commissioner, received $161,609 between 1945 and 1950 which he either did not report on his income tax returns or could not explain.

They said more than $90,000 of this amount was received by Nunan during the three-year period when he was the United States government's top tax collector.

Nunan now is a lawyer with offices in New York and Washington.

Walks Away With Primary

Ike Scores Big Victory In Pennsylvania Voting

NEW YORK, April 23 (CP) — Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower won a whopping popularity-poll victory in the Pennsylvania primary Tuesday and the result prompted demands from his backers for a lion's share of the state's 70 Republican presidential nominating votes.

But backers of Senator Robert Taft of Ohio, Eisenhower's chief opponent for the Republican nomination, called the results "meaningless" so far as the division of convention votes is concerned.

Eisenhower, completing his duties as North Atlantic Commander before returning to the United States, took what might be on the final count a 700,000-vote victory over Taft in the popularity race.

Harold Stassen, former Minnesota governor, on the ballot with Eisenhower, trailed in third place.

It was a one-sided contest from the start, since Taft kept his name off the ballot and urged his supporters not to write it in. He said the results wouldn't affect the delegate lineup.

Pennsylvania is one of 16 States which hold primaries in election years to give voters a chance to express preference for presidential aspirants. As in most primaries, the vote is not binding on the delegates chosen to go to the national nominating conventions.

New York also held its primary Tuesday but there was no accompanying popularity contest as in Pennsylvania.

However, Eisenhowers' supporters beat down most opposition and apparently assured him of at least 85 or 90 of New York's national convention presidential votes.

Most of New York's 94 Democratic convention votes will go to Averell Harriman, mutual security administrator, who announced Tuesday he will seek the presidential nomination.

In Pensylvania, of the 70 delegates thus far chosen, 23 appear to favor Eisenhower, 18 are for Taft, 19 are uncommitted and 10 races have not been settled.

In the Democratic balloting, Senator Estes Kefauver of Tennessee continued his practice of walking off with popularity contests.

But his victory gave no guarantees of any of the 70 Democratic votes at the July convention in Chicago. The delegates will go to Chicago uncommitted.

Police Smash Plot Of Convicts To Take Arsenal

JACKSON, Mich., April 22. (AP)—Heavily-armed police today smashed a plot of rebellious prisoners to break into the arsenal at Southern Michigan Prison. The prisoners, using the lives of 10 prison-guard hostages as a bargaining weapon, meantime demanded that Governor G. Mennen Williams enter peace negotiations. The convicts attempted to break into a tunnel leading from their fortress cell block to the prison administration building but state police forced them back.

The convicts were reported to have ripped off a metal cover over a tunnel entrance within block 15. The noise brought a score of police and guards.

Make Peace Bid

Negotiations resumed after a midnight peace bid to the hold-out convicts from Warden Julian Frisbie. There were signs that prison heads were willing to go along with some of the mutineers' demands.

The demand for Governor Williams participation came from Earl Ward, insurrection leader, in a telephone talk with Deputy Warden George Bacon. Ward demanded the Governor's signature to any agreement.

The holed-up convicts accused the prison system of "brutality" and demanded reforms in a number of phases of prison administration.

"The demands are not unreasonable," Frisbie conceded, "but there are no grounds for some."

Frisbie sought to conciliate the mutineers' spokesman in an attempt to save the lives of 10 prison guards held as hostages.

The convicts say they will put the hostages to death if any attempt is made to rush their stronghold.

In flaming rioting Monday that caused $2,000,000 damage, one convict was killed and at least nine were injured.

Sporadic outbreaks in various cell-blocks heightened tension Tuesday.

Violence broke out among the mutineers as they purged their own group of dissenters and "stool-pigeons."

New Jersey Convicts Surrender Meekly

RAHWAY, N.J., April 23 (AP) —Rebellious convicts of Rahway state prison farm surrendered meekly to authorities late Tuesday ending a five-day mutiny.

The 231 rebels, who had been barricaded in a dormitory wing for almost 115 hours, gave up after freeing eight guards they held as hostages.

In a statement from Trenton after the convicts gave up to authorities, the New Jersey State Department of Institutions and Agencies said:

"The settlement includes the same agreement stipulated by the department Tuesday, namely a survey of parole procedures and a promise there would be no corporal punishment visited on the inmates who lately barricaded themselves."

Anxious Days Ahead In U.K. Alexander Says

LONDON, April 23 (CP) — Field Marshal Earl Alexander of Tunis, in a maiden speech, told the House of Lords today Britain's contribution to defence of the free world is second only to that of the United States, but said the country must endure an "uncomfortable period of anxiety" before it can feel safe.

In the current year, Britain's new defence minister told a crowded chamber, defence expenditure is expected to absorb more than one-tenth of the country's gross output of goods and services. Some eight per cent of the population would be directly employed in defence work, including more than 850,000 men and women with the armed forces.

Lord Alexander said Britain had to fight a cold war while trying to build up strength for a possible hot war—which involved problems ranging from full-scale military operations in Korea and Malaya to the economics of defence and the need to counter the jamming of overseas propaganda broadcasts.

Left Exposed

In a general review, he said the recent departure of two British army divisions overseas left the country in a state of extreme nakedness.

"The cold war commitments have, for the time being, denuded us of a strategic reserve in the United Kingdom, and have made it more difficult for us to do what we should wish in fields of manpower, research and development in preparing against a possible hot war."

He expressed hope that deliveries would start next year of the Sabre fighter aircraft which Canada and the United States were to make available to Britain.

The defence minister spoke in debate opened by his namesake, Viscount Alexander of Hillsborough, who said he felt a civilian should have been appointed to the defence post.

Workers Build Levees Higher

KANSAS CITY, April 23—(AP) —Flood workers built their levees higher at Kansas City today—spurred by the Missouri River's fresh destruction upstream and a continued pattern of rain.

They said the extra height would not be needed, but they wanted to have it—just in case.

The extra protection being built on top of levees at Kansas City is the same kind of wooden "flashboarding" used to save Omaha, Neb., and Council Bluffs, Ia., last week.

Army engineers boosted their estimates of damage to $54,800,000 from Rulo in southeastern Nebraska to the mouth above St. Louis. That included $29,700,000 of agricultural damage.

Continue Bolstering Dam In Saskatchewan

SWIFT CURRENT, Sask., April 23 (CP)—Measures continue today to bolster Duncairn dam 25 miles upstream from Swift Current.

A buffer dam behind a threatened spillway has been completed, and workmen now are working to widen and strengthen it. Water trapped between the extra dam and the spillway is being pumped out to remove all pressure.

"I feel a lot better about the situation today than I felt Monday," said Dr. L. B. Thompson Tuesday night. He is director of the Prairie Farm Rehabilitation Administration, builders of the dam.

He said a temporary spillway at the dam is "working well" and that a construction crew is working to repair the damaged spillway.

Lower Taxation Demanded In Budget Debate

OTTAWA, April 23. (CP)—The Commons, launching the budget debate, listened Tuesday to criticism of Finance Minister Abbott's 1952-53 budget and demands for lower taxation. In brief this is the way the main critics described the budget Finance Minister Abbott presented to the Commons April 8:

J. M. Macdonnell (PC-Toronto Greenwood), chief financial critic for the Opposition, said if there was anything good about the budget, he couldn't find it.

M. J. Coldwell, C.C.F. leader, said the main result would "militate against the interests of those in the lower income brackets."

Solon Low, Social Credit leader, said the Canadian people would have only one word—it "stinks."

The usual non-confidence motions were moved by the Progressive Conservative and C.C.F. parties. The Social Crediters were prevented by rules from moving a similar motion at this time, but Mr. Low said he could find plenty of "regrets" about the budget.

Unjust Taxation

The Progressive Conservative motion proposed defeat of the government because it continued to "levy excessive and unjust taxation instead of assuring substantial tax reductions"; that it was taxing "far beyond actual requirements," was wasteful and extravagant and "failed" to assure efficient administration in all departments of the public service.

Mr. Coldwell accepted this motion and added a paragraph asking the House to vote regret at the "failure" of the government to abolish the four-per-cent floor under medical expenses deductible for income-tax purposes, as asked by a unanimous vote of members March 26 last.

The motions will be voted on at the conclusion of the budget debate which may continue for a week or more.

Mr. MacDonnell said this year the government will collect taxes at the rate of $10,000 a minute. These dug deep into the pockets. Canada was drifting into the position where, as in wartime, the government dominated the economy more and more.

Citizens Indignant

Referring to Mr. Abbott's forecast surplus of $30,000,000 which had climbed to $722,000,000 by last December, Mr. MacDonnell said he believed the taxpayers were rightly indignant that they were being taxed unnecessarily.

Mr. Abbott's ability to make the surplus disappear had been caught by cartoonists and "Abbott's rabbit" will "remain in our minds," Mr. Coldwell said.

Mr. Coldwell criticized Mr. Abbott for not eliminating the four-per-cent floor on medical expenses, despite Commons approval of a C.C.F. motion to that effect March 26 last.

Mr. Abbott interjected that the motion simply asked consideration be given to the matter.

Mr. Coldwell said that was "quibbling." Removal of the floor would have benefited everyone who had medical expenses, while the increase in the total deductible medical expenses — $1,500 from $750 for single persons and $2,000 from $1,000 for married persons—would provide little benefit.

Changes Deceptive

Changes in the personal income taxes were deceptive. The minister had given the false impression that if it had not been for the Social-Security tax the 1952 income-tax rates would be lower. Also the budget imposed a heavier tax on those in the lower-income groups than on those in the higher income-tax levels. This was not fair.

Mr. Low said there was actually no decrease in taxation at all and those in the lower-income brackets were "getting it in the neck." It was a "rich man's budget."

Excise tax reductions should be made conditional on the manufacturer passing the benefit to the consumer. It was now apparent this was not being done fully in many cases.

During the night sitting Clarie Gillis (C.C.F., Cape Breton South) said Canada's growing military forces were too big a job for one man. He suggested appointment of an air minister to relieve Defence Minister Claxton of the heavy responsibility of the growing R.C.A.F.

Tuesday's Heat I.o April Record

Peterborough citizens aren't prepared for sticky sweltering weather in April, but Tuesday they got it good measure.

The mercury climbed to 76 and the humidity was high, but it wasn't a record temperature by any means. In 1945 the thermometers in Peterborough registered 78 on April 12 and two days before that it was 76.

April 14 in 1941 also topped Tuesday's temperature by one degree. And on April 22 and 26 in 1946 temperatures were 73 and 76 respectively.

A year ago however, the weather was rather cool. It hovered around 50.

Other cities recorded high temperatures Tuesday as well. Toronto was the warmest with 78. Ottawa was 77; London and Windsor 76 and Montreal 75.

But the 5 o'clock rain storm brought some relief and this morning coler air had moved in.

Brig. Bogert Arrives To Take Command

SOMEWHERE IN KOREA, April 23—(CP)—Brig. M. P. Bogert has arrived at the front to take command of the 25th Canadian Brigade, succeeding Brig. John (Rocky) Rockingham, who commanded the force for a year.

Bogert, 43, native of Toronto, is being succeeded by Rockingham as director-general of military training at defence headquarters in Ottawa.

Rockingham, 41, left a civilian job in Victoria, B.C., in 1950 to take charge of the formation of Canada's Korean brigade.

Brig. Bogert already has had a taste of Communist artillery fire in Korea.

He was being introduced by Rockingham when heavy Communist shells landed in the area. Commonwealth artillery silenced the enemy guns.

Mackenzie King's Nephew Candidate

WHITBY, April 23 — (CP) — John L. Lay, 39-year-old nephew of W. L. Mackenzie King, Tuesday was chosen Liberal candidate in the federal by-election in Ontario riding May 26.

Walter Thomson, who resigned from the seat after he became provincial leader of the Liberal party, said the Liberals won half the battle in the last provincial election by becoming the official opposition and almost eliminating the C.C.F. party in Ontario.

Obituary

JOHN D. THOMPSON

HAVELOCK, April 23 (ENS)—The death occurred Monday morning of John J. Thompson, 85, one of Havelock's most highly respected residents.

His death came after an extended period of ill health.

Mr. Thompson was born in Seymour township, where he was a successful farmer, until he retired in 1941 on account of his health, and moved to Havelock. He was a son of the late James Thompson and Jane Tamblin and was the last of a family of six children. He was a member of Havelock United Church and prior to coming here served for many years as a Sunday school teacher at Trent River United Church.

Surviving besides his widow, the former Annie McMullen (Menzies), are a step-daughter, Mrs. Albert Wood, and two step-grandchildren, Donald and Wilma Wood, of Seymour township.

The funeral service will be held Wednesday at 2.30 p.m. at his late residence, and will be conducted by the Rev. R. G. Newman, of Havelock United Church, assisted by the Rev. M. Esler, of the Pentecostal Church. Burial will be in Centre cemetery.

Truce Delegates Just Stalling

MUNSAN, April 23 — (AP) — Allied truce negotiators accused the Communists today of dodging the main issue blocking arrangements for enforcing a Korean armistice.

The Communists replied there would be "no progress at all" unless the United Nations command changed its attitude.

The exchange ended a 19-minute session of staff officers at Panmunjom. No progress was made toward settling truce supervision disputes—Communist nomination of Russia as a neutral inspector and Allied insistence the Reds be barred from repairing military airfields. Another meeting will be held at 11 a.m. Thursday (9 p.m. Wednesday EST).

It appeared more and more that the truce supervision negotiators were awaiting outcome of secret negotiations in a neighboring tent on prisoner exchange. The prisoner session lasted two hours. There was no report on what happened.

Prices Irregular On Toronto Exchange

TORONTO, April 23 (CP) — Prices drifted irregularly lower today in early afternoon stock market dealings after a sharp morning decline.

Western oils and a few secondary golds and lower-priced base metals attracted speculative interest but most turnovers were moderate. Volume for the first three hours was 1,977,000 shares.

Refining oils, textiles and miscellaneous issues led industrials lower with losses ranging to about a point. Papers, manufacturing companies, constructions and agricultures also weakened but banks and liquors were firm.

Western oil losses ranged to about 50 cents. Calvan Consolidated, Canada Southern, Canadian Atlantic, Consolidated Cordasun, New British Dominions and Royalite were among the heaviest losers.

Base metal leaders dipped as Consolidated Smelters, East Sullivan, Golden Manitou, Labrador, Noranda, Normetal, Quemont and Steep Rock traded lower.

Senior golds showed little trend in mixed dealings. Junior producers and prospects posted a broad list of penny losses.

Six convicts were tossed out of cell block 15. Two of the expelled prisoners had been beaten with chains. They are in serious condition in the prison hospital.

Warden Frisbie promised the mutineers "there will be no mass punishment" if they call it quits and surrender the hostages in safety.

Frisbie also told Ward "I'm going along with you on the major points" of the convicts' manifesto. But he reported the ringleader had "no particular reaction" to his peace bid.

The mutineers' manifesto included: No reprisals against the leaders; a more liberal parole policy; establishment of an inmate council to meet monthly with the prison administration; an end to the use of "inhuman restraint equipment" in the disciplinary block; better ventilation and light, and improved segregation of mental cases.

Want Better Terms

The convict spokesman indicated he would barter for better terms.

At a press conference, the warden flatly denied the mutineers' charges of brutality. He said, however, he would agree to investigate and make any needd reforms in prison administration.

The mutineers appeared to be ruled with an iron hand by Ward and Jack (Crazy Jack) Hyatt, a notorious robber from Leamington, Ont.

Crazy Jack—so called for his tantrums—flew into a rage Tuesday and beat two men with chains before they were tossed out of the cell block.

Butter solids: First grade 57½; no price established on second grade; western 58¼.

MONTREAL LIVESTOCK

MONTREAL, April 23 (CP) — Prices were steady today on Montreal livestock markets.

Receipts were 90 cattle, 50 calves, no sheep and lambs and 3,935 hogs. Total offerings Tuesday were 359 cattle, six sheep, 1, 672 calves and 4,283 hogs.

Cattle offerings consisted mostly of steers carried over from yesterday. A few sales of cows were made at 20-21.50 for good quality, medium 17-19, common 15-17 and canners and cutters 10-15.

Calves were in good demand at steady prices, with good quality at 22-23 and common and medium 15-21.

Sellers offered nearly 4,000 hogs carried over from yesterday. There were no early sales registered and an embargo placed yesterday on hogs continued.

TORONTO LIVESTOCK

TORONTO, April 23 (CP) — Cattle prices were steady to strong in fairly active trading today at the Ontario stockyards. Receipts: Cattle 240; calves 60; hogs 530; no sheep or lambs. The leftover from Tuesday was 1,250 cattle.

Good steers sold at $24-$24.50 with a few choice at $25 and mediums at $22-$23.50. Good heifers were at $23.25-$23.50 with a few tops at $24. Medium to good cows sold mostly $18-$20.50, while good bulls brought $18-$20.50, and common bulls $16. Medium to good fed yearlings sold at $20-$23 with a few choice upward to $25.50. Medium to good stockers were selling from $23-$25.

Calves sold at yesterday's decline of $3-$5 at $20-$24 for good to choice vealers with common downward to $10.

Hogs sold at $26 for grade A with sows $14 dressed.

No sheep or lamb sales.

WINNIPEG GRAIN

WINNIPEG, April 22 (CP) — Prices of coarse grain futures showed a lower trend today in early trading on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange.

Offerings were more liberal than yesterday and commercial demand was not too aggressive. Continued good harvest weather in the west and the unsettling effect of a new outbreak of foot-and- mouth disease in Saskatchewan also were factors.

Export purchases were reported in barley and there were shipping orders in oats. The odd processing purchase was indicated in flax.

11 a.m. prices:

Oats: May ½ lower 86¼; July ⅝ lower 78⅝; Oct. ½ lower 78¼A.

Barley: May 1½ lower 1.20⅜A; July 1⅛ lower 1.16⅝; Oct. ⅝-¾ lower 1.15¾A.

Rye: May ½ lower 1.93½; July ⅞-1 lower 1.91⅞; Oct. not open.

Flax: May unchanged 3.56; July unchanged 3.60; Oct. ½ lower 3.57.

U.S. Dollar Down

MONTREAL, April 23 — (CP) —The United States dollar today opened at a discount of 2 1/16 per cent in terms of Canadian funds, down 3/32 from Tuesday's close. That is, it took $0.97 15/16 Canadian to buy $1 American.

The pound sterling was $2.75⅛, unchanged from Tuesday.

50 Chairs Broken Will Store Them After Exhibition

When the Exhitition is ended next September—not August—the grandstand chairs will be locked up in storage, if G. A. Gillespie, secretary-manager, has his way. They won't be left out on the concrete steps for the comfort of football fans, not after last October's experience when fifty of the chairs were flung about and considerably damaged.

Executive of the Exhibition recently bought 200 of the Regent Theatre chairs.

"That gives us a total of around 700 or more chairs for the grandstand," Mr. Gillespie commented. "The price for the 200 was $2.50 each, and I think it was a good investment."

But, if the football fans don't appreciate the curved comfort of chairs, as indicated last fall, they can sit on the hard boards or concrete.

All Repaired

"They broke up 50 of the chairs last year," Mr. Gillespie said. "We had quite a job repairing them, but we did, and got them all in good order again. But, it is most discouraging to know that there are people of that kind who have no sense of property, even when they have a small share in it. The Exhibition and the grounds are as much their affair as it is mine or the president's."

Each spring Mr. Gillespie says the grass was never greener across the 28 acres of Morow Park. Seeding in the sandy soil at the east end of the grounds several years ago has caught and developed.

Tile drains have been laid under several sections of the race track, and shallow open drains have been renewed inside the circle of the track. With that provision, rain disappears fast and soon dries. They say it is one of the fastest half-milers in eastern Ontario.

Charge Refusal Was Deliberate

WASHINGTON, April 23. (AP) —President Philip Murray of the C.I.O. said today the steel industry "refused to make any offer" in the deadlocked steel-wage dispute "because they wanted to be absolutely certain that there would be no agreement."

Murray told the Senate Labor Committee the industry "did not want a voluntary agreement because, if there were a voluntary agreement, they would not have a club to hold over the head of our Office of Price Administration."

President Truman seized the industry two weeks ago to prevent a strike of Murray's 650,000 steel workers. The union is demanding a three-instalment wage boost of 17½ cents an hour and other benefits. These benefits have been recommended by the wage stabilization board. Average hourly earnings in the industry are slightly under $2.

The industry said the total package will add $12 a ton to the price of steel, but the government so far has refused to allow a price increase of more than $3.

No Room On Bus Girls Seek Ride

Plans for a trip Saturday to Toronto for members of the girls auxiliaries of St. John's, St. Luke's and All Saints' have been too successful.

The girls chartered a bus for the trip, but so many wanted to go that there wasn't room for them all. There was an overflow of four and now they are looking for someone going to Toronto early Saturday morning.

Anyone who would like to help out should contact Miss Margaret Stevenson, 5255.

U.S. Senate Asked To Approve Treaty

LONDON, April 23 — (AP)—A western diplomat said today the United States Senate will be asked to approve a revised North Atlantic Treaty which will give specific defence commitments to western Germany.

In effect, he added, this would bring western Germany under North Atlantic Treaty Organization protection "through the back door."

It would be done by extending to the new European defence community the same guarantees that exist among N.A.T.O. members. Western Germany is the only E.D.C. members which is not a member of N.A.T.O.

prices $12 a ton.

Close associates said Sawyer is about ready to take first steps to grant steel workers a 12½-cent-an-hour pay increase; retroactive to Jan. 1, plus "fringe" benefits worth about 5.1 cents an hour. These sources said the secretary will not, however, grant the union shop contract which wage stabilization board has recommended.

And Price Administrator Ellis Arnall, who submitted to a six-hour questioning by the Senate banking committee Tuesday, was reported by committee members to have budged not an inch from his White House-approved stand. He is against allowing the steel plants to raise prices more than about $3 a ton, as now permitted by the price control law.

The Senate Labor Committee, whose past actions have had a strong pro-administration flavor, caled Philip Murray, C.I.O. president and head of the United Steelworkers of America, to air the workers' side of the story at a public hearing today.

WINNIPEG, April 23 (CP)—A mysterious light, first reported over Manitoba Monday, was seen whirling across Winnipeg Tuesday night. Newspaper offices received numerous calls from citizens who said the sparkling disc kept changing color as it moved across the evening sky.

Val D'Or Mayor Seeking Support

VAL D'OR, QUE., April 23 — (CP).—Mayor Oza Tetrault said today the town council will seek support of the Canadian Federation of Mayors and Municipalities for a resolution seeking establishment of a federal fund to grant loans to municipalities for capital works at an interest rate of two per cent.

This would make money available to towns and cities at less than half the cost now paid to brokers to float bond issues for public improvements, he said.

Mayor Tetrault said he feels towns and cities are bidding against themselves in the money market and thus boosting interest rates.

He realized the federal government could not lend money to municipalities at two per cent without loss, but said the difference should constitute federal aid to the municipalities.

U.S. Envoy Discusses Egyptian Situation

CAIRO, Egypt, April 23—(Reuters) — Jefferson Caffery, United States ambassador to Egypt, called on Foreign Minister Hassouna Pasha today to discuss the Anglo-Egyptian dispute.

The half-hour meeting was held as talks continue in London among Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden, Sir Ralph Stevenson, British ambassador to Egypt, and Sir Robert Howe, Britain's governor-general of the Sudan.

Caffery refused to comment when he left Hassouna. But Egyptian sources said the ambassador is "still continuing to use his good offices" in efforts to settle outstanding differences between Britain and Egypt.

(The London discussion today centred around the possibility of opening Anglo-Egyptian discussion on the Sudan to Sudanese representatives. They are expected to end Saturday).

Appoint Ambassador

HAVANA, Cuba, April 23 — (Reuters)— The appointment of Antonio Iraizoz as ambassador to Spain was announced Tuesday by the Ministry of State. The appointment marks the resumption of diplomatic relations with Spain where there has been no Cuban ambassador in recent years.

War Gets Confusing
Ambush Patrols Also Get Ambushed

By BILL BOSS.

WITH THE CANADIANS IN KOREA, April 17 (Delayed by Censor) (CP).—War gets to be confusing when ambush patrols are themselves ambushed.

It happened April 4 to the 2nd Battalion Royal Canadian Regiment, but censorship prevented earlier mention of the encounter.

The Van Doos have a policy of "keeping the Communists aware of who's boss in no man's land."

Consistent with it, Lt.-Col. Gaston Valle of Quebec, officer commanding dispatched a strong ambush patrol under Lieut. Reg. O'Donnell of Quebec.

Its two sections, each with a Bren gun, were under Corporals Arthur Roy of Sherbrooke, Que., and J. A. Boucher of Sorel, Que. Bren gunners were Ptes. Jean Langlois of Shawinigan Falls, Que. and Joseph B. Prince of Victoriaville, Que.

No sooner had O'Donnell's men settled down in an all-round defensive position than the patrol was fired on from the north.

Langlois' Bren chattered out an immediate reply, right into the five Comunists advancing onto the position.

In the ensuing fight Langlois' No. 2 man, Pte. Rheal Pilon of Port Arthur, was wounded in the shoulder and unable to pass over the ammunition magazines, and the Bren itself was damaged.

Ask For Help

Prince was just taking over Langlois' job with his own Bren when enemy attacked from the rear.

Already firing on a 180 degree arc, Prince then found his job impossible. O'Donnell, himself wounded by shrapnel, radioed a message to Valle.

"We seem to have been ambushed by a patrol of 40," he signalled "and we've been surrounded. Can you send us reinforcements?"

O'Donnell's message sparked a flood of 'phone calls in to battalion headquarters.

Company commanders were relaying requests from their platoon commanders, mostly newly-arrived lieutenants keen for a scrap.

But Valle decided against this. "The situation is not clear," he radioed back to O'Donnell. "The only thing to do is to fight it out and try to make your way home."

The young lieutenant pulled his patrol into a tighter perimeter, with Prince and his Bren gun guarding the rear.

Shoot Route Open

While others of the platoon shot open a route back into the battalion's main defences, Prince covered the withdrawal, firing from the hip in a kneeling position. He personally accounted for 15 Chinese dead that night.

Valle, still determined to get a prisoner, dispatched another patrol under Sgt. Raymond Le Bouthillier of Dalhousie, Que.

Just as Le Bouthillier spotted one wounded Chinese the patrol saw an enemy search party making for the same man.

A bit of nimble footwork, without a shot being fired, yielded the wounded man to the Van Doo party.

But the prisoner had been too severely wounded to undergo interrogation and despite all medical assistance in the regimental aid post he died before dawn.

23 Animals To Be Shot In New Outbreak

REGINA, April 23 (CP)—Another 23 animals will be shot today in Canada's program to eradicate a foot-and-mouth disease outbreak in the Regina area.

Their slaughter will add to the total of nearly 1,300 animals destroyed in the federal-directed program since the announcement Feb. 25 that foot-and-mouth disease had broken out.

The animals are from an infected farm five miles south of Ormiston in Southern Saskatchewan 100 miles southwest of Regina by road.

The outbreak of the disease is the first in the area since March 8. It was confirmed Tuesday by federal officials, after being quarantined and under investigation since Friday.

Twelve cattle and one hog are infected. Also to be shot and buried in a pit, as were the others, are 10 animals of a neighboring herd which have been in contact with the diseased livestock.

Not So Serious

Dr. Kenneth Wells of Ottawa, in charge of the disease eradication program, said Tuesday the outbreak is "not as serious as it appears on the surface."

He said the source of the infection had been traced, the area is not thickly populated with cattle and that it is not a mass spread of the disease.

He said the infection was spread to the area, outside the original foot-and-mouth quarantine area but well inside a 50-mile buffer zone, by the purchase of a quarter of beef from a premise infected in the original disease outbreak. The animals were fed uncooked scraps of meat and bones when the quarter was thawed and canned two weeks ago.

British Columbia, which only last Thursday discontinued its livestock import embargoes, announced Tuesday it would not reimpose its bans as the result of the outbreak.

In Winnipeg, Agriculture Minister F. C. Bell said the outbreak may result in Manitoba's embargo on cattle shipments from the west remaining in force for some time.

Give Decisions In Labor Cases

OTTAWA, April 23—(CP)—The Canada Labor Relations Board today announced decisions in five cases affecting employees of the Canadian Pacific Railway on the west coast. Four deal with the C.P.R.'s B.C. coast steamship service.

The board ordered representation votes among three units of the steamship employees on applications for certification from the Machinists, Fitters and Helpers Union (C.C.L.), the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers (A.F.L.-T.L.C.) and the Brotherhood of Painters and Decorators (A.F.L.-T.L.C.).

It rejected an application from the Brotherhood of Railway and Steamship Clerks (A.F.L.-T.L.C.) for certification as bargaining agent for steamship maintenance employees. The union did not have the support of a majority of employees in that unit.

However, the Board certified that union as bargaining agent for employees of the C.P.R. ticket offices in the Vancouver station and the Vancouver hotel.

Editor Urges President's Power Defined

NEW YORK, April 23 (AP) — plea that Congress make "plain and explicit by law" the President's powers with respect to seizure of private property was voiced today by the head of the American Newspaper Publishers Association.

Charles F. McCahill, A.N.P.A. president and general manager of the Cleveland News, cited in a prepared address the recent seizure of the steel industry and President Truman's remarks on the possibility of taking over news media.

McCahill welcomed delegates to the 66th annual convention of A.N.P.A., which met in its first general session today.

At today's session, the A.N.P.A.'s federal laws committee reported that forces are at work to whittle away American freedoms "as surely and as purposefully" as in Nazi Germany and Soviet Russia.

Careful Attention

McCahill in his opening address said the publishers should "give every attention" to the questions in the steel conflict "of the rights of private owners, the rights of the public interest, and the 'rights' claimed by the federal government."

"In response to a question at his press conference only last Thursday," McCahill continued, "the President of the United States stated that depending upon circumstances at the time the President would determine whether or not it was necessary to take over the newspaper and the radio stations.

"This incident does make plain that it is the responsibility of every American citizen to make sure that the powers of the President with respect to seizure are made plain and explicit by law. This is a responsibility of the Congress and we would be unfaithful as American citizens if we did not make certain that we have in this country a government by law and not by personal wishes or whims."

Women Put Out Fire

PORT BOLSTER, April 23 (CP) —When a chimney fire broke out Tuesday, there was not an able-bodied man in the village. A group of women climbed a ladder, chopped a hole in the roof, formed a bucket brigade and put out the blaze in half an hour. The community, 40 miles north of Toronto, has no regular fire brigade.

Allies Refuse To Be Divided

MONTREAL, April 23 (CP) — Stanley Woodward, United States ambassador to Canada, today said the two countries "do not intend to be divided by the strategy of the aggressor who since 1945 has sought to keep his intended victims divided, or set them quarrelling among themselves."

He said in a prepared address to the St. Lawrence Kiwanis Club here that much is heard these days of "the threat of Americanization" in Canada. But what really is going on is "a continental exchange of cultural influence."

Canada and the U.S. were for the first time in peacetime "allies in a larger group—the North Atlantic Treaty Organization."

"We do not intend to be lulled into losing our heritage of liberty and freedom by those who made mockery of the phrase 'people's democracy' by imposing a straitjacket by force and violence on half a billion human beings since 1939, while freedom-loving nations have peacefully given independence to a half a billion more, who are free to make their own domestic and foreign policies."

Rule Pavilion Lessee Must Pay Back Taxes

COBOURG, April 23—(ENS)—Taxes must be paid by the lessee of the park pavilion, tax collector E. A. Hircock has ruled. Mr. Hircock declares that for some years the town has a legal right to collect taxes on the pavilion, which is owned by the town and leased to the operator.

The lessee, Stan Williams, claims that when he rented the pavilion, he agreed to pay a certain rent and that there was no mention of taxes. During the many years in which he has rented the pavilion, he has spent $15,000 on the place, Mr. Williams asserts.

The tax collector says that the taxes are legal, are owing, and must be paid.

Say Newsprint Supply Eases

NEW YORK, April 23 (AP) — The tight newsprint supply situation of a year ago in the United States has eased somewhat.

But the price of newsprint, a major factor in the increasing costs of publishing, remains a major problem of newspaper executives.

This was the gist of a report by the American Newspaper Publishers Association today at its annual meeting.

Newsprint consumption in the United States has increased, the report said, but newsprint production also has increased.

A.N.P.A. members reporting consumption used 1,093,203 tons of newsprint during the first three months of this year, an increase of 16,696 tons over the corresponding 1951 period.

An increase of 722,000 tons in manufacturing capacity is already definitely in process or planned. But the A.N.P.A. is less optimistic in its discussing of newsprint prices.

"Publishers know that they cannot continue to meet ever-increasing costs for one of the major elements entering into the production of the newspaper and remain in business," the report said.

"All publishers, even the most successful, are finding increasing difficulty in meeting current costs of operation and newsprint is a major cost factor."

Business Looking Up

GLEN BURNIE, Md., April 23 (AP)—Business is looking up for a drive-in restaurant here. During a rush hour Tuesday, William Styles, the short order cook, looked out and yelled: "They're even dropping from the skies." A helicopter came down for a landing. Two young men got out, came in for breakfast, went out and flew away.

Birds Get Fooled

CHICAGO, April 23 (AP) — Robins and other birds began chirping and singing at 1 a.m. on one north side street Tuesday. Puzzled residents along Sheridan Road found the sleep-disturbing singing came from birds in trees near some new sodium lights erected recently. The lights give off a blue-white glow which the manufacturers say resembles daylight.

Minister's Widow Mrs. E. McKinnon Dies

TORONTO, April 23 — (CP) — Mrs. Elizabeth MacKinnon Chisholm, 91, widow of the Rev. John Chisholm, United Church minister, died today.

She was born in Grey County and moved to British Columbia by way of San Francisco before the Transcontinental railway was built.

Returning east in 1890, Mrs. Chisholm worked with her husband in Ontario pastorates at Dumbarton, Scarboro, Kemptville and Kingston, and later moved to Montreal. Mr. Chisholm died in 1936.

Cobourg Suburb Being Opened

COBOURG, April 23—(ENS)—A suburb of Cobourg is being opened up by Reg. Gardiner of Cobourg who some time ago purchased 90 acres along Brook Rd., just east of Cobourg, extending from Highway No. 2 to the shore of Lake Ontario. An agreement has been completed recently with the township of Hamilton and town of Cobourg whereby a water supply system for the real estate project will be linked with the town water pumping system, via a six-inch main.

Forty-six lots have been marked out south of the highway with 20 more on the lakefront. Thirty-seven of the highway lots have been sold and 10 of the lake lots. Available for dividing is enough land for 60 more building lots of which 20 are on the lake shore.

Three streets have been laid out and a fourth one is on the way; they are named Orchard, Hamilton and Lakeshore. The main street is known as Coverdale Ave. and the entire real estate project is called Coverdale. A grocery store already has been constructed on one of the corner lots and one more store can be built, after which business buildings are restricted. Right now eight houses have been built and several will be started this coming summer. It is pointed out that while the lots are adjacent to busy No. 2 Highway, in time this highway will become less travelled when the new highway goes north.

Hitler Let British Get Away Reds Told

MOSCOW, April 23 (AP) — Russian readers got the Soviet dope today on the British evacuation from Dunkerque.

Neither heroism nor skill got the British troops off the sands of France—Hitler let them get away on purpose, says the Russian navy newspaper Red Fleet.

The Fuehrer issued orders to let the British troops get away, the paper contends, in hopes this would speed up an Anglo-American agreement on a joint war against the Soviet Union.

Red Fleet said further:

"The myth of the 'heroic feat' of the British fleet at Dunkerque was needed by the English falsifiers of history in order to conceal the truth from their own people and the world public."

Finally Gets News

DARWIN, Australia, April 23—(Reuters).—Australian geologists have carried the first news of the death of King George VI to Jingleole, self-styled "King" of the Wessel Islands, off the northeast tip of Arnhem Land, North Australia. Jingleole, who has eight subjects—his family—sadly produced a battered photograph of King George. The geologists, investigating bauxite deposits in the lonely islands, promised to send him a portrait of Queen Elizabeth.

Had Their Troubles

DANVILLE, Va., April 23 (AP) —Engine Company No. 4 roaring to a fire Tuesday found the street blocked by a five-room bungalow. Before the firemen could continue a dozen professional movers had to pull the house they were relocating over to the curb. Later the alarm sounded again, another fire in the same place. Sweating movers again tugged the house to the curb.

Commuters Stranded

TOKYO, April 23 (Reuters)—Millions of commuters in the Osaka and Kobe industrial belt were stranded today when more than 50,000 railway and bus workers joined a 24-hour strike. The strike followed the breakdown of negotiations between individual companies and the trade unions over new wage scales.

Thirty Thousand Tons of T.N.T.

The explosion at Hiroshima in 1945 shook the world. The much bigger explosion yesterday in Nevada should make the world tremble. The bomb detonated in the barrens of the testing region was fearful and awful. Some observers guess that it was equivalent to thirty thousand tons of T.N.T. Its flash was visible for 75 miles.

Because it was a test explosion does not reduce its dreadful importance. Because our nerve fibres have recovered from the fact of Hiroshima our senses should not become dull to such monstrous creations of scientific cunning. The world should tremble before the blast yesterday, lest it be forgetful of the future to which the use in bombs of atomic energy can consign it.

A Courageous Statesman

As a statesman, the late Sir Stafford Cripps was distinguished by two very great qualities—courage and honesty. He belonged to that somewhat embarrassing breed who will not compromise with principle, and on one occasion this led to his being dismissed from the British Labour Party; the Party could not do without him long, however, for he was a man of brilliant intellect, and no party can for long afford to work without one of its best men. It was during his period of office as Chancellor of the Exchequer that his courage and honesty shone most brilliantly; when the only path to recovery for Britain lay through longer hours and lower wages, Cripps did not hesitate to say so, though he was well aware that such remedies could not be popular with that part of the electorate which imagined that a socialist government could reverse every law of economics. He was as fearless and uncompromising in office as he was in Opposition, and there are few statesmen of whom that can be said.

* * *

In his private character he appears to have been an austere man, with little charity for the shortcomings and indulgences of others. He was deeply religious, and his religion appears also to have been cool and well-ordered. Some of those who worked most intimately with him were devoted to him; many others found the rarified atmosphere of his circle a little too uncompromising for their comfort. He was described by some people who knew him well as a saint; it has been suggested by others that a high regard for doctrinaire socialism was required before his saintliness was made apparent.

* * *

Illness dogged him for many years, and the heavy burdens of office undoubtedly hastened his death at what is, in our time, an early age. His solid achievement while in office, and his example of rectitude will not soon be forgotten.

Investigate Defence Matters

It is very necessary that theft and misconduct affecting government military property be thoroughly investigated, and arrests made. A person who puts on a uniform does not thereby shed his civilian obligations and responsibilities under the law. He takes on an added responsibility, as a uniformed representative of his people and a paid servant of their government. To emphasize this double responsibility there is military law, superimposed on civilian law. Thefts of considerable proportions have occurred at Petawawa camp and arrests are being made. But whatever the proportion, any stealing (or to use the soldier's euphemism, "flogging") of goods which are the property of the people of Canada should be severely dealt with. The taxpayers are not putting up two billion dollars this year to have any of it flogged.

Peterborough's representative at Ottawa, Gordon K. Fraser, M.P., has demanded a nation-wide inquiry into thefts and fires in military establishments. If the Government brushes off this request, the people can suspect that it is not as careful of their money and interests as the great tax bill it is levying requires.

Mr. Fraser recalled an incident last year which the Government never bothered with. He had gone to the Minister of Defence and the Minister of Justice and told them that he had people willing to testify that paint was being openly offered for sale in Ottawa by men in service uniforms. No investigation followed, as far as Mr. Fraser could find out.

That sort of hush-hush attitude by Government departments is disconcerting to the public. It is one of the reasons why the Defence Committee of the House of Commons has an important work to do; and for months we have been urging that it get down to that work. Its task is to examine whether the taxpayer is receiving value for his money in defence expenditures.

The wide inquiry into the thefts and fires in military establishments, which Mr. Fraser has demanded, should properly be made by this Parliamentary Committee. It should have under its review not only vast spending on equipment and military establishments, but also details of that spending; and details of how what has been bought (like paint and food) is being used. The Defence Committee is due to start its sessions in a few weeks. We hope that it will be completely unhampered in its investigations of accounts and supplies. Nothing should be hidden from it that the public needs to know to be assured that public money for defence is being carefully spent and honestly used.

Ontario's Jailbirds

Judging by the increasing number of Ontario people who are sentenced to jail or reformatories, it may be a good thing that a separate Ontario Department of Reform Institutions was set up in 1946, with a Cabinet minister at its head. During the year ending March 31st, 1951, 46,858 persons were committed for trial in Ontario. Both in the number, and as a fraction of the total population of the province, this was the greatest it has ever been. In fact 10.19 persons out of every thousand in the Province were put behind bars last year.

The increase in the number of sentences less than thirty days more than accounted for the total increase last year over 1950. Of the 46,858 commitments 2,044 were for drunk driving, 14,117 for drunkenness, and 8,142 for breaches of the Liquor Control Act. Including these, there was a total of 33,620 commitments (of whom 30,892 received sentences) for crimes against public order and peace. There were 1,339 commitments (and 948 sentences) for crimes against public morals and decency; 9,205 (7,402 sentences) for crimes against property; and 1,841 commitments and 1,229 sentences for crimes against the person—that is, such crimes as murder, manslaughter, abduction, carnal knowledge, rape, intimidation and attempted suicide.

Peterborough's jail record (the statistics about the County Jail for the year ending March 31st, 1951) shows that 378 persons (only 19 of them women) were put into it during the year, and that the total number in custody was 408. It was certainly not the busiest jail in the Province—Barrie, for instance, had 755 customers during the year—nor was it the most idle, for Goderich had only 152 in custody during the year. Of Peterborough's total of commitments, 41 were acquitted and released after trial. The County Jail had only one inmate die on its hands. Of the people put behind the bars on the Court House hill, 184 were first-timers and 78 had been there more than three times before. Only six were under the age of sixteen. Of the total of 378 committed to the Peterborough jail 32 were total abstainers; 203 were classified as "temperate"; 143 as "intemperate", two were illiterate, and 274 had an elementary education. Only 102 were listed as having had "advanced" education.

Nobody escaped, or if he tried, succeeded in avoiding recapture, from any city or county jail in the Province during the year.

The Globe's Music Critics

It was with very real regret that we published the news that Dr. Leo Smith, music critic of the Toronto Globe and Mail, had died. We shall miss his scholarly, kindly but incisive criticisms of Toronto music. He was a critic of a fine school—authoritative, just, possessed of high standards but merciful and encouraging when encouragement could be of assistance.

Toronto has the best music in Canada, and Toronto's music deserves the best criticism. The Globe and Mail has been faithful to the large Ontario public which it serves in this respect, and many a lover of music living outside Toronto has grown up relying on the Globe's criticism to keep him apprised of what was happening in the provincial capital. The late Lawrence Mason's articles, and his Saturday page, were widely appreciated. Hector Charlesworth, following him, dealt with music not so much from a technical as from a personal point of view, and his prodigious memory, reaching into the dark backward and abysm of time, set modern performance in a perspective which seemed to reach clear back to Patti and Rubenstein; he knew what a stony path Canadian music had followed, and his encouragement for the musicians of today was never failing. Leo Smith, more technical in his approach, was less genial, but more scholarly and no less admirable.

Provincial papers such as this one cannot command the services of full-time music critics, though we do the best we can with the music which comes within our sphere. All of us who love music have one ear strained toward Toronto, and inevitably one eye on what Toronto critics have said. And in this field the Globe and Mail has easily led the metropolitan press, and upon the sad occasion of Dr. Smith's death we express our thanks to the newspaper which has given a voice to his work and to that of his predecessors whom we have named.

High Heels In The Jungle

By
J. HALERO FERGUSON
(in Peru)

AT THE moment ten Danish families are on their way from Copenhagen in two small fishing boats, headed for Peru, where they hope to settle. The expedition is taking place under the auspices of the Compania Dinamarquesa Peruana Limitada, whose President is a Danish Member of Parliament, Mr. Niels Eriksen. The settlers hope to engage here in business and agriculture.

This, apart from some Italian immigration after World War Two, is probably the beginning of the first large-scale attempt to settle European families in this country. Apart from the descendants of the original Spanish settlers, the chief non-indigenous population of Peru consists of Negroes, who were originally brought from Africa, as slaves, Chinese, who came either as indented labourers or to set up businesses, and a smaller minority of Japanese.

❖ ❖ ❖

THE Peruvian Government is now keen to encourage immigration from overcrowded Europe into underpopulated Peru in order to make use of European skill and knowledge in the development of the country. The reason for the lack of European emigration here on a scale comparable to that which took place in the last century to such countries as the United States, Canada, Brazil and Argentina, has been partly geographical; until the building of the Panama Canal at the beginning of the century it was necessary to make the uncomfortable and lengthy trip round Cape Horn in order to reach this country, and, once he reached here, the new arrival found communications to put it mildly, difficult. This problem, Peruvian officials point out, has now been solved.

It might be said that the same geographical problem affected Chile, which received a large number of single immigrants from the United Kingdom, particularly Scotland, and even more, travelling as families under an organized plan, from Germany, to such an extent that the part of Southern Chile round Valdivia still has a large German-speaking population, and many Chileans of non-German descent attend the excellent private German-language schools. The difference lay in the fact that Central and Southern Chile provided an ideal climate and countryside for European immigration, the Central part of the country being a temperate agricultural and wine-growing area, and the South having temperature, rainfall and physiognomy rather like that of Scandinavia.

❖ ❖ ❖

NO SUCH conditions obtain in Peru. The coast is a long strip of desert, punctuated by fruitful cases already fully exploited by Peruvians. The Andes mountain valleys, known as the sierra, provide a living for millions of Indians and half-Indians, but only just, so that these unhappy people are now trekking in increasing numbers to the supposed promise of Lima, the capital. The third, and most inland and eastern, geographical area of Peru, beyond the Andes, is the Amazonian jungle, known locally as the montana, from a confusion with the word monte, meaning a wood. Until recently nobody but the aboriginal and very primitive Indian inhabitants could live for long in the jungle—European, Asian and African alike, as well as the Andean Indians, succumbed before the ravages of tropical disease.

But now there are prospects that both the coast and the jungle may be opened up for European immigration. Intensive road-building along the coast has led to the increase in the prosperity of the area and the possibility of irrigating much of what is now desert. It is now planned, also, to build a railway across the Andes to the hitherto almost inaccessible jungle, which, thanks to modern methods of combatting tropical scourges, can now be made reasonably healthy and safe for outsiders.

ONE obstacle the possible new arrivals are certain to face, however, is the objection of the inhabitants to the presence. At the moment these inhabitants live in a kind of primitive tribal communism, wear little or no clothing, and have a superstitious dread of anything metal, so that they back away even at the sight of the belt-buckles of non-natives with whom they come into contact. A recent missionary expedition under the leadership of a Dominican, the Rev. Father Gerardo Fernandez, reported that they show neither interest in nor envy of the advantages of modern civilization.

"Don't think they envy us," Father Fernandez told a Press conference here. "It puts no shadow on their happiness to know that we have philosophical systems, highly-organised politics, and traffic-lights at every street corner. When we told them these things they laughed at us, and told us that we had complicated life too much."

❖ ❖ ❖

HOWEVER little the Indians may relish the complicated life, it looks as if they are going to find themselves willy-nilly involved in it. Already the local population is not entirely composed of naked savages. A Peruvian friend of mine introduced me to a young lady, and after a few minutes conversation I asked if she came from Lima. She shook her head. "It sounds rather silly" she said, glancing at her high-heeled shoes and nylon stocking, "but as a matter of fact I come from the jungle."

If everything goes as planned, in a few years it may not sound silly at all. A report recently issued by Senor Emilio Delboy Vice-President of the Peruvian Hylean Amazon Coordination Body of UNESCO, says that the area can produce petroleum, rubber, timber, and wood-pulp for newsprint, as well as being suitable for cattle, and for the cultivation of coffee, cotton, jute, tobacco, rice, bananas, tea and sugar cane. If sufficient capital can be found to put the incoming immigrants on their feet, the Amazon jungle might well become the mainstay of Peruvian economy, and an important world producer.

HE ASKED FOR IT

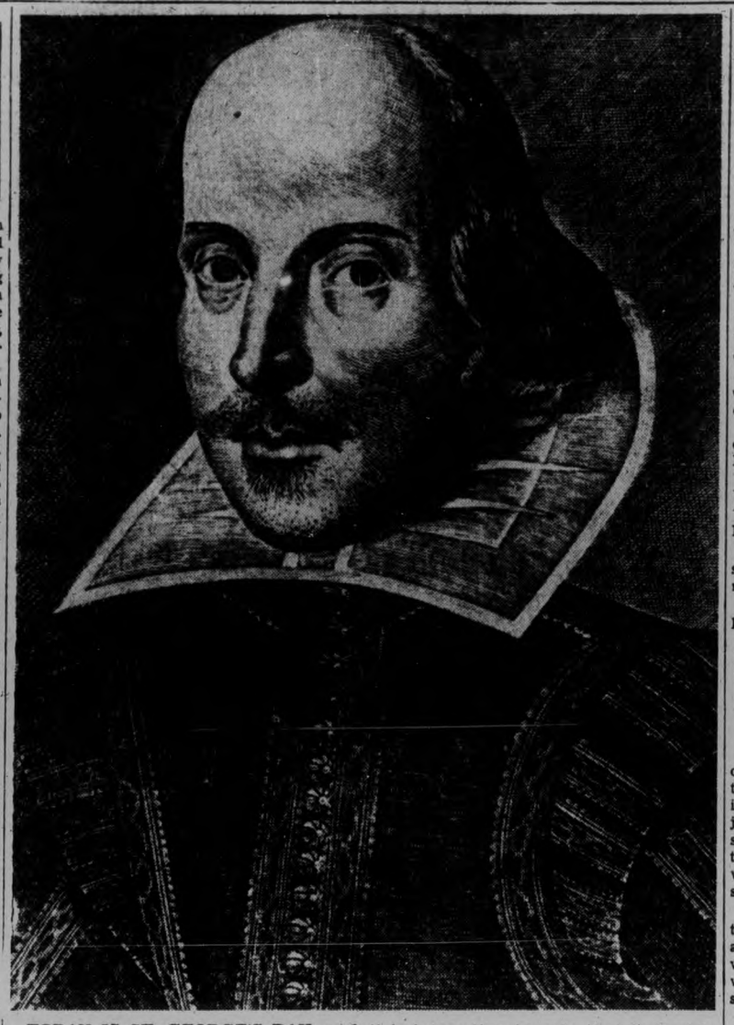
A pompous individual stalked into the office and demanded to see the manager.

"I'm sorry, but he's not here," replied the receptionist. "Is there anything I can do?"

"No!" snapped the visitor. "I never deal with underlings. I'll wait until he returns."

"Very well, take a seat," said the girl, and went on with her work. Half an hour later, the man became impatient. "How much longer do you think he will be gone?" he demanded gruffly.

"About three weeks," answered the girl calmly. "He left for South America yesterday."



TODAY IS ST. GEORGE'S DAY, and also the birthday of William Shakespeare, a contemporary likeness of whom is reproduced above. After more than three hundred years, the popularity of Shakespeare's plays is greater than ever. As well as several festivals of his plays which will be given in English this year, it is interesting to note that in Zurich, Switzerland, a festival will be held in which Hamlet will be played in French, Timon of Athens in English, Macbeth in Italian, and Richard II and A Midsummer Night's Dream in German. There are versions of Shakespeare's plays in virtually every language, including Japanese.

Letters To The Editor

WHO BLUNDERED WITH THESE BOYS?

Sir, I was very interested in your two-editorials of last Wednesday, April 16th. In the first one (Crime or Punishment) it refers to three youths who had committed so vicious a crime that the law might even permit to death sentences. In the second one in referring to Mr. K. S. Wightman's article we read about recent changes in education. One might feel that these changes are not producing the type of citizens this country needs after reading these two articles and further drastic changes are necessary.

I feel that some one has slipped badly as far as these three boys are concerned. The fault may lie with their homes, their schools or their community, but the fact remains they are unworthy citizens. They went to school and in doing so they supposedly assumed a certain amount of knowledge; perhaps by modern progressive methods or perhaps by the old form of drill and punishment. Whatever the method it was, it undoubtedly was not successful. Education is a personal affair and the method which is suitable for one child may not by for another. Some of the boys in school with these three I know have done very well. It is the good teacher who can decide what is the best method for the individual child.

The full purpose of education should always be in front of everyone's mind, and that has been stated very clearly in Mr. Wightman's article. To enable boys and girls to become good citizens in this democratic country of ours: this is not only the task of the school, but for homes, churches, clubs, organizations and firms all must help.

What is a good citizen? Firstly: He should have a desire for a sound intellectual background. He should be able to read, write and speak well. He should know a bit about art, music and literature: so that he can begin to appreciate the finer things of life.

Secondly: He should strive to become emotionally mature, so that he is able to discuss his ideas and plans with his fellow beings; to see their point of view, and to understand the golden rule.

Thirdly: He should have a spiritual background. This important branch of education is being sadly neglected to-day. Young people are spiritually inclined but they need encouragement and direction.

One of these three should never be neglected at the expense of the others.

Some are more gifted and have the time to spend at a university for further education. They should, in the words of Sir Richard Livingston, President of Corpus Christi College, Oxford: "Know the first-rate in any subject as this is one of the first essentials of an educated man".

There is an old saying which I feel all educators should remember and that is "we should hold to that which is good and try the new".

Robert Hutchins, the former President of Chicago University, and now with the Ford Foundation, said a few years ago in Toronto, "Our knowledge (chiefly scientific) now exceeds our capacity to use it for the good." Civilization appears to be doomed unless the hearts and minds of men can be changed and this is the task of education.

If you feel any of these thoughts are worth publishing, please do so.

Yours truly,
G. WINDER SMITH
Lakefield Preparatory School

PATERNAL LEGISLATION RESPECTING INDIANS

Sir: When Mr. Henry Scott advises me to "refrain from marring the pages of an otherwise intelligent paper with such rubbish" I feel bound to reply. Might I point out to him that the editor of a newspaper is not bound to publish every bit of "rubbish" he receives in the mail: evidently you, Sir, deemed my letter worthy of inclusion in your columns (and a somewhat cursory refutation appended). A further leading article in your Saturday issue advised your readers to take a strong moral line towards South Africa, while being more sympathetic to happenings in the U.S.A., presumably because that country is nearer, larger and more powerful! Racial discrimination is not a pretty spectacle, wherever it occurs, whether in the form of lynch-law in the Southern States or Apartheid in South Africa.

I had no intention of suggesting, as the irate Mr. Henry Scott infers, that the Indians in Canada were in the same sorry plight as the South African natives: I have observed both at first hand in their native environment. It is not, however, true to say that they have the same rights as other citizens, unless they choose to abandon what still remains to them of their ancestral haunts and drift into our crowded cities. While they are still on the Reserve they are not allowed to vote, pay direct taxes or get tipsy like other law-abiding citizens. We are beginning to realize that this type of paternal legislation is out-moded and should be changed. Moreover it tends to defeat its own ends by making life in the city more attractive to the younger Indians and thus contributing to the disappearance of the Redskin as a separate entity.

Mr. Henry Scott would be well advised to reserve his righteous indignation for a more fitting occasion.

Yours truly,
C. GLEDHILL

WAS IT A FLYING SAUCER?

Sir: Thursday April 17, 1952, I was driving with my husband Joseph Hamilton to Peterborough, Ontario, and when within about six miles of the city on route 28 from Lakefield, I saw two very distinct streaks across the sky seemingly over Peterborough. The objects at the front end did not seem to be travelling at such a great speed as is reported about other such objects seen in the sky.

The two streaks started from a S. W. direction far beyond the city and were advancing in north-easterly direction. The beginning as I saw it seemed to come from a white cumulus type cloud which seemed lower in the sky than did the other ends of the two streaks. In other words the streaks seemed to be plowing upwards but in as straight lines as any yard stick. Those streaks seemed to be of a uniform size in circumference from that cloud to within a very short space of the forward moving object at the point of each line.

The two streaks seemed to be about a foot in diameter as we saw it from the ground and that distance to me seemed about 500 or 600 feet judging from the moving object and its size as we saw it from the ground. In order to get a more definite view, we drove off the highway and got out of the car.

By that time, the moving object at end of each of the two streaks seemed to have travelled beyond us as we stood instead of being ahead of us in the sky as was appearing to us while driving. That gave us a different view of the aluminum coloured objects being driven through the sky ahead of the white cloud like streaks. From the front the aluminum section seemed pointed in front as we saw it after standing on the ground and looking at it from the back, it seemed round ball like in shape with the clear open space a very short distance then the smaller circle type streak of white cloud started. That aluminum coloured object glittered in the sunshine while the streak was like the white cloud from which it seemed to come into form as we saw it.

Those two aluminum objects kept the same distance apart and also going with the same speed which to us seemed like a moderately moving boat through water. We watched this movement about half an hour and as far as we could see it the streaks seemed to stay the same distance apart and in the same straight lines, seemingly going higher all the time. We had been standing about three miles from the city and decided to move on to see how it looked to us farther toward the beginning.

While in the city we saw the two streaks remained about the same size and same distance apart. We watched the movements first about three p.m. and when we stopped looking for the streaks it was four p.m. and those streaks were still definitely visible to the eyesight and remained about the same distance apart and size but seemed to be fading away as do the clouds at times. At no time did those streaks appear any other colour than white like the white clouds with a light blue cloud for the background. As for the moving objects, we have seen many planes much higher and few lower than they seemed.

The above report is given as we saw it April 17, beginning about three p.m. (we looked at our watch to see the time) and while on route 28 between Stony Lake and Peterborough, Ont., and the last of the streaks were seen about 4:30 p.m. We saw and talked with many people that afternoon and learned of only one garage and gas station man having seen the streaks over Peterborough about 3 p.m. and he too had watched the streaks but had not seen the beginning or the forward moving objects and his last view of them was about 4 p.m. and they were seemingly just fading away as do the clouds.

You may use this as you like but my husband and I never drink, feel that we are not imaginative and certainly watched the event with the idea of reporting same for we too have been quite skeptical concerning many of the reports as we saw it compared ideas to be sure we were right.

Respectfully,
MRS. JOSEPH HAMILTON.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Now I beseech you, brethren, by the name of our Lord Jesus Christ, that ye all speak the same thing, and that there be no divisions among you; but that ye be perfectly joined together in the same mind and in the same judgement . . . For Christ sent me not to baptize, but to preach the gospel: not with wisdom of words, lest the cross of Christ should be made of none effect.

For the preaching of the cross is to them that perish foolishness; but unto us which are saved it is the power of God. For it is written, I will destroy the wisdom of the wise, and will bring to nothing the understanding of the prudent . . .

For after that in the wisdom of God the world by wisdom knew not God, it pleased God by the foolishness of preaching to save them that believe. For the Jews require a sign, and the Greeks seek after wisdom: but we preach Christ crucified, unto the Jews a stumbling block, and unto the Greeks foolishness; but unto them which are called, both Jews and Greeks, Christ the power of God, and the wisdom of God. (I Cor. 1: 10, 17-19, 21-24.)

Canadian Publisher

(Toronto Telegram).

WITH his invasion of the United States field by the purchase of the St. Petersburg Independent, Roy H. Thomson has brought his newspaper string to 16 in number. This is the first time for any Canadian publisher to acquire a U.S. daily of appreciable size, and he has served notice that the venture will not be his last in this field. He plans to acquire more U. S. dailies whenever they become available.

While it is not necessarily a good thing to have one man own so many newspapers, he has added to his string no newspaper that anyone else had not an equal opportunity to purchase. It is notable that he has followed a rigid policy of allowing to each of his papers freedom to pursue the editorial and management course dictated by local conditions. There has never been any attempt to dictate policy from the head office. The local editors have a free hand, as is evident in elections when one may support the Liberals and another the Conservatives.

Mr. Thomson has travelled far since he began his business career with the opening of a radio station in North Bay in his late 30's. At 58 he is the owner of Canada's largest newspaper and radio chain. All luck and success to the builder whose energy seems to know no horizons.

Wounded Dog Man Fined $110

NIAGARA FALLS, April 23 — (CP) — Early Montgomery, 33, Tuesday was fined $110 on a charge of attempting to shoot a dog, despite his plea that the charge was laid in the name of the King, instead of the Queen.

"That doesn't matter," said Magistrate Harley Hallett, who said a Kingston magistrate had acted in error in throwing out a recent case because of the same technicality.

Evidence indicated that one of two shots fired by Montgomery broke the dog's right hind leg. The animal is recovering.

Who'll Succeed Stalin?

Lavrenti Beria Is Dark Horse In Red Leadership Race

PARIS —(NEA)— Lavrenti P. Beria is the dark horse among Stalin's successors.

Balding, stocky, 52-year-old Beria has mild manners and an even milder appearance. He usually wears a pince-nez which makes him look like a pre-revolutionary divinity student. He is also a firm believer in terror.

As head of the secret MVD, Beria wields unlimited power wherever the Kremlin's agents operate.

By a combination of scientific planning—which he had learned as a student of architecture—and by ruthless disregard of human life, he helped Malenkov to keep the Soviet war industries humming. By keeping the firing squads working overtime he assured the safety of the Communist dictatorship.

Beria is a firm exponent of strong measures and direct action. He runs a vast espionage ring in the countries outside the iron curtain. He commands all of Russia's numerous forced labor camps which supply most of the manpower for Soviet industry. He is in charge of security in the satellite states.

Like Malenkov, Beria has no cord to the outside world. He first came to Stalin's attention in 1934 when he published an incredible book on the clandestine battles of Bolshevism in Stalin's native Georgia.

The future chief of Russia's secret police realized early in the game on which side his bread was buttered. He attributed to Stalin the major part in Bolshevism's conquest of Georgia—although the Red dictator played practically no role in his own country.

In 1921, Georgian Socialists established an anti-Communist republic. It was drowned in blood on Lenin's orders—almost unnoticed by the civilized world.

Georgian Socialists revolted again in 1924. This time the chief of the firing squads was Beria. It is the only connection between Beria and Socialism, Beria and history.

The Chief of the MVD is probably the most hated man in Russia. He could never rule the country alone. Only as a member of a "troika" (triumvirate) including Molotov and Malenkov will he ever be able to succeed his Georgian predecessor, Stalin.

To stay in power, Beria will thus have to throw his support to one of the two leading heirs to Stalin's mantle. He has apparently decided that Malenkov is his man.

With Malenkov and Beria against him, Molotov will face an uphill struggle to remain in power—despite the support of Marshal Bulganin and other members of the Politburo.

Without Stalin to control them, his heirs may well tear each other and themselves to pieces in mutual rivalry.

But no matter who succeeds Stalin the western world has little reason to expect a breathing spell. In the concrete, nothing will be changed.

The single party, the enslaved trade unions, the all-powerful police, the brutal armed force will continue as in the past to keep an iron grip on the oppressed peoples of the Soviet empire.

With Stalin dead, his agents will still remain everywhere they are in the world. The Communist plans for aggression will remain what they are now. The hot-cold war will continue to be led by the same men.

It is customary in Asiatic countries to keep the death of the chief a secret. This allows time to quietly regulate the details of the succession—especially when the reign of the deceased has been despotic.

Will the Politburo continue this tradition after the Asiatic Stalin disappears from the scene? Some Soviet experts in western Europe believe that the Russian people—and the world—may not find out about Stalin's death until long after the dictator has died.

Urges Ottawa Regain Markets

OTTAWA, April 23 (CP)—H. O. White (P.C., Midlesex East) said Tuesday night the government should act now to regain overseas markets for Canadian products, particularly agricultural products.

Speaking in the budget debate, Mr. White said he wondered where the government will raise money to meet multi-million-dollar expenditures unless markets are found for Canadian goods.

Referring to the budget, he said it reminded him of the funeral service—"The Lord giveth and the Lord taketh away."

There were many cases where the government could reduce expenditures. For instance, $29,000,000 was earmarked for expenditures on public relations, leaflets and other publications. He suggested that the press of Canada could do a better job at no cost to the taxpayer.

He reiterated a request for government aid to persons on Pelee Island in Lake Erie who have suffered as a result of erosion and high water.

B-36 Can Launch Jet Fighter Plane

WASHINGTON, April 23 (AP) —The United States Air Force said Tuesday the F-84 jet fighter plane has been launched in flight from the B-36 mother aircraft.

The announcement was made following inquiries about a story in The Fort Worth Star-Telegram which said the B-36 bombers now can carry jet fighter planes inside their A-bomb bellies, launch them in the air and recapture them in flight.

Chinese Coming To Canada Must Apply At Hong Kong

By BILL BOSS,
Canadian Press Staff Writer

HONG KONG, April 23—(CP)—Between 2,500 and 3,000 Chinese emigrants leave Hong Kong each year for new homes in Canada. All are relatives "claimed" by Chinese Canadians.

There is no immigration of Chinese without family connections, although visitors' visas are available to bona fide business men and students, satisfactorily sponsored.

Appointment books are filled for three weeks ahead at the Canadian Immigration Bureau here, where a staff of 16 interview candidates for entrance visas.

Most would-be emigrants come somehow or other from the interior of Communist China. The province of Kwangtung, where most Chinese now in Canada originated, has been home for most and they speak little or no English.

They come to Hong Kong individually and in family groups — mothers with sons and daughters, brothers with their sisters. Most are allowed out by the Chinese Communists, but some must smuggle themselves through.

Women going through the Canadian office are suspiciously few, and officials are constantly on the look-out for fraudulent application.

"About 90 per cent of the relatives claimed are men," said one official.

Most are wanted in Canada as labor for their parents' enterprises—the family laundry, restaurant or shop. They are more than 18 years of age and hence do not fall within the scope of education regulations. Officials are watchful lest for one reason or another a Chinese-Canadian claims more men as sons that he actually has.

"We almost fall over ourselves to help when a family claims two daughters—we know they're genuine," said one Canadian official.

It's difficult to check the bona fides of most claims. Births are not registered in China—even if they were it is doubtful whether the Communist government would help. The word of the Canadian claimant generally has to be accepted.

But there is careful checking of the record of the claimant's trips to China since his arrival in Canada to make sure the ages of claimed sons or daughters coincide with the visits.

Members of family groups are interviewed separately, then the stories are checked for discrepancies. Few have been discovered.

The policy of admitting relatives to Canada is snowballing. Some immigrants admitted to Canada since the bureau reopened after the war have been back already to pick up wives in Hong Kong.

4 Doctors Named As Delegates

OTTAWA, April 23 — (CP) — Four doctors were named Tuesday as Canada's delegation to the fifth World Health Assembly opening in Geneva May 5. The assembly maps policy for the World Health Organization.

The Canadian delegation will be headed by Dr. O. J. Leroux, assistant director of Indian health services with the Health Department, and includes Dr. W. H. McMillan, Liberal member of parliament for Welland, Dr. J. T. Phair, Ontario's Deputy Minister of Health, and Dr. T. C. Routley, general secretary of the Canadian Medical Association.

Find Airmen's Bodies

OYEN, Alta., April 23 (CP) — The bodies of two airmen were found Tuesday in a car partly submerged in a roadside slough near this town 155 miles east of Calgary. Drowned were James A. Coutts, 24, of Maringo, Sask., and Stewart Clayton Lush, 28, formerly of Guelph. Coutts was reported to have driven the coupe all night from Edmonton en route to his father's farm.

Dies From Injuries

OTTAWA, April 23—(CP)—A man tentatively identified as Ambrose Beadle, 42, of Perth, died in hospital Tuesday night from injuries suffered in a highway mishap. He was knocked down by an automobile at nearby Stittsville. The driver, Bernard Cain, 21, of Barriefield, said he was blinded by headlights and could not avoid hitting the man.

GALLANT EFFORT — With this home-made contraption Raoul Gagner, Ville Lemoyne, Que., beat the paralysis that three years ago threatened to confine him to a wheel-chair. Through constant practice with the "pedi-tricycle" he now can propel himself by his lower legs and go anywhere, although he cannot stand upright and walk. Gagner, seen at Central Station, in Montreal, on his way to take a train home, says he found a wheelchair "too slow."

Athol Layton and Yukon Battle To Draw In Top Pro Grapple Bout

Yukon Eric and Lord Athol Layton battled to a time limit draw in the main pro mat match at the Brock Arena last night. Rain kept down the crowd. After each had won a fall, the powerful Eric tried to finish Layton with crusher hold, but the latter kept escaping to the ropes, and slashing his opponent at every opportunity. It was plenty rough, with Layton's manager — Lou Pitoscia — yanked into the ring once by Yukon and banged about, and the referee accidentally stunned another time. Eric was outside the ropes at one period but fought his way back and was having the best of it at the bell.

A Strong Crush

The 276-pound barefoot lumberjack with the pouter pigeon chest took the equalizing fall in eight minutes with his "Kodiac Krush" (much stronger than orange crush!) after he clobbered the rough Englishman in the corner to set him up for the punishing grip. Layton, at 262, had the height and reach, as well as using his illegal judo slash to the jugular, but he couldn't match strength. The stoical northerner once said "Ooh!" on a slash, to prove he could talk. He kept boring in with his swinging beam-like arms and he shook off slashes and chokers with that bull neck. At times, Eric battered Athol down with chest slams in the corner to offset slashes, and he took time out again to cuff Lou for interference. It was a popular fall.

Layton won the opening fall after 22 minutes of hard grappling. He used his "English Octopus" hold after slashing Eric along the ropes and slamming him twice in a softening-up process, as Referee Sam Gotter let him get away with too much. Layton was out of the ring a couple of times and he found Yukon much too strong to throw around when he used his speed to apply leverage grips. Athol roughed it up early to draw boos and referee's warnings, while Eric played it clean and kept driving in with his massive power to bother the big Britisher plenty. Lou shot advice to his nibs from the corner and gradually got Eric peeved.

Declined Verdict

Warren Bockwinkle, scaling 246—a pound lighter than Bobo Brazil—won the semi-final but refused to accept the win in 27 minutes. He caught the flying Negro with his shoulder as Bobo went up in the air to miss a flying tackle off the ropes, and Brazil went down groaning with a groin injury. He had to be helped from the ring, after Warren declined to take credit for the win. The latter drew a hand for his sportsmanship. Both played it cleanly all the way, but for one brief and furious minute when Warren punched and Bobo butted. They shook hands then and dished up a lot of speedy and clever mat work on pretty even terms. In the humid going, they perspired a fair-sized pail full of black and white drops before the windup.

Jim (the Bull) Wright, at 255, won the prelim over 238-pound newcomer Sharro Aztec, of New Mexico. He took it in 21 minutes with a series of rolling chokeholds after Aztec had rallied from a previous onslaught to throw everything but a pleasant look at the Bull. Wright was an unpopular villain from the first as he pulled hair and used fists, despite warnings and oversight on the ref's part. Aztec made Wright hop out of the ring to escape punishment later, and Gotter was tripped up once as they slugged it out, Wright having a margin on this brand of grappling. The crowd loved the heated action, but didn't cheer when Wright won the fall.

Dodger Fans Boo Dressen

BROOKLYN, April 23 (AP).—Some 25,000 Dodger fans booed Chuck Dressen Tuesday night when the Broklyn manager pulled Pee Wee Reese, the Dodger captain, out for a pinch hitter. It happened with the bases loaded and two out in the eighth of the first game of the double header against Boston. The booing increased when George Shuba, the pinch hitter, fanned on three pitches.

Reese was so incensed he flung the two bats he was swinging against the bat rack in full view of the fans and the television audience.

Later in the clubhouse Reese was disturbed over his display of temper.

"I guess Dressen was right," he said. "I've been going lousy. Maybe I shouldn't have gotten angry. But any player who doesn't want to get up to bat in a tight spot isn't worth a darn. Besides, Chuck is the manager. He gets paid to make the decisions."

Reese paused, then added:

"You know, I sympathize with Dressen. I felt sorry for him the way the fans booed him."

Here And There In Sports

By The Canadian Press

Manager Jimmy Dykes of Philadelphia Athletics, a man with a reputation for saying what he thinks, doesn't like the old-age influence on the team.

Sitting on the Athletics bench at Yankee Stadium in New York Tuesday, watching his veteran infield go through its pre-game warmup, Dykes remarked facetiously:

"Some collection of kids, eh? I've got an infield made up of raw, inexperienced youngsters. Not one past 40.

"Look at my first baseman, Ferris Fain. He's the baby of the infield and he's past 30. Eddie Joost (shortstop) is 36. Peter Suder (second baseman) will be 36 soon. Hank Majeski (third baseman) is 35 and so is Billy Hitchcock, utility infielder.

"I'll wager if I get in shape I can play third base in this infield myself. And I'm close to 50."

Dykes is unhappy about the Athletics' poor start. They have lost six of seven so far, 3-1 yesterday to the Yanks.

"My team has been awful," he said. "I never thought any team could be that bad. . .

"We don't hit, we don't field, we don't run. And all I can do is sit here and take it."

Bobby Brown, New York Yankee infielder, was ordered Tuesday to take a U.S. army physical examination next Tuesday and was notified that he will be called to active duty in July if he passes. Brown, a doctor, is a lieutenant in the Army Medical Reserve.

But the bad news for Brown was followed by good news for manager Casey Stengel. Yogi Berra, catcher and most valuable player in the American League last year, will return to action on Thursday in Boston. The heavy-hitting Berra suffered torn ligaments of the left wrist during an exhibition game April 4.

Guatemala is planning its biggest celebration ever for Doroteo Flores, first Guatemalan to win an international sports event. He won the big Boston marathon last Saturday over a field of nearly 200 entrants. An Indian, Flores earns $27 a month as a Guatemala city employee and supports a family of eight.

Squires Athletic Club at Baltimore has decided it isn't television that is hurting boxing attendances for them. Monday night's Swiden-Wright fight drew 187 customers and a net get of $208, without T.V. The club announced Tuesday its next fight April 30 between Johnny Saxton and Bobby Lee will be coast-to-coast video.

Randolph Turpin, British and former world middleweight champion, knocked out Jacques Hairabedian, French light-heavyweight champion in 2:01 of the third round of a scheduled 10-rounder at London's Harringay Arena on Tuesday night. Turpin will fight Don Cockell, British light-heavyweight champ, June 10 for the British crown.

Mickey Harris, veteran pitcher, was picked up by Cleveland Indians Tuesday from Washington Senators for the $10,000 waiver price. The 35-year-old southpaw won six and lost eight last year, mainly in relief.

Hurricanes Win Spot In Finals

HAMILTON, April 23 (CP). — Brawling fans milled over the ice in the third period of a hockey game Tuesday night which saw Waterloo Hurricanes win a spot in the Ontario Hockey Association Junior B finals.

The Hurricanes downed Hamilton Aerovox 6-3 winning the best-of-seven series four games to two, with one game tied. Waterloo now meets Weston Dukes for the title.

A fight broke out in the stands between teen-age supporters of Waterloo and Hamilton and spread to the ice. At one time 100 fans swarmed over the playing surface.

Officials played "God Save the Queen" over the puolic-address system but the fighting continued. Referees threatened to call off the game unless the ice was cleared.

John Ford sparked the Hurricane attack with three goals. Laverne Schnarr, Ray Douglas and Joe Dorsch scored singletons. Hamilton's Alex Lesie potted two and Jim Brown one.

League schedule for the week of April 30: Orphans 16 v. Legion 8, Red Patch 10 v. Legion 4, St. George's 12 v. Legion 2, Glens 1 v. Legion 11, S.O.E. 5 v. Fire Hall 13, Fire Hall 15 v. Quakers 7, 2nd Armour 3 v. Moose 9, L.O.L. 14 v. Legion 6.

Results of last week's plays: Quakers 7 split, taking the first game from L.O.L. 14 by 10-6 and losing 9-11; Fire Hall 15 won both from Legion 6 by scores of 17-10 and 10-5; Moose 9 detaulted to St. George's 12; Legion 2 captured both games from Legion 11 by 15-5 and 12-9; Legion 4 tied and lost to Glens 1 by scores of 8-8 and 9-15; S.O.E. 5 captured close games from Orphans 16 by 12-10 and 10-9; Legion 8 also won both from Fire Hall 14 by scores of 11-10 and 13-7.

Postponed games saw Orphans 16 split, winning the first from Legion 6 15-4 and losing 13-7; Fire Hall 13 lost both games to Fire Hall 15 by 17-5 and 16-5; Legion 8 won both from Quakers 7 by 12-9 and 14-8; Moose 9 defaulted to Legion 2 and Legion 11.

There is only one game not reported, 2nd Armour 3 v. Red Patch 10, and must be played this week.

The league schedule is rapidly drawing to a close. The week of May 4 is the last of the scheduled games. Skips, please turn in the trophies won last year to Elsie Bennett so that the 1951-1952 winners' names can be attached. Also do not forget the meeting at 2 p.m. sharp this Sunday re plans for a banquet, etc.

The Gracie Memorial doubles semi-final was won by D. Nichols and J. Chamberlain over A. Sims and I. Harrison in three games. Scores were 6-4, 5-12, and 7-4, and they now meet R. Ralston and A. Robinson in the final match on April 23 at 8 p.m., at the Legion Hall. There will be a referee at each end for this match.

The final match for the President's Cup should be played next week.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Petes' ballsters have returned to the C.O.B.L. after an absence of two years. The local club is a charter member of this loop and of the O.B.A., Jake Solomon having organized the league at the end of the First World War. Twice since have Peterborough men reorganized the circuit after it folded up. Senior baseball here dropped down to intermediate category in the late 20s—the E.P.L. being in flower then—and it took a lot of work by Bill Kay, Max Swanston and others to revive the C.O.B.L., which was dormant for some seasons. And after the Second World War, Eddie Murphy was a prime mover in once more starting this circuit off. The late Art Johnston put up the loop trophy many years ago.

* * * * * *

Anyway, the Petes are back in along with Kingston, Napanee, Picton, Belleville, Trenton Flyers and possibly Batawa. Early indications are that it might be a pretty well-balanced league, but time will tell. Meantime, the local officials must get busy and re-organize for the season which opens May 24. A nominating committee of Alex Sinclair, Dr. Cliff McKee and Cy Whatley will bring in a proposed slate of officers at the seven p.m. "Y" meeting Thursday, when the club draw will be held. Matter of finances will be discussed then, too, and general discussion on available players held. Several new ones needed and a manager yet to be appointed. It's an open meeting.

The '50 Champs Back

In 1950, Owen Sound Crescents won the senior O.L.A. title and the Mann Cup, with such worries aboard as Moon Wootton, Curly Mason, Russ Slater, etc., and etc. The club didn't live up to financial obligations, we hear, and ran into some player trouble right after. Several of the players left, some coming here. Crescents were inactive last season but have returned this spring. Secretary Gene Dillon says: "The club's financial problems are now cleared up. The Crescents are building around Harry Kazarian, Bill Allum, Don Campbell, Don McWhirter, Jack Foote and Doug Gillespie, all members of the 1950 championship crew." They were always strong senior lacrosse contenders.

* * * * * *

We note in Bun Morganson's Tely column this item: "Don Holden of Torontos has offered the playing-coach role to Mimico's Scotty McPhail, providing a deal can be arranged between the two clubs. Torontos have adopted East York Arena as their home grounds with regular Wednesday night home games." The Petes prefer Fridays for home tilts. The same Don (Scotty) McPhail led the O.L.A. senior scoring race by a goodly margin last season. Then he motored to Vancouver on the slight chance he'd get a chance as a replacement with the Petes in the Mann Cup finals. He did get a chance in the last couple of games and battled his head off. Quite a scrapper is Scotty McPhail.

A Mighty Man Was He

Stronger than a garlic and onion sandwich, Yukon Eric gave his nibs, Lord Athol Layton, a rough ride of it in the main mat match in the Brock last wet evening. But it wound up a time limit draw, when neither could gain the deciding fall. Layton's manager, Lou Pitoscia, also got banged around a bit by the big barefoot lumberjack, with the blue jeans and the huge chest. Eric was much too strong for the slippery Athol, the latter using his illegal slash frequently, but he did hold his husky opponent to the draw. Not too many on deck after the heavy downpour. Bockwinkle won the semi-final when Brazil was hurt, while Wright took the prelim over Aztec.

Annual O.H.A. meeting is in Toronto this Saturday, and a number of officials are going in by acclamation. Stew McTavish of Oshawa succeeds Jack Roxburgh of Simcoe as 1952-53 president, Tory Gregg of Wingham becomes first vice-president, Frank Buckland of Peterborough is second vice-president, W. A. Hewitt remains as secretary—though Bill Hanley handles his work now—and George Dudley of Toronto continues as treasurer. Four executive members will be chosen from Lorne Cook of Kingston, Ken McMillan of Georgetown, Pat Patterson of Norval, Dave Pinkney from Stratford, Lloyd Pollock of Windsor, Stan Stokes of London, and Eli Turonski from Welland. Glad to see Frank Buckland steadily climb the O.H.A. executive ladder.

Signs New Centre

HAMILTON, April 23 (CP). — Carl Voyles, coach of the Hamilton Tiger-Cats football team, announced today that he has signed Ralph Phillips of Washington, to replace Jake Gaudaur who retired from the team. Phillips, a former Wake Forest centre, was also being sought by "Peahead" Walker for Montreal Alouettes. Walker was Phillips' former coach.

DERBY HOPE Master Fiddle (left), Dave Gorman up, noses out Greentree Stable's Tom Fool (right), Ted Atkinson in the saddle, to win 28th running of $50,000-added Wood Memorial—No. 1 Eastern prep for Kentucky Derby — at Jamaica Saturday. Pintor (second from right), Henri Mora up, was third; Hanniball (third from right), piloted by Bill Passmore, finished 4th, and McCreary up, finished 5th. Master Fiddle's time to beat pre-race favorite Tom Fool, hot Derby hopeful, was 1:52 2-5 for mile and one-eighth.

Terry Sawchuk — Doug Harvey — 'Red' Kelly

Ted Lindsay — Elmer Lach — Gordie Howe

HOCKEY'S DREAM TEAM for the 1951-52 season is made up entirely of Detroit and Montreal stars. Sawchuk of the Red Wings drew the netminders position with Red Kelly, also of the Wings, and Doug Harvey of the Canadiens on defence. The front line has Canadiens' Elmer Lach centreing Gordie Howe and Ted Lindsay, both of Detroit.

Fort Frances Downs Indians In 9-5 Triumph

FORT WILLIAM, April 23 (CP) —The Flying Forts are one-up in their 1952 search for the Allan Cup.

Fort Frances Canadians whipped Stratford Indians 9-5 Tuesday night in the first game of the annual senior hockey classic after unleashing a tremendous scoring drive which netted six goals in a thrill-packed third period.

The teams rest today and then resume the best-of-seven series here Thursday night.

About 3,500 fans watched the Forts take a 2-1 lead over the Eastern Canada finalists, go down 4-3 at the end of the second, and then surge like a coiled spring, breaking the defensive back of the Stratford club.

Ed Kliner, counted four of his team's goals, three in the third period. Singles went to Mike Hupchuk, Ric Ricard and Vern O'Donnell with a double count for Walt Christiansen.

Stratford marksmen were Billy Flick, Bruce Brudett, Jack White, Dinny Flanagan and Mickey Roth.

Flick on relays from Flanagan and Pat Wilson put Indians ahead at 4:59 of the first period. A holding penalty to Don Heindach cost them both Canadians' first goals.

Canadians netted the markers on close-in pattern plays, O'Donnell from Dun Sampson and Sambo Fedoruk at 12:57 and Kliner from O'Donnell at 13:12.

Indians Score

Indians scored two goals in the second frame when they were short a man. Burdett tallied from close range on a pass-out from White with 53 seconds gone after Flanagan drew a slashing penalty.

Flanagan scored 17 minutes later assisted by Flick when Billy Walsh was sent off.

Sandwiched between was a Stratford goal by White who drove a hard shot that rolled off Bill Cleaveley's arm. Christiansen counted for Fort Frances at 18:20 to end the period with Indians in front 4-3.

Fort Frances exploded in the third period after Hupchuk stopped a goal-mouth pass and shot from just outside the crease to tie the count 4-4.

Kliner snapped in Canadians' second goal of the period at 7:27. Sambo Fedoruk intercepted a Stratford pass, relayed to O'Donnell who flicked it to Kliner for an easy score.

Ricard smashed through for another marker at 11:35 followed by two goals by Kliner assisted by O'Donnell and Goose Gosselin at 12:25 and 13:14.

Christiansen counted his second goal at 14:51 and Roth assited by Flanagan scored for Stratford at 17:31. George Aitken of Indians was thumbed from the match at 12:29 when he drew a misconduct penalty.

Quebec Wins Third Straight

QUEBEC, April 23 (CP). — Quebec Aces today stand one victory away from the Alexander Trophy after winning their third straight game from Saint John Beavers 4-2 in Canada's major hockey final.

The win before a crowd of 10,741 gave the Quebec Senior Hockey League champions a 3-0 lead in games in the best-of-seven series which could possibly wind up in Thursday night's fourth game.

But playing coach John (Peanuts) O'Flaherty of the fast-skating Beavers felt his team is due to "get the breaks."

"We haven't had one break since the series started," he said. "The games have been pretty close so far and we're due to come through."

Veteran Murdo MacKay scored two goals, including the game-winning counter early in the third period, breaking a 2-2 deadlock.

Find Tigers Hate Red Rolfe, Play Affected

CLEVELAND, April 23 (AP)—The winless Detroit Tigers dislike their manager, Red Rolfe, with "a bitterness that can't help but affect their play," Plain Dealer sports editor Gordon Cobbledick said today.

Writing in his column, "Plain Dealing," Cobbledick said this feeling is "beyond the understanding of an outsider" because: "Red Rolfe is a newspaperman's delight. He is intelligent, well-educated and a gentleman. . . If a popularity poll were taken among members of the working press, Rolfe would be a cinch to land among the top three major league pilots.

"But he hasn't won the esteem of the ballplayers," Cobbledick continued. "On the contrary, the Tigers' anti-Rolfe feeling is so deep and so violent that some close observers have gone so far as to predict a blow-up comparable to the 'Vitt rebellion' of the 1940 Indians."

In that year, a number of the Cleveland Indians tried to have Oscar Vitt fired.

Cobbledick, who said he doubts such a rebellion would take place at Detroit, continued:

"But it seems apparent now that the Tigers aren't going to perform well under Rolfe—not because they would shirk on the job, but only because their acute unhappiness will make it impossible for them to play winning baseball."

Byrne and St. Louis Browns Stop Cleveland Win Streak

By JACK HAND, Associated Press Sports Writer

You might say St. Louis Browns "Byrne up" Cleveland Indians. Tommy Byrne is the villain or hero. It depends on how you look at it. Last August the Indians came to St. Louis with a wampum string of 13 straight wins. Along came Byrne. And then there was none. Tuesday night the Indians brought a near-record seven-game win streak to town. Once again Mr. Byrne got out his old left-handed tomahawk. No record. No win streak. Almost no lead.

Byrne's eight-hitter and 8-3 victory left the Brownies only a half-game behind the front-running tribe. It was enough to make a crowd of 15,119 sit through a drizzle.

Mike Garcia, one of Al Lopez' "Big Four," was named to pitch Cleveland to an eight-straight—closing in on the American League record of nine sucessive opening season wins. But Garcia and three successors couldn't keep the upstart Brownies under wraps.

Another budding streak was kept alive when Chicago dumped Detroit, 2-0, for the Tigers' eighth straight loss. Five more and the Tigers can tie their own major league record of 13 consecutive defeats at the start of the 1920 season.

Tigers Reel

Saul Reogovin, an ex-teammate, blanked the reeling Tigers with six hits while Nelson Fox touched Ted Gray for a double and two singles. Johnny Lipton's error and Fox's double off Don Kolloway's glove broke up a scoreless duel in the eighth.

The "new faces" campaign continued to pay off for Lou Boudreau's Boston Red Sox as rookie Bill Henry, a 24-year-old lefty from Shreveport, won his second straight, 10-5, over Washington. Jim Piersall, the kid shortstop, collected three hits and Dom DiMaggio had four, including a home run. Walt Dropo and Don Lenhardt also homered for the Sox and Sam Mele and Clyde Kluttz for the Senators.

Johnny Sain, once a curve-ball ace in the National League, came through with a fine three-hitter for the New York Yankees to hand the Philadelphia A's their sixth straight loss, 3-1. After Elmer Valo homered in the first, Sain retired 20 in a row before he walked Ferris Fain to open the eighth.

GB McDougald led the Yanks with a double and two singles, his first single off Morris Martin driving in two runs in the second.

Hammer Pirates

Chicago Cubs continued to act like the toughest kids in the block as they hammered Pittsburgh pitching for 17 hits in a 13-2 romp. Dee Fondy was the ringleader with four hits while Bob Rush rode home easily with a nine-hitter.

Brooklyn threw its southpaw punch against the Boston Braves again and swept a twi-night doubleheader, 2-1 and 3-1, behind Chris Van Cuyk and Preacher Roe.

Bobby Thompson, starting to hit after a slow start, racked up the Phils' Russ Meyer with a bases loaded triple in the New York Giants' 4-1 win. Larry Jansen scattered eight hits and had a shutout until Willie Jones homered in the eighth.

Vinegar Bend Mizell, the St. Louis Cards' colorful southpaw rookie, lost his first start to Cincinnati, 2-1. Two walks and a booming triple by Joe Adcock in the first inning gave Cincy all its ruins. Kenny Reffensberger strung seven Card hits along the route.

Card Owner Indicted

ST. LOUIS, April 23 (AP). — Fred Saigh, owner of the St. Louis Cardinals baseball club, was indicted by a federal grand jury on Tuesday on charges of evading $49,620 in income taxes from 1946 through 1949. Saigh was indicted on five counts. Each carries a maximum penalty upon conviction of five years in prison and a $10,000 fine.

NO ACCIDENTS IN YEAR

The Examiner was one of 37 newspapers given certificates of merit by the American Newspapers Publishers Association for having no accidents with its cars and trucks. The association reported that the accident rate rose slightly last year. The Hamilton Spectator and the Ottawa Journal won special safety awards.

FESTIVAL PROGRAMS

The program for the 1952 Peterborough Competition Festival to take place May 14-20 has been completed and is now at the printers. It is expected that it will be available a short time before the festival dates. In the meantime the festival secretary is sending notification to festival entrants telling them when and where they are to appear.

REDECORATE COURTROOM

The dingy courtroom is going to get a face-lifting at last. The property committee of the Peterborough County Council have accepted the tender of Smith Bros. Decorators to do the job for $1,000. Painting and decorating is to be completed by June 1, before the June session of county council. Flags and drapes are being taken down and will be cleaned.

FIRE DAMAGES OILER

Fire early today badly damaged the street oiler in the Board of Works yard on Townsend St. Water had seeped into the oil tank during the rainstorm Tuesday and when the burners were lighted up today the tank boiled over. Some of the oil ran into the burners and the unit was covered with flames. Firemen used two chemical extinguishers, a booster line and a two-and-a-half inch hose line to put the fire out. The four tires, valued at more than $100, were destroyed; the engine will have to be overhauled and other parts of the unit repaired. Damage will probably run into several hundreds of dollars. The oiler is a trailer unit, used to lay the dust on unpaved streets.

FIRST WOMEN TO JOIN the ranks of a Peterborough reserve army unit were sworn in Tuesday night at the armouries. The 50th H.A.A. Regiment's quota for women was set at four in accordance with a new Canadian Army scheme which allows women in the reserve units. Major G. A. Woods, regiment adjutant (left, above), conducted the induction ceremony. Irene Vivash, veteran C.W.A.C. member of the Second World War, is taking the oath of allegiance while other recruits, Beverley Martyn and Frances May wait their turn. The fourth recruit was unable to attend parade. —(Examiner Staff Photo)

Three Women Enlist In Army Reserve

Three women were inducted into the 50th H.A.A. Regiment on Tuesday night, marking the first time that any women have been recruited into a Peterborough reserve army unit.

A year ago the Canadian Army announced that under a new plan, similar to that followed during the war years, women would gradually be worked into reserve army regiments. Since then the allotments for the regiments have changed several times and not until recently did the 50th Regiment know how many it could recruit.

No women will be recruited by the 28th Technical Squadron, the city's other reserve army unit.

During the war years women were introduced into the active and reserve armies to relieve the pressure caused by the shortage of manpower.

Four Sign

The 50th Regiment's quota for the present was set at four. The women who filled the quota were: Mis Irene Vivash, 384 Murray Street, Mrs. Dorothy Falconer, 370 Monaghan Road, Miss Beverley Martyn, 782 Waterford Street, and Miss Frances May, 513 Brioux Avenue.

Miss Vivash and Mrs. Falconer saw action with the Canadian Army Women's Corps during the Daylight Saving Time

The City of Peterborough, in accordance with By-law 5031, passed by City Council, February 25, 1952, will operate on Daylight Saving Time from two o'clock in the morning of Sunday, April 27th, until two o'clock in the morning of September 28th, 1952.

Daylight Saving Time goes into effect in Peterborough this coming Sunday morning at two o'clock and all clocks should be advanced one hour.

North Monaghan Seeking Fire Protection Agreement

"The trend to mutual aid among municipalities is increasing as we realize the implication of the civil defence program," Mayor H. F. Waddell remarked Monday night in a fire and light committee discussion of relations with neighboring North Monaghan.

It appears that the township is enquiring again about ways and means, if any, of sharing in the city's fire protection. They have several other matters they wish to mention to the aldermen, bargaining items they might be.

One of them is the location selected by Warren Bituminous Paving Co. as the site of their asphalt plant.

And the asphalt truck traffic from the city to the mixing place opposite the Bennett farm alongside the C.P.R. Damage to the township roads and aggravation of the smoke nuisance out that way!

On the other hand, the council several years ago, took the position with great resolution that Peterborough's expanded residential area, plus its industrial properties impose on the fire department a responsibility already too heavy without extending service over the municipal borders.

"Of course we should encourage the municipalities to make some investment for themselves," Mayor Waddell said.

Would Cost $15,000

At a rough estimate, Ald. Miller mentioned $15,000 for any Monaghan fire fighting scheme, and that was a lot of money for the small rural area to raise.

Evidently in Mayor Waddell's thinking there was a broader view of relationships between urban and rural communities in the influence of defence pressures.

It was agreed that the council is agreeable to a session of discussion with Reeve Waterman and his associates next Monday evening.

Sentiment of the Burrows committee the other night was not unfriendly to Monaghan, but, as Aid. Miller said, the council is aware of its obligation to the city's ratepayers and their industrial properties.

One of his statements was to the effect that the strength of the Fire Department should be 76 men in order that the equipment would be effectively manned whenever they left the station on a call.

It seems that Chief George Smith has listed the locations of hydrants on the border of the city from which hoses could be laid for the fighting of fires in a strip 1,600 feet or more in width along the boundary.

Ald. Miller remarked that maybe Monaghan might want that strip annexed.

Skull Fracture Cause Of Death

A severe skull fracture and injury to the brain caused the death of Mrs. Edna Atkinson, 53, who died in Civic Hospital Monday, Coroner Dr. H. G. Carleton said today.

An autopsy was performed by Dr. C. B. Waite, Monday afternoon to discover the cause of Mrs. Atkinson's death, and Dr. Carleton said no inquest will be held.

She was admitted to hospital the evening of April 18 after she had been injured in a fall downstairs at the Park Hotel, Burleigh Falls, where she was employed. That evening, Mrs. Atkinson lapsed into unconsciousness and remained in a coma until she died.

Her body was taken to Toronto for burial.

Farmers Out At Night To Prepare Land

A few farmers in the district turned the headlights on their tractors Monday evening and made a long day on the land. Lights were seen here and there, extending the hours of cultivating up to 10 p.m., with not a nickel collectible for overtime.

It was a sprint race with the capricious weather of April. Some seeding was done on fields that were prepared to readiness, but Tuesday evening's rain varying from a "nice shower" out in Cavan to a "heavy peppering" in Smith suspended operations this morning.

Sunshine and that lively wind that was blowing today should restore the mechanics of seeding by Thursday, according to rural prospect.

APPEAL CASE BEGINS

An appeal from a conviction of bootlegging was scheduled to begin today at 2 p.m., in the county courthouse. Norman Manley of 206 Lansdowne St. is appealing a two-month sentence handed out to him Jan. 30 by Magistrate W. R. Philp, Q.C. W. J. Arthur Fair, Q.C., counsel for Manley, announced at the time of conviction that he would appeal the magistrate's decision. Judge J. A. McGibbon of Lindsay, acting county judge, is presiding.

Bomb Test May Change Wars —John A. Dewart

Experience gained Tuesday in dropping of the latest-type of atomic bomb at Yucca Flat, Nevada, may revolutionize warfare, Ald J. A. Wewart said Tuesday night.

He was speaking at the anpual Ypres dinner at the Canadian Legion Hall, attended by more than 80 members of the Red Patch Club and their friends.

The significance of this experiment, he said, was this the atomic bomb has changed from being a purely strategic weapon to a technical one; it can now be used on the field of battle.

"If that is so it means that masses of men are no longer decisive on the field of battle," said Col. Dewart, former commanding officer of the Prince of Wales Rangers.

At the same time— on the 37th anniversary of the 2nd Battle of Ypres—Col. Dewart found it a hopeful sign for the democratic western countries.

In Shadow of Threat.

"For the last few years we have lived in the shadow of a great threat. We realized that Russia's great numbers of trained men could roll by the thousands across Europe."

By offsetting the numerical superiority of the Communist armies the new atomic weapons "have removed a great menace from us."

"We have reasonable ground defence situation now," said Col. Dewart. "And if this development in battlefield weapons is successful (i.e. if troops can follow up and occupy the ground on which the atomic weapons have been used), then the whole situation is changed."

Col. Dewart said it was significant that this atomic experiment was on the 22nd April, the 37th anniversary of the 2nd Battle of Ypres.

Far Reaching Effect.

"That battle is recognized by historians as having a very far reaching effect not only on the outcome of the First World War but also in our whole civilization."

The Germans lined up five divisions on the four-mile front opposing the Canadians 1st Division and the French Colonial troops. Their twin objectives were to (a) break through and take Paris, and (b) capture the channel ports thus jeopardizing the position of the British Army and laying Great Britain open to submarine attack.

It was in this battle that poison gas was used for the first time.

Despite the novelty of the weapon against them and despite heavy casualties the Canadains extended their lines to cover the gap left by the retreating French Colonial troops, Col. Dewart recalled. Then they counter-attacked.

"The reputation of the Canadians was made that day," he said. "And the conduct of our troops that day had a great deal to do with our reputation as a nation."

Col. Dewart was introduced by the Red Patch president, Leo Herr and he was thanked by Al Wade. A turkey dinner as prepared by the Womens Auxiliary under Mrs. Albert Mason.

A trio—consisting of Del Crary, Tom Mason and Bill Eagleton—provided dance music for the social evening. Bert Jones "called off" for square dancing.

Goodwill Brings Tourists Back

Resort Owners Criticized By Kingston Manager

Advertising can't compete with goodwill and courtesy in the matter of bringing tourists back, Howard H. Gomery, manager of the Kingston Chamber of Commerce said today at the Empress Hotel.

He was speaking to the two-day regional conference of Chambers of Commerce and Boards of Trade which started Tuesday.

Mr. Gomery, whose brief talk preceded a discussion of tourist promotion, told the 25 delegates present that "advertising isn't one-two-three with goodwill. Tourists should go back home and speak well of the district, the province, and of the country in general."

Two Criticisms

He took tourist resort owners to task on two different points: Not doing anything to bring the tourist to Canada, and waving the U.S. flag too much. Storekeepers were as much at fault on the latter point.

"Tourists, when they come to Canada, are in another country, and they don't want to think they are at home," he said.

After the discussion, group chairmen reported and the two-fold keynote of their reports was: Education and goodwill.

Education was necessary in many places and many ways. Store clerks should be trained to give explicit directions to tourists, and to pass them on to the local Chamber of Commerce for more information.

Education

Resort owners should be educated to realize that more tourists will come if they give better service. Evaluating the discussion, James Fraser, secretary-manager of the Peterborough Chamber, said: "We must educate those dealing with tourists so that they can help them with good and accurate information."

Of the American flag, Mr. Fraser said: "Take it off the hot dog stands, the stores and the resorts that are owned by Canadians. If a United States citizen owns a resort and wants to fly his country's flag, let him fly it, but below the Canadian flag."

Col. H. T. Goodeve of Port Hope plumped for more historical advertising. "We don't bring it out in this country at all."

He suggested that points of historical interest should be exploited to a greater degree. Signs should indicate their locations, and tourist pamphlets should mention them. He mentioned the example of Fort Henry in Kingston, one of the most famous historical sites in Eastern Ontario.

No Strings of Fish

Another point brought out in discussion was that too many pamphlets display pictures of strings of fish. Mr. Gomery said: "These are out; then conflict with the aims of our fish and game clubs."

He urged that pictures of single fish—good pictures of good fish—should be used, rather than photographs of great strings of fish.

Delegates agreed that ratings for tourist resorts were necessary, and supported the provincial government's scheme, introduced last year, for rating all resorts in the province.

FALLS REMOVING WINDOWS

While removing storm windows from her home Tuesday afternoon, 72-year-old Mrs. Mrytle Bowen of Warkworth was injured when she missed the last step at the bottom of the ladder and fell. She was taken to Civic Hospital in Peterborough where it was learned she had fractured her right leg.

Helpers

A faulty sprinkler head brought the whole fire department hurrying to the G. Whittaker Co. storehouse by the Auburn dam Tuesday night. Behind the fire engines came a parade of private cars that sped up River Rd. for almost 15 minutes after the last engine had passed.

Smaller Towns Have Advantages For Industries

The advantages of smaller towns are the real reasons industry should be attracted to them Col. H. T. Goodeve, Port Hope, declared Tuesday afternoon at the regional Chamber of Commerce conference.

Col. Goodeve's summary of the advantages of a small town brought remarks of agreement from quite a few of the delegates present from boards of trade and chambers of commerce from 17 different centres in the region.

He pointed out that the small town offered workers more economical living conditions, fewer problems of transportation, and other benefits not available in cities of Toronto's size.

These benefits would appeal to the manufacturer as making for a contented working force, and would tend to lessen labor problems.

Another point in favor of the smaller community was brought out by Ken Slater of Lakefield, who spoke of the modern industrial tendency of decentralization.

He remarked on the example of Lloyd George, prime minister of Great Britain in the First World War, who brought decentralization to the industries of the United Kingdom.

Another important question to the delegates was that of a fixed assessment as a lure to an industry. One delegate pointed out that this could only be given to an industry that is unique in the province.

The Municipal Act stated that a fixed assessment could be offered only with a two-thirds majority of those privileged to vote on a money bylaw. It could also be given only for a short period of time, fixed by a municipal bylaw which in turn must be approved by the Ontario Municipal Board.

Keep Money In Mind

Ezra Smith, of Trenton, remarked that a survey showed that of 34 industries that came to Canada from the United States in 1951, more than half were established within easy reach of Montreal and Toronto.

The reason, he said, was that industry wants to get near the sources of supply to cut its transportation costs. "They operate on a dollar and cents basis, you know," he added.

Evaluating the group discussion which preceded the open forum, L. W. McConkey, secre-

Court Denies Appeal For $18,150

Barry Seabrook Appeals Award Of $11,550 For House

The Ontario Appeal Court has rejected an appeal by Barry Seabrook, whose George St. property was expropriated for part of the city hall site, to have his arbitration award increased to $18,150.

Seabrook was awarded $11,550 for his property at 492 George St. by the late Judge S. L. Smoke in Sept. 1951. He originally asked for $21,150.

Chief Justice R. S. Robertson and Justices J. A. Hope and F. D. Hogg heard arguments from T. J. Carley, Q.C., counsel for the city, and H. F. Parkinson, counsel for Seabrook.

They turned down Seabrook's request for a larger award but increased payment on the principal, dating back to May 1, 1950 to five per cent. The previous rate was four per cent.

Judge Smoke awarded Seabrook $11,550, plus interest at four per cent, and cost of the arbitration.

The property included a lot 49 feet by 118 feet, a garage and a 70-year-old solid brick house with two bathrooms. The house was divided downstairs into two apartments, one with four rooms and the other with two rooms; there was a common bathroom. The second floor had five rooms and one bath.

His award is subject to a mortgage in favor of the estate of the late Thomas Tindle of Smith township, amounting to $4,400 with interest at five per cent compounded half yearly from Jan. 1, 1951.

Costs of the mortgages in the appeal are to be paid by the city. And the Justices reserved judgment on which party should pay the mortgagees a bonus.

Judge Smoke found that Seabrook was putting his property to the best use. Before passing of the expropriation bylaw, he said, business expansion was to the south and west.

One property included in the expropriation for the city hall site is still outstanding. It is the property, formerly 501 Water St., owned by Miss Marjorie Best of Toronto.

An arbitration hearing on this was set last year but was adjourned by the late Judge Smoke pending settlement of the Seabrook arbitration case.

FLOOD PERIL — Boats are kept handy inside a dike surrounding a La Crosse, Wis., plant, as the rambling flood waters of the Mississippi swirl about in a record crest. The two-week flood disaster has already wrought an estimated 200-billion-dollar damage, and routed nearly 100,000 persons from their homes in inundated areas of the Midwest.

Photos Of Former Stars Recall Fleeting Nature Of Film Fame

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, April 23 (AP) —The film set of "Tribute To a Bad Man," a movie about Hollywood, was deserted but the portraits on the wall of what was supposed to be a movie producer's office in the 1930s recalled some interesting chapters from the past.

There were Marie Dressler, Alice Brady, Edna May Oliver, Robert Benchley, Wallace Beery, Ted Healy and Thelma Todd.

They had this in common: All had died at the top of their careers. (Miss Todd died accidentally or was murdered; it has never been fully determined.)

There were three other photos that inspired thoughts about the fleeting nature of film fame. They were pictures of John Gilbert, Renee Adoree and Karl Dane.

John Gilbert . . . there was a lover! He was married four times, and his wives included actresses Leatrice Joy, Ina Claire and Virginia Bruce. His other romances dealt with such figures as Greta Garbo, Lupe Velez and Marlene Dietrich.

Gilbert first scored as "The Count of Monte Cristo" in 1922 and his big hit was as the doughboy in "The Big Parade in 1924. He and Garbo formed a torrid team, and he is reported to have persuaded her to lead a hermit's life.

The advent of sound doomed his career. His voice wasn't as bad as people think; his style of love-making just sounded silly when words were heard. He died of heart failure in 1936 at the age of 38.

Renee Adoree . . . came to Hollywood and soared to fame as Melisande in "The Big Parade." She loved her success and played it to the hilt, racing through two marriages and a fortune.

A lung ailment sent her to a sanitarium, and friends said it was caused by her inability to pass up a party. She never recovered, and died at 37 in 1935.

Karl Dane . . . He completed "The Big Parade" trio. A thick-headed carpenter, he was yanked from obscurity to play the happy soldier. He lasted for a few years as a comedian. Sound also booted Dane from the studios.

In 1934, he spread out his old contracts, clippings and photos on a table in his modest apartment. Then he sat down in a chair and sent a .38 calibre bullet through his brain.

India Holding Monopoly Pepper Supply

By FORBES RHUDE

Pepper doesn't come from where it used to come from.

Most of it used to come from Indonesia, but war and post-war disorders have nearly wiped out the pepper crops there, and now India has almost a monopoly over world supplies.

This we learn from Bruce I. Rankin, commercial secretary for Canada in India, in an article in Foreign Trade, published by the Foreign Trade Service, Department of Trade and Commerce.

We learn also that Pepper is a small grower's crop which doesn't pay the grower very well, though speculators have collected big profits on the way to market. Mr. Rankin adds:

"Uncertain yields (bumper crops can be grown only every other year) and the fact that new vines take from three to five years to produce berries, adds up to a lack of incentive to increase production."

Nevertheless, pepper ranks sixth in India's export trade, and Canada is the third largest buyer, taking 582 tons in the season 1950-51.

Other foreign trade items:

C. B. Birkett, Canadian Trade Commissioner in Johannesburg, writes that South African gold output, though somewhat down in 1951 from 1950, is likely to be higher each year for at least 20 or 30 years.

"After that," he says, "the downward trend will be compensated for by the richer ore from the new mines now coming into production in the Orange Free States and in Klerksdorp."

M. J. Vechsler, Canadian trade commissioner in Liverpool, refers to the immensely-profitable disposal of the war-built wool surplus. He says:

"United Kingdom - Dominion Wool Disposal Ltd., better known as the Joint Organization, took over July 31, 1945, disposal of the wartime accumulation of wool—10,400,000 bales.

'By June 30, 1951, only 17,800 bales remained for sale. In the six-year period, sales were made on a continually rising market with the huge profit of $198,500,000." (Member governments of the joint organization are Britain, Australia, New Zealand and South Africa).

Foreign trade notes the expansion of Germany's trade with Brazil and Latin-America. It says:

"Brazil's exports to Germany, January to August, 1951, increased 480 per cent over the same period of 1950. German exports to Latin-America from September to December, 1951, reached $31,600,000, compared with $10,000,000 for the same period the year before. German success, claims the press, stems from lower prices and facility of payments."

Canadian Prisoners Learn About U.S. Riots

OTTAWA, April 23 — (CP) — Prisoners in Canadian penitentiaries, their morale reported relatively good as the result of reforms, are getting newspaper and radio reports of the recent series of United States prison rebellions the same as any other Canadians.

So far as is known in official circles here, life is going on as usual in federal penitentiaries from New Westminster, B.C., to Dorchester, N.B., which means the prisoners are getting their news uncensored both through the press and through radio broadcasts.

Young People Leaving Farm Called Lazy

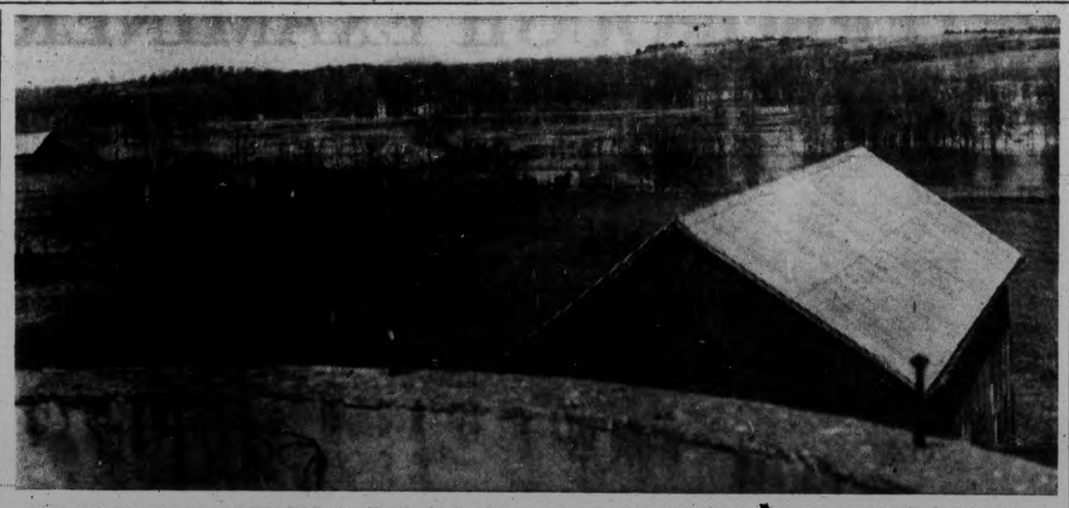
GUELPH, April 23 — (CP) — Delegates to the anual conference of the Junior Farmer Association of Ontario said Tuesday that young people who leave the farm are either crazy or lazy.

Three of five in a representative group agreed that the farm offers more security, independence, health and recreation than the city.

Verlma Gilbert, of the Chatham district, said: "I wouldn't even feel like keeping pets in the city. It's not for me."

Bob McKessock, of the Owen Sound area, said only a poor farmer would want to leave the land, the farm is no place for a poor farmer anyway.

CHARGED IN ARMY THEFTS—Capt. D. M. Baldock, 28, of the Royal Canadian Engineers, is one of seven persons charged in connection with large-scale thefts of government equipment and supplies from the army base at Petawawa, Ont. A native of Brandon, Man., and a graduate of the University of Manitoba, he also is charged with conspiracy and fraud.



OTONABEE RIVER FLOODING in North Monaghan township, though prevalent, is not as serious as former springs, say farmers, with marginal land property. A silo-top view from the farm of Kemp Brockwell, Lot 8, Concession 6, looking east towards the river, gives a distant general view of the situation; Mr. Brockwell claims that he has from 25 to 30 acres inundated.—(Examiner Staff Photo)

Industry Steps Up Drive On Huge Defence Program

By HAROLD MORRISON
Canadian Press Staff Writer.

OTTAWA, April 23 (CP). — Junior may never believe it, but baby carriages are becoming rockets as Canada pushes ahead with a three-year $5,000,000,000 defence program.

Bicycles are becoming machine guns; pen-and-pencil sets are turning into radar; and railway equipment is changing into huge artillery shells.

Not only the men who make junior's pram, but the men who turn out kitchen stoves, washing machines and automobiles are doing some strange and paradoxical things to help speed the defence program.

It all started with federal-government policy. To save money and to give factories a thorough grounding in armament production in the event of another world war, the government decided to issue defence contracts to existing plants wherever possible.

Canadian manufacturers—many of them finding the civilian market not all milk-and-honey—took a fancy to the idea. The government's move was no fly-by-night policy. Federal officials believe a segment of the Canadian economy will be geared to defence production for as long as the threat of Communism remains in the world.

In the scramble for defence contracts, many plants acquired a paradoxical war-and-peace personality. Team-work became the keynote among the manufacturers.

At Orillia, Ont., a baby-carriage manufacturer teamed with a porcelain-sign producer to produce parts for new R.C.A.F. aircraft rockets. At nearby Weston, Ont., a stove manufacturer got another part of the rocket contract.

Produce Rocket Parts

And at Hamilton, Ont., a tire company got the nod to produce rocket launchers. Rocket parts, flowing out of baby-carriage, stove and tire plants, are channelled into Crown arsenal shops, either at Lindsay, Ont., or Valleyfield, Que., to be assembled into the final product.

This guns-and-butter production philosophy has become an every-day affair.

A Toronto cash register outfit is producing shell fuses. At Hull, Que., washing-machine company got a contract to produce intricate stabilizer equipment for the speedy F-86 jet fighter.

Another washing-machine company, at Toronto, has found space among laundry-room equipment to produce pilot ejector seats for the same F-86.

Perhaps nowhere has the trend become so evident as at Renfrew, Ont., where an actual producer of plowshares and other agricultural equipment is turning out knife-like wings for Canada's jet fighter the CF-100.

At Fort William, Ont., Harvard trainer aircraft are rolling out of a plant that normally constructs heavy rolling stock for railways.

At Windsor, Ont., a truck and passenger-car company is taking to the air, producing wings for the F-86 under sub-contract from the Canadair Company at Montreal.

Finally, there's a whole range of electrical-equipment producers in Montreal, Toronto and Belleville, Ont., which has become almost one vast secret network of factories turning out highly- classified materials to go into the top-priority radar network stretching across Canada's north.

THE Ranger PROTECTS THE FORESTS FOR THE BENEFIT OF EVERYONE

The Fire Season is here!

Help the Fire Rangers to prevent forest fires this year

The dreaded fire season opens slowly in March. By May the number of savage, costly forest fires grows alarmingly, carries on to a peak in August, and still continues on into November. Millions of dollars are lost each year—money lost to everyone in the Province. You can help by being careful whenever you're in a forest area . . . careful of camp fires, careful of matches and cigarettes. You can help too by helping the rangers spot fires, and reporting them promptly and carefully. Watch carefully after electrical storms—last year lightning started 160 fires in Ontario, just about half as many as those started by campers and smokers. The Fire Season is here. Help save the forests and you help yourself!

The Ranger Knows

The Fire Ranger knows the dangerous times ahead. He's well equipped, trained in map reading, how to tell the extent of a fire by the colour of the smoke, how to attack and overcome fires both large and small. He's supported by a well-organized network of watchtowers, aircraft, and land transportation of all kinds. Help him first by preventing fires—and reporting fires or fire hazards promptly.

1. IT'S HOMOGENIZED—Now being used exclusively in Canada by Canadian Oil Companies, Limited, homogenization is the latest advancement in the processing of Motor Oil. This technique disperses all ingredients so thoroughly that they remain permanently in solution. Thus, they perform their various functions rapidly and efficiently.

2. LOWERS OIL CONSUMPTION—The lower oil consumption of the new White Rose Motor Oil is due to its high Viscosity Index and the heat resistant properties of the mineral oils it contains.

3. KEEPS MOTORS CLEAN—Detergent and dispersant additives hold dirt in suspension so that it drains away at regular oil change intervals.

4. PREVENTS ACID ACTION—The new White Rose Motor Oil neutralizes the harmful acids which form in every engine as by-products of combustion—one of the major causes of engine wear.

5. FIGHTS WEAR—Gruelling road-tests across Canada under the supervision of an independent testing laboratory—(Donald Inspection Limited) proved that, with the use of the new White Rose Motor Oil, there was no appreciable wear on engine parts.

6. INCREASES GASOLINE MILEAGE—The cleansing action plus the high film strength of new White Rose Motor Oil enables piston rings to operate freely, thus sealing the combustion chamber. This assures more efficient use of fuel.

7. PREVENTS ENGINE RUST—New White Rose Motor Oil penetrates and clings to engine parts . . . counteracting one of the greatest causes of engine deterioration.

8. FLOWS FREELY—Low cold-test properties enable the new White Rose Motor Oil to flow freely at low temperatures. This aids cold weather starting and gives instant protection to all vital parts.

9. RESISTS THINNING—Even under operating conditions of extreme heat, the new White Rose Motor Oil resists thinning, and keeps a protective film of oil between vital engine parts.

10. SUPPRESSES FOAM—The new White Rose Motor Oil provides a bubble-free oil film—offsets oxidation—reduces oil consumption—gives complete protection to all lubricated surfaces.

Amazing new Heavy Duty White Rose Motor Oil is produced in the most modern lubricating oil and grease manufacturing plant in North America. Here . . . in this great new plant of Canadian Oil Companies, Limited . . . the best base stocks are blended with the best additives by the best formula known to modern automotive science.

OFFICIAL CONTEST RULES

1- Official entry blanks are available at all White Rose Dealers and Service Stations.

2- Just write a slogan for, or give a description of, the new, improved WHITE ROSE MOTOR OIL in 15 words or less. Your slogan can describe one or more of the new properties of this outstanding and totally different motor oil, such as: "It cleans as it lubricates"; "Prolongs the life of your engine". Or, it can be general, as for instance: "For goodness' sake, use White Rose"; "Proven best by every test". Entries will be judged for sincerity, originality and appropriateness.

3- Write or print your name and address clearly on the official entry form, or on any sheet of paper of similar size (about (5½" by 8"). Make as many entries as you wish, using a separate form for each entry. Mail your entry to: WHITE ROSE MOTOR OIL CONTEST BOARD, P.O. Box 100, Station "D", Montreal 22, Que.

4- Contest period is from April 15, 1952 to June 14, 1952. Entries must be postmarked not later than midnight, June 14th and in the hands of the Contest Board by June 21st.

5- Winners will be announced in the leading newspapers as soon as possible after the close of the Contest.

6- Contest is open to any person, of any age, who lives in Canada, except White Rose dealers and their employees (and their families), and employees (and their families) of Canadian Oil Companies, Limited, and of organizations cooperating with Canadian Oil during the contest.

7- Entries must be made in the contestant's own name. No entries will be returned. Entries, contents and ideas therein, become the property of Canadian Oil Companies, Limited.

8- Final selection of entries will be made by a board comprising the following outstanding citizens: Rodney S. Kennedy, Past President of the Canadian Authors' Association, J. P. Hogue, Director, Canadian Daily Newspapers Association, Miss Madeleine Levason, Feature Writer and Editor. Decisions of the judges will be final.

C.N.R. Expects Highest Revenues But Predicts Deficit Too

OTTAWA, April 23 (CP) —The Canadian National Railways looks for the highest gross revenues in its history this year but expects to finish with a net deficit, Transport Minister Chevrier disclosed Monday in the Commons.

The annual budget of the government-owned line, tabled by the minister, forecast an overall deficit of $18,025,000 for 1952-up from the $15,031,000 deficit of last year. As in previous years, the system's heavy debt charges lead to the expected deficiency.

The 1952 figures do not take into account a proposed financial reorganization of the company, which may come at the current session of parliament and which might transform the deficit into a surplus. Nor do they allow anything, on the other hand, for a higher wage bill which may result from employee demands to be laid before the C.N.R., this summer.

Gross revenues were estimated in the budget at $633,090,000, compared with the previous high of $624,834,000 last year. The figures apparently are based on about the same volume of business last year, coupled with a level of freight rates somewhat higher than prevailed through 1951.

Expenses At New High

The forecast of operating expenses also is at a new top of $613,828,000, compared with $580,150,000. No breakdown was given, but the major factor probably would be a full year's cost of the 40-hour work week that went into effect July 1, 1951.

After deducting various charges, the Canadian National would be left with $32,014,000 available for the payment of interest on its debt. That would cover the $21,849,000 due on bonds held by the public, but the remainder would fall short by $18,025,000 of meeting the $28,190,000 interest on the company's government-held loans.

A capital spending program of $104,822,000 was outlined in the budget, a large proportion of which already has been authorized by parliament. About $45,000,000 in new money will be needed. The new financing is to include $27,368,000 for general improvements to the system; $15,000,000 for additional working capital and $2,413,000 for new equipment. Money already has been voted for other equipment amounting to $28,700,000, and there is another $23,000,000 to be re-voted to complete projects previously authorized.

The company expects to spend $7,800,000 this year on the construction of a new 155-mile line between Sherridon and Lynn Lake in Northern Manitoba, that is about half the cost of the project.

The total amount of additional capital to be received by the company from the treasury will amount to $87,000,000, since about $17,000,000 will be covered by its own depreciation reserve.

Steamships, Too

A small decrease in revenue was forecast for Canadian National (West Indies) Steamships Ltd., in its 1952 budget.

The budget estimated operating revenues at $6,261,000 and expenses at $6,580,000, compared with $6,808,000 and $6,840,000 in 1951.

After various deductions, the 1951 deficit was estimated at $734,000. This would compare with $466,000 last year.

ALASKA HIGHWAY BRIDGE — Canadian army engineers are building this $2,500,000 bridge in the Donjek Valley, Y.T., spans and an over-all length of 1,600 feet of Part of the Alaska Highway, it has eight less than 300 miles from the Arctic circle. steel and concrete. It replaces a wooden span which has been washed out in succcessive years. The new bridge is expected to be completed by June.

Canadian Sappers Building Huge Bridge In the Yukon

DONJEK VALLEY, Y.T. (CP). —Canadian soldiers will soon complete a vital part of the Alaska Highway less than 300 miles from the Arctic Circle. During the winter they worked in temperatures that at times hit 40 and 50 degrees below zero.

The project is the $2,500,000 Donjek Bridge with eight spans and an over-all length of 1,600 feet of steel and concrete construction. The men are members of No. 1 Road Maintenance Company, Royal Engineers, commanded by Major Boe Black of Fredericton.

Started as a training program for the Canadian sappers who are permanently engaged in road maintenance on the Alaska Highway, the bridge received top priority last year when floods destroyed five smaller crossings and caused 60 washouts on a 50-mile stretch of road.

It was in 1949 that the Engineers began work on the piers for the bridge, but there was little concentrated effort at speed. The plan then was to have the sappers construct the bridge over a period of five years.

There was no priority for either men or materials and the company, being a mobile unit, was unable to spend much time on the project, their servivces being required for maintenance elsewhere.

In November, 1950, Major Black arrived at the Donjek and the following summer's floods resulted in the bridge getting priority with orders to complete it without further delay.

Army's Biggest

When completed, the Donjek Bridge, largest bridge-building project undertaken by an army force, will replace seven wooden trestles which each year have been threatened by floodwaters. The bridge also will cut out a section of the highway dotted with treacherous curves and poor grades.

Before approaches to the bridge could be opened, the Engineers, using very little explosive, had to cut through permafrost and remove obstacles which tested the strength of high-powered bulldozers and scrapers. In many instances steam had to be fed underground to soften the surface before a cut could be made in the ground.

Some 1,200 tons of steel and hundreds of tons of concrete are being used.

The bridge will be opened about June 15 as a permanent part of the Alaska Highway near Mile 1130.

"Nothing has been easy up here in the frozen north, but many of my men would stay on another year if they were required," says Major Black. "Many of course are looking forward to a tour of duty in a more southerly clime."

"I'm off to Korea, but not until this job is done."

Bouncing Balls Follow Blast

ATOMIC BOMB SITE, Nev., April 23—(AP)—Bouncing, ball-shaped clouds of desert dust—the biggest larger than the 2,000-foot high mountain ringing this atom bowl—Tuesday revealed as never before the terrible punch of an A-bomb concussion.

This is by far the most destructive of A-bomb effects.

The concussion came from above, where the burst was so high that there was blue sky between the fireball and the mountain tops below it.

The shock was invisible as it plunged down, then up, still with its full strength.

Instead, the dust literally bounced in the form of balls. The big one was at the centre, directly under the fireball. The others dwindling toward the ends. The row was three miles long.

As the big ball rose, it dragged upward a column of desert dust, dark blue in the brilliant sunshine, and this joined up with the tail of the fireball to form a stalk reaching all the way to the ground. The smaller balls all bounced higher than the mountains, each dragging a dust column up in its wake.

Toronto Nylons Have Bad Day

TORONTO, April 23 — (CP) — Nylons ran like mad in downtown Toronto Tuesday.

One reporter said one woman in five who passed him sported runs in her stockings.

The runs began from tiny holes which appeared on portions of the stockings not usually subjected to hard wear.

A nylon manufacturer spokesman said the cause of the outbreak of runs "is just so much guesswork until we can make a chemical analysis of the damaged stockings. I would suggest offhand that the holes were caused by some type of soot or industrial fumes."

Labor Disputes Studied At Conference

MONTREAL, April 23—(CP)—The balance of men, work and welfare is one of the most difficult tasks ever attempted by any country, Dr. F. Cyril James, principal of McGill University, Tuesday night said at closing session of the fourth annual McGill University Industrial Relations Centre conference.

Dr. James said if one's concept of welfare encompasses distant and undeveloped parts of the earth, hard work will be required to develop our resources to supply mankinds urgent needs.

He said there is no simple answer to the problem of human judgment and human relations and that welfare as a basic economic policy complicates the task of developing Canada's economy.

In earlier sessions Tuesday, a minimum of government intervention in management-labor disputes and a greater degree of co-operation between the two to raise the standard of living was urged by two other speakers.

Two-Party Negotiations

Dr. A. Howard Myers, chairman of the New England region National Wage Stabilization Board, advocated two-party negotiations whenever possible but said that government cannot ignore the possibility of actual injury to the national welfare when rights are abused.

He warned against discouraging continued efforts to bargain through the inevitability of public intervention and third party decisions.

Dr. J. R. Coleman, of the Department of Economics and Social Sciences at Massachusetts Institute of Technology, said organized labor will soon have to help management "bake bigger pies" rather than to concentrate its efforts on getting a bigger slice of the existing pie.

He said unions of the future "may well wish to move into areas where they are at once agents for getting more of the national product for their members and agents for increasing that amount of that product."

General Agreement Reached In Lawsuits

BUFFALO, N.Y., April 23 (AP) —Contesting parties are reported to have reached a "general agreement" settling more than $1,000,000 in lawsuits against owners of the ill-fated tug Sachem which sank December 18, 1950, in Lake Erie, taking the lives of her 12 crew members.

The Buffalo Cuorier-Express says today that survivors of crew members who went down with the Sachem would receive less than $200,000. Damage suits totalling $1,171,745 had been filed by survivors.

PRESIDENT OF A.P.

NEW YORK, April 23 (AP) — Robert McLean, president of the Philadelphia Evening Bulletin, was re-elected Tuesday president of The Associated Press. He has been president since 1938. The board of directors re-elected Harold A. Fitzgerald of the Pontiac, Mich. Daily Press as first vice-president. Lloyd Straton and Robert Booth were re-elected secretary and treasurer, respectively.

Charges Taxes Prevent New Investing

TORONTO, April 23 (CP)—J. Gerald Godsoe, vice-president of British American Oil Co., Ltd., said today that taxation is a "dark cloud" deterring Canadians from investing in the expansion of their country.

Addressing British American's annual meeting, he said borrowing cannot be the major source of new capital of any company, and much of the money required must be obtained from earnings. He added:

"Insofar as taxes are required to meet truly essential expenditures of government, there can be no cause for criticism. However, the policy of siphoning, through excessive taxes the spending power of the people, is open to question.

"It is claimed that this takes away from people money which would otherwise be spent unnecessarily by them and thus contribute to inflation, but no different result is attained if such action results merely in substituting governmental for other expenditures. . . .

"There is a strong body of opinion that holds that the actual level of taxation, beyond which inflationary forces come into play, is around 25 per cent of the national income. Today about 33 per cent of Canada's national income is taxed away."

Lake Ontario Erosion Said Serious Problem

OTAWA, April 23 — (CP) — Frank Lennard (P.C., Wentworth) said Tuesday night in the Commons that erosion of the shores of Lake Ontario has become a serious problem and it should be placed in the hands of the International Joint Commission.

Speaking in the budget debate, he said a meeting of Ontario and New York State authorities recently recommended submission of the matter to the commission which has jurisdiction over Canadian-U.S. boundary waters. But the suggestion had been rejected by the Canadian government and he could not understand why.

Not Optimistic

Big Raid On Canadians Proves Costly To Chinese

By WILLIAM BOSS.

WITH THE CANADIANS IN KOREA, April 11 (Delayed by Censor) (CP).—The Chinese paid heavily for their first raid in five months on a position held by the 2nd Battalion Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry.

The brisk three-hour action cost the Communists 34 killed and uncounted wounded. A 70-man stretcher party was spotted carrying off wounded the morning after the fight occurred—last March 26.

Close censorship has only now permitted identification of the Patricias' action.

Canadian casualties were limited to four killed and 10 wounded, all but one by artillery and mortar fire. L.-Cpl. E. E. Patterson of Hantsport, N.S., was killed by rifle fire while leading a relief party with ammunition.

The enemy raid was on a craggy spur, 300 feet high, held by a platoon under Sgt. Richard Buxton of Victoria and Melfort, Sask. The Chinese tried to close a pincer on the ridge, attempting to come in—70 on one slope and 40 on the other—toward the rear of the Canadians' position, three-quarters of the way down the spur.

Stops Attack

When Buxton saw the direction of the threat, he faced his men to the rear—their backs to the enemy's main line—and fought the attack to a standstill.

First warning was given by an outpost commanded by Cpl. Bill James of Georgetown, which was then cut off by heavy enemy fire and answering fire from the 2nd Regiment Royal Canadian Horse Artillery. For the rest of the night they found what shelter they could in the open while the fight went on behind them.

Buxton was told by Pte. Lawrence Murphy of Newcastle, Alta., on sentry duty behind platoon headquarters, that he had heard underbrush crackling nearby. A flare showed 20 Chinese milling around the position's barbed-wire defences.

The 26-year-old Buxton, fighting his first action, figured in practically everything that occurred that night. At one point he saw 10 Chinese inside the position's wire, swung a Browning on them and cut down six with a long burst.

Buxton ignored a bullet wound in the arm, went down to see how Woolley's section was making out, discovered it had only six bandoliers of ammunition left.

Not So Good

He sent Pte. Marcel Lacerte of Assiniboia, Sask., a stretcher-bearer, to see how the third section—under Cpl. E. E. Theobold of Cameron, Ont., was getting along.

Lacerte reported Theobold and Pte. W. J. Fowler, Toronto killed by shell fragments, and three others injured.

L.-Col. D. H. Rooney, Edmonton although wounded in the foot early in the engagement, had stayed with his Bren gun throughout and killed six Chinese. Also firing his Bren, though wounded, was Pte. H. S. Narvey, Burnt Church, N.B.

Buxton signalled for ammunition and medical assistance and the relief party ran into three Chinese on the path out from company headquarters. Pte. G. E. Barclay of Deschenes, Que., killed two with his machine-gun, but Fatterson was killed, and Cpl. R. F. Fleming, Regina, was wounded.

With the relief party was Pte. Sandy Kozocari of Hairy Hill, Alta. who worked with Lacette to get the injured men back under the artillery fire that still was descending.

All the while Patricia three-inch mortars under Cpl. J. E. Rimmer of Regina maintained a steady rain of bombs on the attackers, although their own position was being heavily shelled.

Gets His Man

Pte. Gerald A. Byrne of Digby, N.S., over on the right, when told, "You've got a friend in front of you with a burp gun," killed the Chinese at 350 yards with his Bren gun in the light of a flare.

While Sgt. Buxton and his platoon were fighting off the attack when they heard fire coming from a hill occupied by another platoon of the 1st Battalion Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry.

Buxton shouted across the intervening 200 yards: "For heaven's sake, stop firing at us."

Sgt. Ed. Fairhall of Winnipeg, who had spotted a group of Chinese just below the footpath being used by a relief party, roared back: "Take your choice, it's us of the Chinese."

Next morning six Chinese bodies were found on the slope below the path.

Looking at the Communist-held hill from which the enemy had launched their attack the night before, Major Sam Pinkerton of Hamilton saw a puff of smoke hang in the air the next morning.

Hidden Gun

Commander of the 2nd Regiment, Royal Canadian Horse Artillery, battery supporting the Patricias, he took a closer look.

At first all he could see was a hole in the hill, behind the smoke. Then, through his binoculars, Pinkerton saw a gun.

The Communists had burrowed a hole through the hill, wheeled a mountain gun through it and at 800 yards' range were firing on the Canadians, then retracting it from view.

"Small wonder," said Lt.-Col. Norman Wilson-Smith, officer commanding the Patricias, "that they were so sensitive to our patrolling—that they just wouldn't let us get near that hill."

Pinkerton, within seconds, had his guns on the enemy piece.

Child Killed

TORONTO, April 23 (CP) — Jimmy Lamb, 3, was killed Tuesday near his home in suburban East York township when struck by a green automobile whose driver, police say, did not stop. Neighbors described the car as a 1939 model in dilapidated condition and lacking a rear bumper.

Children Fed Dog Food

MONTREAL, April 23 (CP) — Some low-income families in certain parts of Montreal have turned to canned dog food for their children, it was learned here Tuesday.

Miss Nan Garvok of the Montreal diet dispensary, a welfare organization, said she had heard of a number of families who were feeding their children dog food in sandwiches.

Grocers in some cases have reported that their sales of canned dog food had doubled in the last two years.

Noiseless Snowshoe

TORONTO, April 23 (CP)—The Defence Research Board is looking for someone who can make a noiseless snowshoe. G. W. Dunn, an executive of the D.R.B. said Tuesday the board wants something that soldiers can wear to get through snow without awakening the enemy.

Says Army Shoes Too Expensive

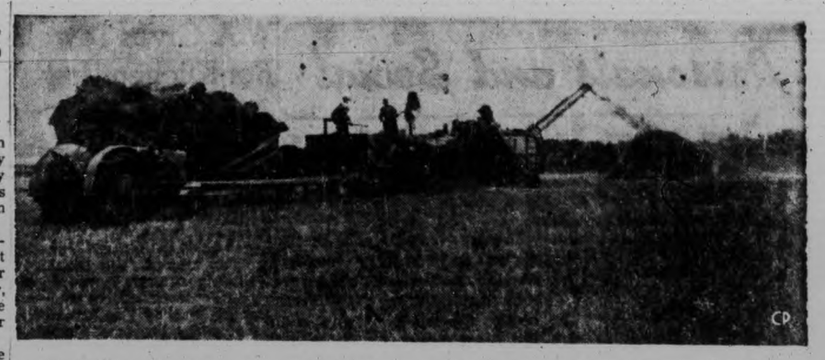
OTTAWA, April 23—(CP)—An opposition member said Tuesday night he couldn't understand why a contract for shoes for Canada's armed forces cost $15,292,241 in 10 months.

Frank Lennard (P.C., Wentworth) said in the Commons that Canada's armed forces total fewer than 100,000. Yet at $15 a pair, that contract alone would produce 1,000,000 pair of shoes, enough for the next five to seven years.

The government should give the House details of the contract which, Mr. Lennard said, "seems exorbitant."

To Arbitrate Request

TORONTO, April 23 — (CP) — Judge W. S. Lane, of Picton, has been chosen as chairman of the board which will arbitrate the Toronto Police Association's request for a wage increase, it was announced Tuesday. The policemen are seeking a $10 average weekly increase. The Police Commission has offered $5. Hearings are expected to start early in May.



SPRING HARVEST — Grain harvesting, usually a fall operation in western Canada, is being carried on this spring together with seeding. Millions of bushels of grain were left on the ground last fall when harvesting was stopped by early snow. A threshing crew is at work in the oats field of Ted Lother, 10 miles north of Edmonton. When threshing is completed the land will be ploughed and seeded for the 1952 crop.

Name Delegation To Discuss Cheese

VANKLEEK HILL, April 23 — (CP) — Some 500 farmers and cheese makers Tuesday night named a delegation to call on Agriculture Minister Gardiner with demands for a floor price on cheese.

Speakers criticized the practice of importing cheaper cheese from New Zealand.

Bowlers' Closing Tea

St. George's lady bowlers marked the closing of a very pleasant season on Tuesday with an afternoon tea at the church. President Mrs. L. Moore called on the Rev. H. J. Scuse who spoke briefly of the fellowship and good sportsmanship prevailing in the club. Vice president Mrs. W. McGregor officiated on behalf of the members in presenting corsages of roses to Mrs. Moore and Mrs. G. Bailey, treasurer. Mrs. Moore also received a small bon voyage gift for her trip to Scotland soon. Election of officers was conducted by Mr. Scuse and the following were chosen: president Mrs. I. Harrison, vice president Mrs. L. Jones, treasurer Mrs. E. McIlwain. Prizes were then presented to the winning teams. Mrs. Moore being first, Mrs. A. Gynane second and Mrs. L. Ritchie third. Mrs. Harrison closed the afternoon with promise of a hearty welcome to new members as well as the former ones when the season opens in the fall.

Dietitian Discusses Cook Book

Women's Federation of George Street United Church were fortunate in having as their meeting guest this week dietitian Mrs. H. S. Rogers. Mrs. Rogers discused the editing of the group's cook book, illustrating her talk with various types of books, similar to the one now in progress. The meeting was held at the home of Mrs. John Thornton, 774 Armour Road, on Monday evening. Mrs. Arthur LeFebvre spoke briefly on the concluding chapters of the study book, and an item from the Missionary Digest was read by Mrs. Sherman Rowe. A worship service followed, called "Easter Gave Us the Bible," arranged by Mrs. R. S. Hutton. Those taking part were Mrs. S'an. Johnston, Mrs. Harold Mesley, Mrs. J. Dyble, Miss Gladys Walker and Mrs. C. Fulton. Six members volunteered to canvass for the Bible Society.

Refreshments were served at the close of the business.

W.A. Gives Towels For Kitchen Use At Murray St.

The Murray St. W.A. regular meeting on Tuesday afternoon opened in the form of a tea towel shower as members brought tea towels as gifts for the church kitchen. They were placed in a fancy basket prepared for the occasion by Mrs. Fred Trotter. In the business session it was reported by house committee convener Mrs. L. Horning that a complete set of dishes has been purchased for the kitchen at a cost of almost $200.

A very pleasing period was provided by the guest speaker Mrs. Florence Spencley who talked on flower arrangements as home decoration and the preparation of corsages while flower designer Miss Beverley Littlefair demonstrated with lovely fresh blooms. The flowers were given away afterward with president Mrs. O. J. Hayward devising ways to decide who should have them by calling for nearest birthday anniversaries; oldest members and such.

Musical entertainment for this meeting was a piano duet by Mrs. Ivan Morgan and Mrs. Percy Johnston. Mrs. E. McNabb led the devotions.

Cent-a-day convener Mrs. R. G. Gavine held a brief ceremony as her helpers presented their collections for the month. Miss Wilma Campbell reported the number of floral gifts sent and Mrs. E. McNabb reported on cards and messages. A telephone report was given by Mrs. G. Pammett and social report by Mrs. Roy Beeler who supervised the serving of dainty refreshments and tea at the close.

Mrs. Max Middleton conveyed thanks to the guests and entertainers.

The next meeting on May 27th will be the last for this season it was announced.

S/N CARL NOBES of the United States Navy and his bride of Saturday cut the cake at their wedding reception in the home of the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter J. Nobes Sr., of Havelock.

Groom On Submarine Duty Following Havelock Rites

Havelock Pentecostal Tabernacle was scene of a pretty wedding, Saturday, when Hazel Mildred, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert King of Windsor, Newfoundland, became the bride of Carl Montgomery Nobes, S-N of the U.S. Navy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter J. Nobes, Sr., of Havelock.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. M. Esler. Miss Elfrieda Jenkins played the wedding music and Mrs. John Beatty sang "The Lord's Prayer" prior to the ceremony and "O Perfect Love" during the signing of the register. The church was decorated with snapdragons, daffodils and ferns.

The bride who was given in marriage by her brother-in-law Mr. Roy Emery, wore a gown of white satin, designed with a sweetheart neckline, lace trimming, fitted bodice, and long sleeves coming to points over the wrists. Her train length veil was of silk illusion and was caught to a hand beaded tiara of tiny seed pearls and rhinestones. She carried a bouquet of red roses.

Mrs. Roy Emery, sister of the bride was matron of honor, wearing a gown of pink marquisite with white embroidery. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Jack Jones of Peterborough who wore a gown of mauve brocaded satin, and Mrs. Glenn Fairman whose gown was of lime green nylon marquisette. All wore matching headdresses and mittens and carried rings of pink carnations and mauve and white sweet peas.

Flower girl was Joan Doherty of Lakefield, niece of the bride, who wore a lace trimmed yellow crepe dress and poke bonnet and carried a basket of carnations and sweetpeas.

Robert Watson was the groomsman and the ushers were Kenneth Nobes, brother of the groom, and William Cosgrove.

A reception was held at the home of the groom's parents, where Mrs. Nobes received in a rose suit with navy accessories and a corsage of white carnations. She was assisted by Mrs. Ivan Doherty of Lakefield, sister of the bride, who wore royal blue flowered taffeta, with navy accessories and a corsage of pink carnations.

The bride and groom left on a trip to Ottawa, Gananoque and other points, leaving on Monday for New London, Conn., U.S.A. where the groom has been assigned to submarine duty. The bride travelled in a copper-tone suit with dark green accessories and a corsage of white carnations.

Men Wearing New Shoes To Match Jackets

Men who value their appearance are finding at the men's apparel fair the right kind of shoes to go with the improved styles of jackets and other summer clothing. Where he is tweedy or fussy, the male visitor to the fair is learning that he may now obtain shoe to complement his other garb.

To go with lightweight tropical worsteds, Canadian manufacturers have designed lightweight oxfords equipped with nylon mesh to permit ventilation with every step. These come in shades of brown with eggshell nylon and in blue calf with blue nylon.

For flannels, shoe authorities recommend brushed leather oxfords in blue, grey or green. Gabardine suits or slacks are complemented by brushed oxfords of wine or brown.

The stylish jackets, whether for sports or semi-formal and business wear, is best suited by loafers. Some of these with flat seams and a fairly heavy sole are dressy enough for street wear. The tweed jacket has now found its match in a shoe called the "tobacco pouch," a relaxed looking casual with pouch styling and leather lacing.

As streamlined as 1952 summer cloth is the introduction of slip-on gores to both semi-formal oxfords and loafers. These elasticized gores abviate the need for eyelets and laces, say fair exhibitors.

Some shoe stores are introducing lines of their best-selling styles in navy blue leather to replace the customary black shoes. While blue has long been used in casual shoes, this is the first time blue dress shoes have ever appeared on the market. They can be worn with blue or grey business suits.

Wheeler-Hobson

The marriage of Beverley Joyce Hobson to Frank Phillip Wheeler took place in St. James' United Church, with the Rev. H. D. McCormack officiating. The bride is daughter of Mr. Jack Hobson and the late Mrs. Hobson, and the groom son of Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Wheeler, all of Peterborough.

The bridal gown was fashioned of net over white satin and a crown of pearls held her veil. Her flowers were red roses. Miss Frances Yodmans, bridesmaid, and Kerry Masters, flower girl, were dressed in blue and pink taffeta with hats to match, and carried a nosegay and a basket of mixed spring flowers.

Cody Wheeler was groomsman and ushers were Donald Masters and Stanley Boyle.

After a reception in the church parlors the couple left on a wedding trip to Washington, D.C. Mrs. Wheeler wore a rust gabardine suit with black accessories while travelling.

They are living at 780 St. Marys St.

MR. AND MRS. JOHN SHANAHAN

Ennismore Couple Have 50th Wedding Anniversary

Fifty years ago Tuesday John Shanahan married Anne Garvey in St. Martin's Church in Ennismore. Last week in St. Joseph's Church in Buffalo a high mass of thanksgiving was offered for the couple by the Rt. Rev. J. V. McAuley of Lindsay.

Monsignor McAuley, their former parish priest, travelled to Buffalo specially for the occasion.

All of the couple's nine children also went to Buffalo for the celebration.

Life On Farm

Mr. and Mrs. Shanahan spent their life on their farm in Ennismore near Pigeon Lake. About five years ago they retired and each winter they spend some months in Buffalo with their son, John. In the spring they come back to the Ennismore farm. Mr. Shannahan is now 78 and his wife is 75.

Mr. Shanahan was the son of the late Daniel Shanahan and Catherine Sheehan of Ennismore and Mrs. Shanahan was the daughter of the late Thomas Garvey and Mary Eagen of Downey-Mary Gillogly and Robert Schneider. They were married April 22, 1902 by the Rev. M. F. Fitzpatrick.

In Buffalo last week after the mass there was a special breakfast and then in the late afternoon dinner was held. In the evening at a reception, some 200 friends and relatives congratulated the couple.

Their children who attended were: Sister Carmella, Sister Regina Daniel, Mrs. J. Shyne (Grace), John, Mary, Mrs. W. Sheridan (Florence), Mrs. Platz (Eleanor), Mrs. J. Collins (Regina) with their respective wives, husbands and the ten grandchildren.

Other guests as well as Monsignor McAuley were: the Rev. V. J. Gillogly of Port Hope, formerly of Ennismore, the Rev. L. Leahy of Peterborough, Monsignor A. Rung, the Rev. J. Scanlon, the Rev. T. Carey, the Rev. J. Foley of Buffalo; nieces Sister Rose Marie, and Sister Raphael, and Sister Hieronyme and Sister Mary Cordis; Mrs. C. Brick, Pegvey and Mary Eagen of Downey-ty Gillogly and Robert Schneiville. They were married April

I.O.D.E. Leaders Critical Of Lip-Service Loyalty

HAMILTON, April 25 (CP).—A strengthening rather than a severthe opening today of the threeday annual meeting of the Provincial Chapter, Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire.

Mrs. Cecil Brown of Hamilton in her presidential address, deplored "deliberate attempts on the part of a few" to eliminate British symbolism and nomenclature from "practically everything on a Canadian government level."

She urged marshalling of forces to present a solidly united front with Britain, so as not "to give our enemies reason to exult over us," they observe lip-service loyalty to the crown on one hand and gradual, yet deliberate, severance of British ties within the empire on the other."

Mrs. Brown welcomed Mrs. Louis Breithaupt, wife of Ontario's Lieutenant Governor, to the meeting. She also congratulated chapters throughout the province on their work during the year.

The National President, Mrs. J. H. Chipman of Toronto, spoke briefly of the Order's work.

Mrs. W. N. Smith of Sudbury, assisted Mrs. J. M. Campbell of Chatham, was in charge of organization during the year which saw an increase of 441 in membership. It now stands at 16,465.

Mrs. O. M. Martin of Toronto education secretary, said the Ontario chapters spent $65,168 on education in 1951 an increase of $12,600 over the previous year.

Mrs. Martin commended Dr. W. J. Dunlop, Ontario Minister of Education, for his expressed views that "citizens of tomorrow should be taught to know whence they come, to cherish British tradition, to appreciate what a privilege it is to live as free citizens and how much our democratic government cost our forefathers, our fathers and our brothers."

Under the direction of Mrs. F. C. Bennett of Hamilton, 44 schools were "adopted" by the chapters.

During the year 105 students received monetary assistance and 127 bursaries were granted. A total of 164 scholarships were awarded.

Mrs. E. H. Lancaster of St. Catharines, reported on timely articles printed in Echoes, the Order's magazine.

Mrs. Cecil Bale of Niagara Falls said standard-bearers had shown much interest in their office. She recalled special occasions during the last year when they had been called upon—the visit of the present Queen, the death of the King.

At noon Mrs. Brown and Mrs. J. H. Watt of Toronto, accompanied by Mrs. Bale, placed a wreath on the cenotaph.

Outpost Nurses Hold Conference

TORONTO, April 23 — (CP)—Nurses from 18 Red Cross outpost hospitals are meeting in Toronto for a two-day conference aimed at bringing treatment methods up to date in the hospitals.

One of the main topics is standardization of nursery methods, delivery room techniques and surgery procedures. Discussions also touch on nutrition and diet and housekeeping methods.

The nurse coming the greatest distance is Amy Hayward, who is in charge of an 18-bed hospital in the Red Lake gold mining area, about 100 miles north of Kenora. She reported her greatest problem is the marriage in the last year of four of her five nurses.

CGIT Doings

GRACE CHURCH

The first mother and daughter banquet of the Grace Church CGIT group was held Monday evening.

Guest speaker was Mrs. C. E. Klingensmith who has moved to the city from Vancouver. Her talk was based on the C.G.I.T. purpose.

A toast to the church was proposed by Lois Corner and the Rev. E. W. Rowland replied. Miss Sylvia Post proposed a toast to the mothers and Mrs. L. Post replied.

The speaker was introduced by Wareen Aitken and thanked by Barbara Ruttan.

Re-affirmation of the purpose was under leadership of Carol Ann Doleman. Candle-lighters were Judith McClennan, Joan Kay, Arlene Lunn, Barbara Todd and Gloria Smith.

Presentation of pins to the group members was followed by the girls singing "O master let me walk with thee."

Guests at the banquet were the Rev. and Mrs. E. W. Rowland, Mrs. E. McKinstry, member of the Girls' Work Board, and Mrs. B. Sherry, Explorer's leader.

Group leaders are Mrs. John Bailey and Mrs. E. Partington.

QUEEN ELIZABETH SCHOOL

Dr. Donald Clark was speaker at the meeting of Queen Elizabeth Home and School Association Tuesday evening. He spoke on accidents and their prevention, particularly as regards the education of children. The doctor stated that more deaths are caused by accidents than from all diseases put together.

President Mrs. H. Rece thanked Dr. Clark who was introduced by Mrs. E. Limburger.

The school choir, under direction of Mr. W. Morrow, sang "Sleep Infant Divine."

Members decided to hold a rag collection, similar to the paper collections.

A social half hour followed the meeting with Mrs. K. Beeler's group in charge of refreshments.

Vicar Warns 75 English Couples Of Hazards Found In Marriage

ENFIELD, Middlesex, England (CP).—Seventy-five couples renewing their marriage vows at Enfield Parish Church were told by the vicar, Rev. J. B. Harington Evans, that some people should never consider matrimony.

"Given as many as 10 chances they would always choose the wrong partner, such is their approach," he said.

He advised the young couples to pay special heed to the pitfalls leading to shattered romances. Jealousy and an inclination to take a life's partner for granted were among the more common causes.

"There were many that were naturally attractive to the opposite sex. That, said Mr. Evans, was a compliment to the husband or wife of the person concerned, and it was wrong for either to express annoyance because of this appeal.

For those who were young but unable to have children, the vicar suggested the danger of a breakup on that score might be avoided by examining the possibilities of adoption.

Abundant Use Of Fabrics Found In Wedding Gowns

The traditional wedding gown is an accepted fact, this spring, for formal and informal brides alike. And its enchanting heirloom possibilities are enhanced, to the utmost, by lavish Princess and Empire styling, the abundant use of rich fabrics that are luxuriously accented by a wide variety of embroideries and lace trims.

Billowy, puffy, or soft-crushed sleeves, exaggerated decollete necklines, dramatic, lace-emphasized overskirts with graceful, sweeping skirts on floor-length gowns and scalloped hemlines on bouffant skirted street-length gowns combine to create an effect of superlative elegance.

The wide use of luxurious fabrics and trims includes such lilting and airy types as nylon tulle combined with the nylon ribbon lace embroidery and iridescent-beaded lace with rows of lace ruffles. A street-length gown in this light manner is of white embroidered lace in a princess style, with gores and a scalloped hemline serving to accentuate the smooth-flowing shoulder-to-hem lines.

Classic satin is also prominently featured for this spring's wedding gowns. Here, it might appear as a full-trained floor-length princess gown with the gleaming satin combined with a lace long-sleeved bodice that presents an Empire bolero look.

Also serving to heighten the romantic aspects of this season's bridal gowns are such eye-catching treatments, as, for example, a lace-edged scarf that creates an apron effect over the bouffant skirt of a floor-touching gown; lace panels that extend from the bodice into the train; a tulle greatcoat, that sweeps into a train designed over a strapless gown; and swag drapes at both the shoulder and hemline.

Church Choosing 8 CGIT For Camp

TORONTO, April 23 (CP). — Sixty-six girls and a staff of leaders from across Canada are scheduled to attend the first national Canadian Girls in Training camp at Kwasind, Ont., near Huntsville, July 8 to 19.

It was announced today at the annual meeting of the Board of Christian Education of the United Church of Canada that the United Church will be represented officially by eight girls, one from the Atlantic provinces as a group and one from each of the other provinces, and unofficially by other campers.

DOROTHY DIX

Should Loosen Apron String When Daughter Is Married

DEAR MISS DIX: I am a middle-aged woman, a widow for the past twenty years. My daughter and I have been very much together and have always done things for each other. Now she has been married a year, and I am living with them. Her mother-in-law comes to see us sometimes and she is trying to get my daughter and son-in-law to visit old friends of theirs. Do you think it is fair for her to ask them out and leave me home? I have very high blood pressure and the doctor says I shouldn't stay alone. Of course, I have brothers and sisters, and I still go to business, although my daughter would like me to stay home.

MRS. MARION F.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Marion, you are falling into that worst of all possible states—feeling sorry for yourself. As I see your situation, it is quite a pleasant one and you have nothing whatever to complain about. Your daughter and son-in-law are devoted to you, you have a nice home, and the comfortable assurance that your beloved child is happily married.

Your Condition Puzzling

I am a little puzzled by the fact that your high blood pressure does not prevent you from working, but does make it necessary for you to have someone with you always. The facts don't jibe. High blood pressure is no reason for invalidhood. A frank discussion with your doctor will allay most of the fears concerning this condition.

Your daughter is certainly entitled to an evening out with her husband alone. To try to monopolize all her time to the complete exclusion of her husband would be very selfish and inconsiderate of you. Since you have a job, brothers and sisters, you surely have no need either to tag along with the young folks or sit home by yourself and mope. You know other people with whom you can visit, you have other friends who will go to a movie with you. Make a life of your own.

You have an exceptionally devoted daughter and a fine son-in-law. Be grateful for them. When they go out for an evening, smile cheerfully and wish them a good time—and mean it. If you must spend the evening alone, you're not completely devoid of all means of self-amusement. With books, magazines, radio, television, mending, you have a good assortment of relaxing aids. Make use of them. Undoubtedly you will have to give up your position eventually. Build up as many inner resources as you can against that day. When you're home with your daughter all day, you surely don't want to turn into a whining, complaining creature.

Whatever you do Marion, don't sink into the abyss of self-pity. No human emotion is so wasteful. It saps all your energy and in return gives a full measure of discontent and unhappiness. Be independent, cheerful, busy, useful. Aren't they a worthwhile quartet of qualities to have? And the best of it is they're very easy to acquire and keep. Get a new lease on life with a change of outlook.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: What reason would you give for a boy of 20 jilting his supposed-to-be girl friend for another girl?

PENELOPE T.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: There is one very good reason why—he fell in love with the second girl and out of love with the first. There could, of course, be other reasons, but that's the most logical one. Did you hurt his feelings in any way? Or give him cause to think you weren't serious about him? Consider your own conduct before you judge his.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I'm a mother of two children, in my thirties and separated from my husband for two and a half years. I hear now that he is going out with other girls. It doesn't look as if we'll ever get together again. I don't feel that I want to stay separated the rest of my life. Do you think I should get married again. JOAN D. M.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: You mention "separation," Joan, not "divorce." If you haven't been legally divorced from one husband, you can't very well go ahead and plan the acquisition of another.

Why not get one mess completely cleared up before your affairs become too complicated? Make an earnest effort to be reconciled with your husband. If that doesn't work, wait for your freedom, then think about remarriage.

Friends Honor Couple On Anniversary

APSLEY, April 23 (ENS) — Mr. and Mrs. Steve McColl were surprised on the 27th anniversary of their marriage when a party of friends and neighbors gathered at their home for a social evening.

Progressive euchre was played with first prize going to Mr. Al. Davis and Mrs. Steve McColl. Consolation prizes were won by Mr. A. Goodson and Mrs. Burridge.

A beautiful gift was presented to them by neighbors as well as several individual gifts from friends.

Friends from Norwood and Apsley attended. Serving of lunch brought a pleasant evening to a close.

What's Right?

A friend gives you the recipe for one of her favorite dishes and you serve it to mutual friends who praise it highly.

WRONG: Keep quiet about the fact that the recipe was given to you by someone they all know.

RIGHT: Be quick to give your friend credit for the recipe.

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Ham Slices Baked In Milk On Special-Purpose Menu

Mid-Week Dinner for Guests

Mrs. N. Wants Stuffed Ham Baked in Milk—here's part of her letter: ". . . . I am wondering if you have a recipe for Sliced Ham with stuffing which is baked in milk . . . as a youngster I remember my mother serving this on special occasions, but unfortunately she has lost the recipe, and I am sure there must be more to it than this for it was so very tasty . . ."

I want to thank Mrs. N. for reminding me of this. After reading the letter I hunted through my files, but could not locate it until I thought of my school notebook, and sure enough there it was, hand-printed, by Lydia Bowes-Lyon, the teacher, decades ago.

Stuffed Ham Slice Baked in Milk
Glazed Sweet Potatoes
Broccoli with Drawn Butter Sauce
Cabbage and Parsley Slaw
Orange Bavarian
Coffee

Directions

For stuffing buy ½-inch thick slices of smoked ham. For each slice you will need ¾ cup stuffing. Here is enough for 2 slices:

1 cup, well-packed day-old breadcrumbs, ¼ cup finely chopped apple, ½ teaspoon grated lemon rind, 1 tablespoon butter, 1 tablespoon finely chopped parsley, ½ teaspoon salt, 1 tablespoon boiling water, and if desired, 1 tablespoon chopped raisins. Mix well, spread half of this on each slice, roll up, tie or skewer. Place in greased baking dish, sprinkle top of each roll with 1 tablespoon brown sugar mixed with 1 teaspoon mustard, pour 1½ cups milk around, cover and bake at 350 deg. Fahr. for 1½ hours.

Glazed Sweet Potatoes

Wash [illegible] and parboil [illegible] ing salted water until nearly tender. Drain, cut in lengthwise halves and place in buttered baking dish. Make syrup of ½ cup white or brown sugar and ¼ cup water boiled 3 minutes. Add 1 tablespoon butter. Drizzle this over all of the potatoes, and bake at 350 deg. Fahr. until brown, basting them twice.

Drawn Butter Sauce

Melt 4 tablespoons butter, stir in 3 tablespoons flour, then 1½ cups hot water until thick. Add ½ teaspoon salt, shake of pepper and 1 or 3 teaspoons lemon juice. Good on broccoli, Brussels sprouts or baked or boiled fish.

Orange Bavarian

Grated rind and juice of ½ lemon, ½ cup orange juice, one-third cup sugar, 2 eggs, 1 teaspoon gelatine, 1 tablespoon cold water. Mix lemon rind and juice, orange juice, sugar and egg yolks. Stir over boiling water until thick. Add gelatine which has been soaked in cold water. Remove from heat and fold into stiffly beaten whites. Stand in pan of ice water and beat until thick enough to begin to hold [illegible] sponge or plain cake. Chill. For special occasions mould in individual orange baskets (scraped out halves of orange skins).

War Welds Countries Together

OTTAWA, April 23 (CP) — Queen Juliana of the Netherlands said today that a "deep-rooted relationship" has developed out of the "strange fate" that has linked Canada with the Netherlands.

In a CBC international service broadcast beamed to Holland, the Queen recalled how Canadians had helped liberate the Dutch during the Second World War and how they now were helping in the absorption of thousands of immigrants.

"The meeting and the combination of the two peoples carries a further tendency toward freedom, immunity from any form of compulsmion, strength to carry one's own responsibility and to be unmoved in times of great distress."

One Forest Fire Burning In Ontario

TORONTO, April 23 (CP) — Ontario's lands department today reported only one forest fire burning. It is a two-acre blaze in the Chapleau district, near Sudbury, believed caused by a logging operation project. It is well under control.

The department warned that the fire hazard now will increase rapidly and continue to exist until the new vegetation develops.

Remember When—

By The Canadian Press

Nick Metz, great utility player with the Toronto Maple Leafs, announced his retirement from National League Hockey four years ago today. The wheat farmer from Wilcox, Sask., then 34 years old, was a potent factor in Toronto's Stanley Cup win in 1948. He had been on four league champion teams in his 12 N.H.L. playing seasons.

Hiccup Cure

GLASGOW, April 23 — (Reuters)— George Patterson will tell you that a mixture of mustard and cold water is the best cure for hiccups. George, who had been hiccupping for 10 days, tried 50 different methods before his ailment succumbed Tuesday to a drink of mustard and water.

Birds, Animals Individualistic As Human Beings

Birds and animals have as many individual characteristics as human beings, a Toronto naturalist told the Peterborough Nature Club Tuesday night.

Speaking at the club's April meeting in the Public Library, Dr. William Gunn said: "We are inclined to think of birds and animals of the same kind as being all the same. Once you get to know them, however, you see how individualistic they are."

Each song sparrow sings a different song and has two or three songs in his repertoire, said Dr. Gunn, who illustrated his remarks with sound recordings of the songs of robins, sparrows, woodcock and other numerous birds.

Recently Organized

Dr. Gunn, who is executive director and field representative of the Federation of Ontario Naturalists, outlined the activities and progress of the recently organized Conservation Council with which the Naturalists' Federaion and the Peterborough Nature Club are affiliated.

Appreciation of nature among children and adults is one of the council's fundamental aims, Dr. Gunn said. The council is made up of two delegates from 11 organizations which include agriculture, women's naturalists and hunters' and anglers' associations.

Dr. Gunn has spent considerable time in recent years studying the relation between weather and bird migrations.

He is currently working with the Ontario Department of Lands and Forests in assisting them in a project of banding woodcock. The woodcock, or snipe as it is sometimes called, is protected by the Game and Fisheries Act which restricts the shooting of the birds to an open seson of a for days and sets a bag limit on the number of birds that can be shot by one person.

Still Has Secrets

Little is known at present about the woodcock's migration routes or nesting habits, Dr. Gunn said, other than it is commonly seen around the edge of swamps and marshes.

Sound recordings of the woodcock are used to lure them into net traps so they can be banded. If enough birds can be banded, Dr. Gunn said, it will make it easier to gather information about their flight and mortality and migration habits.

Germany To Buy Wheat From Canada

FRANKFURT, Germany, April 23 (Reuters)—The West German government has contracted to purchase from Canada 350,000 tons of wheat from its total 1951-52 quota of 1,800,000 tons under the International Wheat Agreement, it was learned today.

The arrangement was concluded between officials of the two countries in London, where the international wheat council is in session. Shipment will be carried out within the next four or five months.

Small Towns

tary-manager of the Oshawa chamber, said that the basic reason a community wants an industry is for revenue. It means revenue for the city and for the merchants of the city.

When the chamber of commerce in a community makes out a survey of the advantages their town offers, there were many things that should be included.

Information Needed

The basic wage should be mentioned, as well as the available labor, male and female, urban and rural. Other factors that affected the decision of industry were: the tax rate, railway, highway, harbor, hydro, water and educational facilities. Worthwhile mentioning as well were religious facilities and the nearness of the community to the manufacturer's markets.

Of the industries now established in communities, Mr. McConkey said: "Look after their needs." Make a survey of them to discover their needs, and then "do your best to look after them".

Fish Spearing Charge

ORILLIA, April 23 (CP)—charged with illegal spear fishing, Clifford and Howard Bylow and George O'Brien were arrested Sunday after a chase by Game Warden Randy Haines. Haines said the men refused to stop at a sideroad where his car was parked. Haines said four pike were thrown out of the vehicle in which the men were driving.

Welfare Conference

OTTAWA, April 23 —(CP)— The Canadian Welfare Council will hold its 32nd annual meeting in Quebec City June 14, it was announced here today. The meeting will be immediately prior to the Canadian conference on social work which will begin June 15 and run for the rest of the week. GEN

Blame Reds For Massacre

FRANKFORT, April 23—(AP) —Diaries which ended abruptly in April, 1940, were cited Tuesday as proof the German army was not responsible for the massacre of 4,500 Polish officers in Katyn Forest.

Former German Gen. Rudolf von Gerrdorff told a U.S. Congressional Committee investigating the massacre that he had inspected personal documents taken from the mass graves.

"None of the diaries were dated later than the start of April, 1940," he said. "This was during the time when the Russians were at Katyn."

William John Robson

Funeral service for William John Robson, 426 London St., who died Saturday, was held Tuesday at 2 p.m. at the Belleghem funeral home.

The Rev. Ivan C. Morgan of Murray St. Baptist Church officiated. Burial was in Little Lake cemetery.

Flower bearers were Harold and Walter Dunford, Bruce Baker and Don Penrose.

Pallbearers were Stanley Scott, Bruce Scott, Herbert Jamieson, Robert Goodfellow, Jack Penrose and Jack Paul.

Former Missionary Practises In Lindsay

Dr. C. W. M. Service, former missionary, has opened a medical practice in Lindsay.

Dr. Service is one of five United Church missionaries whose resignations were accepted today by the church.

The remaining four are the Rev. Geoffrey G. Smith and the Rev. Norman H. Mackenzie, who served in West China Mission and Dr. R. E. Outerbridge who has entered medical practice in New Westminster, B. C.

'Alky' Drinker Given Three Months In Jail

Gilbert Jones, 57, and John King, 51, both men having no fixed address pleaded guilty in police court today to drinking rubbing alcohol.

King was fined $100 and $2.50 costs or three months in reformatory.

Jones was sentenced to three months on the charge and also pleaded guilty to two drunk charges and admitted prior convictions for drunkenness in each case. He was sentenced to one month on each of the two charges. The first one, charging him with being intoxicated in a public place November 22, is to run consecutively with the three month sentence and the second sentence for being drunk on April 19 is to run concurrently with the other sentences.

In sentencing Jones, Magistrate W. R. Philp recommended he be sent to Mimico for alcoholic treatment.

Two Canadian Plays Presented At Festival

TORONTO, April 23—(CP)— Two Canadian plays and one from England were presented Tuesday night at the second-night performance of the Central Ontario drama league's one-act play festival.

They were "They Meet Again" by Rica McLean Farquharson of Toronto, presented by Oakville Arts and Crafts, Inc., "The Voice of The People" by Robertson Davies, editor of The Peterborough Examiner, staged by Norvoc players of Toronto, and the British play, "The Late Mrs. Cordell," presented by the Westmount players of Hamilton.

Adjudicator Edward Thommen described the Davies play as a difficult satire, "deceptively simple on the printed page."

The non-competitive festival continues until Saturday.

Mayor To Mediate In Brantford Strike

BRANTFORD, April 23 (CP) —Mayor Howard E. Winter will meet Thursday with officials of the Robbins and Myers Company of Canada and union representatives of local 397, United Automobile Workers (C.I.O.-C.C.L.) in an effort to settle a 17-day-old strike.

It will be the first attempt to negotiate between management and union since the walkout April 7 over failure to settle terms for a new collective bargaining agreement. About 250 workers are affected.

Red Patch Club Hopes For Hydro At Vets' Camp

Next stage in developing the Red Patch convalescent camp at Eel's Creek is to bring hydro into the camp from the main highway.

Volunteer workers on the 18-acre camp, south of Apsley, hope to do the wiring next week. Internal wiring will also be done in the main lodge.

The camp is a recreation centre for veterans—primarily for Red Patchers but other ex-service people will also be allowed use of its facilities. It has been the main project of the Red Patch Club (Veterans of the Canadian 1st divisions in the First and Second World Wars) for the past couple of years. Every spare dollar earned by the club has been earmarked for improving the camp.

Begin Cabins

The main lodge is now up and work is beginning on five one-room cabins. They will be finished this summer and ready for use by veterans during the holiday season.

Sites have also been picked for the children's bathing beach and playground.

Two pending improvements: installation of steel steps leading from the main lodge to the creek; and installation of an electric pump to bring up water from the creek.

All work done on the camp is volunteer labor. The work is supervised by President Leo Herr and Fred Marsden, a qualified carpenter.

Oil Just One Of Resources Pressing Canada's Growth

What oil means to Canada as a nation and to the country's status in world economy was outlined by R. S. Ritchie, coordination and economics department, Imperial Oil Co.

Mr. Ritchie was guest speaker at the dinner meeting of the Peterborough Regional Conference of 24 boards of trade and chambers of commerce of the district, held at the Empress Hotel Tuesday night.

"The future for Canadians is inevitably a [illegible] of growth," Mr. Ritchie said. "Oil is only one of many resource developments that is making this growth inevitable."

Developing Market

Mr. Ritchie outlined what has happened to Canada in the past few years to substantiate this claim. Canada used to be a poor second-rater to the United States. There is a changing situation today. Canada is turning from a primarily agricultural nation to an increasingly industrial one with a market of its own.

"The Canadian dollar is now one of the hardest dollars in the world," the speaker said. "At present Canada is making a very respectable defence effort and also carrying out a great program of resource development. The result is that there is an increasing desire to invest in Canadian resources."

Using the development of the country oil resources to illustrate something greater that is happening to Canada, Mr. Ritchie outlined oil and Canada's growth under three headings—what it means to the area involved; what it means and what it may mean to Canada as a whole; and what is means and what it may mean to the North American continent as a whole.

Approach of Industry

Oil development in the western prairies has meant a gradual introduction of industry into the area. It has also turned its agriculture into mechanized agricultural through the comparatively low cost of oil.

In Canada, development of this resource along with the many other resources has resulted in a growing economy with the whole national productivity rising at an amazing rate. In the future it will mean greater prosperity and may mean full employment.

Buying petroleum products has always been a great outside bill for Canada. As the country has been able to supply more of its own oil consumption, the strength of the Canadian dollar has increased, and will increase with continuing development of oil and other resources.

Helping Economy

The development of oil and other resources is also diminishing one of the country's greatest drawbacks—lack of economic integration. Formerly Canada tended to have four or more economies instead of one. Resource development is helping to alleviate the lack of economic unity, by linking Western and Eastern Canada in a seller-buyer relationship.

In the continental picture, this expanding development in Canada is also having an extremely beneficial effect. United States and Canada are the largest consumers of oil of any countries in the world. As a result both countries are strengthened by Canada's oil.

The United States has had to pay a high price for its high standard of living—the using up of all its natural resources. Now it is looking to Canada to tap new resources.

Mr. Ritchie explained that Prairie oil has filled the Prairie market, partially filled the Ontario market, and is now beginning to fill the British Columbia market. This means that new markets are being sought.

Three Markets

At present there are three untapped markets, the United States Pacific northwest, the Minneapolis area, and Montreal. All of these potential markets present the problem of building extensive pipelines. In addition, all but Montreal are now without refining capacities. However, there is optimism that such difficulties can be overcome and that Canada will be able to find new markets for its oil.

In conclusion, Mr. Ritchie pointed out that the high measure of investment in Canada's resources development should not cause alarm. It is good business.

"The confidence shown in our country by this outside investment and the growing success of resources development program is the world's best advertisement for free enterprise," he said.

Mr. Ritchie was introduced by E. McKeel of the Campbellford Chamber of Commerce and thanked by Max Humphries of the Hastings Chamber of Commerce. Chairman for the dinner was C. A. Pollock, Ontario vice-president of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce.

Millbrook Choir Stages Operetta At Havelock

HAVELOCK, April 23—(ENS)—The choir of Millbrook United Church will visit Havelock on May 2 to present their musical comedy, "The Sunbonnet Girl." This entertainment has been produced three times in Millbrook to packed houses and in addition has been presented in Bailieboro, Centreville and Cavan. It will be sponsored here by the senior choir of Havelock United Church.

OBITUARY

JOHN FREDERICK ELLIOTT

NORWOOD, April 23— (ENS)—A lifetime resident of Norwood and district John Frederick Elliott, 84, died Wednesday at his home here following a short illness.

Mr. Elliott was born in Asphodel township, son of the late George Elliott and Mary Anne Findlay and for many years farmed.

He was a member of the Norwood United Church, and an elder of the congregation. He was also a former member of the Norwood School Board. He was a life member of the Royal Black Preceptory Lodge, No. 311

He leaves his wife, the former Alice Mary Squire; one son, Frank of East Aurora, New York; one daughter, Miss Lillian Elliott of Arnprior and one sister, Mrs. Alex Clarke (Margaret) of Norwood.

The funeral will be held Friday at 2.30 p.m. from the Norwood United Church. The Rev. H. K. Wright of Norwood United church will conduct the service.

Blacklist Firms

BONN, Germany, April 23 — The U. S. Hugh Commission has blacklisted 61 West German firms suspected of selling strategic material to Soviet-block nations. American officials said the Bonn government plans to prosecute some of the firms for violation of currency and export regulations if the illegal trade charges are confirmed.

Statistics Tricky

LONDON, April 23 — (Reuters)—Statistics, says Lord Hollenden, 67-year-old President of Britain's Wholesale Textile Association, are like a Bikini bathing suit. "What they reveal is suggestive — but what they conceal is vital, he told the association's banquet in London last night.

"HEY, PARSONS! WHERE'S QUEBEC CITY?" a raw recruit to harness racing, Roll-o-Mite, (left) asked stable mate Parsons, a veteran racer owned by Hugh Davis, for directions. Nicknamed Jim, Roll-o-mite, owned by Harold Varcoe, will be making his racing debut in Quebec, likely in June. Three weeks ago the horses moved into the exhibition park stables from Dufferin in Toronto, but they left Tuesday for the opening events in Quebec City May 2. Eleven horses, owned by Harold Varcoe, Hugh Davis and R. B. Russell, were transported by train.—(Examiner Staff Photo).

English Throughout World Observe St. George's Day

By HARRY ECCLES,
Canadian Press Staff Writer.

Special significance attaches this year to the celebrations of St. George's Day today, as Englishmen the world over mark the feast day of England's patron saint.

The passing of a beloved monarch, George VI, and the accession of youthful Queen Elizabeth only a few weeks ago linked all the Commonwealth and Empire in a great [illegible]ration of loyalty.

The great day however is really for the English and the historic toast of "St. George for England" is heard wherever England's sons and daughters gather for celebrations.

In Peterborough the Anglo-Canadian Club has planned no special celebration today.

The day has been marked in England since 1222, and has been observed in Canada for two centuries. There was a great St. George's Day gathering in Halifax in 1750, and another at Toronto in 1822. Since then the anniversary has been celebrated each year in many Canadian communities, large and small.

Greek Christian

It's more than the feast day of St. George, born a Greek Christian in A.D. 270 and executed on April 23, A.D. 303, for vigorously opposing the Roman Emperor Diocletian in the latter's policy of persecuting the Christians. It's also the anniversary of the birth and death of William Shakespeare, and of the British navy's historic raid on Zeebrugge in 1918.

St. George himself stands as a symbol of courage and chivalry in many ancient lands. He rose to high military rank under Diocletian, and his association with England began when he was sent there on an imperial mission. After strenuously protesting Diocletian's harsh policies he resigned his commission, but was arrested and put to death.

For centuries the cry "St. George for Merrie England," was a rallying call for English armies on the field of battle, as at Crecy and Agincourt in the 14th century. It was used again by Admiral Sir Roger Keyes to signal the start of the Zeebrugge action in which nine Victoria Crosses were won.

Patron of Kingdom

The popularity of St. George in England has been mounting slowly over the centuries. Although his feast day was designated a national festival by the Council of Oxford in 1222, it was not until the reign of Edward II between 1307 and 1327 that he was named as patron of the kingdom.

Since then the celebration of his feast day has grown to rival the observances of the other British patron saints—Patrick of Ireland, Andrew of Scotland and David of Wales.

Fall Below Quota

VIENNA, April 23 — (AP)—Czechoslovakia's foreign trade under the five-year plan reached only 65 per cent of its quota for the first quarter of 1952, Prague radio said Tuesday night. It quoted a report of the Communist State office in Prague. Industry as fulfilled by 98.1 per cent —"with shortcomings in production of hard coal, iron, steel and rolled metals."

Ontario Most Progressive C. of C. Should Give Help

"Ontario is the most progressive province. Through the Ontario Chamber of Commerce it can and will become the most vocal and most coherent province in Canada."

J. J. Stuart of Windsor, President of the Ontario Chamber of Commerce urged support of the Ontario Chamber of Commerce in a luncheon address at the Peterborough Regional Conference of chambers of commerce and boards of trade held in the Empress hotel Tuesday.

"Our task is to increase Ontario's strength; to work with the government but not to be directed by the government," he said. "Our task is to speak for business in Ontario—all business but especially little business. Our task is to promote the livelihood of all who live in the province."

Government Spending

The Ontario president emphasized that one of the major questions the chamber of commerce should take into consideration at all levels is the rising cost of government spending. He quoted Dr. J. R. Petrie, former director of research, Canadian Tax Foundation who said recently that government expenditures are a major factor in the inflation of the price level and must be checked. It is futile to talk of curbing inflation while letting government expenditures go their way.

Mr Stuart said that already the Canadian chamber had a statement prepared on federal fiscal policy and that the provincial chamber proposes to develop one on the provincial basis.

Turning to the growth and development of the chamber of commerce movement in Canada, the speaker outlined the three levels of organization in the country—local, provincial and national.

Strength In Small Groups

"The strength of the movement lies in the local level—in the local chambers and boards of trade across Canada," he said. "They are the basic and fundamental unit which determine the policies. These 700 groups in the country represent all the business and professional men in Canada."

He called the local units effective forces for the good of their communities. Primarily they look after the interests of commerce and industry, but never lose sight of the welfare and the interests of all the citizens. At the same time they give attention to provincial and national affairs.

"I think there are many in our communities who accept the local chamber of commerce without fully realizing its purpose or importance and consider it just something to pay lip service to," he said.

The Ontario chamber has two main purposes, Mr. Stuart continued. It provides a liaison between the local chambers and boards and Queen's Park. And it works with the Canadian chamber in stimulating the chamber movement in Ontario.

New Constitution

Since a new constitution was drawn up for the Ontario chamber on Jan. 1, this year, the membership of the Ontario chamber has increased 50 per cent. At present there are 89 members in the province and the objective is 150 before the end of May.

The Ontario chamber has established office and staff and developed organization plans. Legislation bulletins have been sent out and policies developed on pertinent provincial matters, which will be presented to cabinet ministers.

Nationally the Canadian Chamber of Commerce is a federation of 700 boards and chambers in the country. This national organization speaks effectively for local boards and chambers on national problems with a field staff from coast to coast working in the interests of business and professional men and the welfare of Canada. Many prominent men devote their time for this work, Mr. Stuart explained.

Gets Local Support

Financially the chamber is supported by fees from local boards and chambers and donations from business firms, who have no voice but appreciate what the chamber is doing.

"Those of us who are devoting time to the Chamber of Commerce movement across Canada believe that it is and can continue to be an effective force for the welfare of Canada," Mr. Stuart concluded. "We hope regional conferences such as this one will help fellow businessmen in further developing local boards and chambers and strengthen the position of the provincial and national organizations so that they may continue to speak effectively in their respective fields."

The speaker was introduced by K. V. Burkett of the Tweed Chamber of Commerce and thanked by James Hogan of the Stirling Chamber of Commerce. Chairman of the luncheon was A. McLean Haig, director, Ontario Chamber of Commerce.

IT WAS LUCKY no one was inside this auto with the flattened top. Owner Andre Harris, of Lac St. Francois, Que., explains that he left his small sedan parked at the curb and when he returned—this is what he found. Police said another car, believed to be stolen, crashed into the parked auto, rolling it over to pancake its top.

BEATEN BY GUNMEN — William Hendrik, Grand Dragon of the Ku Klux Klan and announced candidate for governor of Florida, is shown in Hialeah, Fla., after his release by "kidnappers." Hendrix claims he was forced into a car at gunpoint by three men, beaten and then thrown from the moving car.

Record Suicide Rate

TOKYO, April 23 (AP) — Japan's suicide rate, always high, set a record last year. Police today listed 22,622 suicides in 1951 —27 for each 100,000 Japanese. Police said the previous high was 22 per 100,000 established in the depression of the late 1920s and reached again in 1937, the year the China war began.

50th Anniversary

NELSON, B.C., April 23 (CP)— The Nelson Daily News Tuesday celebrated its 50th anniversary. The News said its position among dailies in Canada is unique in that it is the only newspaper with a circulation bigger than the population of the city in which it is printed. Circulation is nearly 9,000, the population of Nelson about 7,000.

Mutineers Agree To End Riot; Fight Own Ranks

JACKSON, Mich., April 24. (AP)—Tense Southern Michigan Prison convicts agreed today to end their riotous five-day revolt, but several hours later were reported still battling among themselves. A tough prisoner who bolted the convict-stronghold cell block 15 as a hostage guard was released reported fist-fighting and kicking among nearly 200 convicts left inside. Kenneth Moore, 26, also told prison officials that a verbal battle over leadership of the insurrection was still going on between the convicts' two top men—Earl Ward and Leamington, Ont.-born Jack (Crazy Jack) Hyatt.

The information from inside was that eight hostage guards still were safe.

It was to get the guards out of the power of the knife-wielding rioters that Governor G. Mennen Williams and prison heads gave in early today to the prisoners' reform demands—and threw in a steak dinner besides.

Dashes Out

Moore dashed from the cell block with his hands in the air as the big steel doors swung open to free 34-year-old guard James Akins, in a state of nervous collapse after long days as a hostage.

Copies of morning papers carrying accounts of the agreement were passed into the cell block early today, and an hour later there had been no reaction from the convicts.

Actual surrender of the grim, five-tiered cellblock with its solitary confinement holes was not expected before Friday morning.

Governor Williams gave in to the mutineers' demands, he said, "to effect the release of the hostages and the cessation of resistance."

The convicts' complaints included charges of brutality, overcrowding, lack of proper segregation and medical care and inadequate parole procedure.

Modify Demand

A no-reprisal demand was modified by Governor Williams to a pledge of no reprisals by guards or other prison personnel.

The Governor's capitulation came after tense hours when the lives of guards hung in balance against the mounting rage of the convicts barricaded in the cell block.

Fear for their lives was heightened when Jack (Crazy Jack) Hyatt emerged to take command of the mutiny. The quick-tempered long-term convict from Leamington, Ont., once seized Governor Williams at knife-point as an escape shield at another prison.

The mutiny began Sunday night in cell block 15, where the worst desperadoes in the 6,500 man prison were serving isolation terms for defiance of prison rules.

Queen Juliana Pays Surprise Visit To Settlers

HAMILTON, April 24—(CP)—Queen Juliana of the Netherlands arrived here today in a surprise visit to district Dutch settlers and immigrants.

Her R.C.A.F. plane from Ottawa touched down at nearby Mount Hope airport at 10:45 a.m. EST.

Sqdn. Ldr. Tony Golab, former football star and now commanding officer at the R.C.A.F. station at Mount Hope, received the Queen and her party.

Queen Juliana immediately proceeded to the E. D. Smith cannery, which employs a number of Dutch immigrants, to see "my people at work without disturbing them."

Details of her visit had been kept secret until the last minute. From the cannery, she planned to lunch at the Casa Blanca Inn outside Hamilton. Her program for the afternoon called for a visit to the Grimsby Ridge farm, which also employs a number of workers from the Netherlands.

To Visit Wolfe Island

The Queen will spend the night in the Hamilton area and Friday will proceed to Wolfe Island near Kingston, Ont., where again she will discuss living conditions with immigrants.

Two R.C.A.F. planes carrying the Queen, her party and reporters left Ottawa at 8:30 a.m., EST. The planes circled Niagara Falls so that the Queen might see the falls and then looped back to Mount Hope airport.

Before taking off the Queen, asked camermen and newspapermen to use their discretion in describing her visit to the settlers and immigrants.

She said the main reason for her trip is to see how her people are getting along and to witness actual living and working conditions.

For the trip she wore a black and white checked woollen suit with white frilly blouse and low black shoes. She wore a white off-the-face feathered hat and no jewelry.

Want Voice In Meyer Future

OTTAWA, April 24 (CP) — Canada is discussing the question of Canadian representation on any international clemency court which might reconsider the case of Maj.-Gen. Kurt Meyer.

The discussion is going on with British authorities.

Such courts are due to be established after the German peace treaty comes into effect next month and are expected to consist of German, American, British and French members.

Any unanimous decision by the courts would apparently be binding on the country whose prisoner is under consideration.

Canada now is discussing her right to be represented on any court which might review the case of Meyer, wartime German S.S. general sentenced to life for the deaths of 18 Canadian prisoners-of-war, and the case of Johann Neitz, a sailor sentenced to 21 years for shooting a Canadian prisoner.

Top Military Scientists To Attend Conference

OTTAWA, April 24 — (CP). — Top military scientists from Canada, Britain and the United States will open a six-day conference in Kingston, April 28, Army Headquarters announced today.

Some 50 military scientists will attend to discus army operational research and will spend three days at Kingston's Royal Military College and three days in Ottawa.

Among the visiting scientists will be H. A. Sergeaunt, deputy scientific advisor to the British Army Council, and Dr. Ellis Johnson, director of the Operations Research Office of the U.S. Department of the Army.

Canada will be represented by senior Canadian Army and Defence Research Board officials.

Two previous scientific military research conferences were held in London and Washington.

Steel Manufacturers Renew Battle To Get Mills Back

WASHINGTON, April 24 (AP)—Private owners of the steel industry went back to the courts today seeking an order to force government surrender of their mills.

The action came on the heels of an order by Economic Stabilizer Roger Putnam raising steel prices about $3 a ton—only a fourth of what the industry claimed it needs to pay for government-suggested pay boosts.

Lawyers for leading steel firms pressed for a preliminary injunction from Judge David A. Pine to end government seizure ordered by President Truman 16 days ago.

Justice department counsel were prepared to oppose the plea. They had successfully staved off earlier industry efforts in the courts.

The industry felt its case was strengthened, however, by the fact that the government had since plainly stated it will override industry objections and impose a pay boost for the 650,000 members of Philip Murray's United Steelworkers of America (C.I.O.)

The U.S. Chamber of Commerce declaring Truman violated three separate articles of the constitution in seizing the steel plants, said the President may be "Commander-in-Chief," but this means command of the armed forces—"not the command of the people of the United States."

"If that were not true," said the Chamber in testimony prepared for a Senate judiciary sub-committee, "then the President could become a dictator overnight and every American, from the cradle to the grave, could be made to goose-step."

The Truman administration was taking its time about ordering pay increases in the seized industry. The latest word was that they won't come until next week.

Putnam insisted that working out the pay boost was a time-consuming job. Neither he nor Secretary of Commerce Sawyer, government boss of the seized industry, would give a hint as to how much the expected pay boost will be.

Some quarters suggested Truman may be delaying the pay-raising action in hope the furor in Congress over his seizure order may die down or that the industry and union may reach a contract agreement on their own. Neither seemed likely.

Pay Parade Money Stolen By Soldier

Million Yen Taken By Veteran While Troops Paid

KURE, Japan, April 24. (AP)—Canadian authorities today sought a Korean war veteran in connection with the theft of an envelope containing 1,000,000 yen in Japanese currency during a Canadian pay parade. The currency is worth $2,780.

Army authorities identified the suspect as Pte. J. E. N. Charette, 25, of Montreal.

An army board of inquiry investigated the incident. Military police and Japanese civilian police searched for Charette throughout the Kure area.

The theft, about noon Wednesday, was not spotted until the pay officer reached for another bundle of notes—about the size of dollar bills—and found it gone.

Lt.-Col. O. A. Tilley of the Australian Army, Commonwealth information officer, said the men had been paid in military currency earlier in the day. Then they lined up in a second line to convert a portion of their cash into Japanese yen for local use.

About 25 men were lined up when the pay officer spotted his loss.

The notes were in 1,000-yen denominations. The bundle of 1,000 of them was about four inches thick.

Urges Election In South Africa

CAPETOWN, April 24 (Reuters)— Group Capt. A. G. (Sailor) Malan, leader of the Torch Commando, today appealed to the South African government to submit to an election "to obtain the people's mandate for the steps they propose to take."

(An election is due in South Africa next year. The government currently is involved in a controversy over its racial and constitutional policy.)

Malan appealed to the government "to turn from the dangerous path they are treading before it is too late."

The Torch Commando, formed by ex-servicemen last June, is dedicated to the removal of Prime Minister Daniel Malan's Nationalist government and in particular to fight his policy of racial segregation.

Two Security Controls Kept After Settlement

BONN, Germany, April 24 — (AP). — The Western powers will scrap all but two security controls on West Germany's vast industrial machine after the Germans sign a peace settlement and join the European army, an Allied oficial said today.

Controls to be retained would ban German production of atomic and bacteriological weapons, poison gas and guided missiles, and would permit German production of other weapons only when ordered by the controlling authority of the European army.

A German government spokesman said today that negotiators working out final details for the European army treaty plan tentatively to have it ready for initialling on May 3 and for signature in Paris 10 days later.

The treaty will set up a European defence community of France, West Germany, Italy, Belgium, The Netherlands, and Luxembourg.

Report Famine Sweeps Kwantung Province

HONG KONG, April 24. (AP) — Dispatches from Communist China today confirmed that famine was sweeping the southern province of Kwang-Tung. A Canton dispatch to the independent Kung Sheung daily news said 34,000 peasants in five counties of the east river area of Kwangtung have no food. It also said hundreds of farmers had used seed grain for food and had nothing to plant.

Report 10,000 Young Communists Massing On Border Of Berlin For Gigantic March

BERLIN, April 24 — (AP).—Young Communists, estimated at upwards of 10,000 strong, massed tonight on the East-West border of downtown Berlin for what appeared to be a gigantic propaganda march on West Berlin.

Dominated by blue-shirted "Free German Youth," the crowds were being assembled toward the end of the work day at strategic border points for an apparent twilight march into British, American, and French sectors.

Several Germans who talked to the early gatherers said the aim seemed to be a sudden surge with banners and leaflets into the West, demanding a "peace treaty" and German unity.

West Berlin police warned their squadrons against possible trouble. Communists have bristled into the West in the past, but not in the numbers expected this time.

Truman Says Ultimatum Forced Russians From Iran, State Department In Dither

WASHINGTON, April 24. (AP)—President Truman said today he sent an ultimatum to Premier Stalin and forced Russian troops out of Iran in 1946, but the White House said later the President was using the term ultimatum in a "non-technical, layman sense." Roger Tubby, assistant presidential press secretary, called in reporters nearly three hours after Truman's press conference statement to give them a clarification. Tubby said Truman did not send a note to Stalin that led to the Russian evacuation, and that the President had been speaking in layman's language.

Tubby added:

"On March 6, 1946, a note was sent from the U.S. government to the Soviet government making our position perfectly plain with respect to the situation in Iran. This not was published on March 7. As you probably recall, the Russians withdrew their troops from Iran, in May, 1946."

Tubby was a press officer in the state department before he was attached to the White House.

Disturbed State Dept.

There appeared to be reasons for reporters to infer that the state department had been disturbed by the president's remarks.

To diplomats, the term "ultimatum" is the last word. It means telling some one your position in an "or-else-we-go-to-war" fashion.

Truman had told reporters he was ready to back up his ultimatum with American troops and ships.

The President also told a press conference that there was a time when Yugoslavia decided to take Trieste, but that he ordered the U.S. Mediterranean fleet into that area and there was no march on Trieste.

Truman spoke of these incidents in discussing his powers generally and specifically his seizure of the steel industry.

He said the President has very great inherent powers to meet emergencies developing that require action.

Last Thursday, Truman was asked this question:

"Mr. President, if you can seize the steel mills under your inherent powers, can you, in your opinion, also seize the newspapers or/and the radio stations?"

Truman replied that under similar circumstances, the President of the United States has to act for whatever is for the best of the country. "That's the answer to your question," he added.

In reverting to the matter today, Truman said the thought of seizing the press and radio never occurred to him.

He went on to say he seized the steel industry because this country is in the midst of the greatest emergency it has ever had.

It was then he told his press conference:

That in 1945 he had to send an ultimatum to the head of the Soviet Union to get out of Persia (Iran).

They got out, Truman said of the Russians, because the U.S. was in a position then to meet the situation in that area.

Later, the president went on, Yugoslavia decided to take Trieste. He said he thought that was 1946.

He said he not only ordered the Mediterranean fleet into that area, but told General Eisenhower to send three divisions to northern Italy.

Truman commented there was no march on Trieste.

LEADS REBELS — "Crazy" Jack Hyatt of Leamington, Ont., usurped control in the Jackson, Mich. prison riot, Wednesday night. The mutineers agreed to end their revolt today. Hyatt's first sentence for automobile theft was served at Kingston penitentiary.

Teaches Fish Come To Meals

WELLINGTON, N. Z., April 24 (Reuters). — Tourists returning from remote Marlborough Sounds today produced a photograph of a man who claims he trained 15 mackerel and 85 cod to swim into shore each night to be fed.

The fish have learned it is chow time when W. Ker wades out into the water at nightfall, the tourists said. The fish swim alongside him, raise their heads and wait for the food Ker drops to them.

The mackerel—known locally as schnapper—which Ker says are easily identified by their markings, vary in weight from six-pound "Little Bella" to 24-pound "Hector."

About four years ago Ker began throwing shell fish into the waters of the bay. First to get the idea of the free dinner service were the blue cod. Then about a year ago the schnapper got in on the act.

The fish became tamer each year until Ker could put his hand in the water to feed them. Some months ago he also discovered they would allow themselves to be picked up.

To Lower Wreath

HALIFAX, April 24 — (CP) — The aircraft carrier Magnificent went to sea today to lower a wreath at the spot where seven navy fliers died in an air accident last Thursday. The airmen lost their lives when their two Avenger aircraft apparently collided during night exercises.

Soft-Collared Shirts Ruining American Men 5th Avenue Tailor Sees Nation Of Slobs

WASHINGTON, April 24 — (AP).—Ray Twyeffort, a Fifth Avenue tailor, says American men "have become a nation of bums and slobs because of slovenly dress."

He's upset particularly by the soft-collared shirts worn by so many officials and diplomats.

"When we took the starch out of our collars we took the starch out of our backbones," Twyeffort told a reporter after attending a business conference here.

"Morals, manners and etiquette have disappeared," he declared. "Men go without hats and ties. Women rush to work wearing babushkas, looking like Russian peasants. Ugh!"

Twyeffort, dresed in double-breasted waistcoat, striped sack suit, black homburg — and starch colar — said that in a country of capitalists you should look like a capitalist, as he does.

Asked whether a can should be carried with his outfit, he said no, "to stuffy."

Strychnine Given As Medicine

Porter Orders Inquest After Autopsy Report Received

TORONTO, April 24. (CP)—Ontario's chief coroner said today a young Winnipeg air force woman died of strychnine poisoning in Sunnybrook military hospital here April 17.

Dr. Smirle Lawson said the strychnine apparently was given to LAW. Lottie Macura, 27, by mistake for medicine. The girl died three hours after admission to hospital.

Attorney-General Dana Porter of Ontario ordered an inquest after being advised of the autopsy report.

Further details were not immediately available.

Flood Sweeps Across Airfield

KANSAS CITY, April 24 (AP). —The army lost a heart breaking battle against the swirling Missouri river at Sherman Air Force Field Wednesday night.

For 10 days troops, aided at times by civilians, fought the river raising the dikes ahead of the surging water. Then the river levelled off at its record crest. It looked like the worst was over.

But shortly after eight o'clock Wednesday night the Missouri pounded a hole in a dike at the southeast corner of the field. It widened rapidly and in 48 minutes a 10½ foot wall of water had swept over the $3,500,000 field.

Only about 75 men were on the dikes at the time. All got out safely. Airplanes and other equipment had been removed days ago.

As the Missouri's crest moved on, army engineers gave assurances Kansas City can take it this time.

They said their experienced flood fighters were ready for any emergency.

Dr. James Endicott May Lose Passport

OTTAWA, April 24 (CP). — Dr. James Endicott may have his Canadian passport cancelled when he returns from a speaking tour in Communist China.

External Affairs Minister Pearson told a Commons committee today that such action would be considered if the Toronto cleric was properly reported on his recent statements involving Canada in alleged germ warfare in Korea.

Mr. Pearson said Dr. Endicott would be asked, on his return, if he stated publicly in China that Canada and other United Nations countries were waging germ warfare.

The reported statement was "damnable" and "most dangerous to peace," said John Diefenbaker (P.C.-Lake Centre) who questioned Mr. Pearson.

The minister said he agreed fully and could not think of a word suitable to describe the reported charges.

Town Presents Rose To Queen; Old Custom

HUNGERFORD, Berkshire, April 24. (Reuters)—The Queen Wednesday observed a 600-year-old ceremony in this quaint little town and went away with a red rose for her buttonhole.

The Queen, 26 three days ago, arrived in a car driven by her husband, the Duke of Edinburgh. Princess Margaret was with her.

The party was only passing through the town. But because the lord of the manor once gave its inhabitants fishing rights in his river it is Hungerford's custom to give thanks in the form of one red rose to any monarch making a visit.

John of Gaunt, son of King Edward III and Duke of Lancaster, was the man who gave local folk trout-fishing rights in the Kennet River in the 14th century. Since that day, whenever a reigning monarch has passed through, Hungerford has paid its tribute with a rose. It was last presented to the late King George VI in 1948.

$5,000,000 Blaze Sweeps Vancouver Port

VANCOUVER, April 24. (CP)—Fire knifed through industries and installations along Vancouver's waterfront Wednesday with a fury which caused damage estimated at between $3,000,000 and $5,000,000. A final estimate may not be available for days, until insurance adjusters are able to probe through destroyed or damaged warehouses, grain elevators and jetties, railway stock and loading equipment. The destruction branded the blaze as the worst in Vancouver's history. It flared at 11:45 a.m. PST (2:45 p.m. EST) in the heart of "grain row"—about a mile east of the downtown area—and stabbed uncontrolled for three hours.

Report Short-Circuit

While investigators have made no announcement, workmen said it started when a freight train shunting on the United Grain Growers Ltd. pier struck a welding generator and caused a short-circuit.

Some dock workers, flames at their heels, escaped only by putting out in small boats, but there were no civilian casualities.

Ten of the force of nearly 500 firefighters were temporarily overcome by smoke from the wind-driven fire or received minor injuries.

The fire destroyed a warehouse owned by United Grain Growers and heavily damaged the adjoining warehouse of Buckerfields Ltd. which was stored with feed grain and chemical fertilizers.

E. E. Buckerfield, president of Buckerfields Ltd., set his loss at $1,500,000. Loss to United Grain Growers was expected to be at least equal that figure.

Stocks Ablaze

The main United Grain Growers elevators were saved, but in some huge stocks of wheat caught fire. Concrete walls of the elevator halted the spread of the flames.

In addition, five freight cars loaded with grain were destroyed, as well as more than 150 feet of the gallery pier from which grain ships are loaded, and more than 300 feet of jetty.

A warehouse of the Vancouver Brage Transportation Company, in which were housed tons of fertilizer, hay and general cargo, received water damage.

Superstructures of the Norwegian freighters Sandanger and Vinni were scorched by the intense heat before tugs were able to pull them to open water.

Winds Shift

Great clouds of smoke, rising 3,000 feet or more into the air, hampered firemen as they worked in night-like darkness. A fortu-

Find Cyanide In Creek Where Cattle Poisoned

TORONTO, April 24 (CP). — Sodium cyanide, a deadly poison sometimes used in electro-plating processes, was blamed today for the deaths Tuesday of three cattle that died after drinking from Black Creek in suburban North York township.

Analysis of water from the creek today disclosed presence of the cyanide. North York township police together with health department officials are trying to trace the origin of the poison which authorities said may have entered the creek from a sewer system.

Prof. L. Joslyn Rogers, provincial analyst who analyzed the water, said he found a considerable quantity of cyanide in it.

Flames Kill Baby In Crib, Parents Escape

TORONTO, April 24 (CP) — Michael Lafontaine, 11 months, burned to death in his crib early today in a fire which destroyed his parents' home at suburban Long Branch.

The parents, Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Lafontaine, almost lost their lives trying to reach their only son who was in a cot surrounded by fire.

Room In Flames

"My wife woke me up and our bedroom was a mass of flames," said young Mr. Lafontaine "Michael lay only a few feet away in the next room, but between us there was a wall of fire."

Molly Lafontaine, 22, said she didn't know how the fire started.

"I smelled smoke," she said. "I woke up and jumped out of bed and the flames seemed to be lapping all around—even on the lake side of the cottage."

The dwelling is on the shore of Lake Ontario.

Mrs. Lafontaine came to Toronto from London, England, four years ago with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Oram, now in Timmins.

The Lafontaine house is one of the few spared from destruction in the floods which swept the western end of the village a month ago.

Boyd Brothers Given Remand

TORONTO, April 24 (CP) — Edwin Alonzo Boyd and his brother Norman, shackled to each other, appeared in court today and were remanded without bail to May 1.

Edwin, 37, faces 11 charges ranging from armed robbery, escaping custody and conspiracy to rob to possession of an offensive weapon and auto theft.

Norman is charged with aiding his brother's escape, conspiracy to rob and armed robbery.

Joseph Lesso, 47-year-old father of slaying suspect Steve Suchan, was remanded to May 15 on charges of harboring an escaped convict. He now is free on $15,000 bail.

Suchan was charged with murder in connection with the death of Sergeant of Detectives Edmund Tong.

Hoax Proves Costly

SCHENECTADY, N.Y., April 24 —(AP)—General Electric officials said today about 11,000 man-hours of production have been lost because of two anonymous bomb tips that proved to be a hoax. Output of electronic tubes was cut off Wednesday and Tuesday when workers were sent home as a precautionary measure. Security police found nothing.

Won't Punish UK Parents For Giving Baby To Star

LONDON, April 24 — (AP). — A London magistrate, commenting that buxom movie star Jane Russell "must be a very, very nice woman" refrained today from punishing parents who let Miss Russell have their baby son.

Sir Laurence Dunne, chief London magistrate, was told the movie star is adopting the boy, 20-month-old Tommy Kavanagh. She took him back to Hollywood with her last November after a visit to England. The court's action appeared to clear the way for adoption.

The parents, Mr. and Mrs. Michael Kavanagh, pleaded guilty to a charge of "unlawfully permitting the care and posession of an infant to be transferred."

They were discharged conditionally for 12 months, which means the case can be renewed in the next year if the court learns the child is not being properly cared for.

"I have had the opportunity of seeing some of the letters written by Miss Russell to the child's parents," Sir Laurence remarked, "and if they are any reflection of Miss Russell, then she must be a very, very nice woman."

The case was widely publicized, he said, and prosecution was necessary to make plain to all Britons that it is against the law to give custody of a British child to an alien abroad.

The parents previously explained that Miss Russell well in love with the baby at first sight and they let her have him because their small London flat was so crowded. The Kavanaghs have two other children.

Two Squadrons From R.C.A.F. Sent To Arctic

OTTAWA, April 24. (CP)—Men of two R.C.A.F. squadrons who recently basked in the Florida sun have been ordered within the Arctic Circle for another job.

Two Maritime squadrons based at Greenwood, N.S., will fly north to Cornwallis Island in July to share in the task of supplying the joint Canadian-United States weather stations located in Canada's Arctic archipelago.

Their job, along with American air force planes, will be to make ice observations for the three American naval vessels which will carry the food and other equipment for five stations on Canadian soil and a sixth, an American-Danish station, in Greenland.

The two squadrons, flying four-engined Lancasters, are commanded by Wing Cmdrs. D. E. Galloway of Montreal and W. P. Pleasance of Calgary. They are the squadrons which recently moved to Key West, Fla., for a big American sea-air exercise in the Caribbean.

Resolute Bay Base

For their next big job they will operate from Resolute Bay, Cornwallis Island, 1,700 miles due north of Winnipeg.

The five weather stations have been supplied annually by ship. They are engaged in providing weather data for forecasting and in making other scientific studies.

The three U.S. naval vessels will be commanded by Capt. J. W. Callahan, U.S.N., with an augmented staff of both Canadian and U.S. officials and observers. They will be embarked in the navy and the oiler Nespelen will complete the surface expedition.

The project marks the fifth consecutive year navy ships have provided logistic support for the chain of stations since they were established in 1947.

The task group will depart from Boston for Halifax to load the bulk of Canadian supplies in early July. The ships will then proceed to Resolute Bay. The Arctic area in which the ships will be operating is normally ice-locked nine to 11 months of each year.

The weather stations are jointly operated by the meteorological service of the Canadian Department of Transport and the United States weather bureau. Each station has a Canadian officer in charge and is manned by an equal number of personnel from each government.

It is anticipated the supply activities will be completed by early September.

Obituary

ALFRED DERRETT

HAVELOCK, April 24—(ENS)—The funeral for Alfred Derrett, 72, took place Thursday afternoon with the Rev. H. E. Peasgood conducting the service at his late residence. Burial was in Maple Grove cemetery.

Mr. Derrett died in St. Joseph's hospital, Peterborough, on Tuesday following a lengthy illness. He was born in Bristol, England, and was a son of Mr. and Mrs. John Derrett.

Two Men Resign Over Alien Entry

OTTAWA, April 23 (CP) — Two male officials have resigned and one woman has been dismissed, the government disclosed Wednesday in new information about the investigation of Canadian immigration irregularities.

They are in addition to the three immigration officials dismissed in the first stages of an investigation which, a government reply tabled in the Commons showed, still is continuing. It is probing alleged illegal entries into Canada which, the reply said, have numbered at least 75. The reply, tabled for E. D. Fulton (PC-Kamloops) said:

1. Two officers working in the immigration service in Montreal "were suspected of malpractices and, while under suspicion, resigned." Investigation into their conduct is continuing.

2. The woman dismissed was Mrs. Otti Skarupa, clerk-stenographer to one of the men already fired, and who worked in the immigration office at Karlsruhe, Germany.

3. It is not in the public interest to say whether the department knows the names of any private individuals in Canada or elsewhere who were in any way connected with the irregularities.

There was a hint that some such non-government individuals may be under suspicion, "and decisions will be made when the investigation is completed."

Provincial Police Aid Trenton Family

BARRIE, April 24 (CP)—Provincial police and a roadside restaurant today came to the assistance of a hungry, six-member family who didn't have enough gasoline to drive to their Toronto destination.

Police stopped the car early today for a routine check of lights.

The family, including four children ranging in age from one year to 15, was on the way to Toronto from North Bay where the father had tried unsuccessfully to get work. They had gone there from Trenton.

Police chipped in to buy gas and the restaurant gave them meals. The family has relatives in Toronto.

MONTREAL LIVESTOCK

MONTREAL, April 24 (CP) — Prices were generally steady this week on the Montreal livestock markets.

Receipts for the week totalled 1,400 cattle, 4,534 calves, 75 sheep and lambs and 7,229 hogs.

Moderate cattle offerings, consisting mostly of cows, moved slowly. Steers and bulls were hard sellers at steady to easier prices while cows and heifers remained fairly steady. Good to choice steers sold at 26-27, medium 22-25 and a few common 18-21. Some good heifers brought 25-25.50, medium 20-24 and common 14-19. Good cows made 20-22, medium 17-19.50 and common 15-17. Canners and cutters made 10-15. Good bulls were 19-21.50 while common and medium made 14-18.

Calves met with a better demand and sold at around $2 higher than last week. Good vealers made 22-23 common and medium ranged from 15-21.

Sheep sold from 15-22.

Sellers started the week with more than 800 hogs held over from last Saturday and nearly 7,000 head arrived by Tuesday night. The exchange then decided that no more hogs would be accepted at the yards until further notice. Grade "A" hogs this week brought 26 while sows were $2 lower at 14.

Norway Has Declined Russ Offer Of Plane

OSLO, April 24 (Reuters)—Norway has declined a Russian offer to place aircraft at the disposal of the Norwegian government in the search for five missing Norwegian seal catchers, a foreign office spokesman said today.

He said the area in which the seal catchers disappeared — between Iceland and Greenland—has already been flown over and the air search is to be suspended shortly.

Seventy-nine men were on board the ships.

Mutineers Agree

Tension neared the breaking point when Hyatt stepped to the front Wednesday night, seized the telephone in the cell block and hysterically shouted demands to Warden Frisbie.

Must Be Guaranteed

Hyatt insisted the convicts would accept no truce unless it was guaranteed by Governor Williams. On top of that, the mutineers insisted that it be further backed by a publication in the press. The agreement continued:

"After the newspapers carry the story, a newspaper will be presented to the inmates of 15 block. Immediately after receiving the newspaper, in daylight, four inmates will be stationed at the door to shake down for weapons. The inmates will then file into the dining room to be served an abundant meal of steak, ice cream and appropriate trimmings.

"During the meal, councillors will enter 15 block, followed by unarmed institutional guards to restore the cell block to acceptable use."

Set Aside Laws

MEXICO CITY, April 24 (AP)—Mexico is setting aside immigration laws for the 8,000 Rotarians expected here next month. The interior department said Wednesday an active membership card in International Rotary will be sufficient to enter Mexico. Normally a tourist card costing $3 is necessary. The world convention opens here May 25.

New Canadians From Holland Among Best

MONTREAL—(CP)—Officials of the Federal Immigration Service here have found that language problems do not present insurmountable difficulties to the newcomes to Canada.

One prize example is a little girl from the Netherlands who came three years ago without knowing a word of Engl... Two days after settling down in her new home, she started to school, and at the end of the school year was second in a class of 19 students.

Two field placement officers, C. I. Coutu and A. W. Gunn, believe the immigrants from Holland are among the best that come to Canada.

A large proportion of the Dutch immigrants are farmers, and their placement in Canada is arranged before they leave Holland. Many have gone to farms in dairy districts of Quebec such as Huntingdon, or the Saint John River valley of New Brunswick, while others of course move on to Ontario and the west.

Among the Dutch immigrants in Quebec, Coutu discovered many success stories. Typical is that of C. Lakx who in two years at Arundel built up a half-share in a hog farm which shows profits every month. He is married and has four children.

While entry of European farm immigrants has temporarily been stopped because of the Saskatchewan outbreak of foot-and-mouth disease, the flow is expected to be resumed before long. Canada and the Netherlands have already agreed on precautionary measures to ensure that Dutch immigrants do not bring the virus to Canada, and discussions are continuing with other European governments.

All Tongues Spoken

Not all the Dutch are farmers, however. One immigrant had the foresight to bring out to this country the equipment he had for a ladies' hairdressing establishment. When he got a job as a barber in Quyon, Que., he doubled the business and now is making a good living for himself and his family. He could speak good English when he came to Canada.

Many of the immigrants would face greater difficulties if it were not for the fact that among the staff at the immigration offices here can be found someone who can speak any of the European languages.

W. A. McFaul, district superintendent for the eastern region, has only to press a button to get an interpreter for Polish, Yugoslav, or Norwegian.

Miss Aino Reintam speaks 11 European languages and is also good at spotting mechanics who claim all sorts of skills they don't possess.

"I can tell if a man is a machinist by the way he handles a blueprint," she explains.

Miss Reintam speaks English, French, German, Norwegian, Swedish, Finnish, Danish, Estonian, Russian, Dutch and Polish.

Prices Decline Steadily On Exchange

TORONTO, April 24 (CP). — Prices declined steadily today in early afternoon stock market dealings.

A few western oil and secondary gold issues attracted some speculative interest but turnovers were moderate. Industrial dealings shrank to selected leading issues. Volume for the first three hours was 1,915,000 shares.

Constructions, steels, foods, liquors, refining oils, textiles and manufacturing companies led industrials lower with losses ranging to about a point. Papers, agricultures, retail stores and miscellaneous issues also slipped. Banks were mixed.

Western oils posted losses ranging from pennies to about 50 cents. Admiral Oil, Ajax, Calgary and Edmonton, Dome Explorations and Canadian Williston dipped sharply.

Base metals eased as Barvue, Cassiar, Estella, Hudson Bay, Mindamar, Sherritt-Gordon and United Asbestos turned lower.

Senior golds sagged. McIntyre led with a loss of $1. Junior producers, prospects and holding companies showed a broad list of losses.

Announce 4 Winners In Legion Contest

OSHAWA, April 24— (CP). — McIntyre Hood, public relations oficer for Provincial Command Canadian Legion, today announced the names of four winners of an esay contest sponsored by the Command.

Terrence Brown, Tavistock, placed first in the boys' division for elementary schools. Girl winner in this class was Sandra Thompson, of Lansdowne School, Sudbury.

Secondary school winners were Peter M. Vollmer of McKeough School, Chatham, and Mary Gibbon, Westdale School, Hamilton.

They will be given a free trip to Toronto May 23 where they will be presented with prizes of $40 each by Premier Frost.

Those given $10 awards and certificates of merit are: Albert Healy, Algonquin; Frances Wildman, Barrie; Diane Jackman, St. Catharines; Marion Morton, Ailsa Craig.

U. S. Dollar Unchanged

MONTREAL, April 24 (CP) — The United States dollar today opened at a discount of two per cent in terms of Canadian funds, unchanged from Wednesday's close. That is, it took $0.98 Canadian to buy $1 American.

The pound sterling was $2.75¼, unchanged from Wednesday.

Hooked Rug Expert Likes Them Braided

ST. JACOBS, Ont.—(CP) — Mats are Mrs. Russell Hahn's stock-in-trade. Her home is filled with them, some as large as six by nine feet and weighing 60 pounds.

Although Mrs. Hahn has been hooking mats for the last 10 years she said she prefers to make the braided kind. Material used in this type is pure wool or almost pure wool such as can be found in blankets.

Colors are bright and the red, greens and yellows are heightened by strips of navy blue. The latter originally were different colors. First they were braided and then dyed.

Mrs. Hahn has become so expert that she can make a hooked rug in a week. Patterns of this kind are varied. Blocks and floral patterns are among her favorites.

Another mat in Mrs. Hahn's collection was made from a burlap bag. The finished product has a soft appearance with muted colors. The burlap is dyed for most of the colors with a bit of wool worked in to brighten the design.

London And Paris To Swap Gardens

LONDON — (CP)—London and Paris are going to exchange gardens.

Under a reciprocal scheme, a garden in the French classical tradition, with a flower-filled Fluer-de-Lis in the centre, is being built in London's Westminster district, and a Shakespearian garden will bloom in the famous Bois de Boulogne.

The Paris garden will have two sections. In one apples trees and weeping willows will recall such tragedies as "MacBeth and Hamlet" and in the other Rosemary and Thyme flowers and cypress and juniper trees will represent comic themes as in "Midsummer Night's Dream."

Idea for the exchange followed representations to Westminster authorities from members of the French community in London, who were depressed by the untidy area around the statue of General Foch near Victoria Station.

Record Nudged

CALGARY (CP)—Second largest collection ever made in the history of the customs and excise tax office here was recorded for the fiscal year ended March 31. The total of $14,217,483 was exceeded only in 1946 when $14,474,411 was taken.

Heavy Traffic

BANFF, Alta.—(CP)—Augury of a busy summer, traffic through the eastern entrance of Banff National Park in March was higher than a year ago. During the month 6,264 vehicles and 19,027 passengers entered, compared with 4,938 vehicles and 15,001 passengers in the same month last year.

Doctors Should Be Available

COBOURG, April 24 (CP). — Two out of every three persons today has no family doctor and such persons sometimes have difficulty in getting medical attention when they are ill, an official of the Ontario Medical Association said today.

Dr. Glenn Sawyer, executive secretary of the association, said at a meeting of the association's district 6 that meeting the needs of families without a regular doctor is one of the ways in which members can improve relations with the public.

"Consider night and emergency calls, for example," said Dr. Sawyer. "Each doctor is willing to take care of the night and emergency calls of his own patients, but what we often forget is to make adequate provision for those patients who haven't a family doctor."

He said a plan of rotation of work for afternoons when a doctor's office is closed, as well as during weekends and holidays, makes for goodwill between the profession and the public.

Whispering Campaign Danger For Canadians

MONTREAL, April 24 (CP). — The Canadian Chamber of Commerce warned Canadians today to be on the alert for a Communist "whispering" campaign aimed at dividing Canada and the United States.

In a preview of an article appearing in the May issue of its news letter, the Chamber said a Communist-sponsored organization identified as "Deminform" already is spreading rumors designed to confuse the Western nations.

While the Chamber conceded that few Canadians are exposed directly to Communist literature, it suggested the majority are not immune to the "tesrifically potent force" of Communist whisperings, such as the U.S. is "taking over" Canada and that the Canadian government is dancing to the tune of "Wall Street warmongers."

Communist activity of all kinds will be intensified in Canada during the next few years, the Chamber said.

nate shift in the wind helped them win the battle.

Outside the fire area, brilliant sunshine swept the city as thousands of spectators rushed to the scene. Few got close. They were blocked off by police patrols.

Company officials were unanimous in praise of the city fireboat.

"Thank God for the fireboat," said E. J. Alton, traffic manager of Buckerfields. "It certainly paid for itself today. The fireboat and the fact the wind was from the west were the only reasons why damage was not greater."

By early today, the firefighting squad had been slashed to a few men, who continued to pour water on the still-smouldering scene.

Pass Labor Laws

GUATEMALA, Guatemala, April 24 (AP)—The Guatemalan congress Wednesday approved 27 labor and job-security measures. One law requires employers to give one month severance pay for each year of employment in dismissing employees. Another calls on management to pay sickness expenses of a worker and his family in certain circumstances.

Health Services Debate Cut Off In U.K.

LONDON, April 24 (CP).—An all-night session of parliament ended at 6:12 a.m. today when Prime Minister Churchill's Conservatives pushed through a "guillotine" motion putting a time limit on a Labor party filibuster against proposed changes in Britain's free health services.

The motion, which will cut off the long angry debate on health services after two more days, was passed by a vote of 270 to 245. It is designed to open the way for quicker action on Conservative proposals to turn socialized steel and long-distance trucking back to private owners.

The "guillotine" motion, imposed to restrict what the Conservatives called Labor "delaying tactics," was imposed over seven Socialist attempts to shave the health services debate extended.

The Labor party has been fighting for weeks to prolong discussion of the health bill in which the Conservatives propose to charge for prescriptions, wigs and dental services. These services now are given free under the health plan introduced by Labor when it was in power.

100 Amendments

More than 100 Labor amendments have been placed before the House and debate on them could have taken up the entire parliamentary session, killing the rest of the government program.

Aneurin Bevan, who engineered the free health services plan, has warned that Labor will attempt to block even traditionally non-partisan appropriation bills if the Tories ram through the health measure.

The Conservatives are determined, however, to get on with their pre-election promises to denationalize steel and trucking. Majority leader Harry Crookshank refused to consider Labor demands that the debate be continued even a day or two beyond the two-day limit set by the "guillotine" motion.

New Proposal Being Studied

MUNSAN, Korea, April 24 (AP)—Truce negotiators twice recessed secret talks today, indicating they were studying a new proposal to break the deadlock on how to exchange prisoners of war.

Before the session began Communist newspapermen spread the word that a new development was in the offing. They gave no hint what it might be. Their remarks suggested, however, that the Reds had a new plan for ending the statemale.

In the past, recesses have been called to study new proposals for settling disputes.

Thursday the staff officers recessed first for 15 minutes; then, 25 minutes later, each group met separately for an hour-and-a-quarter.

Long Period Of Labor Peace For Newspapers

NEW YORK, April 24 (AP) — A Newspaper Publishers Association committee said today that 1951 and the first quarter of 1952 "produced an unprecedented period of industrial peace for daily newspapers."

"Only three work stoppages, involving 31 employees, occurred in 1951," said the American Newspaper Publishers Association's special standing committee on labor relations.

And before April 1, the committee said in a report at the A.N.P.A. 66th annual meeting, there were only two work stoppages in 1952.

But, the committee added, "unfortunately the 1952 record of newspaper labor relations will not be as good as last year's."

A dispute over a relative newcomer to the newspaper scene — the teletypesetter—could spread, the report said.

Major Strike Trouble

"Teletypesetter perforator jurisdiction was the major cause of most International Typographical Union strikes and strike threats in 1950. Although the Teletypesetter issue did not cause any strikes in 1951 and thus far has caused but one in 1952, it is still the leading source of strike threats and serious controversy."

The Teletypsetter, using tape perforated through the use of electrical impulses, can aetivate a typesetter machine. The tape can be produced either inside or outside the newspaper's office.

"The efficacy of the Teletypesetter itself, and the ability shown by publishers in adapting the machine to strike situations, undoubtedly stands a a major deterrent to the presecution of strikes against newspaper composing rooms," the committee said.

The one I.T.U. strike was against an Illinois newspaper, the Rockford Star and Register-Republic. There the I.T.U. demanded that the publishers grant the union control over use of outside Teletypesetter tape.

Anglican Diocese Soon 100 Years Old

The Anglican diocese of Toronto will celebrate the 100th year of its Synod on May 27 and following days. Canon Raven is coming from England as preacher on the Thursday of that week at St. James' Cathedral, Toronto, as recently announced by Archdeacon W. P. Robertson.

All parishes are being asked to arrange for an exchange of pulpits on Sunday May 11.

Archdeacon Robertson commented in his Easter bulletin: "I have been happy in securing one of the sons of this parish for the occasion, — Archdeacon Fred J. Sawers."

Two New Governors Appointed For C.B.C.

OTTAWA, April 24 — (CP) — Two new governors have been appointed for the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation in line with a recommendation of the Massey commission on arts and sciences, it was announced today.

The new appointees, who bring the board of governors up to 11 members, are:

Gordon A. Winter, business man of St. John's Nfld, and Roy J. Fry, Winnipeg department-store executive.

Their terms will run three years from April 1. The commission recommended the additional governors to make the board more widely representative.

Ask For Four Men To Help Firemen

COBOURG, April 24 (ENS) — Due to the fact that the town fire brigade is not up to full strength, the fire, water and light committee of the Town Council met with the Public Utilities Commission at its meeting last night to ask the Commission to permit four of the utilities employees to be on the fire department, the same as before. At present the number from the utilities is two.

The committee said that it was not right for the Commission to limit the number from the utilities to two and fire chief Ken Baird assured the Commission that he would not keep the men any longer than necessary from their duties.

Commissioner Bob Love told the committee that it was not the Commission members who had reduced the utilities representation on the fire brigade but that the request had come from the union. It was finally decided to have the fire chief send a written request to the Commission setting forth his reasons relative to need of four men from the Utilities being on the fire brigade.

Bible Society Plans Campaign

Plans for the launching of the 1952 campaign to raise money for the Upper Canada Bible Society were discussed at a canvassers' meeting in the Y.M.C.A. Monday evening.

The Rev. H. Egerton Young, field secretary of the society, was guest speaker. Mr. Young also showed a film which outlined the activities of the society and showed the Bible House in London, England from which 6,000,000 copies of the Bible are distributed annually.

The secretary's report showed that $1,435.26 was collected during the 1951 canvass by the 17 groups, in the various participating churches in the city.

A meeting of the local committee of the Bible Society followed the canvassers' meeting and a new slate of officers was appointed.

Honorary president, James Dutton; first vice president, L. Ackford; second vice president, Mrs. F. W. K. Harris; secretary, Miss Leatha Kidd; treasurer, W. P. Lavery and the following: E. Hale, B. Lockington, A. E. Watkins and G. H. Roper. The president is to be appointed later.

Occupations To End

On May 17th, if developments go as planned, the allied occupation of Germany will end. West Germany will have full political sovereignty, and her revived military force will be added to that of other western European nations. Immediately following the signing of the agreement at Bonn by the foreign ministers of Britain, France and the United States, with the West German Federal Chancellor, the four political leaders will sign the European Defence Community Treaty at The Hague. Next Monday the occupation of Japan will be ended, according to the treaty already signed and to become effective then. Thus, less than seven years since the greatest of wars, fought by the Allies against two of the most powerfuly armed and ruthless enemies, Germany and Japan, all political vestiges of victory will have gone. They have been swallowed up in the costs of victory and the West's urge to re-arm to face a new potential foe.

* * *

The theoretical ending of the occupation of Germany and Japan (American and other western nations' soldiers will remain in both countries, but on invitation and as comrades-in arms) may be regarded as a sign of western tolerance. The West is willing to forgive, if not to forget. But to put this mild interpretation on the quick re-establishment of the two former enemies in the comity of the West glosses over hard political facts. The reason that the West (particularly the United States) has given up its cries of seven years ago that Germany would have to be kept fully occupied for twenty years, is that the West wants German soldiers, heavy industry and military abilities to be actively on its side. The reason that the cruel 1940-45 poster face of Emperor Hirohito has become a bland smile, is that the West wants a strong and co-operative Japan as an Asiatic barrier to communism.

* * *

The diplomatic and political friendship which the West now holds out to Germany and Japan is an expediency dictated by fear rather than loving-kindness. We in the West need not flatter ourselves that we are being remarkably charitable to the enemies of seven years ago. Self-interest, not selflessness; fear rather than love in the heart: these have dictated the policy of appeasement. If men never learn from history the futility of war, they at least follow history in creating their "threats" to civilization. And they do it with remarkable speed. Germany and Japan toppled before the arms of the United States, Russia and allies. With those idols of hate in the dust, new ones had to be created. Russia fashioned a ruthless Uncle Sam. The United States created a terrible Uncle Joe.

And so, re-arming to the teeth, both Russia and the West have picked new devils to make themselves quake and new allies to march with. Both are gathering the pieces of the hellish idols they broke, and reforming them into angels of defence. How the gods outside this planet must laugh.

Let Chicago Steal Water?

Toronto is very worried about its islands—the several acres of land in the harbor which provide a summer refuge and some permanent homes for Torontonians. The islands are sinking, or rather the water is rising to cover them. Already much of them is flooded, and year by year they are being washed away.

Very high lake levels this spring are causing acute concern, and of course Mayor Lamport is right in the midst, making stern demands of Ottawa to pull out some plug somewhere in the bottom of the lake. A University of Toronto geologist has said that if Lake Ontario continues to rise at its present rate a good part of the Island might have to be evacuated. American and Canadian engineers think it likely that the lake level will reach 250 feet above sea level in the next two months. This is seven inches above the record. "A little storm would mean the islands would be pretty well awash."

The trouble is that there is too much water in the lake. A generation ago there was a flood of woe from towns and cities on the lakes lower than Michigan because Chicago was planning to divert Lake Michigan water through its sewers and down into the Illinois and Mississippi rivers watershed. This was the "great Chicago Water Steal." Chicago went ahead with its steal, but the row was hushed up to make it seem just friendly borrowing. The ports on the lower lakes did not suffer; now they even have enough water and to spare. Why not invite Chicago to steal some more water?

Annually Late Annuals

We consider it part of our public duty to scan the annual reports of various government departments and branches, to try to guess if our money which they are spending has been reasonably spent. But when these reports come to us a year or two late our tolerance for their outdated statistics vanishes. The report goes into the waste paper basket, unread, unhonoured and unsung in these columns.

Plunk! into the W.P.B. goes another blue book. As it flies through the air we note that it is the 18th annual report of the Hospital Division, Department of Health, Province of Ontario, upon the Ontario Hospitals for the Mentally Ill, Mentally Defective, Epileptic and Habituate Patients, for the calendar year 1950. It arrived this morning; it was published this spring.

We think that money is being wasted printing these late annual reports. Their validity for the shaping of policy has now become questionable. Some of the figures may be important to some people; but if they are, let them be put out in a less expensive form. Write them on water, for instance; some of it might trickle as effectively and as soon as the blue book to people who want to read them.

Other departments of the Ontario legislature (the Lands and Forests annual report for instance) are likewise tardily delivered. Why? If the reports are worth compiling they are worth getting out in good time. But perhaps wily government officials know that late reports are seldom read. Maybe they do not want them to be read by the public which they are supposed to inform. Maybe there is something in them which they do not want to meet the public eye. Ah! maybe there is more in this habit of late annual reports than meets the eye . . . We have almost talked ourself into retrieving the report on the mentally ill of 1950 from the waste basket.

The Silver Wolf

We have seen with interest the annual report of the Canadian General Council of the Boy Scouts Association. The organization reports continued growth, with 128,760 scouts in Canada at the end of 1951, including Sea Scouts and Wolf Cubs.

The report begins with an address to the Chief Scout for Canada, his Excellency the Right Hon. Vincent Massey. Since the Scouting General Council was incorporated in 1914, Governors-General have always accepted the office of Chief Scout. The report then pays tribute to its former Chief Scout, Viscount Alexander. "In recognition of his valued services to Scouting in Canada, the Lord Rowallan, Chief Scout of the Commonwealth and Empire, was pleased to award Lord Alexander, Scouting's highest decoration for service, the Silver Wolf." The presentation was made prior to Viscount Alexander's departure from Canada. Tribute is then paid the late president of the association, Canon Cody who died during the year. He also had been awarded the Silver Wolf.

A page or two farther on in the report is a section headed "GONE HOME." It is a catalogue of the passing of time and of some of the great ones of the nation (Scoutingly viewed) with it: Sir Montagu Allan of Montreal; W. F. Angus, Lachine; J. W. Beaton, Montreal; J. P. Bickell, Toronto; Major F. L. C. Bond, Lachute; Rev. Canon H. J. Cody, C.M.G., LL.D., etc., Toronto; J. W. Hobbs, Toronto; H. Orviss, Gaspe; Dr. H. M. Speechley, Winnipeg; Lieut.-Gov. J. M. Uhrich, Regina; W. H. Wright, Barrie. These late gentlemen were members of the Council.

The report on scouting also recalls that Canada's first National Rover Moot, held at the end of last summer in Ontario was "an unqualified success." During the year 988 scout camps were attended by 25,039 boys. The scouting year 1951 was given impetus by "Plan Achievement," and achievements followed the plan. We wish the scouts of Canada as great success this year. It is a worthy organization.

NOTES AND COMMENT

Isn't it time we stopped saying that the budget is "brought down"? Slammed down would surely be more accurate.

Israel is living up to its Biblical reputation. The Jews who are painstakingly reclaiming their land from the desert now report their first plague of locusts in the Jordan area.

An English physician boldly asserts that a boy who is not washed is healthier than a clean boy. The health of those surrounding the fragrant, healthy boy, is not considered.

Dr. Malan appears to be eager to set up a system in South Africa under which the government of the day will not be subject to the courts of the land. If he succeeds, take your seats for a first-class revolution within ten years!

A writer is disillusioned because he has found out that the fireplace before which F. D. Roosevelt sat when making his "fireside chat" broadcasts was a dummy. Poor simp! Probably he thought that F.D.R. said "My Friends" innocently believing that all of them were!

In The News By Living

By KENNETH HARRIS

YOU WOULD think sometimes as you read the popular American newspapers that the height of every Press photographer's ambition is to take an action photograph of somebody committing suicide by jumping off a skyscraper. It is pleasant to read of a case in which the attraction of being photographed just before he plunged to his death led to one would-be suicide being restrained.

The suicide-elect, a 43-year-old restaurant worker by the name ofYim Nin, chose curiously enough, to leap from the roof of the New York Department of Health building. As is usual with more than fifty per cent of jumping suicides he stood ostentatiously on the roof until a crowd of about five hundred gathered to watch him.

✧ ✧ ✧

A POLICEMAN got to within speaking distance. "You're wanted on the telephone", he shouted, after having exhausted his other blandishments. "No I'm not", shouted Nin. "Nobody wants me. Call the newspaper and camera-men and tell them I can't go on any longer up here. And if you come any nearer I'll jump now and spoil it".

Another policeman had an idea. He fetched a camera from a nearby shop and told Nin he wanted a special picture for "history". Nin rose, or rather stayed aloft, to the occasion, struck several poses in the interest of history—became interested in living, poor devil, for perhaps the first time in his life, and did not observe that another policeman was creeping along the parapet. After about the eighth pose, Nin was collected, taken to the ground the slow way and put in an ambulance.

He was sad at first, he said, because he felt he had lost his historical role by not dying. But he cheered up immensely when a cop (policeman) said, "Brother, you made real history by livin'."

✧ ✧ ✧

Blind Man's Bluff

FOR THREE weeks I've been wandering through the towns and cities of the Middle West, following and listening to each of the men who are trying to persuade the American people that he should be elected the next President of the United States. The most interesting speaker I met was the blind man who asked me to take him across the main street of Milwaukee, a city on Lake Michigan, in the State of Wisconsin.

Halfway across the busy street—Milwaukee is a bustling, bubbling city—we had to pause on a traffic island, and I started to make some conversation. We talked about the coming election, and the old man said he was a Republican, but he didn't know yet whom he was going to vote for.

"Well", I said, "D'you think you might vote, say, for Senator Taft?"

"Jees", he said, detaching his arm from mine in a gesture of indignation. "I know I'm blind, but I'm not as blind as that".

The choice with him lay between General Dwight Eisenhower and Earl Warren, the Governor of California. He thought Eisenhower might be the "right guy with them Russians gettin' tough," but he liked Warren because he believed in the State running a health service. "I just got to figure out between them", he said, and by then we had got, it seemed to me, quite safely across the road.

✧ ✧ ✧

Best Governed City

QUITE apart from the blind man, I found Milwaukee a fascinating city. Biggest city (about 700,000) in an isolationist state dominated by Republicans (usually thought of as being conservative) it regularly elects a Socialist Mayor to office with the aid of a huge Republican vote—even when Republicans are running against him. I asked a prominent Republican lawyer how that could happen and he said, "Here we go for the man, not for his party label, and this guy's the best man by far for the job". Bearing in mind that this is the State which is represented in the Senate by Senator McCarthy, the leader of the group which accuses the State Department of being filled with "Pinks" and infiltrated with "Reds", I asked this Republican big shot if he wasn't worried by the mayor's doctrinal beliefs. "The Mayor gives us good government not doctrines", he said, "and that's all that concerns me. And as long as he keeps it that way, I'll go on voting for him".

Milwaukee's population consists mainly of people born, or whose parents were born, in Poland, Germany, Italy, Scandinavia or Central Europe. The Poles are the majority and they have their own newspaper printed in Polish. They also have their own cathedral —which used to be the General Post Office in Chicago, in the next State, and which, when the Chicago Council decided to pull it down, was bought at bargain price by the Milwaukee Poles, shipped brick by brick along Lake Michigan and was re-assembled with, of course, different interior fittings.

MILWAUKEE'S cost of living is the highest in the United States, higher even than it is in New York, a phenomenon due to the high wages earned by a hardworking and skilled population engaged in every kind of industry you can think of, and having so many to choose from, being able to switch from one to another as the national demand varies between them.

It spends more than any other city on social services and facilities, and it is reckoned the best-governed city in the United States. Every year it wins a prize in the inter-city competition for the best police force, or the best post office, or the best something or other. After it had won the prize for the best health service four times running, it was asked to withdraw from the national competition so that some other city could have a chance of competition—"the only instance of corruption" the Mayor told me "we have known here in fifty years".

Newspaper's Influence

THE PEOPLE of Milwaukee will tell you that one of the major reasons for their good government is the influence of the famous "Milwaukee Journal", a newspaper which in an isolationist State has preached the very most enlightened and humane internationalism you would ever wish to read. The Journal is a fat paper which thrives on the great amount of advertising which such a prosperous and many-marketed town can afford. Its Sunday edition is usually about 250, repeat 250 (two fifty) pages, and once last year it came out with 364 (three six four).

Who is the enlightened man who owns this newspaper The enlightened man who once owned it decided to sell the stock to the people who worked on it. After he has worked on the paper for a certain time, even the office boy can buy a share in it, and as he goes home after his day's work and punches the clock, he may find the managing editor of the Journal standing in the queue to punch it as well.

Los Angeles "Slighted"

I WROTE last week about the extraordinary success of Queen Juliana's visit to the United States, and about the oustspoken way in which she has suggested to the American people how they should behave towards Europe's problems.

So far as I can see, her visit has caused only one pang over here. The Mayor of Los Angeles found to his indignation that on her visit to Los Angeles the Queen was booked by the American State Department to stay at the Beverley Hills Hotel, Beverley Hills being a separate municipality from Los Angeles. The mayor let off steam not, however, against the Queen. "The effect of this (booking)" he wrote to the Secretary of State, "is to tell the world that Los Angeles does not have adequate and proper accommodation for her Majesty". The Secretary of State explained that the hotel was "particularly suited to the Queen's security and convenience".

So far as I know this is the first time that a European country has caused a domestic cleavage between the American Government and a local government since Britain built gunboats for the Confederate South in the Civil War of 1861. What baffles me is that any place so near to Los Angeles can be outside the city limits. The standing joke about that city is that signposts tell you you are approaching the said city limits as you leave New York 2,500 miles away.

An American Opinion: NO PLACE TO GO BUT DOWN

Mr. Mossadegh's Mistakes

(NEW YORK TIMES)

PREMIER MOSSADEGH now admits that in nationalizing the oil industry of Iran and expelilng the experienced personnel which had made it a gold mine for his country he has made at least two mistakes. One mistake has been his boast that Iran could operate the industry with its own technical talent. The other has been his equally fallacious confidence that the Western World was dependent on Iranian oil, and that he could therefore hold it up for whatever price he asked or sell the oil elsewhere, if necessary to the Soviet bloc.

These are mistakes which other politicians unfamiliar with the complexities of industry and business have made and are still making in other places. But for Iran they threaten to have particularly serious consequences. For Premier Mossadegh's government is bankrupt. It is operating at a continuing deficit and has used up virtually all its reserves; government salaries are in arrears, and it now faces the possibility of having to dissipate the gold reserve covering its sinking currency. This means inflation and further unrest in a country in which the Communists are already going over to open violence.

Mr. Mossadegh admits that his country is in an economic "quagmire." But instead of reopening the oil industry with the aid of either the former British operators or the International Bank for Reconstruction and Development, which has offered its services, he insists on putting politics first. He not only refuses every compromise that would solve his country's financial problem but also attempts to shift the blame from himself to others, in particular Britain and the United States.

For the moment he has a subservient new Parliament to back him up in his folly, but his arguments are wearing him thin and his desperate measures are arousing a degree of opposition which offers hope that more reasonable elements will in the end come to the fore to save the nation.

Rumour

(UP Dispatch from Chicago)

A University of Chicago professor said today he hopes to develop a mathematical theory to determine among other things whether good news travels faster than bad.

Anatol Rapoport believes he can set down mathematical equations which will show how rumors are spread. Rapoport is one of a group of men, headed by Nicholas Rasnevsky, who are working in a new branch of science known as mathematical biology. They believe mass behaviour can be explained in mathematical terms.

Rapoport already has applied a theoretical formula to an experiment in rumour-spreading conducted on the West Coast.

Researchers "planted a rumour among housewives by having advertising leaflets dropped from airplanes."

The leaflets said anyone who could find out a new advertising slogan before its public release could collect a pound of coffee free at a local grocery.

The slogan itself was told to 40 persons. Each told others, and within three days the word had spread to 160 of the little town's 208 housewives, or 80 per cent of the "concerned population".

Rapoport had nothing to do with the West Coast experiment. But he had worked out a theoretical formula to show how a stimulus is passed through the nervous system of an individual.

Applying a similar formula to the dissemination of rumours, he found that his theoretical work checked with the results of the actual experiment conducted on the West Coast.

His own theory, he said, indicates that if the experiment had been continued for more than three days, 95 per cent of the housewives eventually would have learned the slogan instead of only 80 per cent.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

He that hath an ear, let him hear what the Spirit saith unto the churches; To him that overcometh will I give to eat of the tree of life, which is in the midst of the paradise of God. And unto the angel of the church in Smyrna write; These things saith the first and the last, which was dead, and is alive . . . Fear none of those things which thou shalt suffer: behold, the devil shall cast some of you into prison, that ye may be tried; and ye shall have tribulation ten days: be thou faithful unto death, and I will give thee a crown of life.

He that hath an ear, let him hear what the Spirit saith unto the churches; He that overcometh shall not be hurt of the second death. (Rev. 2: 7, 8, 10, 11.)

✧ ✧ ✧

And I John saw the holy city, new Jerusalem, coming down from God out of heaven, prepared as a bride adorned for her husband. And I heard a great voice out of heaven saying, Behold, the tabernacle of God is with men, and he will dwell with them, and they shall be his people, and God himself shall be with them, and be their God. And God shall wipe away all tears from their eyes; and there shall be no more death, neither sorrow, nor crying, neither shall there be any more pain: for the former things are passed away. (Rev. 21: 2-4.)

✧ ✧ ✧

And I John saw these things, and heard them. And when I had heard and seen, I fell down to worship before the feet of the angel which shewed me these things. Then saith he unto me, See thou do it not: for I am thy fellowservant, and of thy brethren the prophets, and of them which keep the sayings of this book: worship God . . .

Blessed are they that do his commandments, that they may have right to the tree of life, and may enter in through the gates into the city. (Rev. 22: 8, 9, 14.)

Importance Of Simple Things

(Bertrand Russell, OM. speaking on the BBC series, "As I See It".)

"When things are normal a man should be healthy without a tonic and happy without a theory. It is the simple things that really matter. If a man delights in his wife and children, has success in work, and finds pleasure in the alternation of day and night, spring and autumn, he will be happy whatever his philosophy may be. If, on the other hand, he finds his wife hateful, his children's noise unendurable, and the office a nightmare; if in the daytime he longs for night, and at night he sighs for the light of day—then what he needs is not a new philosophy but a new regimen—a different diet, or more exercise, or what not. Man is an animal, and his happiness depends upon his physiology more than he likes to think. This is a humble conclusion, but I cannot make myself disbelieve it."

The Cost Of Dreams

(Saskatoon Star-Phoenix)

We liked the story about the English hypnotist who had to pay damages totalling about $3,000 because of his failure to bring a "subject" out of a trance into which he had put her. There is a moral in it, we think, for the politicians who will soon be stumping our wide-awake province. When they are doing their best to lull us into tractability by waving visions of new highways, new schools, new hospitals and new everything else before our eyes, they would do well to bring us back to reality with a final word about taxes. Otherwise they may find themselves, like their English fellow charmer, charged with turning illusion into disillusionment.

Wee War Brews In Scotland Exporting Unaged Scotch Whiskey

By ALVIN STEINKOPF

GLASGOW — (AP)—Scotland is debating a burning question — is immature whisky fit to drink?

A related question is, presuming it can be swallowed, should young whisky be allowed to go out into the world as a symbol of Scotland, like heather and tartans?

The answers produce a clash of opinions that ultimately may reach parliament. It is a little whisky war between two camps of distillers and blenders.

The Scotch Whisky Association, old and orthodox, is lined up against the independent Scotch Whisky Association, which is new, like the whisky its members produce.

Canada, the United States and Britain herself are not directly concerned in the merits of the debate. These countries have their own regulations which say that Scotch whisky must have matured at least three years. It had become a sort of rule-of-thumb that Scotch must be three years old before it is fit to drink.

After the war, when the United Kingdom began scrambling for foreign currencies, a number of exporters discovered that many other countries are not as exacting.

Enterprising exporters began shipping 18-month-old whisky at a rate of more than $4,000,000 a year.

About 40 firms set up the Independent Scotch Whisky Association to look after their interests in exploiting the new market. The 140 members of the old Scotch Whisky Association met at Edinburgh in March to denounce the new trade, and issue a heated statement that "immature whisky is raw whisky having none of the characteristics of the mature product with which the world trade of the association is concerned."

Parliamentary Pressure

Then the government struck. Through the Board of Trade it issued an order that no immature whisky may be exported to any destination without a special licence. That is how the situation stands. Law suits are brewing and members of parliament are beginning to feel the pressure of the clans. Whisky is a subject on which parliament is sensitive because it is a grand dollar-earner. Exports to the United States alone are upwards of $42,000,000 annually.

A spokesman for the old Scotch Whisky Association is William Birnie, who manages the Glen Mhor and Glen Albyn Distilleries at Inverness.

"Whisky under three years old is a sick spirit," said Birnie. "Sick in spirit and violent in the throat of a man, and I personally should welcome legislation requiring five years of aging."

A spokesman for the Independent Scotch Whisky Association is its secretary, William Graham.

"In judging any whisky, after it has been approved by a competent chemist, the customer is right," Graham said.

"It is a fact that after some years of selling 18-month-old whisky to many lands, we have not had one complaint as to quality. Our members get re-orders."

On one point the opposing associations are agreed—only Scots can make Scotch.

See No World War In 1952 Soviets Are Not Ready Yet

By WILLIAM L. RYAN

BERLIN — (CP)—"After all," said the diplomat, "here is what the cold war is all about."

He pointed to the map of Germany in the heart of Europe.

"If and when the Russians are ready for war, we will know it here first," he said. "But it will not be in 1952. The Aussians aren't ready, and Stalin can wait.

"We will know a year in advance. Right now we know that their communications and transport are in no shape to start a war. We know they lack faith in their satellite armies and populations. We know they would need large numbers of troops to hold what they have now. We know they lack the technical and economic resources on a scale permitting war."

Many western diplomats agree with this assessment. The consensus here appears to be that Russia is intent now upon holding whatever it can in the west, protecting its western flank, while consolidating and pushing forward in the Orient.

Neutralize Europe

Thus, goes the reasoning, Russia's entire program in Europe today appears to be aimed at paralyzing the western Europeans' will to resist—to render western Europe impotent and neutral.

In the drive to neutralize western Europe, the prime target is Germany. Competent observers speculate that Stalin would even be prepared to dump the whole East German Communist party if he could achieve the goal of a German vacuum.

Stalin now says the time is ripe for talks on unification of Germany. He has let it be known he is willing for Germany to be unified with its own Army, sufficient to defend itself. This was a shock to the Communists, long playing on the fear of a rearmed Germany.

In May the three western powers meet with western Germany to sign a peace contract. This would finalize the split of Germany into two parts. It would presage a western Germany, able to flourish economically, fitted into the western defence scheme.

That is the last thing Moscow wants. But Moscow remembers other times when the Germans were willing to make deals at the moments when they thought Germany would reap the most benefit, and the devil take the hindmost. Possibly Moscow banks on the theory that the Germans haven't changed.

Refugee Problem Remains Real Menace To The World

MONTREAL —(CP)—The European refugee problem that should have been solved with the end of the Second World War instead has become greater than it was in the first days of Germany's defeat, says Rev. Elfan Rees.

Adviser on refugees as an official of the World Council of Churches, Mr. Rees said in an interview here that whereas Hitler managed to create about 9,000,000 displaced persons, peace and post-war agreements had resulted in displacing about 11,000,000 in Germany alone. Altogether Europe now has more dispossessed persons than the entire population of Canada.

"Just imagine the whole population of Canada forced to leave home and country, and crowded into some strange land without passports and without the right to work or travel," he said. "Unless we realize the political, social and financial problems of this new situation we will find that we have nurtured a new proletariat—a new breeding ground for hatred and intolerance."

Dr. Rees said that the International Refugee Organization and the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Association had attacked the war refugee problem fairly successfully. The trouble came however when the Potsdam agreement made it possible for huge masses of population to be uprooted from East Germany, Pomerania and the Danube Basin.

These people, refusing to stay in Soviet-dominated areas, crowded into West Germany where war had already created a sever housing shortage.

Trouble Spots

The problem of refugees arises wherever there is trouble. Besides the potentially dangerous situation in Germany, refugee conditions are being built in the "muddled misery of the middle east," in Korea, where 3,000,000 homeless have already registered with the United Nations, in the Pakistan-India tension, and from behind the Iron Curtain.

These people said Dr. Rees, represent a cross section of the communities from which they come—some are cultured and educated, some are quaint and shady characters. Altogether, they add up to represent a scale of exile unprecedented in history.

Whatever the western world does about this important problem it must be constructive, said Dr. Rees. Otherwise, the homeless, dispossessed, might develop into a canker that would seriously menace the western way of life.

Toronto Clips Orioles 8-7 In Ball Opener

By The Associated Press.

Toronto Maple Leafs apparently have come up with the "buy" of the year in Ed Stevens, 27-year-ol. smooth-fielding first baseman.

Stevens, who formerly played with Brooklyn and Pittsburgh, was purchased from Indianapolis shortly before the season's start.

The hard-hitting veteran had been bothered the past few years with a back ailment and although he claimed he was completely recovered, Indianapolis decided to let him go.

Stevens has been pounding the ball for the Leafs with some of his former gusto. He drove in five runs Wednesday on a pair of circuit clouts to lead the Leafs to an 8-7 victory over Baltimore Orioles.

It was the opening day in Toronto and 19,433 fans packed the park. The Leafs sewed it up with six runs in the second inning. Stevens featured the rally with a grand-slam homer.

Down Chiefs

Montreal Royals ushered in their home season before 15,079 fans by defeating Syracuse Chiefs 7-5. Tom Lasorda, with help from Mal Malette, gained credit for his second victory over the Chiefs. The victory enabled the highly-regarded Royals to break their tie with Syracuse for the league lead.

Bufalo Bisons took over second place, a half game behind the Royals, by defeating Ottawa Athletics 6-3 before an opening day crowd of 3,675 fans in the capital.

Hank Borowy, former major league star, limited the Athletics to nine hits in posting his second straight victory. The loss was Ottawa's sixth straight of a winless campaign.

Rochester Red Wings treated 13,872 opening day fans to a 3-2 triumph over Springfield Cubs. Fred Martin checked the Cubs on seven hits and singled home Lou Ortiz with one out in the ninth to win his own game.

Softball Association Set Up In N. Hastings

BANCROFT, April 24—(ENS)—Minor hockey business for the past season was finished and minor softball preparations for the coming spring and summer were made when the North Hastings Minor Hockey Association met in Apsley on Monday night. The same executive functions for both summer and winter sports.

Arrangements were made for lettering the two trophies for the current winners, Apsley Aces won the Wiggins Garage trophy for the bantam championship and Coe Hill-Apsley Combines took the Bancroft Lions Club trophy for the midget championship.

Clarence McCormack of Apsley was authorized to purchase crests for the two winning teams. John Bleecker of Bancroft and Harold Crosby of Coe Hill were to have the trophies ready for presentation.

During the meeting the two Apsley representatives, William Houle and Clarence McCormack, announced that a hockey banquet for both teams was being held in their village on Saturday night and that the trophies and crests were being presented.

As there were 16 teams in the public school softball league it was decided to run four separate sections in order to cut transportation costs. With daylight saving, practically all games will be twilight contests.

Apsley, Glen Alda, Coe Hill and Armsby form the south group, with Bert Giles as convener. Two teams from Bancroft public school, Paudash and L'Amable, form the central group, with Morton Graham as convener. Jim Schram convenes the north group of Maynooth, Lake St. Peter, Birds Creek and Maple Leaf-McAlpine, and Jack Hutton convenes the east group of Hermon, Carlow, Fort Stewart and McArthur's Mills-Little Ireland.

All teams are to play home and home games, with the top two teams playing two out of three for the right to enter the playdowns. In the first round South will play East and North will play Central, two out of three. The finals for the Rollins trophy will be on the same basis. If weather conditions permit the league will start during the week of April 28-May 3, as the league is to be completed by the end of June.

President Kenneth A. Foreacre of Coe Hill was in charge of the meeting.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

Checking back, we note that the .300 or better hitters for the Petes last year in the 40-game Viaduct League ball schedule were: George Brabin .420, Bill Huntley .404, Dick Golden .358, Freddy Garvey, .312, Bill Dadson .308 and Andy Milne .307. Whilst Joe Stewart just missed the charmed circle with .296. That's nice hitting for the above. Golden and Milne are sure absentees this season, but the Petes should still field a good contending club in the revamped C.O.B.L., opening a month from today. Practises will start soon, and meantime the annual open re-organization meeting (and club draw) will be this eve at seven in the "Y".

Ontario Baseball Association holds its annual meeting in St. Catharines this weekend. Since the death of Secretary Bill Snyder in the past two year, the O.B.A. has dwindled in strength and in power. Snyder was the man that held this association together and knew all the answers. The pro Intercounty League does what it likes and the O.B.A. goes along with it. T.A.B.A. is pulling out this year, except for token affiliation, and the C.O.B.L. as a league doesn't belong to it. Though individual clubs can affiliate, if they wish. Niagara district appears to be the last stronghold of the once powerful provincial baseball body. How times change!

Time To Show Pride

With our dollar worth more than U.S.A. money now, there seems to be a proper surge of pride in being a Canadian. John Fisher on "Westinghouse Presents" on CBC a week ago spoke on "Another Canadian Export". He was dealing with Dr. James L. Naismith and the game of basketball. A highly popular game, especially in the States, where they don't go in for much hockey in the winter months. Apart from N.H.L. contests, the cage game outdraws all sports there in the colder weather across the line. The amateur game is pretty popular in Canada, too, during the winter months. Naismith invented the game and it was first played at McGill University.

* * * * * *

He was born in the Ottawa Valley and went to school at Almonte, Ont., on the Mississippi River 30 miles from Ottawa. Later he went to McGill as a Divinity student and worked as an instructor in the gym. He sought an indoor game and came up with a crude form of basketball, using two long fruit baskets, with the bottoms knocked out. But he later moved to Springfield, Mass., and while working for the Y.M.C.A. there, he perfected the hoop game. In 1892, a local paper, under the heading "A New Game", printed the 13 rules of it, though there are more than 250 now. In principle, it's the same game he first invented. Dr. Naismith spent the last part of his life in Kansas and he died in 1939 highly honored for producing basketball. He was a Canuck and he started the game in this country.

Schools Show The Way

Public school softball schedules, appearing tonight, get underway shortly to start off summer sports here. Intermediate teams open with four games Monday aft, the seniors following suit next Wednesday, while the junior crews get going a week later. They play on the various school grounds after four, with teachers acting as coaches and umpires. Top two teams in senior and intermediate, and the top four in junior, clash in playoffs at the end of the schedules, early in June. Whole thing must be wound up ere the end of June and without interfering with summer exams. A large number of lads take part in the public schools' diamond setup each year.

Playing coach Pat Wilson—who will be remembered here several seasons as a right fielder with the Petes—has put Stratford on the senior "A" hockey map this past winter. The club is presently in Allan Cup finals with Fort Frances, but down a game. The Stratford box office reports just 128 paid admissions short of 100,000—whereas our two senior "B" clubs combined for less than 40,000 last winter. The Indians have played 75 games so far this season, which is five more than the N.H.L. schedule calls for. The big time pros do nothing else all winter but play hockey, while all of the Stratford players have daytime jobs apart from hockey. Wilson himself is a canny veteran pro and a hard-hitting defenceman.

Cherney's led teams this week in the Major Bowling League with pinnage of 3295....First cricket practice of the season will be at the Oval this Saturday aft....St. Peter's High and the separate schools' annual field day goes in Morrow Park on May 14....For gosh sake, Weston and Waterloo are just now opening their best-of-seven O.H.A. junior "B" finals....Five Western Ontario radio stations will give the absent treatment to Kitchener and Waterloo senior ball clubs for demanding $25 a game broadcast....Dit Clapper is calling the annual re-organization meeting of the P.M.B.A. (minor ball) for seven p.m. Tuesday in the "Y"....Petes may affiliate as a club with the O.B.A., but other C.O.B.L. squads are not interested....Entries will be taken tonight at 7:30 in the Y.M. at the Girls' Softball League meeting....Terry Gordon and Jack Westenfeldt are among senior "B" lacrossers at Orillia workouts....Local junior O.L.A. drill is at 6:30 tonight and again on Friday——Ontario Lacrosse Association has assets of more than $8,000, senior tilts last fall netting $3,623.27....Oldtimers still recall the Memorial Centre campaign here in another decade.

B. McCarrell Leads

B. McCarrell rolled high three of 826 as W. Howe got top single of 353 this week in the Major Bowling League. Cherney's led teams with 3295 pinnage. Good scores included: W. Howes 813, F. Hurley 761, D. Moriarity 758, P. Pryde 739, A. Caccavella (312) 735, H. Correll 730, A. Mason 730, J. Grierson (347) 714, G. Walton 702, J. Goodson 701, J. Platt 700 and a single of 330 by J. Goodhew.

Six points each went to Stude. Champs, Clapper's, B. & E. and Darling's over Wood, Examiner, Wonder and Brewers; while 4-2 wins were taken respectively by Bickell, U.E.W., Cherney, Campbell, Crowley, Sun Life and Selkirk's over Plazas, Mowry, Lillian's, Herb's, Odeon, Kingsmen and McLeod.

ANOTHER SLAM

Persevering Frank Stranahan is hunting again for the "grand slam" of golf, the quartet of major championships which only the fabulous Bobby Jones was able to package in a single season. Stranahan is entered in the British open as well as the U.S. amateur and the U.S. open.

FAMOUS 5 — Another era passed on to the baseball archives as Joe DiMaggio presented his famed No. 5 uniform to Rowan Spraker, Baseball Hall of Fame vice-president. It will join Babe Ruth's No. 3 and Lou Gehrig's No. 4 in Cooperstown, N.Y.

Here and There In Sport

By The Canadian Press

For the first time in 13 years a National League umpire has been found guilty of making a mistake.

Umpire Douglas (Scotty) Robb was fined an undisclosed amount Wednesday night by Warren C. Giles, of Cincinnati, league president, for a run-in with manager Eddie Stanky, of St. Louis Cardinals. Stanky got away with a $50 fine.

Giles saw Tuesday night's game in which Cincinnati defeated the Cards 2-0. In words which left no question as to his opinion of the matter, he said:

"For pushing manager Stanky, umpire Robb has been disciplined and fined an amount which, in my judgment, is commensurate with the act."

Shortstop Solly Hemus, who startee the trouble by tossing his bat away after being called out on strikes, was fined $25. Stanky rushed out of the dugout and engaged in a vigorous series of words with the umpire. It was then the pushing took place.

Connie Mack, the grand old man of baseball, was at Ottawa Wednesday for the home opener of his Athletic of the International League. He was presented with a bouquet by a pretty girl but the Ottawa team failed to present him with a win.

Toronto Argonauts of the Big Four football union have signed halfback Ulysses Curtis to his third contract with the team. The Pennsylvania-born Negro was named to The Canadian Press All-Star teams in 1950 and 1951.

Fred Saigh, owner of St. Louis Cardinals, said Wednesday he will let baseball's top officials decide whether he should relinquish control of the club pending settlement of income-tax evasion charges against him. He said he is confident he will be cleared. Saigh faces five counts, charging he evaded $49,620 in taxes from 1946 through 1949.

The Maine Boxing Commission announced at Augusta Wednesday night that Rocky Marciano, who laced Joe Louis in the heavyweight upset of last year, has been suspended for 30 days for "deception" during a Maine exhibition tour. The suspension is effective on the heavyweight title contender in all states except New York.

St. Louis Browns, doormats of the American League for many seasons, have the turnstiles clicking in their current battle for first place. Attendance is running 30 per cent higher than last year. The Browns defeated Cleveland Indians 1-0 last night to take over the lead.

Jockey Willie Shoemaker, who will ride Count Flame in the Kentucky Derby, rode four winners at Jamaica race track, New York, Wednesday.

Detroit Tigers Give Rolfe Confidence Vote

CHICAGO, April 24 (AP)—The Detroit Tigers are sharpening their claws to climb out of the American League basement after giving Manager Red Rolfe a vote of confidence and shouldering all of the blame for a disastrous eight-game losing streak.

The Bengals hope to get their first taste of victory of the season tonight in St. Louis against the indomitable Browns who have nudged into the league lead.

That may be a tough job for the tail-enders who have lost their first eight games. But Wednesday's published report by a Cleveland sports columnist that there was "an anti-Rolfe feeling" among the players bordering on rebellion has kicked up their fur.

Secret Meeting

Before Wednesday's game with the White Sox at Comiskey Park was postponed by inclement weather, the players called a secret meeting and gave Rolfe an unanimous vote of confidence.

"We wanted Red to know we are back of him 100 per cent," said spokesman Freddie Hutchinson. "We want to refute the story about dissension. Such a story comes at a bad time. It is absolutely untrue. The fact that we haven't won a game is our fault, not the manager's."

Rolfe has long been recognized as one of the most intelligent and affable men in baseball. He is a disciple of Joe McCarthy under whom he played and later coached with the New York Yankees.

Like McCarthy, Rolfe has a certain aloofness. He believes that his station engenders respect rather than familiarity where his players are concerned.

Observers say that if there ever were any "feeling" among the Tigers, this attitude may have had something to do with it.

Hot Browns Still Advancing Get By Feller In 1-0 Win

By The Canadian Press

Things used to be pleasanter in St. Louis. Time was when visiting American League ball clubs could enjoy a leisurely visit to Sportsman's Park, fattening their batting averages and making all their pitchers look like Bob Feller. But in two days the revitalized Browns ended Cleveland's seven-game winning streak, hammered the Indians from first into third place, took over the top spot themselves and hung a defeat on Feller himself when the Tribe's ace was pitching his very best brand of ball.

Following the heels of a splendid eight-hitter by Tommy Byrne Tuesday, Bob Cain unfurled a one-hit masterpiece Wednesday night.

Cain had to pitch the best game of his life in order to win for Feller was magnificent, too, pitching a one-hitter himself. The lone Brownie safety, a triple by leadoff batter Bobby Young, proved Feller's undoing.

Marty Marion followed Young's first inning triple with a grounder to Al Rosen. When the third baseman fumbled, Young scored the only run of the game.

The Browns now have won seven games against a long defeat, not including an unfinished game with the Chicago White Sox in which St. Louis trailed, 10-2, at the end of seven innings. They own a won and lost percentage of .875 to the second place Boston Red Sox .800 percentage for an 8-2 record. Cleveland dropped to third with a 7-2 record.

Waited Long Time

It marked the first time since October 1, 1944, that any Brownie team ever occupied first place. The Browns won their only pennant that year. They finished in last place in 1951 with only 52 victories and 102 losses.

The only hit permitted by Cain was a harmless single by Luke Eastern in the fifth innings. The 27-year-old lefthander from Salina, Kansas, walked three but was aided by three double plays. He struck out seven.

It was the second time in major league history that each pitcher limited the opposition to one hit. On July 4, 1906, Mordecai (three-fingered) Brown of Chicago and Lefty Littlefield of Pittsburg permitted only one hit as the Cubs defeated the Pirates, 1-0.

It was the first one-hitter by Cain but the 11th for Feller, and the only one-hitter he ever lost. Ironically, Cain was Feller's victim when Bob pitched his third no-hitter last year against Detroit.

Down Yankees

Boston's youth-infested Red Sox, behind the five-hit pitching of 37-year-old Ellis Kinder, defeated the New York Yankees, 3-1.

New York Giants outslugged Boston Braves, 9-5, in the only National League game. Home runs by Alvin Dark, Don Mueller, Wes Westrum and reljef pitcher Hoyt Wilhelm featured the Giant victory.

Scheduled games between the St. Louis Cardinals and Cincinnati, Brooklyn and Philadelphia, Detroit and Chicago and Washington and the Philadelphia Athletics were postponed because of rain. Pittsburgh and Chicago Cubs were idle.

Alberta Mice Damaging Crops

EDMONTON, April 24 (CP).—Alberta's field mice appear to have wrested the large-family title from the old champion—the rabbit.

They're also being blamed for damage to fruit trees and small shrubs usually charged to the long-ears.

While all this is going on, the mice are keeping up with their own special damage to grain.

Hordes of the tiny mice first appeared when farmers lifted stooks of grain left in the fields over the winter. The grain was not harvested because of an early snow last fall.

The mice put in a busy winter. Some farmers report almost a total loss of grain from mice damage. Swathed grain—grain cut in rows and left lying flat and not in bundles—is said to be particularly hard hit.

"I checked several fields. . . . and in some spots damage was 100 per cent," said Charles Yule, former manager of the Calgary Exhibition and Stampede Horticulture supervisor P. D. McCalla says mice in the Edmonton area are causing extensive damage to small fruit trees and shrubbery. Similar damage is reported from Calgary.

Mr. McCalla said even small evergreen trees, particularly spruce, are being attacked. American elm, and green ash, were damaged at the provincial nursery at Oliver.

The mice gnawed 100 per cent of the crabapple trees at the nursery, he said. The damage consists of stripped bark near the base of the trees.

He said some of the damage may have been caused by rabbits but mice are by far worst offenders.

In Calgary, residents of a western section of the city have seen hundreds of the creatures migrating across roads despite heavy car traffic.

The infestations take place in cycles. The last in the southern part of the province, was apparently in 1942.

In the north, Robert Grendon of Edmonton went for a two-day trip to the country.

Returning to town, he found a squeak in the engine.

Lifting the car hood, he found that a mother mouse and her litter had moved in, setting up house in a nest a few inches from the fan.

Cricketers Planning Upon A Full Season

The Peterborough - Whitaker Cricket Club, preparing for the season's activities, will hold its first practice this Saturday afternoon in the Oval. The team stages its annual pre-season exhibition match with Grove in Lakefield on May 17.

The Toronto District Council opens June 7 and the local club has a schedule in it of 10 matches, five here and five in Toronto. Later, there may be an Ontario County championship match in the R. C. Matthews Trophy series, this trophy being won by the locals in 1948.

Only one team will operate here this year, though a second team will practice and may get some exhibition matches. Additional players are needed and newcomers here are invited to the Oval on Saturday. Also, former players and oldtimers wishing to return to play.

Cricket has been played here since the 1850s and it is hoped to keep the sport alive in Peterborough. Those interested in coming out to play should be at the first practice or phone Secretary H. Dibben at 5350. Frank Dyer is in his 21st term of office as captain, and he joined the club in 1924. A full schedule of matches for the season will be published later.

HEARING AID EXPERT OFFERS FREE PROOF THAT NO ONE NEED BE HARD OF HEARING

MR. GABRIEL

Every hard-of-hearing person is invited to visit our office on the date shown below, to learn of the very latest achievements in hearing aids and how you can wear one less conspicuously.

Mr Gabriel will prove to you that no one need be hard of hearing because of embarrassment or because they have never before found satisfactory relief for their hearing loss. Acousticon, the world's first and most experienced manufacturer of electrical hearing aids, offers you the choice of seven different models, every one designed to do a particular job. Prices range from $69.50 to $229.50.

Here are some of the models you will see:

SUPER-X-EAR—Designed to be worn four different ways—on the wrist— as a brooch—as a tie clip—as an ordinary aid. Microphone built on top to widen sound range and avoid clothing noise. Recommended for conductive or nerve type deafness.

MODEL A-152—For severe loss where greater power is required to give you clear, natural hearing.

MODEL A-200 CORDLESS—Revolutionary styling allows ladies to wear it with complete invisibility. No cords dangle down the neck, nothing worn in the clothing, no separate receivers or transmitters.

MODEL A-120B—For nerve-type deafness only. Sells for $69.50 with a ten-day money-back guarantee.

MODEL DR-1 RECEIVER—Designed to aid middle ear deafness. Worn with the appropriate Acousticon, this receiver lets you hear with nothing in your ear.

Last but not least is Service—your purchase is not complete without service. When you choose a hearing aid, make sure that your initial investment is not only a partial one, but that you are assured of prompt and on-the-spot service always. Acousticon offers the most complete service facilities in Peterborough—and all across Canada.

B'g Mental School Trains Defectives

MOOSE JAW, Sask.—(CP)—The Saskatchewan government's $3,000,000 training school for mental defectives, under construction just south of Moose Jaw, may be completed this year. The institution will house 1,000 patients with a staff of 300.

The training school is for defectives, not for those mentally ill. A mental defective is one who has never had normal intelligence and is permanently handicapped. They cannot hope for cures that are often effected with the mentally ill.

Objective of new school is to restore as many defectives as possible to the community. Numerous training opportunities are provided, including craftwork, gardening, farming, shoe repairing, sewing and cooking.

The institution will also offer a 500-hour training course for psychiatric nurses, similar to staff training courses now in operation at mental hospitals at North Battleford and Weyburn.

Included in the curriculum for patients is an educational program with qualified instructors providing academic training. Officials claim great progress for this type of program, in which persons unable to read or write under ordinary classroom conditions may be taught to acertain degree through special instruction.

Catching Up

MARGATE, England (CP) — Frederick Turtle, unemployed father of six children, received £6 3s 6d weekly through national assistance although his usual working income was less than £5. So Turtle was ordered to return money for shoes, bought for his daughter out of board funds.

Rail Gateman Wins Acquittal

HAMILTON, April 24 (CP) — James H. Chambers, railway crossing gateman, was acquitted Wednesday on a charge of manslaughter in the death of Alexander Minnigan, 63, last Feb. 28.

The supreme court jury, which freed him, also made two recommendations: That electrical warning devices be installed at the crossing; that the Hamilton Street Railway instruct its drivers not to obstruct the lowering of gates at level crossing.

A car driven by Minnigan was struck by a Canadian National Railways passenger train.

Chambers testified that he could not lower the gate on one side of the crossing when the train approached because a city bus was directly underneath. The gate at the other side was caught as it was being lowered.

U.S. BOUND — Former King Zog, of Albania, his wife, Queen Geraldine, and their son, Prince Leka, pose together during their celebration of the Prince's 13th birthday in Alexandria, Egypt. The one-time royal family of Albania is scheduled to take up permanent residence in the U.S. this summer.

Great Strides In Development

SAULT STE. MARIE, April 24—(CP)—Resources Minister Winters said Wednesday night "very great strides" are being taken to develop Canada's natural resources "and to manage them with prudence."

He told the Chamber of Commerce here that "there is no lack of a general policy for conservation and resources development" and that there is frequent and cordial co-operation between the federal and provincial governments and with the industry in this field.

Attracts Pupils

WOODVILLE, N.S. — (CP) — School nurse Maude McClellan reported a substantial increase in school attendance here since hot lunches have been provided at the noon recess.

Dub Gastric Ills 'Bachelor's Bane'

LONDON—(CP)—For long life, men—get married.

"Bachelors do not live as long as married men, are more prone to gastric ulcers and fail to stand up as well to a financial crisis," said a 35-year-old bachelor, Dr. Philip Tynan, writing in the trade paper, Family Doctor.

Gastric trouble is known to the medical profession as the bachelor's bane—or frying-pan ulcers, said Tynan.

Lightheartedly probing the reasons why men want to stay single, Tynan gives a few examples:

The man in a rut who does not know he is in one and thinks, if he marries he will be.

The man who never gets anyone quite good enough, and the one who is never quite good enough for anyone.

"Bachelors are not women-haters," the doctor writes. "Many enjoy feminine company so much they don't want to spoil their appreciation by marrying any of them."

And the doctor? "I am a bachelor only by chance," he said. "I have been engaged twice."

Would Ban Films

PARIS, April 24—(AP)—Paris taxi drivers want gangster films banned. Such movies, said the drivers' union, give people ideas about beating up drivers and robbing them.

Warns Moral Decay Great Threat To West

TORONTO, April 24 (CP)—The greatest threat to the Western world is its own moral decay, George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, said Wednesday night.

He warned that demoralization, even more than economic insecurity, was Communism's strongest ally and could destroy great civilizations. He was speaking to the St. George's Society of Toronto's annual dinner.

New Navy Program Designed To Meet Any Sub Blockade

By E. S. JOHNSON,
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON — (AP) — Britain is strengthening her Navy with powerful new units designed to meet a possible submarine blockade.

No provision is made in the current building budget for costly battleships and cruisers. Emphasis instead has been placed on construction of aircraft carriers, speedy frigates and anti-submarine destroyers.

Work at present is being speeded on five new carriers, 18 frigates, while two squadrons of eight destroyers, which alone involve an outlay of about £14,000,000, will be at sea by the beginning of next year.

With full load displacements of 3,700 tons and said to match some of the cruisers still on the active list, the new destroyers are regarded as the most powerful of their class. Their high speeds are still a secret.

First units to be completed, the Diamond and Daring will join the home fleet this spring. Another, the Diana, was recently launched.

Built to withstand atomic attack, their bridges are specially strengthened and streamlined, with main armaments completely enclosed in turrets. In action only a few of the personnel would be exposed on the upper deck.

Guns synchronized with radar detectors are designed to deal with jet propelled attackers. The ships are also fitted with the latest anti-submarine weapons, linked directly with underwater detectors.

But construction of frigates, to be used in the role of submarine hunter-killers in event of another war, continues to receive highest priority.

The Admiralty's program calls for withdrawal from reserve of some 45 conventional-type destroyers for conversion into frigates during the next three years at a cost of about £25,000,000. In addition, provision has been made for construction of several new frigates.

As during the Second World War, frigates and fast destroyers again would be assigned to convoy duty if another war broke out. But aided by new techniques and in co-operation with helicopter "spotters," the escorting ships would hunt submarine packs instead of waiting for them to attack.

In their special "killer" role ships of this class will be equipped with secret weapons, capable of detecting the approach of a submarine, pin-point its under-water position and attack it—all in a single operation.

British and American scientists are also reported to have developed a "homing torpedo" which can travel long distances towards its target. Still in its embryo stage this secret weapon is said to be able to move towards the source of any sound its delicate detectors may pick up.

To counter the threat of a mine blockade, regarded as a menace second only to the submarine, about 40 mine-sweepers have been ordered.

Negotiations Continue

TORONTO, April 24 (CP). — Negotiations between Simpsons Ltd., and Sears, Roebuck and Co. for formation of a new company to establish a number of retail stores throughout Canada are continuing, it was announced today. The new company, owned equally by Sears and Simpsons, will not affect the operation, management or control of Simpson's stores in five Canadian cities.

FLOOD DOESN'T DETER THIS BOY — John Vinson clambers through a window of his home — one of the many in the flood-evacuated area of Council Bluffs, Ia. — to get rations for his pet dog, Ragsey. The dog had to be left behind when the family evacuated and John worried so much about him starving that he got a police pass to visit the house. Grocery stores were closed, so John did the next best thing — he "robbed" his own house to feed an approving Ragsey.

Religious Play Wins Praise

TORONTO, April 24 (CP)—The Toronto Stage and Studio Group's production of "Simon the Leper" Wednesday night at the Central Ontario Drama League's one-act play festival was given special praise by adjudicator Edward Thommen.

The play was the first religious play he had seen which didn't embarrass him, he said. In fact, it moved him.

Mr. Thommen said the original play, "Dr. Anderson," produced by the Hamilton Community Council's drama committee and written by John Klaity, was a successful attempt for a new playwright.

QUEEN JULIANA of The Netherlands came back to Ottawa and a warm welcome recently for a six-day unofficial visit to the nation's capital and the wartime birthplace of her third child. On hand to join in the enthusiastic greeting were Rt. Hon. Vincent Massey, left, Canada's native-born Governor General, who greeted royalty for the first time in his new appointment, and a beaming Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent, right.

Canadian NBC Pioneer Retiring After 25 Years

By GLADYS LENNON,
Canadian Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, April 24—(CP)—A Mountie's daughter from the Canadian west set out 25 years ago to get her job in the pioneer field of radio broadcasting.

Her sleekly-waved hair now steel grey, Margaret Cuthbert will retire June 1 as NBC's supervisor of public affairs, her enthusiasm for radio work undimmed after a quarter-century she calls "magical."

"I still get a thrill every time I come into this building," she said in her tiny office tucked among the studios of Radio City. "I never know what I'll meet in the corridor. Today it was a man in georgeous red costume carrying a honey bear. Tomorrow it may be an elephant . . . "

Daughter of a Major in the Royal North West Mounted Police, Miss Cuthbert was born 60-odd years ago in Prince Albert, Sask. "Home" was wherever her father's work took him. From high school in Dawson City she went to Cornell University and after graduation returned home—then in Edmonton.

But Western Canada didn't seem to have the opportunities she was looking for and she decided to try New York "because it looked like a good place for women to make a living."

"I wouldn't feel that way now, though," she said. "I think Canada has the best opportunities for the future of any country in the world. If I were young, I would go back."

Crystal Set Did It

It was while listening to a crystal set in a Greenwich village apartment that she decided that her career would be in radio.

"I knew nothing about radio 25 years ago," she said. "There were few people who did except for the engineers . . . but I wanted to hear and know the people who have made these past 25 magical years.

"My friends were calling radio a 'tin-pan' business; H. G. Wells prophesied 'the broadcasting industry has no future.' But it thrilled me."

Miss Cuthbert set out to find a job. She had experience as executive secretary of Corneil's College of Home Economics and as a coder at the British Embassy in Washington.

RADIO PIONEER — Margaret Cuthbert, born "60-odd" years ago in Prince Albert, Sask., and one of the pioneers of radio broadcasting in the United States, is retiring as the National Broadcasting Company's supervisor of public affairs in June. Daughter of a major in the Royal Northwest Mounted Police—forerunner of the R.C.M.P.—Miss Cuthbert went to High School in Dawson City, Yukon, and to Cornell University. After graduation she returned home—then in Edmonton. Later she went to the United States and joined the N.B.C. staff.

At station WEAF (now WNBC) she found what she wanted—a job as director of speakers.

"One of the first speakers I had on Station WEAF was John Galsworthy, who would not speak unless a screen was put around him so nobody could see him. The next was Prince William of Sweden. I remember sweeping out the studio and the ash butts before he came."

For many years Miss Cuthbert headed NBC's women's and children's programs division, and more recently has handled public-service broadcasts.

Among program series she has developed and produced have been "Gallant American Women," "Echoes of History," and the long-run "NBC Theatre," which won a Peabody award for excellence in drama.

Many Honors

She has been president of the New York Chapter of American Women in radio and television and has won citations for achievement from a number of women's organizations.

Of these honors she says: "Perhaps the greatest was the opportunity to work in radio and become an executive with NBC. The other honor I care about was being born a Canadian. For that I claim no credit."

There are many things about her job that Miss Cuthbert "will be missing" after June 1. The deadlines to be met. The excitement of preparing programs for the air, from planning to tape-recording stage. The final editing to make a smooth performance, removing such rough spots as "the coughs of Lord Halifax" which, in tap-strips of varying length, hang from a book-shelf near her desk.

But in their place there will be a chance to "relax and lead the contemplative life," to "live out of doors by the sea," to "read all the books I have wanted to read, 'The Magnificent Century,' 'The Suburb by the Sea,' 'Postmarked Moscow.' All this and heaven too!"

TROOPS IN GERMANY—Canada's 27th Infantry Brigade is undergoing rigorous training in Munsterlager, Germany. Tank crews are breaking in on the new giant Centurion tanks in a series of exercises in support of three infantry battalions. Here, a platoon of men move off as a squadron of the Royal Canadian Dragoons line up.

Science Baffled By 10-Year Rabbit Cycles

By LORNE BRUCE,
Canadian Press Staff Writer

EDMONTON — (CP) — Science has been unable to explain why the rabbit population fluctuates violently in 10-year cycles, or why such a cycle is confined to the northern sections of the Northern Hemisphere.

Dr. William Rowan, 59-year-old Dean of the Zoology department of the University of Alberta, has spent 30 years on study of the twin problems which he calls "the most seemingly-insoluble puzzles in the world of animal conservation."

While the cycle is most marked in the case of rabbits, it applies also to certain insects, fish, non-migratory birds and mammals. It has been detected even in two imported species of birds, the grey partridge and the Hungarian pheasant.

Dr. Rowan says the cycle is the same all across northern Canada and possibly also Scandinavia and Siberia. He reports an "enormous" contrast between numbers in high and low years. One observer estimated there were 10,000 rabbits on 1½ acres of brush and muskeg at one peak period. Two years later the same countryside may be lifeless.

"So completely may rabbits die off locally that the expected peak of the next decade never develops," said Dr. Rowan. "In that case there is a 20-year gap between one peak and the next."

The cycle is most pronounced from the 53rd degree of north latitude—a few miles south of Edmonton—northward to the edge of the Arctic Barrens. Rabbits, lynx, all species of grouse and the grasshopper are all subject to cycles. Immune are larger animals such as deer, wolves and bear.

Ultra-Violet Rays

"Weather probably can be discounted as a controlling factor," said Dr. Rowan. He suggested cumulative deficiency of ultra-violet radiation might induce a nutritional unbalance. This in turn might lead to a predisposition to the spread of diseases of all kinds, as well as to harmful or perhaps fateful deficiency conditions.

But no single disease has been earmarked as the cause of the precipitate decline which followed peak periods. There are many diseases affecting the cycle species in the decline period. One test with rabbits indicated "a condition related to an abnormal carbohydrate metabolism," the cause of which is unknown, and which may result in nutritional unbalance.

Support for this theory comes from the fact that migratory birds do not show cyclic fluctuations, apparently because they remain in effective touch with ultra-violet radiation during the winter months.

Dr. Rowan said preliminary findings of these ultra-violet radiation tests, together with work by weather observatories, suggest there may be something in the atmosphere with a 10-year periodicity that may conceivably hold the answer to the animal cycle.

"The most logical cause," he said, "seems to be that some climatic factor with a 10 year rhythm of its own might impose the periodicity from beyond the lower atmosphere."

Magazine Suggests New National Anthem

LONDON — (AP)—With a new sovereign on the Throne, editors of a British magazine think it's time for a new National Anthem, too.

So the weekly Spectator has started a competition for words to replace what it calls the present "deplorable jingle" of an anthem —"God Save The Queen."

The words, of uncertain authorship, date from about 1745 and aren't much better than might be produced by a street-corner singer, says the Spectator.

"Why should we be content to cut this figure among nations like France or the United States or Canada, which have notable and worthy national anthems of their own?"

In a line-by-line criticism, the magazine singles out "Send her victorious" as inappropriate in what is hoped will be a reign of peace, describes "happy and glorious" as none too well chosen and throws up its hands in despair over "long-to-reign-orious."

British Railways Offer Tourists Special Ticket

By FORBES RHUDE,
Canadian Business Editor

Canadians and Americans are to be given an added inducement to visit around the British countryside.

The inducement will be in the form of a special ticket, good for nine consecutive days, on which Canadian or American visitors may travel on British railways as often as they like and as far as they like, at a set price of $30 third-class, and $45 first-class.

The new travel-gadget is aimed especially at the short-term visitor with about a week at his disposal; perhaps after he has made his main visit to relatives, finished a business errand in London, or made a side-trip to the continent.

The plan is announced by David Blee, Executive Chief of British Railways, now on a visit to Toronto and Montreal after an American tour.

Aside from getting customers for the railways, he said, it is hoped the plan will encourage visitors to stop off at small centres see old inns and other picturesque or historic spots, and chat with people away from the large cities and more obvious centres of interest.

No Exchanging

The holder of the special ticket won't have to bother calling at booking offices or exchanging it at stations—he will just present it on any train on the dates for which he has asked it to be stamped. He will have the choice of 7,000 stations and 52,000 miles of track, from which to pick his stops.

Mr. Blee said that apart from the special ticket attraction, a new fare structure will be introduced May 1, "the broad effect of which will be to make rail travel in Britain for the Canadian traveller the most economical in history —as little as two cents per mile."

British railways, Mr. Blee said, constitute the largest and busiest system in the world. The system employs 600,000 people, operates more than 1,000,000 freight cars and 42,000 passenger cars, hauled by 19,000 locomotives.

After 45 Years Finds Childhood Friends

WATERLOO, April 24 (CP) — Almost 45 years of letter-writing by Arthur Holland to find two childhood friends—brothers who had been raised in the same foster home in Britain—paid off in a reunion party here Tuesday.

Mr. Holland last saw Charles and Arthur Hull in 1907, shortly after he arrived in Canada as a boy. After that, he wrote a letter each time he saw the mention of a Charles or Arthur Hull.

Last week he found the right Arthur Hull in Morris township, Huron county. Then he learned that Charles Hull has been living carried on at a loss for some time. for 35 years.

Ethnic Press Clubs

TORONTO, April 24 (CP). — Formation of an ethnic press club for editorial staffs of Toronto's 15 foreign-language newspapers was announced Wednesday. G. N. Orden, secretary, said the club has been formed "because immigrants to this country tend to form ghettos." The club would try to break down the barriers between national groups.

Restore Old Name To Fort Macleod In July

MACLEOD, Alta. (CP)—Citizens of this thriving Southern Alberta town will turn back the pages of history next July. They will celebrate the restoration of the town's original name of Fort Macleod.

The celebrations will attempt to recreate the spirit of the old west for the town that got its start 78 years ago when the late Col. J. F. Macleod led a little band of Mounties into the trading post on the banks of the Old Man River.

With the coming of the North West Mounted Police in 1874, the first law and order was established in Alberta.

Recently the town's Chamber of Commerce decided that the slogan "Fort Macleod, the home of the Mounties"—as it was many years ago—would hold some interest for tourists and help the town prosper.

The town council took up the matter and under the provisions of the Alberta Town and Village Act passed a resolution to change the name back to Fort Macleod. Approval was given by the Alberta government.

The change is effective April 1. But it will be celebrated in July, when the usual stampede show will be dropped and, instead, emphasis placed on recreating the pioneer days and the colorful saga of the plains indians and the Mounties.

Efforts will be made to obtain a huge representation of Indians from all the Southern Alberta reservations.

The change of name hasn't passed without some opposition. The postal authorities notified town council that permission for the change could not be approved as there was already a Fort Mcleod in British Columbia. The Canadian Pacific Railway also registered disapproval.

Council Acts

The town council passed a resolution instructing its secretary to write the Postmaster General and the Regional Superintendent of the C.P.R. advising them that the name of the town had been changed and would take effect April 1.

The weekly Macleod Gazette reported it found little or no interest in the change.

"The only Mounties now here are those of the local detachment, who rode motor cars, even though still wearing spurs as a concession to old times," the paper said.

"The remains of Fort Macleod have long since gone down the river, and all that is left to mark the site of the barracks are a few stunted trees west of the town, and an old house in a very decrepit condition."

There were actually two early forts here.

The first Fort Macleod was established by the red coats on an island in the Old Man River. It was built of logs. The usual picket stockade surrounded the fort and a few log cabins and a couple of stores made up the town.

It wasn't long before the first fort fell victim to the river. Flooded out, the Mounties moved to higher ground and the town followed.

The town was first named Macleod Dec. 31, 1892, when it was incorporated as a town. It continued to be known as Macleod after Alberta became a province in 1905.

Campaign To Poison Weasel Proves Costly

ORILLIA, April 24 (CP)—E. A. Cottrell has been waging a costly campaign to poison the animal—apparently a weasel—that has been raiding his hen house.

After finding several beheaded fowl, he set out poison on bread and dead chickens.

So far his campaign has killed 19 chickens, his dog, her six pups, three pigs, four skunks, two raccoons, three tame rabbits and one crow.

The weasel is still dining on live chickens. Weasels won't touch either bread or dead chcikens.

Mayor Turns First Sod For Wading Pool

Mayor Hugh Waddell officially turned the first sod at the Lions Club's new wading pool venture at the McKellar totlot Wednesday afternoon. Actually work began on Monday.

The wading pool, the second sponsored by the Lions Club, will be 50 feet by 50 feet, six inches deep at the sides and 16 inches deep at the centre. A four-foot wide catwalk will surround the pool. It is expected to be opened June 15

Joseph Brown, wading pool committee chairman, said today that there will be no dressing-room facilities; at least built by the club. He explained that the mothers could easily take the children to the pool in their bathing suits.

Will Be Supervisors

But as at Riverside park, the club will be providing the wading pool supervisors. These guards will be watching the activities in the wading pool while the city will provide playground supervisors as in other years.

Mr. Brown pointed out that the wading pool will be equippped with a chlorination unit to purify the water. This unit is similar to that used at the Lions' pool and wading pool at Riverside park.

While turning the sod, Mayor Waddell thanked the club for its efforts in providing swimming facilities. He pointed out that the south end was neglected as far as recreation is concerned and that the wading pool will fill a need there.

The McKellar wading pool project is the second swimming pool built by the club. This year the club burned the mortgage on the Riverside project which cost $68,000.

LIONS CLUB SECOND SECOND VENTURE in swimming facilities for young people was started on Wednesday when the first sod was turned at the McKellar totlot for a wading pool. The club has just completed a $68,000 project at Riverside Park which included a wading pool and swimming pool. Joseph Brown (left, above) heads the wading pool committee. Rev. J. C. Moloney To Attend Congress

CAMPBELLFORD, April 24 — (ENS)—The Rev. J. C. Moloney of St. Mary's plans to leave Montreal on May 1 aboard the S.S. Ascania to attend the 35th Eucharistic Congress to tke place in Barcelona, Spain. Father Moloney will travel as a member of the Ottawa diocese pilgrimage, under His Excellency Alexandre Vachon, Archbishop of Ottawa. Spiritual director of the pilgrimage is Monsignor J. V. Croteau, S.C.

They will return to Montreal on June 24 aboard the Empress of France, sailing from Liverpool.

One feature of the pilgrimage will be a five day stay in Rome. The schedule will take the pilgrims to Barcelona about May 29 and they will attend the congress. They will leave Barcelona on June 2, and will cross the Iberian Peninsula, stopping at the capital of Spain, Madrid, and on to the Portuguese capital of Lisbon.

No Place In Russia For Free Love—Order

MOSCOW, April 24 (AP) — The Communist youth newspaper, Komsomol Pravda Wednesday condemned free love as something unwanted in Soviet society.

It explained that in the early years of the Russian revolution "we had theoreticians who openly preached the gospel of free love," according to which "it would be as easy for any one to satisfy his or her sexual needs as to drink a glass of water."

Komsomol Pravda condemned such theoreticians as false Marxists dragging corrupt bourgeois immorality into Soviet life.

It said love unites the Soviet people and is inseparable "from the urge to devote all one's energy to the great cause of Lenin and Stalin."

Considering Raise

Refuse To Continue Cruise Ship Service

TORONTO, April 24 (CP) —Canada Steamship Lines told the Board of Control Wednesday the C.S.L. couldn't justify the continued operation of the cruise ship Cayuga, which ran excursions across Lake Ontario.

C.S.L. said the service had been carride on at a loss for soZme time. However, C.S.L. said it would be glad to sell the ship to anyone interested in carrying on the service.

Earlier the Board had asked the company to reconsider its decision.

Cattlemen Start Trek To Beat Bad Drought

By HAROLD TILLEY

DARWIN, Australia, April 24—(Reuters) — A young Australian rancher and five native stockmen have started a grim, 20th-century cattle-drive through the scorched wastes of Northern Territory to save 1,000 head of beef from perishing in the drought.

J. L. S. Macfarlane, now three days out under a searing sun, is following a dusty stock route beaten out generations ago.

Before leaving on the 1,000-mile trek to the green grass of Queensland Macfarlane said: "The worst that can happen is that we lose the lot. We might have done that anyway if we stayed home in the drought."

Already an estimated 30,000 cattle have died in the parched scrub of the Northern Territory, which hasn't seen rain in six months.

Macfarlane plans to drive his cattle to Borroloola, on the Gulf of Carpentaria, across 430 miles of land where the air is filled with the stench of rotting flesh.

Must Swim Rivers

From Borroloola, Macfarlane will head southeast to Kajabbi, in Northwest Queensland where he can put his cattle on a train for the south.

A dozen or so rivers crisscross his path. The whole herd, with the 45 pack horses he is taking, will have to swim some of them.

Macfarlane hopes to finish the first part of his trek in eight weeks.

Almost all the western half of Australia suffered in the recent droughts, the worst in 50 years. Besides the death of thousands of head of cattle, crop damage is estimated at $25,000,000. Rain has brought relief to most parts, but the Northern Territory got no relief.

Won't Give Up Tax Demands

QUEBEC, April 24 — (CP) — Premier Duplessis Wednesday night guaranteed his government would never "raise the white flag of abdication" in its demands for a larger share of taxation revenues.

The Premier's hour-long address to nearly 1,500 supporters climaxed a banquet organized to celebrate his 62nd birthday and the 25th anniversary of his entrance into political life.

Mr. Duplessis, who spoke briefly in English after delivering his main speech in French, did not indicate the date of the provincial elections, expected some time this summer. The government's term ends in 1953.

He reviewed his government's record, including construction of schools, hospitals, roads and bridges, hydro-electric developments, mining developments, rural electrification and pensions to the aged, needy mothers and the blind.

He compared these developments with what he termed the "inactivity" of Liberal regimes prior to 1936, when he first was swept into power.

He then asked, without specifically referring to elections, if the choice is difficult between the Union Nationale and the "descendants" of former Liberal regimes.

Labor's Appetite For Battle Whetted By Recent Results

By ALAN HARVEY,
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, April 24—(CP)—Parliament is back in session after the Easter recess and indications are the holiday spirit won't last long.

From all accounts, the Conservative government and the Labor opposition spent the Easter interlude brushing up on the intricacies of parliamentary procedure and otherwise preparing for what some observers think may be the toughest series of sittings since the war

The two parties, keenly feeling the rivalry that results when the contestants are so evenly matched, adjourned two weeks ago in an aggressive mood and nothing has occurred to foreshadow any easing in the pressure.

Labor has naturally been hostile ever since the Conservatives came back to power in last October's general election. Recently its appetite for battle has been whetted by the results of local elections, which pointed to a sharp swing away from the government.

The Socialists now claim the Conservatives have no mandate for contentious legislation. If an election were held tomorrow, they argue, Labor would be swept back into office with a clear-cut majority.

This feeling is so strong that the left-wing New Statesman and Nation already is slightly panicky about a possible premature return to power.

"Labor is in grave danger," it says. "It is in danger of finding itself in office, put there by an angry electorate before it has ironed out its own divisions or decided on a program for another five years of office."

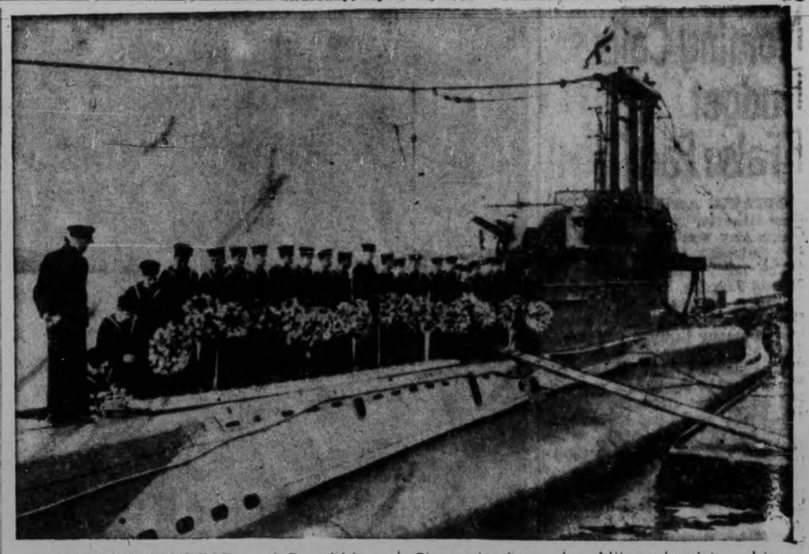
One of the most intriguing things about the present state of parliamentary passions is that most of the excitement seems to be generated by rank-and-file members. For Labor, the ginger group appears to be headed by Geoffrey Bing, member for Hornchurch, leading a section known as the "Bing Wing" which has put every kind of obstacle in the way of government legislation.

So far, Winston Churchill's administration has succeeded in passing only one piece of legislation promised in last November's speech from the throne—the bill to revive the wartime home guard.

On the Conservative side, similarly, the back-benchers appear to be the more active. Talk of "revolts" by Conservative rank-and-file committees has been openly heard, although there is no suggestion that loyalty has been shaken.

In fact, the solidarity of the ruling party is clearly reflected in parliamentary voting figures. In the present parliament, the Conservatives have won the 82 divisions in which the opposition challenged them by an average majority of 40 votes—considerable higher than the actual Tory majority in parliament of 16.

The feeling of frustrated Tories is perhaps best described by observers who refer humorously to the malcontents as "F.F.G.S."—meaning not exactly disgruntled, but far from "gruntled."



HONOR THEIR DEAD — A Royal Navy detail holds wreaths aboard the British submarine Alliance at Gosport, preparing to drop them over the spot in the English Channel where the Alliance's sister ship, H.M.S. Affray submerged and never resurfaced just a year ago. Affray's crew of 75 officers and men perished in the disaster.

Dutch Migrant Awarded Honors

AULAC, N.B.—(CP)—The success story of Frank Duizer adds credit to the reputation of immigrants from the Netherlands.

The latest achievement in a remarkable series by the 19-year-old native of Holland was gained at the Maritime Spring Stock Show and Sale in nearby Amherst, N.B. He won the junior judging championship.

When Frank arrived in Canada with his sister and brother-in-law four years ago he had no knowledge of English. Last year he won the junior public-speaking competition—in English—at the Maritime Winter Fair in Amherst.

When he moved to the Aulac cattle-breeding farm of W. R. Trueman a year and a half ago, he was unfamiliar with the specialties of beef livestock-raising and grain-growing. Yet, as a member of the Port Elgin Memorial School Grain Club, he was one of two youngsters chosen to represent New Brunswick in junior grain-judging at the Royal Winter Fair in Toronto.

In addition, the Canadian Council of Boys and Girls selected Frank as one of two spokesmen at its conference in conjuction with the Royal Winter Fair. He represented Eastern Canada.

His most recent accomplishment— winning the junior judging title at the Maritime Spring Stock Show—calls for a thorough knowledge of the fine points of beef livestock. The championship is not easily won, as Maritime junior farmers have been providing keen competition in cattle shows.

Increase Output Of Plain Foods

OTTAWA —(CP)—Canadian food processors turned their production from fancy to plain foods in 1951.

They produced less chewing gum, chocolates, candy, sugar confectionery, marshmallows, jams, jellies, marmalades and other sweet-tooth foods than in 1950.

Instead, they boosted their production of such things as infant foods, soda biscuits, plain and fancy biscuits, canned tomato and vegetable soups, tomato catsup, cereals, process cheese, pudding powders and canned meats.

The Bureau of Statistics, reporting the industry's production totals for 1951, said the output also was down in baked beans, marachino cherries, fruit peel, quick-frozen fruits and vegetables, relishes, baking powder, jelly powders, salad dressing and sandwich spreads.

It was up in roasted coffee, food drinks, dry and canned macaroni, mincemeat, salted and roasted peanuts, peanut butter, pie filling powders and fresh and dried yeast.

Over-Heated Pipes

OMEMEE, April 24 (ENS) — Over-heated pipes made it necessary to call the Omemee Fire Brigade Monday morning to the home of Mr. and Mrs. S. McConnell, two miles east of the village.

Mrs. McConnell said that a slight explosion in the stove where bricketts were burning, preceeded the pipe fire which caused the wallpaper to ignite. The flames spread to the ceiling where Mrs. McConnell fought it with wet clothes. On arrival the brigade applied chemicals.

Other than the burning of the paper, damage was chiefly from smoke and was confined to the kitchen, dining-room and two upstairs rooms.

Trade Balance Good

OTTAWA, April 24 CP).—Canada's trade balance continued to boom in March. In a preliminary statement, the Bureau of Statistics Wednesday estimated total domestic exports during the month increased to $352,400,000 from $290,200,000 in March last year. Imports dropped to $327,500,000 from $342,500,000.

Predicts Hook-Up

MANCHESTER, April 24 (Reuters).—Britain's aviation pioneer, 68-year-old Lord Brabazon, opened a radio and television exhibition Wednesday by prophesying television hook-ups between Britain and the United States. "In a short time I can see the whole of Wall Street stopping to watch a cricket match," he said.

Plan Legislation To Allow Corneal Graft Operations

LONDON —(CP)—Thousands of blind people in the United Kingdom have been given new hope that their sight may some day be restored.

Their rising optimism rests on the fate of legislation to be introduced in the House of Commons providing for removal of existing restrictions on what is known as corneal graft operations.

Surgeons complain that many are condemned to live in blindness when the grafting of a tiny piece of tissue from the eyes of a dead person, would bring back sight.

The delicate operation must be performed immediately after a death, but the law forbids removal of such tissue until it is too late to be of any help to the living.

The new bill, with the blessing of the Ministry of Health, will be introduced by Gerald Williams, Conservative member of parliament for Tonbridge. It will be jointly sponsored by a Doctor of Philosophy, Horace M. King, Socialist member for Southampton.

Intense public interest has been aroused in the campaign to have the law amended. Medical men say that if the measure gains parliamentary approval, as expected, immediate steps will be taken to set up a national eye-bank.

Williams hopes to introduce the new bill after the Easter recess.

"Our main concern and that of the surgeons," he said, "is to ensure that the donation of these corneas shall be completely voluntary and with the consent of all concerned."

Fleming Calls Budget "False Face"

OTTAWA, April 24 CP).—Finance Minister Abbott's budget Wednesday was given a new description—the false-face-budget.

The label was suggested by Donald Fleming, Progressive Conservative member for Toronto Eglinton, as the budget debate moved slowly through the second day.

Mr. Fleming said when the "false face" of the budget was ripped away, the Canadian people found they would pay higher taxes this year than in 1951, when taxation was the "worst in Canadian history at that time."

The budget should not have been presented April 8, but "on Hallowe'en."

Any Place Better?

James Sinclair, parliamentary assistant to the Finance Minister, offered the main government defence of fiscal policies. In the face of all criticism, he said, he would simply ask where in the world was there another country "with a sounder economic position, a better fiscal policy, better development, or a higher level of employment than this country of Canada."

Stanley Knowles (C.C.F.-Winnipeg North Centre) and the Rev. Dan McIvor L.-Fort William) also spoke in the debate.

Mr. Knowles said Canadians had been "tricked" because the government did not accept direction from the Commons to eliminate the four-per-cent floor on medical deductions from income taxes. Members had unanimously endorsed a C.C.F. resolution to that affect and he still hoped the government would change its mind.

Mr. McIvor, a United Church minister, appealed for government action to aid the incapacitated.

Mr. Sinclair said J. M. Macdonnell (P.C.-Toronto Greenwood), chief financial critic of the Progressive Conservative opposition, had had to go to The Atlantic Monthly, a magazine devoted to literature, poetry and the arts, to find criticism of the budget. In the same library where he found The Atlantic Monthly Mr. Macdonnell wouldn't have had to look far for many responsible journals which lauded the budget.

Reduce Debts

Since the end of the war Canada had reduced the principal on its debts by $2,300,000,000, paying the total cost of the first 3½ years of the war. The government was criticized for relying on hidden taxes for revenue, but last year more than 63 per cent of revenue came from direct taxes.

Mr. Sinclair said the government considered the C.C.F. motion suggesting elimination of the four-per-cent floor on medical expenses for income-tax purposes, but decided instead to lift the ceiling on amounts taxpayers could deduct.

Intolerable Load

Mr. Fleming said the intolerable load of taxation being carried by the people focused attention on the budget. The people were not fooled. The general opinion was that if it was possible, this budget was worse than the last one.

The government seemed to write its tune to fit the occasion. There had been no talk of debt reduction when Mr. Abbott budgeted for a $30,000,000 surplus in the last budget. But as the surplus grew, government spokesmen including Prime Minister St. Laurent, began the "tune" about the advantages of retiring the debt. Now the "tune" had changed again. Mr. Abbott now was budgeting, in effect, for a balanced budget and there was no more talk about debt reduction.

Mr. Fleming said his party wanted to see the national debt reduced. But it wanted to see it done in an orderly manner and not because of bad budgeting and over-taxation.

DAM PROTECTS CITY—Measures intended to bolster Duncairn dam, 25 miles upstream from Swift Current, Sask., are being continued in an effort to relieve pressure on the undermined flood gates. A buffer dam behind a threatened spillway has been completed and workmen now are striving to widen and strengthen it. Water trapped between the extra dam and the spillway is being pumped out to relieve pressure. For a time, the Duncairn dam was threatened and some families in Swift Current—population 7,500—were evacuated. At left centre bulldozers and crews near completion of the buffer dam. The weakened flood gates are shown, centre, and, at right, the shattered spillway where rushing flood waters found a crack in the smooth cement surface and washed away 150 feet before the gates could be closed.

Doctor Says Women Hounded By Tales Of RH Factor

LONDON, Ont., April 24—(CP)—American women are being 'hounded to death" by popular articles about the RH factor, a prominent American obstetrician and gynecologist, said here Wednesday.

Dr. J. P. Greenhill of Chicago, addressing the London Academy of Medicine, said the fear of bearing doomed children because of this factor was unjustified.

Speaking on new advances in obstetrics and gynecology, Dr. Greenhill was one of two American doctors brought in by the academy for its annual academy day. The other speaker was Dr. M. I. Rubin of Buffalo, who discussed disease of the kidney.

The RH factor is a substance found in the red blood cells of most persons. Some 14 per cent of individuals do not have this substance. Its presence or absence is indicate by RH positive and RH negative.

RH negative women, who married RH positive men, may give birth to babies suffering from a blood condition which often leads to death.

Dr. Greenhill said that only about 12 per cent of RH negative women marry RH positive men.

In addition, he said, statistics show that the first baby of such a marriage practically always is normal. The second baby in about 2 per cent of the cases is affected and this percentage rises gradually with successive children.

Gardiner Hesitates To Make Statement

OTTAWA, April 24 (CP)—Agriculture Minister Gardiner said Wednesday that he hesitated to make a general statement on the spread of foot-and-mouth disease in Saskatchewan because "you can scare people too much these days by saying certain things."

He was replying in the Commons to a question by Gordon Graydon (PC-Peel). Mr. Graydon said he seemed to recall hearing reports that the new outbreak in Saskatchewan was spread through frozen meat which originated in the quarantine area.

Mr. Gardiner said he would hesitate to make a statement on that matter, though he would be willing to discuss the matter with Mr. Graydon and "give him any facts which I have."

UNDER THE GUN — Guarded by an armed civilian, typical of those who brought off the recent revolution in Bolivia, Herman Siles Suazo, leader of the rebels, works at his desk at La Paz. He recalled exiled President Victor Paz Estenssoro, who told Bolivianos he will nationalize the country's tin industry.

ANNOUNCE INSPECTION DATE

The annual inspection of the 50th H. A. A. Regiment, will be held on May 13, Brigadier A. F. B. Knight, O. B. E., commanding officer of the Eastern Ontario area will be the inspecting officer.

TEACH IN URBAN SCHOOLS

Peterborough normal school students this week finish their practice teaching periods in the city schools. They are teaching in urban school classrooms in their home cities, towns and villages.

CADET GRADUATES

Sgt. Carl Alexander of 346 Stewart St., is one of 29 Ontario cadets who will graduate Friday from the Canadian Services' College, Victoria. Altogether there are 60 graduates from across Canada who will be officially completing their two-year course at the tri-service college.

INJURED BY SLEDGEHAMMER

While helping neighbors who were working on a well Wednesday evening, Morris Telford, 26, R.R. 1, Peterborough, was injured when a piece of steel broke off a sledgehammer. Mr. Telford was holding a chisel while another man hit it with the metal hammer. A fragment flew off the hammer and lodged in his right thigh. He was taken to Civic Hospital for treatment.

TEACHER-BOARD MEET

A meeting of the liaison committee, consisting of members of the Board of Education and elementary and secondary school teachers, is scheduled to discuss four topics tonight. They are the teachers' retirement allowance, a 12-month (instead of 10-month), pay plan, heating and ventilation problems at P.C.V.S., and general policy on a proposed single salary schedule.

INTERVIEW PUPILS

High school pupils, interested in teaching as a career, are being interviewed this week by masters from the Peterborough Normal School. More than 160 high school students, from Kingston on the east, west to Orillia, and north to Bancroft, have indicated that they may attend normal school next term. But they have to meet the requirements first, the most important being the departmental exams.

Brinton Carpet Employees Ask Wage Hike 10 Cents An Hour, Negotiate New Contract

A raise in pay, including a general increase of 10 cents-an-hour, is being asked by Local 822, Textile Workers Union of America (CIO-CCL) who today are beginning contract negotiations with the Brinton-Peterborough Carpet Co.

200 Affected

Some 200 production workers at the plant are affected.

Besides the wage boost the union are asking for the Rand formula (i.e. all employees pay union dues but actual membership in the union is on a voluntary basis); $25 hospitalization, paid by the company, for 13 weeks; reduction of the work week from 48 to 40 hours; seniority of union executives and stewards; and automatic progressions to the top rates within a year.

For "down time" (i.e. when the machines are not running) the union are asking average hourly earnings computed on a three-month basis. They also want average hourly earnings for the eight statutory holidays.

The existing contract expired in February.

Fuel Oil Price Decreases Cost Of Gasoline Stays Put

A reduction in the wholesale price of fuel and stove oils will be passed on to the consumer, while a slightly larger reduction in the wholesale price of gasoline will not be. Shell and Imperial Oil company officials announced the price cuts Wednesday. They are: 4/10 of a cent a gallon on gasoline and 3/10 of a cent a gallon on stove and fuel oils.

Service station operators telephoned today said they would not be passing on the reduction in price. "We operate on a pretty slim margin as it is," said one.

Drama Festival Looks Fine In Pictures

How did the recent Eastern Ontario Regional Drama Festival held in Peterborough look to outsiders? What did it look like behind the scenes as 10 groups presented plays at the collegiate auditorium in five days?

WEEKEND magazine sent along a photographer, Louis Jaques, and a reporter, Don O'Donnell, to have a look. That they were impressed is evident from their story and pictures that appear this Saturday in the Examiner.

The festival was a success financially (it made $1,500), artistically and everyone was happy about the fine adjudication offered by Pierre LeFevre.

Following their practice in summer, many people of neighboring towns came to see the plays and Peterborough's enthusiastic theatre goers nearly filled the collegiate auditorium for matinees and evening performances.

You will find many pictures of local personalities caught in unguarded moments by Louis Jaques camera reproduced in the story.

RCAF Offers Courses For Top Air Cadets

OTTAWA, April 24 (CP)—The R.C.A.F. will institute summer training courses in ground crew trades for outstanding senior air cadets this year, Air Cadet League headquarters announced today.

The first such course, of seven weeks duration, will be held at Trenton, Ont., starting July 7.

Some 51 air cadets will receive the special training this year.

Selections will be made by the provincial committees of the league upon a quota system based on air cadet population in each of the provinces.

C. Of C's Plan How To Help Retail Merchants

Chamber of Commerce and Board of Trade secretary-managers considered ways to help retail business men in the wind-up session of their two-day regional conference at the Empress Hotel Wednesday afternoon.

Passing reference was also made to the problem of whether or not to demand premiums on American dollars from U.S. tourists. But the one group that discussed the question was divided. Some said the Canadian dollar was "jolly well at a premium" and the American money "should be discounted." Others felt such a move would endanger business.

Discussion groups considered four ways chambers of commerce might help retailers: 1 What type of organization should be set up within your chamber to serve the retailers? 2 How can we attract business to the community? 3 What special services may be rendered to the merchants in your town? and 4 What is your chamber doing to control solicitations?

Have Representation

Most agreed there should be some retail merchants committee in each chamber of commerce with representation on the board of directors so that retailers' problems and view point could be brought into the policy of the chambers.

One controversial idea that was offered on how to attract business to the community was that holidays should be held on the day they fell in the week rather than shifting the holiday to fall in with a weekend. This way, it was explained, visitors would know when the holiday would be held and would not be confused by a shift in the date. There was no discussion on the subject.

It was suggested that one thing chambers could do as a special service to merchants would be promote detailed training of employees that they could better serve both the merchant they worked for and the consumer.

All at the convention agreed that itinerant peddlars and hawkers should be controlled, but apart from suggesting that probably a bylaw was the way to do it, no ideas were offered.

In commenting after the reports of the groups had been made, Harold Pollock, secretary manager of the Lindsay Chamber of Commerce, had several suggestions of his own to offer. He said the employees should be made "profit-conscious." He deplored the practice of price-cutting or reduced prices. He said the chambers should bring together competing merchants "to protect their margin of profit." The merchants gained nothing by price cutting.

Mr. Pollock advised merchants to stress the quality of their products and with a good sales organization backed by advertising directed by a well-defined company policy merchants could improve their sales. He said it was up to the chambers to help small stores combine to form policies to compete with larger chain stores.

Carl A. Pollock, Ontario vice-president of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce, thanked the men and women who attended the meeting and the men who had organized the conference. He said that in all 27 boards of trade and chambers of commerce had been represented by 127 men and women.

Rev. J. Dudgeon Brought To City Religious Revival

The minister who brought what was said to be Peterborough's greatest revival in many years died Wednesday in Port Credit.

He was the Rev. James H. Dudgeon, 80, who was minister at St. James' United Church from 1928 to 1931.

A. E. Prest, 242 Lansdowne St., was on the board of St. James' at the time, and recalled today that Mr. Dudgeon was noted throughout the district for the many conversions he made and for the number of people he brought back to the church.

A Methodist minister before church union in 1925, Mr. Dudgeon's evangelical fervor was strong and held its strength throughout his active ministry.

Went To London

From Peterborough, Mr. Dudgeon went to a United Church in London, Ont., later establishing an evangelistic tabernacle in that city. In later years he retired, and moved to Port Credit.

He is survived by five daughters, Mrs. Frank Stevens (Ethel) of Springville, Mrs. W. Wright (Lillian), Marjorie, Mrs. V. N. Black (Dorothy), all of Port Credit; Mrs. D. Pacella (Gladys), of Toronto, and one son, Dr. C. A. Dudgeon, Port Credit. His wife, the former Elizabeth Montgomery, predeceased him.

Funeral service will be in Port Credit at 2 p.m. Saturday, and burial will be in a Clarkson cemetery.

No Move Yet Of OPP Headquarters

There is no immediate prospect of O.P.P. district headquarters moving to a new location, Inspector J. A. Stringer said today. Reports have been circulating that the O.P.P. were considering moving to new quarters, owned by the city. The lease on the present building occupied by the O.P.P. at Charlotte and Park Sts., does not expire until February 1953 and no decision has been made as yet, in regard to renewing the lease, or looking for a new building elsewhere in the city, Inspector Stringer said.

Peterborough Borrowed $1,228,253 In 1951

Peterborough went into the money market last year for new loans amounting to $1,228,253.83 for local improvements, schools, Utilities Commission and so on. That total is quoted from the report prepared by City Auditor Edward Humpage for the Ontario Department of Municipal Affairs.

"Debentures maturing and paid in 1951 were $802,866. Thus, the gross debenture debt was increased in 1951 by $425,388 to $5,899,774, while the net debt, after allowing for the sinking fund reserve is $5,723,459, as against $4,844,605 in 1950."

The total municipal revenue last year was $2,722,354.83, and the deficit for the year was $5,699.92; so the total expenditure as shown in the Humpage preliminary survey was $2,728,054.75.

"A summary of revenue and expenditure shows a net deficit of $5,942.76 from the previous year. Actual revenue exceeded the estimated revenue by $43,160, while ordinary expenditures exceeded the estimated expenditures by $60,985.

More Spending

On the expenditure side considerable increases over the previous year were shown, particularly in health, sanitation, social services and education.

Revenue from Wartime Housing in lieu of taxes was $33,327.

On the expenditure side, considerable increases are shown. The total was $340,000 higher than 1950."

Those several financial facts from the municipality's financing last year are: new borrowing, $1,228,253.83; net increase $425,388; total of the debenture debt at the end of 1951 was $5,899,774.

Get Increase In Taxes

"A comparative statement for a three year period of revenue and expenditure shows taxation revenue to have increased in 1951 by $286,000 over 1950, which is due to the increase in assessment amounts, and the taxes on new properties.

Interest earnings in the City Trust account over sinking fund requirements amounted to $2,807.08; an amount of $4,555.23 was was received for buildings sold, etc., while charges to the surplus account amounted to $31,458.72, leaving the present surplus to be $13,463.50.

Charges on the city's debenture debt last year were: principal $342,339; interest $199,298; total $541,627. Corresponding charges next year will be $528,671."

Mr. Humpage set out detail of the 1951 revenues as follows:

From the municipal taxes $2,214,664.74; plus recoverable debenture debt charges $178,804.26; from Wartime Housing $33,327.36, a federal payment.

Also grants from the province: police department $18,913.19; fire department $20,856.90; child protection $5,709.53; highways $39,878.31; relief $26,912.38.

Other revenue items were: rents $36,399.54; fines $27,678.62; parking meters $32,981.43; and one or two small items.

Expenditures

The expenditures were summarized as follows: executive and legislation $6,251.30; administration $64,707.09.

Fire department $154,242.36; police department $136,427.79; law enforcement $45,375.29.

Street lighting $35,646.22; water $36,500.

Works: roads, streets, etc., $270,799.84; sanitation and waste removal, $111,199.18; conservation of health, $83,379.52; social welfare, child assistance, $22,362.55; relief assistance, $53,421.32; institutional care, $5,431.24; welfare administration, $8,310.70; education, $718,119.67; recreation and community services, $130,924.19; debenture debt charges, $509,350.

Temporary debt charges, such as bank loan, $10,638.08. Civic hospital, current expenses, $144,710.39; Civic hospital, special, $33,151.36; St. Joseph's hospital, $10,650; taxes written off by Court of Revision, $1,589.91; miscellaneous properties $31,646.76; special grants $9,920.73; other expenditure $24,067.78; total $2,728,054.75.

Pensioner Tied Up, Robbed, Ex-Boxer, Girl Friend Arrested, Held In Cobourg

Hastings Man, 86, Says Roughed Up By Pair In Home After Session Of Drinking In Hotel Beverage Room

CAMPBELLFORD, April 24. (ENS)—Charges of robbery with violence and car theft have been laid against an ex-boxer and his girl friend after a beer-drinking session Wednesday afternoon in Hastings. Remanded in custody until May 8 are Peter John Allan, 27, of Goderich, an ex-boxer, and his girl companion who gave police her name and age as Elaine Pont, 31, of Campbellford. The pair were arrested late Wednesday night on the street outside a Cobourg beverage room.

Robert Alexander, an 86-year-old pensioner, told provincial police that the pair had borrowed $2 from him in a Hastings beverage room. Later he had gone home, accompanied by the woman; and her companion joined them later. He lived in an old abandoned power house in Hastings.

Alexander said they threw a cover over his head and tied him up with rope. Then they rifled his pockets, getting away with about $16 in all, including the original $2 loan.

Unharmed

The elderly man was unharmed except for rope burns on his wrists, indicating the bonds had been too tight. In the struggle he had been considerably "roughed up."

Police say the couple left Alexander bound and helpless and walked back to the parking lot outside the Hastings hotel where the three of them had been drinking. They are alleged to have stolen a car parked there, owned by Gordon Johnston of Campbellford.

The choice of vehicles was apparently a poor one because the motor burned out on Highway 45 (the Hastings-Cobourg highway), about six miles south of Roseneath. They abandoned the car, said police, and went on to Cobourg where they rented a hotel room for the night.

By that time O.P.P. Constables Don Erskine and George Rose of Campbellford were already on the lookout for them.

Received Tips

Information had come from two sources:

Jack Sullivan, working at his father's service station in the village saw the car go by. It contained a man and a woman, both of them fairly young. Sullivan recognized the car and became suspicious when he saw that Johnston wasn't in it. He phoned the police.

Later Alexander managed to work loose from his rope bonds and went back to the beverage room where he told a waiter what had happened. The waiter telephoned O.P.P. Constable George Rose.

The abandoned car was found by O.P.P. Constable Erskine as he was returning a mental patient to Kingston.

Allan and his companion were taken into custody on the main street of Cobourg, after just emerging from a beverage room.

He had only $4 in his pocket when arrested by police.

Alexander said he was drinking with the couple because he had met the woman before; and it was she who had induced him to lend the $2.

For the previous couple of days Allan and the woman had been living in a house in the Candy Mountain district of Campbellford.

Copy Of Evidence Not Written May Drop Case

Unless somebody can transcribe the shorthand notes of an absent court stenographer, a two-months sentence for bootlegging against a Peterborough man will probably be dropped.

This action was intimated Wednesday afternoon by Crown Attorney John Bradshaw, Q.C., as evidence was heard in the appeal of Norman Manley, 206 Lansdowne St., against a conviction by Magistrate W. R. Philp, Q.C.

The appeal, based on the evidence, began Wednesday afternoon in the chambers of Judge J. A. McGibbon at the county courthouse. It was adjourned to an indefinite date when it was found that a transcript of the evidence of the police court trial was missing.

Not Transcribed

The evidence of Manley and at least one other witness had not been transcribed from the shorthand notes at the time Mrs. Joan Clarke, temporary court stenographer, went back ot England.

W. J. Arthur Fair, Q.C., counsel for Manley, based his appeal on the grounds that a statement, allegedly signed by his client, had been introduced illegally.

At the trial Crown Attorney Bradshaw produced a statement and handed it to the accused who admitted it was his signature on the document.

Mr. Fair said that as legal counsel for the accused he was not given an opportunity to read it or examine it.

Argument on this point ended and the appeal was adjourned when it was found that the transcription of the police court trial was incomplete.

The Queen knows Ottawa well, having lived there during the last war.

Pope Renews Peace Appeal

VATICAN CITY, April 24 (Reuters)—The Pope today made a new peace appeal to the world, condemning "the rulers of peoples who maintain a state of things which gives rise to war."

His appeal was directed particularly to women. He urged them to combine in a world-wide effort to maintain peace.

"If all women passed from that innate sentiment which makes them abhor war to concrete action designed to prevent it, it would be impossible for the total of such forces not to achieve its aim," he said.

The Pope was speaking to representatives of Roman Catholic women's organizations from 11 countries at an audience in his Vatican palace.

He asked whether the world's rulers had ever reflected, with the hearts of sons, on the tragedies caused especially to women by the losses and horrors of war.

"Although the duty of each one of you as a citizen demands readiness to sacrifice yourself for your country, if it is unjustly attacked or if its vital rights are threatened, nevertheless you are by nature more disposed to make a contribution toward creating those conditions, inside and outside your country, which assure tranquility."

Banana Waldorf Salad

1 large red apple, unpeeled
½ cup diced celery
½ cup mayonnaise or salad dressing
2 ripe bananas
Lettuce
¼ to ½ cup walnut or pecan halves
Salad greens for garnish

Use fully ripe bananas... yellow peel flecked with brown

Wash apple and remove core. Dice into medium-sized pieces. Combine apple, celery and mayonnaise or salad dressing. Peel bananas and slice crosswise into pieces about ¼ inch thick. Add lightly to apple mixture. Combine 2 or 3 crisp lettuce leaves to form a cup and arrange on each salad plate. Fill lettuce cup with salad mixture. Garnish salad with nuts and crisp salad greens. Four to six servings.

Important: This salad, to be at its best, should be made not longer than one hour before serving.*

Men To Serve At Tea Of Havelock W.A.

HAVELOCK, April 24—(ENS)—The W.A. of St. John's Church, Havelock, held their regular meeting Tuesday in the parish room, with 12 members present.

President Mrs. Roche presided and opened the meeting with prayer followed by the reading of St. John the eleventh chapter. Plans were made to hold an afternoon tea in the latter part of May, when the men of the congregation will don aprons and assume the responsibility of serving instead of as heretofore being served.

In the early autumn a bazaar will be held and preliminary arrangements are now being made. Mrs. Peasgood gave an address on the mission work of the church taken from the chapter of the study book on "The Work in South America." Mrs. Peasgood intimated that much progress was being made in this work by the Anglican Church and that now was a most opportune for Anglicans to support this worthy cause in their prayers and service.

He Dresses French

LONDON—(CP)—British dressmaker Charles Creed was invited to design the uniform for the French counterpart of the British Women's Royal Army Corps. He chose navy blue gabardine for a belted suit, worn with a pale blue blouse for service wear and a white blouse for "dress" occasions.

Removing Elk To Save Grain

PRINCE ALBERT, SASK. — (CP)— Elk formerly inhabiting the Fort A La Corne Forest and Game Preserve in northeastern Saskatchewan are completely buffaloed—for the time being, at least.

Not so long ago they spent their days happily nibbling twigs in the forest or visiting unharvested grain fields in the surrounding farmlands of Smeaton, Choiceland or Nipawin.

Then came a chain of man-made devices which have left the wayward beasts bewildered.

They included prison-like corrals, snowmobiles, a huge truck in which the animals were obliged to ride, brand new surroundings and, worst of all, direct contact with man.

It was all part of "operation elk."

Heavy rains which halted fall harvesting operations in the last two years caused the trouble. Elk from the preserve invaded standing crops and farmers demanded immediate action. The resources department decided to remove the elk rather than see them shot.

Late in 1950 the department built three 14-foot high corrals. Three more were added last year. The corrals were spaced about 10 miles apart in the preserve. They were baited with oats and alfalfa and designed to trap elk as they entered. The captured elk were transferred to remote northern areas.

Thus 11 elk were captured this way. The take so far this winter is more than 30 Only about 100 elk are believed left in the preserve.

"Operation elk" is only a temporary measure. Officials plan to discontinue it if farmers in the area are able to get their crops off the land in good time next fall.

John J. Thompson

HAVELOCK, April 24 (ENS)—The funeral of the late John J. Thompson, held on Wednesday afternoon at his late residence on Quebec St., was largely attended and was conducted by the Rev. R. G. Newman of Havelock United Church and the Rev. M. Esler of the Pentecostal Church.

Pallbearers were Ernest Seeney, Richard Sanderson, Robert Anderson, Samuel Adams, Ward Glenn and James Dorety.

The flower bearers were nephews of Mr. Thompson: Albert Fox, Clifford Wannamaker, Vincent Strain, Noble Strain, Albert Clarke, Grenville Menzies, Russell Menzies, Murray Menzies. Burial was in the Centre cemetery at Trent River.

Those attending the funeral from a distance were: Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Menzies, Mr. and Mrs. Raye Menzies, Mr. and Mrs. A. Langford, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Barlthrop, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Clarke, Mr. and Mrs. G. Strain, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Tamblin, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Strain, Mr. and Mrs. V. Thomas Edward Colby

NORWOOD, April 24—(ENS)—The funeral of Thomas Edward Colby was held Tuesday from the McConnell-Warner funeral home, with service in the Norwood Baptist Church, with the Rev. J. Bingham officiating. Burial was in Norwood cemetery.

Mr. Colby died Saturday at the residence of his brother, Ernest Colby, R.R. No. 2, Norwood, following a lengthy illness. He was born in Norwood, the son of the late Orbin Colby and Naomi Puffer.

Pallbearers were Carmen Colby, Orbin Colby, Trevor Colby, Vernon Colby, Ivan Colby and Clarence Logan.

Flower-bearers were Billy Colby, Orval Colby, Bobby Colby and Randal Logan.

Urns and Teapots

HOVE, Sussex, England (CP)—When hospital patients complained that tea from an urn was not to their liking, teapots were ordered. They didn't produce enough tea, so in future the beverage will be brewed in the urn and served in the pots.

Fatally Injured

OTTAWA, April 24 — (CP) — Mrs. Alvin Schryer, 50, Wednesday was fatally injured when thrown from her horse. She suffered a compound skull fracture and died in hospital half an hour after the accident.

1,100 Get Summonses For Not Having Sticker

TORONTO, April 24 (CP) — Eleven hundred Toronto motorists have been summonsed for not having 1952 licence stickers on their windshields, police said Wednesday. Of the 1,100, 600 have paid their $10 fine.

Officials at Queen's Park said they did not feel the 1,100 persons summonsed so far were all persons who had not renewed their licences. They said they had received many complaints that the stickers fell off windshields.

Guilty of Manslaughter

TORONTO, April 24 (CP). — Frederick Morton, 28, Wednesday was convicted of manslaughter in the New Year's beating death of Vonnie Simser, 30, who lived with him. He will be sentenced May 2. A jury reduced the charge from one of murder.

Parliamentary Briefs

OTTAWA, April 24—(CP)—E. B. Fulton (P.C., Kamloops) suggested Wednesday that the number of Canadian missionaries imprisoned in China and the conditions under which they are detained may be worse than described this week by Prime Minister St. Laurent.

His suggestion that the Prime Minister might make a further statement brought from Mr. St. Laurent the reply that his information came from official and semi-official sources and that if Mr. Fulton had additional information he would be glad to look into it.

OTTAWA, April 24—(CP)—Agriculture Minister Gardiner said Wednesday that farmers who do not receive the floor price on hogs from packing companies should communicate with the Agriculture Department.

The minister was replying to a question as to whether there was any control over packing companies to make them meet the floor price of 26 cents.

OTTAWA, April 24—(CP)—Defence Minister Claxton said Wednesday two servicemen at Camp Borden show the clinical symptoms of typhoid fever but so far laboratory tests are negative.

It is not known definitely, therefore, whether they have the disease, he told the Commons.

OTTAWA, April 24—(CP)—About 45 per cent of the 12,500 Canadian soldiers who have served in Korea have reported sick.

A Defence Department reply tabled Wednesday in the Commons gave the number who have been sick as 5,565 and said this is made up of the number of attendances of non-battle casualties of the 12,500 soldiers who have been in Korea.

Of this total, 4,450 returned to their units, 909 were sent home for medical reasons and 206 still are in hospital.

Aid To Sufferers

WINNIPEG — (CP) — A continual effort is being made to bring the cost of new drugs within reach of those requiring treatment, Prof. Dougald McDougall of the University of Manitoba told a druggists' course here. He mentioned that penicillin now is around $1.40 for 10,000 units, compared to about $20 for the same amount in 1943.

Wanted: One First Class Crystal Ball!

Serving folks for almost a century now, we like to think we're pretty good at knowing just what they want and how to please 'em best. But experience and intuition can go just so far.

Sometimes we think we could use a "crystal ball" to find out if customers have "Something on their mind" they're not telling us—that we don't know but should—in order to serve them better.

Have you something on your mind that concerns us? We'd appreciate knowing it—then the crystal ball won't be necessary. Please write:

Returned Missionary Believes Chinese Church Will Survive

OMEMEE, April 24 (ENS) — Rev. Floyd Honey, speaking in Trinity United Church Sunday evening expressed his conviction that the Christian Church in China would survive Communism.

He was addressing the Women's Missionary Society on the occasion of the annual thankoffering service. Also present were the Y.P.U. groups of Omemee and Bethel United Churches. Mr. Honey was at the Bay of Quinte Conference Young People's official missionary representatives in West China before the evacuation.

This was not the first time missionaries in China had been forced to abandon the field, Mr. Honey reminded his listeners, but it was probably considered to be more serious than former evacuations. "I will try," said he, "in all fairness and as I see it, to answer the question now in so many minds—Is Christianity at an end in China and is our labor of years all in vain?"

Though the Communists are atheists and declare that Christianity is merely an opiate of society, they are too astute, said Mr. Honey, to wipe out the church by persecution. So they allow so called religious freedom, but only within the four walls of the church buildings. No religious street meetings or meetings in homes are permitted and Christains must not criticize the government.

Teachers and students, even theological students, are called upon to help with propaganda—carrying banners, singing Communist slogans etc. Communistic articles and speeches read by the native preachers in the churches also troubled the missionaries. However, he said, looking at it from the viewpoint of the Chinese Christian, it is not as simple an issue as Communism or Christianity. They vow they will never denounce their faith if it comes to that; but the big question is where should they draw the line. Directness is not a characteristic of the Chinese. They have a saying that it is best to bend as the bamboo in order that they may be able to bend back. So, in religion, there is a tendency to compromise.

The question of where to draw the line is confusing for some things the Communists do are good, said Mr. Honey, and can be approved by the church, while the all over teaching is bad. They have reformed marriage laws wiping out bigamy. They have elevated the position of women in society. Their keynote, they claim is—"Save the People". A Christian must say, "These are things for which we stand". They appeal to patriotism which makes a strong appeal to any people. One of the chief Communist slogans is "We must deliver our country from American imperialism"—which means British and Canadian as well. The government's official attitude is: The Christain church in China has had connections with imperialism, since Western missionaries are tainted with imperialism. Therefore, the Chinese church must make herself indigenous—she must be distinctive from the Western church. The government drew up this manifesto for the church, and the church signed it, although it was not their belief, their Christian faith being "All are one in Christ". The people say compromise is the only road open to the Chinese church. "There is an area in the conscience of the Chinese Christian," said Mr. Honey, "that has not yet been fully won over for Christ, but probably the compromise of some Western Christians is just as serious in God's eyes."

Thus the Chinese Christian has been drawn deeper and deeper into the reform until they found it being said that missionaries were not only tainted by imperialism but were consciously imperialistic and had come with the purpose of softening up the Chinese people with their doctrine of love. Then the finger of suspicions was pointed at certain individuals whom they declared were agents of imperialism, and Christians were called upon to accuse these people who had been their friends.

The missionaries, Mr. Honey said, had been encouraged to see some going about quietly trying to do Christian work. When asked if it would be easier for them, if the missionaries withdrew from the church service, their answer was "no". At a communion service they closed with singing, "In Christ There is no East or West". The church had been compelled to be self-supporting, which was for their spiritual good. The aim of the missionaries had never been to make themselves indispensible in the Chinese church.

"Have faith," said Mr. Honey, "to believe that some seed will fall in good ground. God is not going to allow His church to collapse. Don't allow China to drop out of your prayers. Pray for Chinses pastors and Christians, and pray that God may get to Himself a glorious harvest yet."

FOR A SPRUCE LOOK on Mother's Day, here are three suits designed for the shorter-than-average woman. Suit in cadet blue flannel (left) is softly tailored, correctly proportioned for the shorter woman. Jacket has petal peplum, adjustable cuffs. Worsted flannel (centre) makes suit in grey that has detachable pure silk surah polka-dotted over collar and matching jacket lining. A slim, six-gore skirt has two back-panel inverted pleats. Beige flannel suit (right) has two-button tuxedo front with taffeta overlay. Straight, four-gore skirt is eased for walking by centre back kickpleat. All three are designed to slim down the short, rounded woman and give her added height.

Suggest Britons Take Houses To New Land

By ALAN HARVEY

LONDON, April 24—(CP) — One way to solve the housing problem for Commonwealth migrants would be to let the new citizen buy a pre-fab in Britain and take it to the country of his choice.

This suggestion was the most novel advanced in Monday night's debate in the Commons on a bill which allows £1,500,000 a year to be spent on assisted passages, largely to Australia. The bill was given approval in principle.

Members with Canadian connections figured prominent in the debate. These were some of the principal contributions:

Beverley Baxter, Conservative, once a Toronto piano salesman, said he knew from his own knowledge that the Canadian government is ready to discuss the creation of a fund which would enable British emigrants to take out their own money. Treasury regulations now limit the amount which can be taken to Canada.

Labor Minister Sir Walter Monckton, replying to Baxter said he would bring the point to the attention of R. A. Butler, Chancellor of the Exchequer.

Earlier, Sir Walter said Brtain is eager to co-operate with Canada, but Canadian insistence that emigrants should be wage-earners, rather than dependents, created difficulties.

William Aitken, another Conservative member spoke glowingly of Canada as a country of "unbelievable development—there is nothing like it in this world."

FIVE ROSES

ALL PURPOSE FLOUR

Read what Mrs. David Graham, of 1850 Gladstone Avenue, Windsor, Ontario, says:

"The first time my husband tasted my cooking at home, he said: 'You can cook, too!' Of course we all laughed, until my Mother got a little serious and explained that she had taught me to do all my baking with FIVE ROSES ALL PURPOSE FLOUR. Both my Mother, Mrs. A. MacDougal and her Mother always used FIVE ROSES.

"In my own 19 years of housekeeping FIVE ROSES FLOUR has been my true aid in all baking—dependable and excellent quality—always."

Mrs. David Graham

FIVE ROSES

ALL PURPOSE FLOUR

Good cooks everywhere are discovering that they only need one flour for perfect baking results every time! You'll be amazed at the wonderfully even-textured cakes . . . the flakey pastries and the "melt-in-your-mouth" cookies you can make every time with FIVE ROSES the original all purpose flour.

Every day we get letters from women across Canada telling us that once they have tried FIVE ROSES they wonder why they haven't used this wonder flour before! Next time you buy flour . . . ask for FIVE ROSES. I know you too will be delighted with your baking results.

Yours for better baking,

Palace Of Sultan With 42 Wives Occupied By U.K.

By PHIL CLARKE

LONDON, April 24. (AP) — British troops marched Wednesday into the palace of the one-eyed Sultan of Lahej, who acquired 42 wives in the last year and lost two cousins last week. But he wasn't there to receive them.

The much-married Sultan, Fadl Abdul Karim, slipped across the border of the neighboring kingdom of Yemen Monday.

Three days earlier, two cousins whom he had exiled, Emir Hassan Ali and Emir Ahmed Mehdi, were found dead in Lahej, a town of 10,000 that is dominated by the imposing home of the Sultan. The deaths caused angry mutterings from the populace and the British Governor of Aden, Thom Hickenbotham, sent in troops to keep order.

This action brought a quick protest from the Yemen legation in London, which insisted that the occupation violated treaties between the independent kingdom and the British Protectorate of Aden.

The Sultanate is part of the Aden Protectorate which surrounds the British colony at Aden, Arabian Peninsula port on the shipping route to Asia. Britain controls the Protectorate through the native sultans.

Elect Council

Reports from Aden Wednesday said a regency council had been elected by prominent Lahej citizens to rule in the Sultan's absence. The British Colonial Office said the troops will be pulled out tomorrow. A judge of Aden Colony will open a full inquiry on Friday into the strange doings in the Sultan's domain.

Recent advices from Lahej said the Sultan started collecting wives about a year ago. Some of them were reported to be girl friends of palace guardsmen, who became annoyed by the wholesale nuptials.

A year ago he banished his brother, the Emir Ali, and a number of his cousins, contending they were plotting his downfall. The two cousins found dead last week were among them.

"This thing was getting a bit nasty," a Colonial Office spokesman said. "It was a matter of paramount importance that order should be maintained in Lahej. We had to go up and find out what was going on.

Drives 20 Miles On Three Wheels

DANVILLE, Ind., April 24 — (AP)—A motorist who police said was running away from an accident drove 20 miles on three wheels before he was caught.

Police said the man is Frank R. Spratt, 26, of Indianapolis.

Spratt's car lost the right front wheel in an accident Tuesday night. No one was hurt.

Union Interference

HAMILTON, April 24 CP). — Fire Chief Edmund Nixon Wednesday night charged that interference by union executives in departmental promotions and policy is hampering his operation of the fire department. The fire chief made the statement in a letter tabled by Mayor Lloyd Jackson at a meeting of the city council fire and jail committee.

HOME ON LEAVE—Bill Boss, veteran correspondent of two wars who reports for The Canadian Press the battle experience of Canada's Korean Brigade, has flown home to accept a National Newspaper Award. One of the eight Canadian newspapermen honored, Boss will be a guest at the Toronto Men's Press Club dinner May 2 when he receives the National Award for Feature Writing, 1951. He will return in May to the Korean front, where he has put in 17 months of CP service.

Big 'Boys' Town' Expanded To Older Youths

MONTREAL— (CP) —There's a town planning scheme afoot for Canada's first "Boys' Town."

With the extension of the Boscoville youth protection school, which will be completed shortly, judges before whom teen-agers are brought should have fewer dilemmas.

For 12 years the founder, Rev. Albert Roger, has been working with small groups of boys, first at a centre of Lac des Francais north of Joliette, Que., and for the last five years at Riviere Des Prairies in northern Montreal.

His scheme aims at the rehabilitation of older teen- agers based on self-government and the development of personal responsibility. The Quebec government has recognized the value of the experiment and the good results obtained with average boys referred to it by the social welfare court.

Final plans are still under consideration but the expansion will probably provide facilities for some 150 "citizens," compared with the present 20 or 30. Up to now the welfare court has had to refer many of the more serious juvenile cases to criminal court.

The usual age for reference to Boscoville is 16, and no fixed term of admission is specified. In practice, the minimum stay is about three years.

Practically every citizen of the Boys' Town has reacted well to have opportunity to develop his own sense of responsibility. There have been only two recorded exceptions. The idea is that once a boy has proved he is a good citizen of Boscoville he is likely to be a good citizen anywhere. One youth is a strong candidate for a place in one of Canada's crack military colleges.

Father Rogers says he never anticipated such a career when he was studying for the priesthood. One of the determining influences was the success of Father Flanagan's experiment in New York State.

2-Day Wildcat Strike Ends At Hamilton

HAMILTON, April 24 (CP) — A two-day wildcat strike by employees of three brewers' warehouses here will end today.

The employees, members of the International Union Brewery Workers C.I.O.-C.C.L., decided to return to work when informed union leaders would meet with management representatives.

Reg. Smith, president of the union local, said wages were not a factor in the walkout. He said the men were angry because company officials had not co-operated in settling grievances.

"Our contribution to peace" is the theme chosen for the 1952 celebration.

IN THE Bright New Cellophane Bag AT YOUR GROCER'S Today!

GETTING ORGANIZED for the meeting of Quinte Conference Branch Executive of the Women's Missionary Society of the United Church of Canada, commencing Wednesday evening at St. Andrew's United Church and continuing today. The officers in the picture are, left to right (seated), president Mrs. S. W. Spafford of Belleville, second vice-president Mrs. B. A. Soper, of Smith Falls, and (standing) Miss Marjory Miller of Angola, West Africa, special speaker at the opening public session, Mrs. J. H. McKinney of Brooklin, first vice-president, and Mrs. A. G. MacLachlan of Kingston, candidate adviser. — Examiner Staff Photo.

Conference Executive Reviews Activities of Presbyterials

The Bay of Quinte Conference branch executive of the Woman's Missionary Society of the United Church of Canada gathered in St. Andrews United Church, Peterborough, yesterday for their annual meeting. Twenty-five women were the representatives of the seven Presbyterials in the branch: Kingston, Belleville, Cobourg, Lindsay, Renfrew, Oshawa and Peterborough.

Supper was served by the Evening Auxiliary of the church and the Rev. Henry Cotton, pastor of St. Andrews, welcomed the ladies. He complimented the faithful women in some Afternoon Auxiliaries who raise such large sums of money each year for missionary work(at times the Evening Auxiliaries though having three times the number will have the same allocation).

Mrs. A. A. Munro, president of St. Andrews W.M.S., also welcomed the executive. It was regretted that Mrs. W. K. Harris, past president of the branch, could not attend.

Miss Marjorie Miller of Angola Africa, was the guest speaker of the evening session.

For years Miss Miller has worked inland in Portuguese East Africa but recently moved to the coast. The work was quite different in this area of Angola. She said the first part of her address might be called "Angola News Round Up" as she told of the new things that have happened in that area. A new mission station appointed with W.M.S. missionary in charge. A young man studying in Lisbon for better education to go back into educational work.

Miss Miller's work has been educational and community work. Two new Rural Life Schools have been established. About 50 miles west of Dondi a new station is being established—the Portuguese missionaries coming from Lisbon. Dr. Elizabeth Bridgmen will be the new doctor to Angola from the W.M.S.

Miss Miller, now teaching at Benguela on the west coast of Africa, is in a city of 18,000. Like all urban areas, the people come to make money and their work consists of fisheries, railroad, sugar plantations, also soldiering.

The only Protestant work there is done by the United Church Mission. "Saturday night and Sundays are a time of revelry and drinking and we find the usual result—the broken home" said Miss Miller. She outlined the plan of work being done to lift them up by prayer services, church, Sunday school and women's group meetings. Three times a week the women meet to study the Bible and learn to read. As they learn, they are also taught to teach someone else.

The assembly was asked to pray for young men to be found to go into Africa as teachers. Also that the people there will contribute more for this work and for the women to learn so that they may teach the children. Miss Miller said that money raised at the World Day of Prayer service there helped to pay for a boat so that pastor Frederico Mussilo might visit the fishermen along the coast. A new house had been built for her.

At the close of her address many questions were asked by the group and answered by Miss Miller and the Rev. Mr. Steed who was present and had been on this Angola charge for many years also.

Mrs. W. T. Fanjoy of Peterborough, corresponding secretary, gave a story of the year in the branch. She noted that three new Afternoon Auxiliaries were formed (Bancroft, St. Lawrence and Northminster), two Evening Auxiliaries (Baltimore, Kingston), two Federations (Peterborough-George St. and Trinity) and 14 affiliate societies formed. Organization work was mostly among younger groups. All auxiliaries had reported use of the study book and had felt deeper spiritual blessing from the worship services at each meeting. Use of visual aids in presenting the work to members is on the increase, she said.

Mrs. R. D. F. Davidson of Cobourg had charge of the evening worship service. Greetings were brought from Peterborough Presbyterian by Mrs. A. E. Metcalfe of Hastings, president, and Mrs. J. H. McKinney of Brooklin, vice-president of the branch, replied to all greetings.

President Mrs. S. W. Spafford of Belleville presided for the open meeting as well as for the business sessions today.

Mrs. W. A. Scott of Renfrew opened with devotions this morning. A letter from Miss Connie Wagar from Trinidad, written April 15th, brought greetings and good wishes for this meeting and told of her work in Trinidad. Miss Marion Wagar has ben appointed as part time accountant for the W.M.S. Mission there, she advised.

Treasury report showed a grand total of $103,902 sent to the Dominion Board this year, $12,102 sent to various fields for "Gifts to building advance" and $8,749.96 was received in bequests.

PEPPERMINT — Candy bright is this little number in rayon and acetate striped sheer. Puffed sleeves make it "right" for the '52 season; contrasting plastic belt and a cluster of red cherries add an extra touch of gaiety.

Jackets Lose Swelter, Acquire Swagger

Sports jackets are becoming lighter in weight. A sports jacket is worn for style, not warmth, but until recently a man has sweltered to be tweedy. Now he can have style and comfort.

Harris Tweed jackets, for years associated with weight and bulk, are among the lighweights. They are three to four ounces lighter in weight per yard than the old-style jacket.

In another group are those weighing one pound 10 ounces—half the weight of the regular sports jacket. These come in cool diagonals or cocoa brown and white, or grey and blue. They have two breast pockets, centre or side vents. In the same line are jackets with two tones of blue interwoven, and others with a tweed-like appearance.

The double-breasted navy blazer with dark pearl buttons is a big seller in the spring. Blazer prices range from $20 up.

Many specialty furnishing houses will carry linen-looking (really rayon) jackets this summer. Slacks of the same material will complete the casual outfit.

Most popular shade for slacks is grey. Available in wool, synthetics and blends, grey is the most versatile. It can be worn with almost any jacket. Brown is another favorite, with a choice of more than 40 shades. Plain colors are best for slacks, but the pic-and-pic pattern is a wise alternative.

Barbara Brent's BUYS AND WHYS
A WEEKLY INFORMATION SERVICE

MONTREAL, April 24th — "Least said, soonest mended" may be true. But when I get started on my favourite topic — JELL-O PUDDINGS — it's hard to get stopped. For there's so much to say about Jell-O Puddings, and all of it good. You'll see what I mean very first time you try Jell-O Puddings. You'll be raving about their tempting, homemade-tasting flavour. And the variety of flavours, too. Four Jell-O Pudding flavours . . . and three wonderful Jell-O Tapioca Pudding flavours. All are as economical as can be to serve . . . cost you only about 3c a serving. You'll discover countless ways to serve Jell-O Puddings . . . in nourishing, milk-rich family desserts, and in intriguingly different desserts for guests.

Planning Garden Beds And Window Boxes is keeping a lot of people busy just now. They know that color harmony in flowers can't be wished into being. Unless you're an old hand, it takes planning! I've found the same goes for one's finances — wishing's a washout there, too. You just can't expect your income to bloom into all the things you want without planning. It's like laying out a garden without the help of a seed catalog! If you want to plan your money matters in a way that is working for many Canadian families — coast to coast — write for your free copy of "Personal Planning" — an interesting booklet issued by the BANK OF MONTREAL to help people like you and me get the best out of our incomes despite today's high prices. Personal Planning will show you how to sow your dollars for a rich harvest of dreams come true! Send your request to Barbara Brent, 1411 Crescent Street, Montreal.

Whee! . . . All Gone! It's a real pleasure to watch tots 'n' toddlers gobble up those good HEINZ JUNIOR FOODS. They love them all . . . the Junior Creamed Diced and Green Vegetables — Junior Vegetables with Bacon — Junior Creamed Tomato with Rice — Junior Vegetables with Fish and — m-mmm! — the Junior Lamb and Liver with Vegetables. And, mother — they're all so easy to serve . . . just take them from the tin — heat — and they're ready to eat. Ask your doctor when you can begin serving Heinz Junior Foods to your baby. Some babies are ready for them as early as eight or nine months of age! Your dealer has Heinz Junior Foods in store for you. Ask for them when baby's ready!

A Wonderful Stove . . . it does almost everything for you but mind the baby! And you'll agree, once you've cooked with the new '52 GURNEY Gas Range that it makes cooking and baking a pleasure. One of the Gurney features I particularly like is the glass oven-door panel—so you can see from the outside how things are coming along. (Just what you've always wanted, isn't it?) And of course, there's the special Gurney "Even-Heat" oven that keeps the temperature exactly right—automatically. Why not see your Gurney dealer tomorrow? He'll show you all the exciting new features that make the Gurney gas ranges so popular with good cooks everywhere.

The Best Of Men can be grouchy at breakfast . . . but the best of cereals will help a lot! So brighten him up with 5 Minute "CREAM OF WHEAT". Tastes so good . . . and is good for you, too. For it provides Iron for good red blood, and Calcium and Phosphorus—for diets deficient in these elements. Just try 5 Minute "Cream of Wheat" some morning soon! You'll recognize it by the words "Cream of Wheat" and the smiling chef on the package—both registered trademarks of The Cream of Wheat Corp.

More Beautiful Women use Woodbury Face Powder . . . why don't you? Yes, Hollywood stars chose WOODBURY FACE POWDER 6 to 1! What's the secret of its great popularity? The makers of this wonderful face powder say it's preferred because of the special blending process and exclusive foundation-cream ingredient. It's so satin-smooth, so fabulously fine and velvety—clings so beautifully for hours. And the superb Woodbury shades are wonderfully flattering. See what Woodbury Powder can do for you—costs just 23c, 45c and 75c. And try the vivid excitement of Woodbury lipstick, too. Creamy, clinging—in 7 tempting shades . . . 23c and 35c.

"I've Made Friends of our new neighbors," Mary said the other day. Mary was hanging out her washing when her young daughter ran up and said that Mrs. Jones would like to know the secret of Mary's snow-white sheets. Of course, it's Blue. It's so easy—so inexpensive—and it really works! Yes, Blue prevents clothes turning yellow. Just a swish or two of Blue in the final rinse and your wash will be snow white! And, when you use Blue, you're not taking chances with anything that might damage fabric for Blue is kind to all fabrics. And it costs just a few pennies a month . . . for snowy, brilliant, beautiful washes!

Yes, for the whitest wash, it's RECKITT'S Blue.

When Friends Drop In but can't stay long — give them INSTANT CHASE & SANBORN COFFEE. It's the friendliest, fastest-to-make coffee I know. Takes no longer than boiling the water — and it's as easy to make ten cups as one. Good? It's wonderful coffee! . . . That's because it's made by folks who "know" their coffee! . . . it's backed by nearly 100 years of coffee experience. The flavour's there — and the real coffee lift. And another thing you'll like about it . . . it's so economical. You save up to 40c per pound compared with ground coffee. So take my tip and keep a jar of Instant Chase & Sanborn Coffee handy—always.

I'll Never "Play Ostrich" Again. I used to ignore the occasional spot on my rugs and upholstery. (So much easier to pretend it wasn't there than to spend all that money on cleaner's bills!) But now I just let ENERGINE CLEANING FLUID do my work and save my money for me! It's so easy to get rid of fresh paint, tar, chewing gum and ugly grease spots with Energine. And, though Energine is so effective, it's absolutely safe for fabrics of all kinds . . . contains no acids nor caustics — leaves no tell-tale rings. I'd like you to try Energine. It's such a wonder at keeping your home — and your wardrobe — beautifully "well-groomed". Take my advice and put Energine on your shopping list today — at drug and department stores for as little as 25c.

From Moppets To The Man-Of-The-House . . . everyone loves the tangy, exciting flavour of fresh lemons with their meals. Our family likes lemon flavour in everything from drinks to sauces to desserts. Lemons are good for you, too . . . lots of Vitamin C! So here's a healthful side salad I serve often — its flavour-secret is the lemon dressing. Just mix ½ cup of fresh lemon juice, ½ cup salad oil, 1 tsp. salt and paprika and 2 tbsp. sugar. Add garlic clove if you like. Pour it over crisp salad greens. Wonderful! An extra tip . . . always ask for SUNKIST LEMONS for full value in juice and quality—I'm never without them.

Want To "Celebrate" Spring with a home that's bright and beautiful? Then feast your eyes on the colourful new designs that DOMOLITE has in store for you. Domolite is that famous new vinylite plastic fabric that's so easy to sew. Make dressing-table covers, kitchen and bathroom curtains and drapes that need no hemming — for Domolite won't fray. And it cleans like a dream — just wipe with a damp cloth — no ironing. It wears and wears — repels moisture, oil and dirt. Inexpensive, too! Ask for Domolite (made by Dominion Oilcloth and Linoleum Company) at department or variety stores everywhere. And write to me — Barbara Brent, 1411 Crescent St., Montreal, P.Q. — for free, illustrated literature, on what you can make with Domolite.

Everyone Likes Chocolate . . . when you know the secret of making good chocolate taste better . . . with WINDSOR SALT. Chocolate cakes and puddings—cookies and sundae-sauce—hot chocolate and cocoa . . . all taste better when they're "Windsor-salted". Try it! Windsor Salt makes all the difference between "flat" and "bright" in the flavour of most of your favourite foods. I always use Windsor Salt to brighten the flavour of food—both in the kitchen and at the table. One thing I particularly like about Windsor . . . it's always free-running, whether the weather is damp or dry.

"Opposite the Odeon"

THERE'S AN INTERNATIONAL INFLUENCE on summer fashions for 1952. Persia, India, Siam, Spain, Norway, Italy—these and many others have contributed inspiration for designs with foreign flavor. Many designers have gone abroad to do their research and create fashions. Among them is Sylvan Rich, who designed his summer collection in Spain. Each Spanish province is represented, with silhouettes adapted from the national dress of both men and women. The suit (left) is in black cotton with a bolero entirely overembroidered in black soutache braid and jet beads. There's a slim skirt. Setting for this design is the shop of Santiago Peloy, tailor to bull-fighters, in Madrid. Leisure fashions (right) are slender, tapering pants in black faille paired with wide green taffeta cummerbund and brief, yoked jacket in gold silk organza. This yoke is emerald and ruby bead embroidery. The Spanish model is posed on a balcony in Seville.

Small Furs Easily Draped Shorter Than Ever Before

Fashion's newest fancy . . . the little fur, soft, easily draped and shorter than ever before. Swooshing skwirts and huge petticoats have sent the furriers scurrying to design brief, above-the-waist jackets to wear with these feminine fashions.

Included in small furs are capes, stoles, boleros and wrapped jackets. The bulky, wrapped jacket is the season's pet, particularly when done in the light, pastel colors.

Look for mink mutations, blond sheared raccoon, pastel muskrat and light-toned squirrel. Another spring favorite promises to be fox in pale colors and narrow shapes.

For the budget-minded, wonderful fur fabrics are now on the market . . . so beautifully made that only another persian lamb would know "Pershnelle" was a phony and not a relative. There's also "Ermaleen" simulating ermine . . . "Ocelleen," imitating ocelet . . . brown and silverblu "Minkaleen' simulating mink. Imitations though they may be, these little furs are treated in the same manner as their costlier sisters. You'll find them with scarf collars, fringed with real ermine tails and boasting the latest in push-up balloon sleeves.

Therell be no putting away in moth balls this year for your favorite furs. You'll wear them well into the late spring season to be fashion-wise. Though bulky, the latest furs are lightweight, small and colorful. Even staid persian is definitely a spring lamb when cut in the new lengths, most popular being no longer than 26 inches. These little jackets are often boxy or wrapped and are treated with dainty touches of velvet or grosgrain trim.

INFORMALITY characterizes the new rugs for 1952. Sculptured design (left) is in lush nylon, is right with either traditional or contemporary interiors. It's shown here in gold. Modern leaf design (right) is casual motif sketched in outline against warm grey ground. Motif is in high fashion colors olive and leaf green, turquoise and terra cotta. Ground has accents of dark grey to highlight sculptured surface. This is a blend of wood and mad-made fibres, is a good foil for informal, modern or provincial settings. Pattern has practicality, too, because it minimizes soil.

Skirt Line Dramatized

The fashion story for spring is a story of blooming colors . . . fascinating fabrics and lines as curved and feminine as an hourglass. It is also a story told in two parts . . . the blouse . . . the skirt.

The Gibson Girl look this year receives its biggest boost from the pretty blouses . . . tucked bosoms . . . leg-o-mutton sleeves caught in a tight band . . . white collars and big taffeta bows. Nowhere prettier than in candy-striped pique . . . embossed cottons or white linen.

To be spring-like in feeling, your blouse must be either completely feminine, with full sleeves, small collars, dainty lingerie touches at throat and wrist or a mere promise of a blouse.

The wide, wide skirts makes the slim sheath both dramatic and practical. The narrow look . . . achieved by sleeveless shirts . . . knitted tight sweaters . . . silk tubes . . . is fashionably right to emphasize the swirling skirts.

Spring fabrics are particularly luscious this year in both texture and color. Silks are iridescent and soft as a bird's wing . . . or nubby and high-lighted with frosty effects.

Tissue chambray comes as a spring tonic in lilac, rosy-red or wedgewood blue. Cottons are gaily striped . . . flower-sprinkled . . . or over-laid with heavy braid. White sheers are lacy . . . spanking-fresh as a new day. Whether to be feminine or tailored, the choice is yours . . . . whichever you choose, fashion has the design for you.

Home and School Association News

LAKEFIELD SCHOOL

Dr. T. E. Currier, Peterborough, was guest speaker at the April meeting of the Lakefield Home and School Association held Monday evening in the school and attended by 40 members.

Introduced by Dr. H. E. Castle, Dr. Currier showed a film, "Over Dependence," and followed the showing with an interesting and instructive talk and discussion of the film.

Dr. Castle reported on the immunization program being carried on throughout the school and also explained the eye examination given the pupils.

Reports of the Home and School convention held during Easter week in Toronto were given by delegates Mrs. Charles H. Hunter and Mrs. Clarence Coons.

Mrs. Roy Farrow moved a vote of thanks to Dr. Currier and all those who had assisted in the program.

The president, Mrs. Stanley Burger, presided for the meeting and welcomed the guests. The secretary's report was given by Mrs. William C. Grant and the treasurer's report, showing a balance on hand of $169, by Mrs. T. Payton.

The report of the recently held school fair was given by general convener Mrs. J. L. Fraser, who expressed her thanks for the splendid co-operation to the president, committee conveners, donors and teachers, and reported that the fair had cleared $139.

Attendance prize was won by Miss Galway's room and refreshments were served at the close of the meeting by the grade mothers of Miss Kidd's room.

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Making Orange Marmalade For Diabetic Patients

After eight weeks of experiments trying to improve my formula for sugarless marmalade for diabetic patients I think I have an acceptable one. This does not compete with marmalade made with sugar but if I know you eager diabetics you will welcome it.

Most of the eight weeks' work was given over to trying "sorbitol" as a sweetener for marmalade, for it makes the best textured product, but not the best flavored, and it is available only in 1 gallon quantities at 54 cents per pound. A gallon contains approximately 13 pounds. If folks who read this are interested in buying this amount to make their own marmalade and jam, they should write to me and I will tell them where it may be bought. Please enclose stamped self-addressed envelope. Many of the manufacturers of sweetened products for diabetic patients employ some of this product. Sorbitol is roughly similar to clear sugar syrup in appearance and texture. It imparts a sweet flavor that is slightly harsh though. The use of sorbitol is diabetic foods must be carefully supervised by a doctor. Because of the difficulty in obtaining sorbitol and the caution that is necessary in using it, I settled on the following:

Sugarless Orange Marmalade

Three large navel oranges are washed, then cut in halves crosswise, squeezed on an orange squeezer to remove the juice, which is reserved in a covered jar. The inside skin and white pulp are scraped from the inside of the skins with a strong spoon. The rinds are sliced as wafer thin as possible with a sharp knife. To the scraped-out pulp in a bowl add 1 cup cold water, and let this soak overnight covered. To the sliced rinds in a bowl add 1 cup cold water and let stand overnight covered. Store the covered orange juice in refrigerator overnight.

In the morning strain the water from the white pulp into the rinds, pressing it firmly through sieve. Discard white pith. Simmer rinds in water, covered, for 1 hour. To the squeezed-out orange juice add 1½ tablespoons best quality gelatine and let it soak while rinds are cooking.

When rinds have cooked 1 hour add to them the orange juice containing the gelatine and 2 tablespoons pure glycerin, 10 or 12 sucaryl tablets and ¼ cup water. Stir over low heat until sucaryl tablets are dissolved and mixture boils all over for 1 minute. Remove from heat and pour into sterile small glasses and seal at once with hot new paraffin, adding a second hot coating when first is cold. Screw on clean lids.

I do not think that you should take the chance of expecting this to keep at room temperature, for it is chancy business trying for a perfect seal with paraffin, but I know it will keep for at least a month when stored in the refrigerator.

So since you have gone to all of that trouble I advise you to keep it refrigerated. I hope you all like it. The reducers can go to town on this too.

Examiner Sees $60,000 Film Coming To The Cole Show

A film which cost $60,000, to make and which features only the newest in Cole of California swim suits and sunta dresses was previewed in the Examiner office a few days ago. It stars Esther Williams, who is on contract to the Canada branch of Cole and has given her name to one of the sleekest 1952 suits; also Arlene Dahl, June Haver and Ben Gage.

The film will be in Peterborough again on Wednesday, May 14th, for three showings introductory to personal showings of the garments filmed and others by movie starlets. You are invited to see it then.

Smart Set Shop, sole distributor of Cole swim suits and play clothes in Peterborough, is planning this unique entertainment. They will show only the latest designs, just in time for week-ends at the lake and the holiday season, with Miss Marilyn Lavis and another handpicked Hollywood comer to model them.

Phone For Card

A public invitation to attend—at 2.30, 5.30 or 8.30 p.m.—has been issued. But an invitation card is necessary for admittance at the Empress Hotel Kawartha Room and it will be mailed to the ladies who leave their name and address at Smart Set Shop, either by telephone call or in person. There is no obligation to be a customer, past, present or future.

Only 1,000 guests can be accommodated nicely, so call right away. Indications are that demand will exceed supply.

Another invitation is open to only 12 women of Peterborough—to be the only 12 in Canada wearing a "cover girl" suit this summer. The suit being made exclusively for Smart Set Shop at the Canadian factory, is of terry cloth and it goes on over wet bathing suits. You'll see just how smart and practical it is at the show.

Stock Is In

Manager Mr. Charles Levine advises that he already has his complete '52 stock at the Shop, and he will not be able to replenish it. Samples of his selections will be featured in the show but he is also arranging for his guests to see a 24-karat gold swim suit and other pieces made in California especially for the style show.

"First" anywhere is the built-in plastic crotch in the bathing suits he is selling now and it is available only in Cole suits made in Canada. If the plastic becomes soiled, or is undesirable to you, it can be easily ripped out, but meanwhile it affords sanitary protection for trying on at the store.

Cole suits each have a hang-tag that points out valuable information of proper care for longer wear. In addition, the Smart Set Shop staff is schooled in the engineering techniques and will explain them as well as show you how to put on and take off the suit and adjust it properly.

Secret Of Design

Secret of these wonderful suits that make you look like a fashion plate—no matter—is design leadership and Matletex, the original process of shirring with lastex thread that gives up to 200 per cent stretch and camouflages "bumps" and figure imperfections. The sun-tan dresses too have figure-control built in.

You'll be shown how by the models. So just be sure you are one of those "at" the bathing suit show and "in the know" about Cole of California styling.

Rebekah Lodge Afternoon Tea Is Well Attended

Golden Link Rebekah Lodge members entertained at a lovely afternoon tea Wednesday in the Y.W.C.A. green room. About 250 guests attended and were welcomed at the door by the noble grand, Mrs. Herbert Youngs, and the vice-grand, Mrs. H. Juby.

Past noble grands presided at the tea table in turn. They were Mrs. E. Gardner, Miss J. Armstrong, Mrs. R. Martin, Mrs. J. Londerville and Mrs. N. Hewitt.

Daffodils in a clear vase set on a mirror reflector were the centrepiece on a hand-crocheted ecru lace cloth. Lovely silver pheasants graced the table, and it was lighted by green tapers.

Serving the refreshments were Mrs. E. James, Mrs. K. Hoard, Mrs. R. Ray, Mrs. J. Ridyard, Mrs. O. Simonsen, Mrs. J. Pearson, Mrs. A. Tyler, Mrs G. Edwards, Mrs. R. Viscoff, Mrs. J. Cuffe and Mrs. A. Barber. Mrs. E. Rowe made the tea and the plates were replenished by Mrs. C. Fairburn, Miss L. Bushey, Mrs. W. Townsend, Mrs. C. Morrow and Mrs. H. Trotter. Mrs. Alex Clarke was a kitchen assistant.

Soft piano music was played throughout the tea hours by Mrs. P. Scharfe and Mrs. O. Cruikshanks, in turn.

Bazaar section did a good business with a bake table and candy and small plants for sale. Mrs. H. Burrows, Mrs. J. Pearson and Miss O. Howland sold the baking and Mrs. W. Bull and Mrs. L. Baker attended the other table.

General convener of this affair was Mrs. A. T. Pink, with Mrs. G. Harris assisting her.

Tickets were taken at the door by Mrs. C. Hildenbrand.

W.A. Plans Garden Pary

MOUNT PLEASANT, April 24. —Mrs. Thomas Graham was hostess to the Women's Association for the April meeting. The devotional topic, "The Easter Message" was given by Mrs. Alex Tully, after the scripture reading, by Mrs. S. Tully.

Committees were appointed to plan for a garden party to be held early in July, the W.A. uniting with the Sunday School.

Mrs. Jim Fee was the delegate chosen to attend the W.A. convention at Westlake May 8. Mrs. Aubrey Bland and Mrs. J. Fee were responsible for the program. Readings were givens by Mrs. A. E. Larke, Mrs. W. H. Lowes, Mrs. D. Hayes, Mrs. S. Tully, Mrs. W. Downer and Mrs. Whitmore. Mrs. Fee conducted a picture contest.

The Rev. A. E. Larke explained the purpose and plans for the building of a United Church Training School for Women.

Refreshments were served by the hostess assisted by group 4.

FAMED CATHEDRAL

Foster is the general convener, with Mrs. W. Higgins convening the tea room, Mrs. G. Beauchamp the dancing, Mrs. R. Clements and Mrs. Jack Ainslie the euchre, the teachers in charge of movies and the men looking after the booth and bingo.

Chemist-Editor Woman Engineer

KINGSTON, Ont.—(CP)—Audrey Rushbrook is the only practising woman engineer in Kingston.

She's also one of Canada's few woman editors of scientific magazines.

Come summer, when she isn't busy at either job, she probably will be found indulging in her favorite sports—bicycling and canoeing.

Miss Rushbrook is editor of "The Abstract Bulletin of Aluminium Laboratories Limited," one of the few scientific abstract publications issued in Canada.

Well known in light metals circles, the bulletin is the only one in its field published in Canada. It has a world-wide circulation.

It contains summaries of articles in technical journals. Most of the summarizing is done by Miss Rushbrook herself and in addition she also writes handbooks for the company.

A 1943 graduate in chemical engineering from the University of Toronto, Miss Rushbrook in the last few years has held a variety of jobs.

For a time she was chief chemist at the Dominion Magnesum Limited plant at Haley, near Renfrew, Ont.

This was the only company in North America producing certain alloys during the war and Miss Rushbrook recalls there were times when she worked around the clock. This was because she also was chief inspector for the R.C.A.F. as well as the company's chief chemist.

Exciting moments include being called at 3 a.m. to watch hot metal poured.

But this job was "really not just the life for a girl." Once the war was over she returned to teaching. At Toronto she joined the staff of the Canadian Memorial Chiropractic College, in charge of setting up a chemistry department.

From there she went to teach chemistry at St. Louis, Mo., before coming to Kingston in 1947.

Miss Rushbrook said there are few women engineers practising in Canada. But she believes they generally get a better break here than in the United States.

In Great Britain, she said, they have been widely accepted.

Campbellford YPU

CAMPBELLFORD, April 24 — (ENS)—Citizenship conveners Barbara Fox and Ken Ferguson were in charge of the worship at the regular meeting of St. John's United Church Young Peoples' Union on Monday. Barbara Smith read the scripture and Barbara Fox led in prayer.

The Rev. Dr. D. M. Smith gave a very interesting talk on "Kings of Religion," based on the parable of the sower.

Two piano solos by Isobel Lewis added to the musical portion of the program.

DEATH-BED POETRY

Three great poems of Ebenezer Jones, English poet, were written when he was dying at the age of 40, in 1860.

Others Class Tea Pleasant Event At Murray Street

A nice addition to their fund for furnishing the class-room was made by the "Others Class" of Murray St. Baptist Church at their annual spring tea on Wednesday evening. More than 100 attended this pleasant event, which is particularly noted for sponsoring friendliness and comradeship.

Class President Mrs. A. V. Harnden was assisted in receiving by Mrs. Ivan Morgan and Miss Mary Ellis and Miss Alice Hardwicke were hostesses in the tea-room.

An enjoyable musical program had been carefully selected to entertain before the serving of tea. Little Beverley Garside sang several solos with accompaniment by her sister Carol, and young Murray and Ann Manders played marimba duets. Murray also played several accordion solos.

These young people were very well received, but so was Mrs. Robert Fleming in vocal solos with accompaniment by Mrs. P. W. Johnston, and Mrs. Don McKenzie playing piano solos and also duets with Miss Phoebe Hardwicke.

The tea table was lovely with a lace cloth and silver services and the centrepiece was a china basket filled with American Beauty roses and smaller baskets on the table were filled with periwinkle and other spring flowers, some from the garden of Mrs. Arnold Smedmor.

Mrs. Smedmor was in charge of the serving, assisted by Mrs. Sidney Malsch, Mrs. Jean Guthbert, Miss Alice Johnson, Miss Sadie Garrett, Mrs. Zetta Anderson and Miss Clara Doughty, while the plates were replenished by Mrs. Harold Sellon, Mrs. Harold Foster, Mrs. Hanlon Sisson and Mrs. George Kennedy.

Tea pourers were Mrs. Howard Strickland and Mrs. Clifford Cox.

Miss Nell Stenton was general convener of this event and Mrs. Johnson arranged the program. Mrs. Stanley Gillespie was treasurer.

Facts On Happy Marriages Heard At K. of C. "At Home"

The annual "At Home" dinner and dance of the Knights of Columbus was an event of Wednesday evening very much enjoyed by a limited number of the members and their wives. It was held in the Simcoe St. club house hall with a delicious turkey dinner and accompaniments being served from the adjoining kitchen, where bar facilities were set up during the dancing period.

Guest speaker was the Rev. W. P. Healey from Newburg, Ontario, who is noted for his oratory and did not disappoint on this occasion.

Father Healey made some remarks on marriage stressing the fact that "Happiness is not synonimous with the marriage ceremony." He said: "There never was a marriage performed that could not have been happy or could not have ended in dismal failure. Happiness must be worked for absolutely."

He pictured then how happy a man and wife can be. "It is the way Almighty God intended you to be and He gave you an example comprised of Jesus, Mary and Joseph." Therefore he urged "Live close to God and bring happiness into your home."

The speaker gave three requisites for good living. Faith, Knowledge and Commonsense. He said: "Your faith you inherited, mostly, so it has cost you very little effort, but do you appreciate it sincerely?" He then pointed out how little some members seem to know of their religion, especially when asked by someone else. "We are supposed to know and if we don't know, how can we fulfill our obligation?" he asked.

Deputy Grand Knight Norman Crook voiced the appreciation of the company to Father Healey and presented a small token.

His Excellency Bishop Gerald Berry said grace and a prayer for His Holiness Pope Pius XII, and spoke briefly on business matters.

Grand Knight Wilfred J. Cunningham was host at the head table and Trustee William P. Kinlon served as chairman.

Entertainment at the dinner hour was provided by Gordon Bailey as the "Old Guide and Trapper," and during intermission in the dance he created a good deal of enjoyment by drawing cartoons from the marks set down by various guests.

TWO DOORS FROM THE ODEON THEATRE

DOROTHY DIX

Fiance A Comic Causes Annoyance To His Girl

DEAR MISS DIX: I am engaged to a very nice boy who has, however, one fault I find it very hard to take. I'd call it showing off. When we are out in company, he delights in making witty remarks to attract attention. I don't find these remarks either witty or funny; in fact, they embarrass me. When we're alone he is completely different, but when we go out he just loves to clown. I've asked him to stop, but he says he enjoys a good time. Aside from this weakness, he is very dependable: He is 22 and I am 21.

Do you think perhaps he didn't get enough love as a child, and is trying to make up for it now by attracting attention? He was in Korea for some time, and perhaps he is just having a reaction. I'd like to know how to break this habit, as I fear if I marry him I'm always going to avoid company and gatherings, knowing what to expect. EVA G.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: From your description I'd say your fiancee is just an exuberant young man blessed with a sense of humor, and completely an extrovert. His jokes do not seem to be obnoxious to you in any way except in the mere fact that they are jokes. With a world so full of gloomy forebodings for the future, high taxes, increasing cost of living and a million other worries, anyone who can create laughter is a welcome addition to a group.

A Laugh Always Helps

I thoroughly disapprove of the sort of fun that ridicules or humiliates others, stoops to lewd comedy or pokes fun at things that are held (by some present, at least) as sacred. However, I take off my hat, and put on a grin, for a true comedian who can unfreeze a group with a laugh, bringing everyone out of the doldrums. This is a rare gift and woe to him who tries to kill it!

Be warned. Either accept your loved one as he is or break the engagement. Nagging may accomplish your purpose, but it will change the boy from a gay entertainer to a morose stick-at-home, and you won't like that either.

Learn to laugh with him. A marriage in which laughter plays a large part has little room for argument or bitterness. A man who can laugh with his wife has little desire to roam. If you don't appreciate your fiancee's humor, be sure that someone else will—now or later. Be adaptable, and learn to grin, too.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: I am 20 years old. Several months ago, purely because I love to write letters, I began a correspondence with a man in another state. At first our letters were just friendly, then his began to get serious. He even proposed. He suggested that he come here to work for a while so we could become better acquainted, and eventually get engaged. My parents think I am too young, and they also regard the whole business as too risky. Are they right? JUANITA D.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: I'm inclined to agree with your parents that you are too young to become so seriously involved with a man you've never met. If your young man persists in his idea of moving to your community, his good intentions may eventually outweigh the defects in the situation. Why not suggest dropping the correspondence for awhile so you can both have a detached opportunity for evaluating your own emotions?

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: We have been married for fifteen years and have gotten along as well as most couples. Financially, we have been quite prosperous. Recently I learn that my wife, many years ago, was seriously involved with the law in another state. I knew something of this matter before our marriage, but it is beginning to prey on my mind more and more. Would it help if I went to the city where the trouble occurred and looked over the records? She has been a good, faithful wife and, knowing my doubts, she is very upset. S.T.R.

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: Perfect trust would be a wonderful thing if more people possessed it. Since you have had absolutely no reason to doubt your wife in any way for fifteen years, why can't you let the past die a natural death and live for your present and future happiness? Don't badger the poor woman any more; she has already been tormented. The trouble seems to be something in which she was more or less innocently involved. Raking over the records will accomplish nothing but to contribute more fuel to the fire of your suspicions. If you have the sort of morbid mind that thrives on sordid details, you'll never rest until you have gone over the story, but if you want to be worthy of your wife's undoubted love and devotion, drop the subject now and forevermore.

BY-LAW NUMBER 5

THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES OF THE ROMAN CATHOLIC SEPARATE SCHOOL BOARD VILLAGE OF HASTINGS

A BY-LAW TO AMEND BY-LAW NUMBER FOUR, PASSED ON THE 26TH DAY OF DECEMBER, 1951.

The Board of Trustees of the Roman Catholic Separate Schools of the Village of Hastings hereby enacts as follows:

1. The fourth paragraph of the preamble to By-law Number Four is hereby Deleted, and the following paragraph substituted, and will now read as follows:

"AND WHEREAS the amount of the existing debenture debt of the Board of Trustees of the Roman Catholic Separate School Board for the Village of Hastings is nil."

2. Paragraph Number 4 of the said By-law is amended by placing a period after the word "Secretary-Treasurer" in the third line of said paragraph and inserting as the beginning of the following sentence "The interest coupons attached to the debentures shall be signed by the Secretary-Treasurer," so that the said paragraph will now read as follows:

"The said debentures shall be sealed with the Seal of the Board and signed by the Chairman of the Board, or by some other person authorized by By-law to sign the same, and by the Secretary-Treasurer. The interest coupons attached to the debentures shall be signed by the Secretary-Treasurer and his signature thereon may be written, stamped, lithographed or engraved.

3. Paragraph Number 5 of the said By-law is hereby deleted and the following paragraph bearing the same number substituted and will now read as follows:

"Commencing in the year 1952 and during the twenty years, the currency of the debentures, the respective sums set forth in the said Schedule "A" hereto, shall be levied and collected annually by the special rate sufficient therefor over and above all other rates, in the same manner and from the like persons and property, by, from, upon or out of which other Separate Schools rates are levied, raised and collected, for the said period of twenty years. In each of the said twenty years, the currency of the said debentures, the Board shall, pursuant to the provisions of Section 70 of the Separate Schools Act, request the Municipal Council of the Corporation of the Village of Hastings, that the said Municipal Council through its collector and other municipal officers cause to be levied in each such year upon the taxable property liable to pay same, all sums of money for rates or taxes imposed thereon in respect of Separate Schools.

4. That the following paragraph is hereby added and to form part of the said By-law as paragraph 5A.

"The said sum of $44,000 so borrowed and interest thereon, and the said debentures, shall be and the same are hereby made a charge upon the schoolhouse property and premises and the real and personal property vested in the said Board of Trustees of the Roman Catholic Separate School Board for the Village of Hastings and upon all the Separate School rates of the said Board to be hereinafter imposed until the said debentures and each and every of them together with all interest thereon shall have been fully paid and satisfied."

5. Paragraph Number 8 of the said By-law is amended by striking out the words "the said debentures either in whole or in part" in the second line of the said paragraph and substitution for the same words "that portion of the said debentures which mature in the twentieth year" and by striking out the final sentence of the paragraph so that the said paragraph will now read as follows:

"The Board shall have the right, at its option, to redeem that portion of the said debentures which mature in the twentieth year on any date prior to maturity at the places and in the moneys in which the said debentures are expressed to be payable upon payment of the principal amount thereof together with interest accrued to the date of redemption and upon giving previous notice of said intention to redeem by advertising once in the Ontario Gazette and once in a daily newspaper of general provincial circulation, published in the City of Toronto, and once in a local newspaper, such notice to be advertised as aforesaid, at least thirty days before the date fixed for redemption. Notice of intention so to redeem shall also be sent post at least thirty days prior to the date set for such redemption to each person in whose name a debenture so to be redeemed is registered at the address shown in the Debenture Registry Book.

Read a First and Second Time, this 19th Day of April, 1952.

T. C. DALY,
Chairman.
JACK BRINKLOW,
Secretary-Treasurer.

Read a Third Time and finally passed this 19th Day of April, 1952.

T. C. DALY
Chairman.
JACK BRINKLOW,
Secretary-Treasurer.

Guilty Conscience?

PARIS, April 24. (Reuters)—Madame ("X" wrote recently to a Paris evening newspaper complaining that her "atrocious" mother-in-law was ruining her marriage. The journalist who edits the correspondence column disclosed today that 15 mothers-in-law had written saying they recognized Madame "X" as their son's wife, and that the trouble was all her fault.

Commonwealth Sea Cadets Joint Meeting

LONDON—(CP)—For the first time Sea Cadets representing five Commonwealth countries, including Canada, will meet together in one camp next summer as guests of the British Navy League.

Invitations have already been extended to 80 boys who will come from Australia, New Zealand, Rhodesia and South Africa as well as Canada.

The cadets, due to arrive in July, will spend the first two weeks of their stay at H.M.S. Osprey, the Royal Navy's torpedo anti-submarine school at Portland in southern Dorset. There they will live and work with 40 British cadets during an extensive program of sea training.

"In the past Canadian boys have come here and our lads have gone to Canada," said H. T. Bishop, general secretary of the Navy League. "Never before has it been possible to bring together boys of all the corps in the Commonwealth."

Bishop believes the experiment will help foster a sense of brotherhood among the youth of the Empire in their common love of the sea.

Noted Harpist At Showing Barber Of Seville

Mildred Dilling, noted American harpist, with a personal appearance stole the show Wednesday night at the film performance of Rossini's comic opera, The Barber of Seville, at the Centre theatre.

During Adventure in Music, a film concert the theatre audience had just enjoyed two selections by Miss Dilling, when the theatre lights went on and it was announced that Miss Dilling was in the audience. Miss Dilling rose and bowed graciously to her surprised audience.

The Barber of Seville is the second to the last of a series of film versions of operas presented at the Centre theatre this season.

Adapted from Beumarchais' famous comedy the plot of the opera revolves around the two lovers, Count Almavia and Rosina. Their plans are continually upset by Bartholo, Rosina's guardian, who plans to marry his ward himself. But Figaro, the versatile barber, comes to the aid of the count, and at the end everyone is happy, including Bartholo, whose broken heart mends very easily with the count's promise that he may keep Rosina's dowry.

The music in this opera is fresh and sparkling, perfectly fitting the spirit of the comedy. And this film version with its excellent cast of singers commendably retains this spirit to bring an enjoyable presentation to its screen audiences.

This cast, including Feruccio Tagliavini, Tito Gobbi and Nelly Corradi, all are brilliant singers, and the famous passages from the opera, Figaro's aria, Largo al factotum; Rosina's cavatina, Una voce poco fa and Basilio's aria, La Calunnia, were especially enjoyable.

The added attraction, Adventure in Music, with Jose Iturbi, pianist; Emmanuel Feuerman, cellist; Vronsky and Babi, duo pianists; Mildred Dilling, harpist, and the Coolidge String Quartet, was a splendid musical appetizer for the opera feature.

CANADIAN PILOTS at the R.C.A.F.'s No. 1 Fighter Wing at North Luffenham, England, flew past the reviewing stand during the visit of Air Marshal W. A. Curtis, R.C.A.F. chief of staff. Later, Air Marshal Curtis, left, chatted with Sqdn. Ldr. Andrew MacKenzie, of Montreal, officer commanding 441 Squadron. The pilots, who fly F-86 Sabre jets, are wearing tight-fitting anti-gravity suits.

Norwood Strikes Tax Rate, Hires Constable

NORWOOD, April 24 (ENS)—A special meeting of Norwood village council was held Monday evening to consider applications for constable. The clerk read applications from R. E. Rothwell, H. E. Bradley and M. N. Hamblin.

After careful consideration of these it was moved by Councillor Parker, seconded by Councillor Nixon that H. E. Bradley be engaged for one month at $130 and a further arrangement made at that time if found mutually satisfactory.

Councillor Webb asked for a recorded vote which was as follows: yeas, Parker, Nixon and the reeve; nays, Webb and Begg.

The 1952 budget was then presented for further consideration, having been left over from the regular meeting of April 4.

After lengthy discussion it was moved by Councillor Webb, seconded by Councillor Begg that the following tax rates be adopted for 1952: public school, 19.9 mills; high school, maintenance and debenture, 8.3 mills; county rates, 19.2 mills; waterworks debenture, 10 mills and general village rate 27.6 mills, making a total tax rate of 85 mills on the dollar. The motion carried.

Will Live Longer

LONDON, April 24 (Reuters)—British children born last year can look forward to living about 18 years longer than their grandparents could 50 years ago. Government statistics released today show the estimated life expectation of a male child is 66.49 years while that of a female child is 71.22 years. In 1901 a boy could expect to live 48.53 years and a girl 52.38 years.

2 Children Die

NEW YORK, April 24 (AP)—Two children died and three were critically burned Wednesday in a fire in a Brooklyn apartment. Four of the children, including one of the dead, were those of Mrs. Mattie May Gibson, 32, who left them alone while she went shopping. The other child was a playmate. The oldest of the children was five-year-old Vincent Gibson, in hospital with critical burns.

Y.M.C.A. Completes New Steam Room

Work on the newest addition to the Y.M.C.A. services, a steam room, have been completed and it's open for action.

Located on the lower floor, the steam room was started early last fall after numerous requests for it were made. The project was started by volunteer labor by Y.M.C.A. members and later contractors, plumbing, cementing, plastering and woodworking completed the job.

The various groups who helped start the rom and finished it with a coat of paint were: Y's Men's club, Friday Night Club, Y-Knots basketball team and members of the physical department.

Parting of Ways

HONG KONG, April 24 (AP)—There was a parting of the ways when an airplane from Australia landed at Hong Kong Wednesday. Five Australian trade union delegates boarded a train for Red China and the Chinese Communist May Day celebrations in Peiping. Twenty-one Australian soldiers headed for the Korean front to fight Chinese Reds.

Light Opera Expected To Be Success

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, April 24—(AP)—This week Judy Garland fired the opening gun in a unique theatrical venture expected to attract more than $2,250,000 in 1952.

Judy is the first attraction of the Los Angeles Civic Light Opera, an enterprise that has drawn the envy of showmen throughout the United States. In the next six months, citizens of Los Angeles and San Francisco will pay up to $4.80 to see such top-notch shows as "South Pacific," "Call Me Madam" and "Song of Norway."

Behind this venture is Edwin Lester.

"I persuaded four friends to put in $1,000 apiece with me in 1935," he recalled. "We did four operettas in four weeks and lost all of our capitalization. The next year was an even greater success. We lost more!"

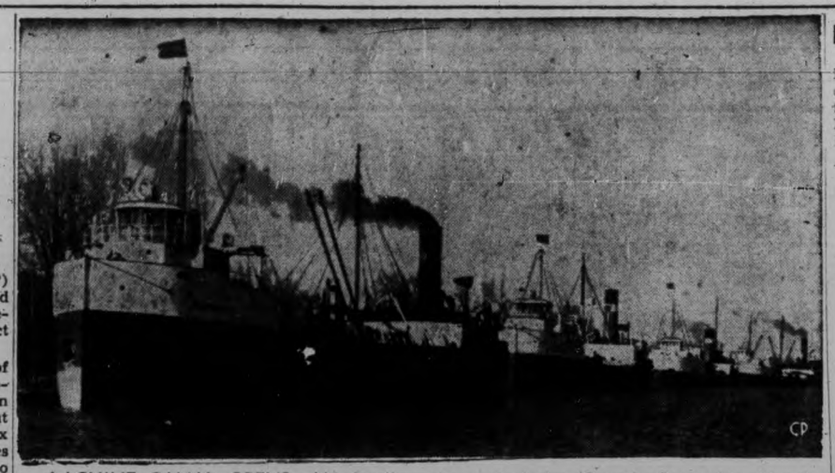
Still At It

Most business men might give up after two failures. But Lester skipped a season, then started in 1938 on a community-service basis.

"The margin of profit was so small in operettas," he explained, "that I couldn't attract enough investors on a commercial basis. As a non-profit venture, I could get people to contribute to it as an asset to the community.

"The result has been better shows."

The Civic has also had spectacular successes. "Song of Norway" established a long-run record for operettas in New York and was a hit in London and Australia. The Civic also gifted Broadway with a hit revival of "The Red Mill" and the current "Three Wishes for Jamie."



LACHINE CANAL OPENS—Montreal's link with the Great Lakes — the Lachine Canal—opened this week, 48 hours behind schedule. First ship through the canal was the grain-laden Canada Steamship Lines' freighter, Winnipeg. Behind her came seven Great Lakes freighters, carrying a total of 500,000 bushels of grain.

Work 16 Hours Buy Pound Tea

WASHINGTON, April 24 AP)—A Russian industrial worker must put in 16 hours to make enough to buy a pound of tea.

He must work two hours and 12 minutes to buy a pound of beef, 4½ hours to buy a pound of butter and an hour and 50 minutes for a pound of sugar.

These figures were released by the Bureau of Labor Statistics.

The bureau has collected data on countries in western Europe, Russia and the United States.

The Labor Bureau says it thinks, with the same amount of work, an industrial worker in the U.S. can buy more than five times as many groceries as a Russian worker can buy in a Moscow state store.

Figured in minutes, here is the time needed in each country to make enough to buy one pound of each product:

	U.S.	Russia
Tea	49	960

See Bolivian Paper Following La Prensa

LA PAZ, Bolivia, April 24—(AP)—Is Bolivia's largest newspaper, La Razon, going the way of Argentia's La Prensa?

La Razon has not been published for two weeks, and staff members are wondering if the newspaper will be seized by Bolivia's new government, much as president Juan Peron in Argentina ordered the seizure of La Prensa.

The newspaper is owned by Victor Carlos Aramayo, owner of one of the top tin mines in Bolivia. It has bitterly opposed the national revoluntionary party (M. N. R.), now back in power after a revolution.

President Victor Paz Estenssoro has said La Razon (reason) can resume publication "at its own risk." But he added he would not use government forces to protect the newspaper against the wrath of the still-armed populace largely made up of miners —many of whom hate La Razon and threaten to prevent its publication.

Teen-Agers Warned

NANAIMO, B.C.—(CP)—Magistrate W. H. Jones, fining a youth here $35 for obstructing a police officer, told the youth he should have the courage to resist ridicule by his companions. Magistrate Jones was filling in for Magistrate Lionel Beever-Potts, who recently sent a teen-ager to a nearby barber shop for a haircut before he would hear his case.

ESTON, Sask. — (CP)—Town council has decided to rebuild the skating and curling rink that was destroyed by fire in May, 1951. The cost of the new building is estimated at $50,000.

Deceptive Facade Cloaks Hong Kong Stuffiness

By BILL BOSS,
Canadian Press Staff Writer

HONG KONG, April 24—(CP)—On the surface Hong Kong is a colorful city. Actually, it's a dull, stuffy, stodgy place.

It's a blend of east and west, of rickshaw and taxicab, where white-jacketed Amah with braided pigtail shops with mistress wearing London's latest. Its store-fronts are overhung with banners of lucky red, and its neon signs—always more intriguing in the Orient, are an abstract, gaudy, unintelligible medley.

At night the click-clack of the Mah Jong joints and songs of the Orient battle with the blare of tin pan alley.

That's where the color ends.

In this overgrown village of 2,500,000 there isn't a legitimate theatre, an opera company, a ballet group or a symphony orchestra. There isn't a concert hall or a public library. There is a drama group whose occasional productions don't touch the level of Canada's Little Theatre movement. Movies feature wild-west and thriller pictures.

Don't Mix With Chinese

For Europeans, life revolves around the favorite bar, the cocktail hour and the dinner party. Hong Kong people are incredibly hospitable but few have friends among the Chinese. Officers in the garrison, here for months, have never met a Chinese socially.

A man's evening out is bridge and drinks at the sedate Hong Kong Club where conversation is permissable but where members have been ticked off for wearing sporty ties.

For women the life is gracious once the adjustment is made to the absence of the normal amenities. Hong Kong is a free port and most commodities are tax free, which makes for wonderful shopping. Servants are cheap. A woman needn't do any housekeeping. She has an amah for the children, another for the laundry, a cook to prepare meals and a "boy"—normally the cook's husband—to serve them. Some households even have a messenger.

The result is that, while they never intend to stay permanently, Hong Kong people live better than they could at home.

Still, they put out no roots. They come as administrators or business people, interested only in making money and getting home again.

Jury Clears Police In Prisoner's Death

KITCHENER, April 24 — (CP)—An inquest jury Tuesday night decided that Pte. Robert Ballingall, 19, died by hanging himself in a police cell April 11 and found that city police officers had shown him "every reasonable consideration" before his death.

Pte. Ballingall, Kitchener soldier stationed at Petawawa, was arrested on an intoxication charge while on a visit here. A few hours later, he was found dead in his cell.

The jury recommended that cell construction be altered to prevent any recurrence. It also sugested that additional officers be assigned to supervise the cell block.

Call 30 Witnesses To Testify In Air Force Death

TORONTO, April 25. (CP)—Dr. Smirle Lawson, Ontario's chief coroner, said today he will subpoena 30 witnesses to testify at an inquest May 8 into the poison death a week ago of LAW. Lottie Machura, 27, formerly of Alonsa, Man. The girl died after being treated at the suburban Weston supply depot at which she was stationed and three hours after she was admitted to Sunnybrook Veterans Hospital. A Toronto paper says today in a newspage story that investigation has shown that strychnine given LAW. Machura by mistake came from an unlabelled bottle in the depot's dispensary. It was reported that there were other bottles in the dispensary without labels, the paper adds.

Witnesses, some from the defence department in Ottawa, will be called to the hearing. Some of the latter will be questioned as to why an investigation was not pressed farther in their department after they were notified by R.C.A.F. authorities in Toronto.

Want Questions Answered

Dr. C. S. Dunning, coroner of North York township, listed the death as accidental, saying he had not called an inquest because there were no signs of foul p y. An analysis of the stomach contents showed strychnine.

Meanwhile from his home in Northern Manitoba, Cpl. Stanley Machura of the R.C.A.F., said in a telephone interview:

"I was told how my sister had died but I asked for an autopsy, I wanted it in writing. I believe there was negligence and I will probably take legal action."

Dr. Lawson said:

"We will question everybody—doctors, nurses, everybody connected with the case," he said, "and the truth will come out."

Hold Husband For Murder After Inquest

WINDSOR, April 25 — (CP) — Gordon Addyman, 36, was in police cells today charged with the slaying of his wife. Laying of the murder charge followed Addyman's testimony Thursday into the death April 15 of his wife Mildred, 33. She was shot through the heart when a gun Addyman was holding discharged.

Following an investigation, police listed the shooting as accidental. Crown Attorney Bruce J. S. Macdonald said, however, that since the investigation police had received additional information. The inquest had been held to get Addyman's testimony on record.

The accused man was the sole witness called. After Addyman testified for an hour, the crown attorney requested dismissal of the jury and announced the murder charge.

Triangle Case

Addyman said he was showing his wife the revolver when it discharged. She was sitting in a chair directly in line with the muzzle. He was moving the hammer and it slipped from under his thumb.

The crown attorney asked him if he had been seeing "another woman." Addyman admitted there had been arguments between himself and his wife about another woman but said they were not serious.

During his testimony, the accused man's voice broke and he sobbed several times.

"I remember hearing the crack of the gun . . . I knew she was hit then and I kept hoping it wasn't anything bad . . . but there was something about her eyes that told me . . . it was bad."

There are four Addyman daughters, the eldest aged 15.

Pin-up Girl Of 90's Dies

CHIDDINGFOLD, Surrey, England, April 25—(Reuters)—Gertie Millar, 73, pin-up girl of the naughty 90's who jumped from the bright lights of London's theatre world to the pages of Debrett's peerage, died at her home here today.

In private life the twice-married Miss Millar was Gertrude, Countess of Dudley. The Earl of Dudley died in 1932, leaving her a fortune of £400,000. Her first husband, Lionel Monckton, music critic and composer, died in 1924.

Her life read like a story-book romance. Born in 1879, the daughter of a mill worker, she first appeared on the stage at the age of 13. Within two years she was at the Gaiety theatre in London, one of the most famous music halls of all time.

She rose to stardom almost overnight, appearing in shows on both sides of the Atlantic and breaking the hearts of the free-spending romeos of the early 1900s.

During her first marriage, a love-sick German baron committed suicide in the drawing room of her London home.

After appearing in such shows as "The Orchid," "The Spring Chicken," and "The New Aladdin" she travelled to New York in 1908 to star in "The Girls of Gottenburg."

Hid In Locked Trunk To Catch Suspects

WINDSOR, April 25 (CP)—The story of how two Windsor detectives hid for more than an hour in the locked trunk of a car before trapping two suspects in a $10,000 fur theft was told today at the trial of Lloyd St. Pierre, 26, of Windsor.

St. Pierre was acquitted of the charges. The court accepted his testimony that he had not known the furs were stolen.

Detectives Martin Coxon and Chris Paget had themselves locked in the trunk of the car driven by a police agent who had made arrangements to buy the furs.

The agent picked up the two men and drove them to a house in suburban Riverside. The detectives then forced the trunk lock and arrested St. Pierre and Charles Cornell, 28, also of Windsor.

In the house they found 456 of 502 mink pelts stolen in January from a Windsor fur farmer.

Navy Secretary Urges Aid For Nationalists

DETROIT, April 25 — (AP) — Navy Secretary Dan Kimball today urged more aid to Chinese Nationalists on Formosa "to make them more able" to fight.

"It is not for me to say where or when they should fight," he said, "but they are willing . . . and I would like to see us give them more help."

Kimball, in a speech prepared for delivery to the Aero Club here, said his recent trip to Asia convinced him that the Filipinos, free Chinese and the Japanese are "as willing to fight for their freedom as the Koreans."

Kimball's remarks were similar to but more restrained than a statement he made to newspapermen in Japan during his tour that the United States Navy would "stand on the sidelines and cheer" any Nationalist invasion of Red China.

The State Department disavowed this statement.

30 Sailors Killed In Explosion

Gun Turret Blast Worst Naval Disaster In Korea

TOKYO, April 26. (Saturday)—(AP)—Thirty American seamen were killed in an explosion in a gun turret on the cruiser St. Paul off Korea on Monday. The navy, making the announcement today, called it the worst naval disaster of the Korean war.

The Navy said a "gun-powder fire of undetermined origin" set off the explosion in an eight-inch forward turret. A board is investigating.

The St. Paul is commanded by Capt. Roy A. Gano of Falls Church, Va. She is the flagship of Rear-Admiral Earl E. Stone, commander of the cruiser Division One.

Seamen Asphyxiated

The St. Paul was firing on Communist positions on the Korean east coast. It continued firing after the blast and still is in Korean waters. Communist shore guns were not firing at the American warship.

The blast rocked the heavy cruiser. The Navy said most of the seamen were killed by asphyxiation due to burning gases. There were no injuries. All victims were in the turret.

The worst previous naval disaster of this way was June 21 when the U.S. destroyer Walker hit a mine off Wonsan. Twenty-six were killed and 40 wounded.

2 Helicopters Seek Prisoners

BRANDON, Man. April 25 (CP)—Two R.C.A.F. helicopters today were pressed into the search for three prisoners who fled Thursday from a working party outside the provincial jail. The planes are from the joint air training centre at Rivers, Man.

The search today was centred about 18 miles south of here in the Brandon hills.

The escaped men are: Raymond B. Mackeeman, 18, of Truro, N.S.; John Klippret, 29 of Owen Sound and Donald James Fairy, 24, of St. Catharines.

Mackeeman and Klippert were serving terms for auto theft and Fairy for an attempted breaking and entering.

R.C.M.P. aided by a police dog, trailed the men south of Brandon and spent the night on the prairie after surrounding a forested area where the prisoners were believed to be hiding.

Jailed Three Years For Fatal Beating

BRAMPTON, April 25 (CP) — James Hutchinson, 34, convicted Thursday of manslaughter in the fatal beating of Harry Brading, his former employer, today was sentenced to three years in prison.

He was originally charged with murdering the 54-year-old taxi-owner but Mr. Justice A. M. LeBel told the jury that the crown had failed to prove its case and a conviction for murder could not be registered.

Ross Thatcher Up On CCF Party Carpet

Gets Lecture From Coldwell on Proper Courtesy Expected In House

OTTAWA, April 25—(CP)—Ross Thatcher (CCF-Moose Jaw) was called to the office of C.C.F. leader M. J. Coldwell today for a talk on what the latter called party "courtesy."

Mr. Thatcher, a 34-year-old hardware merchant, in a Commons speech Thursday night raised the eyebrows of fellow C.C.F. members by questioning whether old-age pensions and family allowances, should be paid to families with an income of more than $5,000 a year.

Party policy is that they should be paid to all who are qualified, The C.C.F. has long opposed the means test principle,

Mr. Coldwell told a reporter he has no objection to any member of his group expressing a private opinion publicly, even though it runs counter to party policy. He did, however, expect the "courtesy" of being told beforehand when such a speech is coming up.

Mr. Thatcher had not extended him this courtesy in this case, Mr. Coldwell said.

Mr. Thatcher, before he went into the leader's office, said only that he was sorry for causing any embarrassment and emphasized that the views he expressed are strictly his own.

He touched on the points in a speech recommending ways the government could save $315,000,000.

Canada Invited To A-Tests

OTTAWA, April 25. (CP)—Health Minister Martin indicated today that for the first time in six years Canada has been invited to send observers to a United States atomic explosion. Mr. Martin, talking to reporters with two British civil defence experts, said "we think Canada will be at the next American atomic explosion later this year" and said Canada was advised of this Thursday. He declined to elaborate further but it was indicated that the explosion will be concerned with the problems of civil defence as related to atomic attack. American security laws have prevented any foreign observers from witnessing U.S. nuclear explosions since 1946 when Canada sent a small group of observers to the tests at Bikini.

Mr. Martin said Canadian civil defence officials will attend the next American explosion and said he presumed some Canadian military observers will go as well.

Tighten Prison Controls As Uneasy Peace Returns

JACKSON, Mich., April 25. (AP)—Officials of riot-wracked Southern Michigan Prison moved today to tighten their control over the overflow inmate population and guard against any future mutiny. A convict rebellion ended Thursday only after the mutineers won their demands for 11 specific prison reforms. However, state officials emphasized that rioters still face prosecution for crimes committed during the rebellion. Governor G. Mennen Williams said that as far as punishment goes, the mutineers were promised only that there would be no reprisals by members of the state department of corrections.

Leaders of the five-day mutiny voluntarily returned to cell block 15—the infamous disciplinary centre where they seized a total of 13 guards as hostages last Sunday to pressure their demands for changes and held eight of them to the end.

Precautions were ordered against any slip-ups such as the one which led to the revolt by some 170 of the prisoner's 6,500 occupants.

Hands Not Tied

Governor Williams said the "no-reprisal" promise did not in any way tie the hands of Attorney-General Frank C. Millard, who has ordered an immediate investigation of the riot to determine what charges might be brought against the prisoners.

Millard said he will seek proof that will stand up in court of such charges as kidnapping, malicious destruction of property, rioting, inciting to riot, assault with intent to murder or do great bodily harm.

"No state official, not even the supreme court, can grant any one immunity for the commission of crime," Millard said.

The mutiny leaders agreed to surrender Thursday morning after the state promised to settle their grievances—ranging from alleged guard brutality to parole-board abuses.

At the appointed 4 p.m. surrender hour the mutineers filed out of the cell block and into the mess hall for a promised steak-to-ice cream dinner.

Convicts in other cell blocks, given the regular prison fare Thursday night, set up a howl when they heard the mutiny leaders were feasting on steak. Some even set small bonfires.

Allies Support Truce Session

MUNSAN, Korea, April 25 (AP) —The United Nations command tonight proposed a full-dress meeting Sunday of Allied and Communist armistice delegations. The surprise move came six hours after the Communists broke off secret negotiations on how to exchange prisoners of war. The U.N. gave no reason for suggesting a plenary session.

The Communists called off the secret prisoner negotiations after the U.N. command announced it would return less than half the Reds captured in Korea.

The effect of the Red action was to remove the veil of secrecy from negotiations.

The prisoner talks were recessed at the request of Col. George Hickman, who said the U.N. command wanted to reassess its position in the light of developments.

Neither side suggested truce talks were in total collapse. But grim Allied negotiators made no effort to mask the seriousness of the situation.

Execute Yacht Bandit In San Quentin Jail

SAN QUENTIN, Calif., April 25 (AP)—Lloyd E. Sampsell, 52, notorious "yacht bandit" of the 1920s, was executed in the gas chamber today for killing a bystander during a 1948 San Diego bank holdup.

Sampsell was calm, and extremely curious about the straps used to hold his arms, and the cyanide pellets which generated the deathly gas. The pellets were dropped at 10:03 a.m. Sampsell breathed deeply and was pronounced dead 10 minutes later.

In the 1920s Sampsell and Ethan McNab—since executed—robbed banks from their headquarters aboard a yacht that plied the west coast.

The San Diego killing was five months after Sampsell finished an 18-year prison term for his escapades with McNab.

ChargeAgainstLawyer Ordered Withdrawn

MONTREAL, April 25 (CP) — Judge Rene Theberge today ordered withdrawal of a charge against Herman Buller, Montreal lawyer, of having unlawfully deprived an unmarried mother of her infant twins and detaining them without her consent.

The lawyer is one of three persons who were charged separately with the same offence, which police claimed was connected with a plan to procure babies for adoption in the United States and Canada.

Judge Theberge, in his judgment, quoted a declaration credited to Lord Darling, British jurist, to a jury:

"You must not convict an accused on a suspicion . . . you must find somewhere a solid anchorage upon which you can say, 'I am secure on this basis.'"

Iran And U.S. Renew Aid Pact

TEHRAN, Iran, April 25 (AP)—Authoritative sources said today Premier Mohammed Mossadegh's government and the United States have agreed on terms for resuming U.S. military aid to strategic, oil-rich Iran.

Aid was suspended early in January because Mossadegh refused to sign a contract containing six commitments tying Iran to co-operation with the west, as provided under the U.S. Mutual Security Act.

Mossadegh contended such an agreement would violate Iran's neutrality in the East-West cold war. This hurdle was overcome in an exchange of notes between Mossadegh and U.S. Ambassador Roy Henderson Wednesday.

It was reliably reported that Mossadegh's note pledged Iran to support the United Nations Charter with all resources at his command, build up its defences, and fight any aggression directed against the country.

Henderson then informed Mossadegh that the U.S. State Department feels this policy statement makes Iran eligible for renewed military aid.

Peer Apologizes For Remarks

LONDON, April 25 (Reuters)—Conservative Peer Lord Mancroft today apologized for making a "grave reflection on the dignity of the House of Commons" and headed off a move to take action against him.

But most Labor members of parliament were still chafing at his charge Thursday that, unlike members of the lower house, he is not paid for "larking about in the division lobbies at night with Bessie and the rest of the girls."

The reference to the Labor party's 210-pound Mrs. Bessie Braddock and other women members was heatedly brought up Thursday by Socialist Mrs. Barbara Castle, who quoted Mancroft's remark from a speech made earlier to the Conservative party's Primrose League.

Mrs. Castle asked that members be able to protect themselves from "the gross vulgarity of a comment of this kind."

Mancroft, in a letter to the House, said his remark had been only "a flippant aside."

"I very much hope the House will accept my wholehearted apology and I withdraw my remarks unreservedly."

Report Detroit Mayor In Critical Condition

DETROIT, April 25 — (CP) — Mayor Albert S. Cobo was in critical condition in Henry Ford Hospital today after suffering a heart attack.

The mayor 55, collapsed last night after delivering a speech. He is being treated under an oxygen tent, doctors said.

Allege Carpenter Set Fire To Help Woman Collect $4,500 Insurance

Owner Unable To Sell Her Cottage Because of Danger - Lake Ontario Waves Might Wash It Away

TORONTO, April 25. (CP)—Adelbert Verrault, 31, today was charged with arson in connection with a fire Thursday in a suburban Long Branch house in which 11-month-old Michael Lafontaine was burned to death in his crib. Police accuse Verrault, a carpenter, of setting the fire for $500 to help a woman friend collect $4,500 insurance money on the cottage occupied by the baby and his young parents, Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Lafontaine.

The baby died as flames swept the lakeside house which police say owner Adele Wall, 29, had been unable to sell because of its vulnerability to the waves of Lake Ontario.

Verrault, formerly of Hamilton, appeared before Justice of the Peace William Williams in suburban New Toronto and was remanded to April 30. Bail was refused.

The arrest of Verrault less than 24 hours after the fire followed an investigation by Long Branch police and an inspector of the Ontario Fire Marshal's Department. Seven persons, five men and two women, were questioned.

Saw Car Drive Away

The women were Miss Wall, hatcheck girl at a downtown cocktail lounge, and her niece, Leona Wallace.

William Bolton, a neighbor of the Lafontaines, told the investigators he had seen a car without lights drive away from the Lafontaine cottage about 2:15 a.m. Thursday, five minutes before 22-year-old Mrs. Lafontaine was awakened by smoke.

A can of turpentine, which had been in a storage shed, was found on a sun deck at the back of the house, police said. Lafontaine said he had not used the turpentine for a long time.

The investigators decided to question the owner of the house. They found Verrault listed as the owner. From him they learned he had signed away his share of the cottage to Adele Wall.

Further checking revealed that a $4,500 insurance policy had been taken out on the property at the same time as a $1,000 mortgage was obtained. Miss Wall said she used the mortgage money to pay Verrault for his share of the property.

Investigators quoted the woman as saying that she and Verrault consulted each other a few hours before the fire as to what they should do about the house. She said it had been in danger of being washed away by the waves, in case of another severe storm, and might also be condemned as unfit for habitation.

ParadeForEisenhower

FRANKFURT, Germany, April 25—(CP)—Canadian and British troops along with an R.A.F. Regiment and Royal Marines will stage a giant parade Monday at Minden, Germany, for General Eisenhower. The review by the Allied Supreme Commander will mark the start of a three-day farewell tour of his forces in West Germany. The Canadian 27th Infantry Brigade is stationed at Hannover.

Trenton Pilot Killed In N.S. Crash

HALIFAX, April 25 (CP). —A navy Avenger aircraft, apparently developing engine trouble, crashed at nearby Shearwater base Thursday, killing the pilot. He was the eighth naval airman to die within a week.

Victim of Thursday's crash was Lieut. William John Spencer, 28, of Trenton, son of a high school principal.

The Avenger, a torpedo bomber being used for anti-submarine work by the R.C.N. Air Arm, crashed about a half-mile from the base near a lake. It immediately burst into flames.

Pilots who watched the takeoff said it appeared the Avenger experienced engine trouble shortly after clearing the runway and that the pilot attempted to return to base.

Spencer leaves his widow, Mrs. Marion Spencer of Dartmouth. His parents live at 140 Henry St., Trenton.

Memorial Action

At about the time of the crash the carrier Magnificent, floating base of the air arm, was at sea off Southwestern Nova Scotia, conducting a memorial service for seven other air crash victims. The seven died when two Avengers apparently collided and crashed into the sea during a night exercise last Thursday. Their bodies were not recovered.

The navy ordered the usual court of inquiry, but said there was little possibility the Avengers would be grounded. They said that Thursday's crash was the first for at least a year in which engine trouble was evident.

21 New Seats In Legislature?

TORONTO, April 25 (CP). — Twenty-one new seats may be created in the forthcoming redistribution of representation in the Ontario Legislature, a Toronto paper says today.

The redistribution—first in 20 years—is expected to be carried out before the next general election, added the newspage story.

Toronto "might pick up five" of the 21 new seats Ottawa should gain three seats.

Other cities which the newspaper says may receive more representation include, with present representation in brackets is: Hamilton, 5 (3); Windsor, 5 (1); St. Catharines, Kingston, Oshawa, Sudbury and Kitchener, now all represented by partially rural ridings, now have sufficient population to demand separate seats, the story says.

Dying Mother Seeks Home For Children

DULUTH, Minn., April 25 (AP) —The two small sons of a cancer-doomed woman visited homes of prospective foster parents today and then talked about them with their rapidly-failing mother.

Doctors say Mrs. Evelyn Paro, 44, will probably die early next month but death could come at any time.

She made plans six weeks ago to sell her home and began inquiring about new parents for Gerald, 6, and Gordon, 9. By today some 250 adoption offers had arrived by letter and telephone.

Under strong sedatives, Mrs. Paro was carried to a car and she and her sons were driven to homes of several Duluth persons who want to adopt the boys.

Makes Whirlwind Tour

Queen Juliana Finds Her People Happy

KINGSTON, April 25—(CP)—Queen Juliana of the Netherlands arrived here today on the second leg of her fact-finding tour of Dutch living conditions on Ontario farms.

She flew here from Hamilton in an R.C.A.F. Dakota and will proceed by automobile to Eastern Ontario's Dutch settlements before moving on to Ottawa by way of Brockville and Prescott.

A group of Dutch settlers, with their wives and children, gathered at the airport to greet the Queen and sang the Dutch National Anthem.

After a 60-mile motor trip from Kingston, Queen Juliana paid a surprise visit to a group of Dutch nylon workers in the Brockville area.

Some six Dutch families, including a number of small children lined up at the edge of the highway to shake hands with the Queen. She later toured their living quarters, a group of small cottages lying behind the Highway Inn, east of Brockville.

Mrs. T. R. Morrison, owner of the cottages, said it was a "wonderful surprise" to have the Queen at her home.

The Queen expressed a desire that the destination be kept secret in order that immigrants she planned to visit should make no preparations, but continue at their jobs when she made her appearance.

That is what happened. Many of the 300 farmers, cannery workers and nurserymen she visited near Hamilton were caught by surprise. Others had heard through the grapevine that the Queen was coming and turned out in their Sunday finery.

Warm, touching scenes were repeated throughout the day as the Queen shook hands with each of her visitors, questioning them on living conditions and how well they liked Canada.

She told reporters later she is satisfied that "my people are happy here. They have a good living. I am so happy for them."

The Queen is expected to arrive back in Ottawa tonight to continue an "incognito" stay until Sunday when she returns to the Netherlands by KLM aircraft.

Prince Bernhard, her husband, now in New York, will make a trip to Ottawa to accompany the Queen on her homeward journey.

Things Looking Better

Kansas City Over Hump In Fight Against Flood

KANSAS CITY, April 25—(AP) —The Kansas City area was over the hump today in its fight against the Missouri River but flood workers still maintained a vigil along the network of dikes for possible weak spots.

The flood-choked river continued to fall here after reaching its peak Thursday just a fraction under 30.7 feet. That was better than 10 feet under the top of the levees.

It was a record upstream flood until the muddy surge hit Kansas City. But from here on downstream the river stages are lower than the terrible flood of July, 1951, when the Kaw (Kansas) River, which joins the Missouri here, laid waste the rich industrial areas of the two Kansas citys.

As the crest passed Kansas City, President Truman signed a $25,000,000 flood relief bill in Washington. A little later he allotted $250,000 of emergency funds to his home state of Missouri and $100,000 to Kansas, where four counties were affected.

On the Mississippi River, the record flood there inundated a Clinton, Ia., residential area eight blocks from the waterfront. It was the second flood blow in a year for Clinton.

Sentiment up and down the river seemed to be this year's flood was no worse than last year's. Everyone had feared it would be more serious.

At St. Louis, army engineers started mobilizing men and equipment to meet the flood threat along the Missouri-Illinois border. F. E. Ressegieu, district engineer, predicted the crest would pass with "a minimum of difficulties" if there is no more heavy rain.

Predict Coronation To Take Place On June 2, 1953

LONDON, April 25, (CP) — An authoritative source said Thursday that the Queen's coronation will take place next year during the last week in May or the first week in June, but in advance of an expected official announcement, the London Evening News pinpointed the date as June 2, 1953.

The Evening News said that Prime Minister Churchill and the Dominions have agreed upon the date. Buckingham Palace, however, would not confirm the newspaper's report.

With an official announcement expected soon, unofficial planning has already started for what is probably the oldest and most magnificent event in the world.

Theatre booking agents are offering seats in roadside stands which will not be built for 12 months. Hotels are booking overseas visitors, souvenir makers are designing jewelry and trinkets. Dress designers are planning gowns for peeresses and the wives of politicians. To all of these the Coronation will mean a bumper business year.

Tough Job

The man responsible for planning the actual ceremony is the 44-year-old Duke of Norfolk, hereditary Earl Marshal of England.

His toughest job will be sending invitations to the 7,500 privileged, and deciding the order of their precedence—in other words, who will get the best places at this glittering spectacle.

He will have help from the Coronation Committee, a group of distinguished statesmen appointed by the Queen.

Before the Coronation the Queen will take complete charge of Westminster Abbey. The Earl Marshal will take all the keys and not even the Dean of the Abbey will have duplicates.

Essentially, the Coronation is a simple religious service, but throughout the centuries numerous traditional ceremonies were added until now it is a long ritual symbolizing Britain's history from early Christian days.

It will take three or four months to prepare the Abbey for the one-day ceremony.

Holds 3,000

Normal Abbey seating is for about 3,000 people, but seats and stands will be needed for another 4,500 to accommodate the kings, queens, lords, ladies, knights, ambassadors and other persons who must have privileged places.

The crowning will take place on a platform, known as the "theatre," to be built in front of the high altar.

The Earl Marshal will be guided by his experience in 1937, when he planned the coronation of the late King.

In that year, so many people came to London that officials arranged special berths for ocean liners in the Thames to relieve the accommodation problem.

London's subway estimated that it carried 22,000,000 people during Coronation week and 60 per cent of them were believed to have come from overseas.

Hyatt's Trickery Sparked Mutiny

JACKSON, Mich., April 25 (AP) —Out of Cell Block 15, which was the fortress of Southern Michigan's surrendering mutineers, came Thursday an authentic but anonymous story of how the rebellion got under way through the trickery of a man who has a Canadian criminal record.

The man who started it all was Jack (Crazy Jack) Hyatt, of Leamington, Ont., a thrice-convicted robber and one of Michigan's toughest convicts.

Here is a guard's chronological story:

"Of the hundreds of doors in this place, they opened the wrong man's door. There are strict orders for the guards never to open Hyatt's or the cells of half a dozen or so other dangerous men without at least two or more guards being present.

"Hyatt called a guard to his door and asked to get out to go down the hall to exchange some papers.

Inexperienced Guard

"This guard was a young, inexperienced fellow. He opened the door. Hyatt stepped out. As his body cleared the opening, he wheeled, grabbed the guard, threw him into the cell, swung the door shut and there was the key in the door. Jack turned it and the do was on.

"He could open the doors of two tiers of cells with the guard's keys. Somebody got a note outside. It said a guard had gone up to No. 4 tier and hadn't come down and this had better be investigated.

"When the second man stepped in, Hyatt and his now freed numerous pals, got the keys to another two of the five tiers and let out the others.

"Then they began kidnapping guards outside."

Bombers Strafe Front Lines

SEOUL, Korea, April 25 (AP)—Allied fighter-bombers swept in low over the Korean battle line today bombing and strafing Communist front-line positions a second consecutive day.

Dense clouds over North Korea gave the Reds a temporary respite from aerial bombardment of hard-hit railways and supply facilities. But Communist troop and artillery concentrations got the full treatment of bombs, rockets, jellied gasoline and machine-gun bullets.

Ground action along the 155-mile front was limited to patrol skirmishes and light Red probing attacks.

Hear Piercing Cry Find Shivering Family

TRENTON, April 25 (CP). — A piercing cry broke the early morning stillness today as milkman Beverley Graham was starting his rounds.

On the shores of the Bay of Quinte he found a 29-year-old woman and her two children, soaked and shivering. The woman was mumbling incoherently.

Graham took the woman, Mrs. Madeline Cooper and her daughters, Melody, 4, and Elizabeth, 3 months, to hospital. Attendants said all were suffering from shock, but they could not discover what had happened.

Trenton police said they would question the woman tomorrow. Her husband, Roy Cooper, works in Toronto and spends weekends here. He has been notified by police.

Calls Hyatt Good Leader

JACKSON, Mich., April 25 — (CP)—Jack (Crazy Jack) Hyatt, the Leamington, Ont.-born convict who was one of the leaders of the Southern Michigan prison riot, told prison guards he would kill as many of them as he could if police stormed the rioters' embattled cell block, a guard said today.

The guard, Joseph Dzal, said in an interview that Hyatt was in charge of the floor in cellblock No. 15 where the rioters held Dzal and other prison turnkeys as hostages.

"They call him 'Crazy Jack'," Dzal said. "But you'll never get me to believe he's crazy. He treated us fine, and he handled those other guys with him like someone who had commanded men all his life.

"Through all the time we were there, every so often he'd have to go out and stop a fight or put down some minor disturbance among his followers. He handled everything in a calm, routine manner and always had the situation under control.

"Hyatt's favorite pastime seemed to be sharpening his knives . . . the sound wasn't one that let me do much sleeping. He told us, too, that if an attempt were made to storm No. 15, he (Hyatt) would be sure to be shot.

"'Though before I go'," he said, 'I'm going to take as many of you along with me as I can'."

Y Boys Put On Gym Display

Parents of boys in the Y.M.-C.A.'s boys department will have the opportunity to see the work the boys have been doing this past season when the annual gym Parents night is held tonight in the gym. A second performance will be held Saturday night.

William McFarlane, boys' work secretary, said today that 200 boys, ranging in age from eight to 15 years will be taking part. The work includes mostly exercises on the gym equipment such as the parallel bars, mats and springboard.

Start With Pioneers

The youngest group, the pioneers, eight and nine years old, will present "Time to Retire" during which they will mimic various animals, employing exercises. The juveniles, 10 and 11 years, will perform tumbling relays.

The older boys will work on the large apparatus, the juniors doing a springboard and horse act and the intermediates rolling, vaulting on the elephant, the parallel bars covered with mats.

The fancier gym work, jiu jitsu and fencing, will be undertaken by the senior leaders corps while the junior leaders will run through a dumb-bell drill.

An added feature will be an exhibition on the high bar by Keith Baker, a Mormon Elder. His work will include ad ifficult giant swing.

KINGSTON, April 25—(CP)—Seven Ontario men were graduated from Queen's University College at convocation here Thursday night. All will be ordained as ministers of the United Church of Canada.

The ceremony marked the final convocation for Dr. H. A. Kent, who is retiring as principal of the college. He will be succeeded by the Rev. Dr. MacLean Gilmour.

Graduates are: R. E. F. McLagan, Mitchell; F. E. Rice, Battersea; Robert Blair, Roblin; T. R. Norman, Yarker; C. W. Tomlin, Elginburg; J. M. B. McLeod, Selby; and R. A. Spear, Gananoque.

Prices Climb Slowly On Toronto Exchange

TORONTO, April 25 —(CP)— Prices climbed slowly today in early afternoon stock market dealings.

Western oils opened strongly to snap a three-day decline and pushed irregularly higher as the session progressed. Industrials and golds turned upward by noon but most advances were small. Golds showed little trend.

Utilities and banks led industrials upward with a scattered list of fractional advances. Papers, agricultures, refining oils and retail stores also drew firm support. Foods weakened while manufacturing companies dipped sharply.

Western oil gains ranged to about 25 cents. Calgary and Edmonton, Federated Petroleum, Model Oil, Royalite, Sapphire, Western Leaseholds and Pan Western were among the strongest gainers.

Base metals were mixed. Coldstream Copper, Fennimore Iron, International Nickel, Labrador, Quebec Copper and Waite Amulet strengthened while East Sullivan and New Calumet weakened.

Seniors golds were firm as Dome, Giant Yellowknife and Kerr Addison added fractions. Secondary issues slipped.

Water Pollution Survey

ALBANY, N. Y., April 25 (AP) —The New York State Water Pollution Control Board said today it has begun a preliminary pollution survey of the Niagara River drainage basin. The survey, slated for completion by July, will be used in classifying the waters in subsequent development of a pollution-abatement program.

Pay-In-Advance Plan For Niagara Hospital

NIAGARA FALLS, April 25 (CP) —A pay-in-advance policy for outpatients was adopted Thursday night by the Greater Niagara Hospital Board.

It was also decided that persons entering the hospital for operations, and who ask for public ward beds, must pay for whatever accommodation they are given when public ward beds are not available.

Both moves were aimed at improve the hospital's finance situation.

The president, Mrs. Ford Chambers, was in the chair. Scripture reading was taken by Mrs. G. D. Young, followed by prayer by Mrs. Bateman. Mrs. Arthur Tompkins recited a poem, "The Easter Story" was read by Mrs. George Fox.

Must Post Prices

WASHINGTON, April 25 (AP). —Restaurants, boarding houses, taverns, hotels and hot dog stands in the United States must post publicly today their ceiling prices for food and drinks. The office of price stabilization said the price-posting order affects more than a 500,000 establishment serving 70,000,000 meals a day and doing more than $12,000,000 of business a year. Price stabilizer Ellis Arnall said that through the posting of prices their customers now will be able to see the maximum prices they should pay.

I.O.D.E. News

COLONEL AGNES NEILL CHAPTER

Colonel Agnes Neill Chapter, I.O.D.E., monthly meeting was held in the Y.W.C.A. green room Tuesday evening. Regent Miss Marjorie Benson was in the chair and the flag was brought forward by standard-bearer Miss Eleanor Cameron.

It was reported that the annual spring tea was a financial success. A rummage sale was discussed and final arrangements were left with Miss Dorothy Franks and her committee.

The next work meeting is to be held at the home of Mrs. S. Adamson on Bolivar St. on May 6. The draw was made for the layette, made by members of the chapter this year and the winner is Miss Mary Briggs, 574 Donegal St.

Mrs. A. Gertley introduced the speaker, Mrs. Major D. Sharpe, who gave an interesting talk on Bermuda. Mrs. Sharpe lived in Bermuda for three years and came to know the islands and their people very well. She illustrated her talk with colored slides. Miss Jean Hamley thanked Mrs. Sharpe.

At close of the meeting Mrs. H. Wilson and her group served refreshments.

Gore's Landing WA Celebrates 25th Anniversary

GORE'S LANDING, April 25 — (ENS)—The silver jubilee of St. George's on the Hill W.A. was fittingly observed by a joint meeting with St. Anne's W.A., Bewdley, who are also celebrating their 25th year of organization. The joint meeting was held in the home of Mrs. Clare Harris, one of the original members of St. George's W.A. of 25 years ago, on Wednesday afternoon.

Seventeen members of St. Anne's were present and Mrs. R. J. Meggs, president, was in the chair. As Wednesday was St. George's Day, the patron Saint of the local church, a special prayer was read. Mrs. Meggs read a meditation on "Service," referring to the 25 years of service given by the various members. The Bible reading was taken by Mrs. Lyle Wallace and the secretary read the minutes and in the business period, read a letter of invitation from St. John's Harwood W.A. who are observing the 25th anniversary of their organization with a joint meeting on May 12th. Mrs. Meggs then welcomed the members of St. Anne's to Gore's Landing and turned the meeting over to the program convenor Mrs. Melville Harris.

Mrs. Oliver MacIntosh read an article on "Humility". Mrs. Goss, Bewdley, President of St. Anne's made a brief address during which the presentation of a lovely silvered potted tree was made by Mrs. Kennedy for St. George's W.A. The collection of 25 cent pieces was attractively attached to the various branches of the tree as a donation from St. Anne's. Mrs. Meggs accepted the gift, expressing the thanks of St. George's W.A.

Mrs. Holdaway of Bewdley contributed a colored drawing to the program, drawing and coloring the picture as she gave a talk on her work. Mrs. Meggs played a piano solo. Following the benediction, the hostess and members of St. George's served tea and a "get-acquainted" hour was enjoyed.

Hastings W.A. Plans May Catering Jobs

HASTINGS, April 25 (ENS)— Mrs. J. W. Buck was hostess to Group 2 of the Women's Association of Trinity United Church. Vice-president Mrs. Cecil Oliver was in charge and Mrs. W. S. Way had charge of the worship, the theme being "Living in the Community."

The W.A. are sponsoring the play "Wild Ginger," by George St. Young People, of Peterborough, on May 7 in the town hall, and each member is asked to make candy for sale that evening.

Group 2 is acting as hostess for a father and son banquet for the Tyro Group on April 30. The group will also cater for a wedding luncheon, committee in charge of arrangements to be Mrs. A. Poole, Mrs. A. Beamish, Mrs. B. Trotter, Mrs. C. Oliver, Mrs. L. Humphries, Mrs. F. Crate and Miss K. German.

Miss German invited the group to her home for their next meeting on May 15. Committee is Mesdames J. Essex, L. Fallis, F. Crate, J. W. Buck.

Mrs. Poole was in charge of the program. A duet by Misses M. Hess and M. Richardson was accompanied by Mrs. J. Baker; reading, "The Other Fellow's Job," by Mrs. B. Trotter. A contest was won by Mrs. H. Oliver.

The hostess served a delicious lunch assisted by her daughter, Mrs. Max Breckenridge, and the committee.

Community Effort

WINNIPEG—(CP)—A new neighborhood house will be established in Winnipeg's north end to provide better family service and recreation for all age groups in the area. Three Winnipeg organizations pledged $25,000 each to help defray costs of the project.

Police say the woman told them she and Verrault had lived together but separated last year when Verrault moved away to take up residence with her niece, Miss Wallace.

After talking to Miss Wall, the investigators again questioned Verrault. For hours he remained silent, shrugging his shoulders. Finally, they said, he signed a statement.

As a result, police charged him with setting the fire—for a fee of $500, offered by Adele Wall—a few minutes after he returned to Long Branch after driving Miss Wall to her home in Toronto.

The woman told reporters she had no knowledge of the fire and had not been in a car at the scene. She said she could not understand why the police had arrested Verrault, a man whom she said she did not know well.

Mrs. LaFontage said Miss Wall offered to sell her and her husband the cottage for $1,500, with $500 cash down.

MP Urges Gov't Support Cheese

OTTAWA, April 25. (CP)—The Federal government should support cheese prices to stave off an "emergency" in the dairy industry, G. S. White (PC-Hastings-Peterborough) said Thursday in the Commons.

Speaking in the budget debate, Mr. White said dairymen will not accept any attempt by Agriculture Minister Gardiner to "evade the issue or pass off responsibility to any provincial government."

He was referring to statements made in the House earlier this week by Mr. Gardiner, who said the government would not override provincial action taken on cheese in Ontario, the largest producer of cheese.

Mr. White said a serious situation has arisen in the dairy industry because of the loss of the United Kingdom cheese market and the current United States embargo on import of Canadian dairy cattle as the result of foot-and-mouth disease.

The dairy industry was a cornerstone of the Canadian economy, and immediate steps were needed to save it. The outlook for producers was "grim."

Mr. White said the situation now amounts to a national emergency. It affected hundreds of thousands of persons and it could result in widespread unemployment.

B.C. Liberals Shelve School Resolution

VANCOUVER, April 25 (CP) — The British Columbia Liberal party voted Thursday night without debate to shelve an executive resolution calling for partial integration of Roman Catholic Schools into the public school system.

This resolution corresponded roughly with a seven-point program the B.C. Catholic Education Association put forward as a means of settling the issue.

At the annual convention of the party Thursday night, the resolution was shelved and another resolution endorsed.

New Resolution

The new resolution notes that textbooks are provided free to private as well as to public school students and that in some cases free medical and dental care is provided for other than public school pupils. It adds:

"Be it resolved that the government be urged to consider any other apparent matters of discrimination with a view to further eliminating any such discrimination."

The resolution terms the government's granting of textbooks and health services to other than public schools correcting "certain apparent discriminations."

G. A. Hebden, chairman of the resolutions committee, told the convention the original intent of the shelved executive resolution was "regrettable and could stir up sharp division at a time when harmony is desirable."

Army Officials Check Thefts At Kingston

KINGSTON, April 25—(CP)— Police and army officials Thursday investigated the theft of 20 truck tires and wheels valued at $3,000, the second such looting of military stores reported in Ontario this month. Army officials said their Kingston investigation is confined to the loss of the wheels and will not extend to other stores.

Woman Marks 90th Birthday At Campbellford

CAMPBELLFORD, April 25 — (ENS)—Mrs. Esther Free, a well-known and active Campbellford woman was treated to a surprise party on the occasion of her 90th birthday, on Sunday last. Many friends and relatives called on Mrs. Free to wish her well at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Alfred Stephens of Seymour township where the party was held. The elderly lady lives with her daughter, Mrs. J. F. McGregor in Campbefford.

Mrs. Free was born in Seymour, where, after her marriage to the late John Free, she made her residence. The couple farmed in Seymour West and raised their family there. After the death of her husband, she remained on the farm, but later moved to the home of her brother.

After the death of her brother, she came to Campbellford to give her granddaughter the opportunity of attending Campbellford High School. Following her graduation from Campbellford High School, her granddaughter, Miss Eleanor E. Brown, trained as a nurse, and graduated from Peterborough Civic Hospital. Mrs. Free has continued to reside at the home of her daughter ever since.

Mrs. Free spends a good deal of her time in sewing, knitting and reading. During World War II she had the remarkable record of knitting more than 200 pairs of socks for servicemen.

About 125 persons called to wish her "many happy returns" on her birthday. She has over 30 grandchildren and 50 great-grandchildren. The grandchildren presented Mrs. Free with a beautiful bouquet of 90 roses, one for each year of her life, and the great-grandchildren presented her with an orchid.

Cobourg P.U.C. Income Boosted

COBOURG, April 25—(ENS)—Income was up in 1951 as compared with 1950, in the electric department of Cobourg Public Utilities, it was revealed in the auditor's report. Total income for 1951 was $206,447.29 and in 1950 the amount was $174,336.60. Receipts from residential consumers were $91,100.26 last year; commercial, $102,087.41; municipal, $9,787.11 and miscellaneous, $3,472.51. Largest increase last year was in the commercial consumption of electric power, being $16,919.52 more than the year before.

Expenditures were $20,845.53 more in 1951 than in 1950, the 1951 total being $186,725.48. Cost of power purchased last year amounted to $135,364.57, an increase of $17,565.94 over 1950. Among the items of expenditure were street lighting operation and maintenance, $1,440.37; distribution, operation and maintenance, $7,925.56. Billing and collecting cost $9,185.02. Surplus for the year was $19,721.81.

The water department saw a net loss for the year of $3,325.66. Residential water consumption was $25,234.11 or an increase of $690.98 over the year before. However, commercial consumption decreased $1,766.28 to the 1951 total of $15,251.03. Industrial was $14,674.42, a drop of $971.45. Total income was $60,870.69.

Expenditures in the water department amounted to $64,196.35. All items were more last year except administrative and general and transmission and distribution.

He Has Answer

OTTAWA, April 25 — (CP) — H. C. Mesereau, Montreal synthetic textile expert, said Thursday he knows why those Toronto girls developed runs in their nylon stockings earlier this week. It's all the fault of coal dust and the humidity, he told the Engineering Institute of Canada. In humid weather, soft coal particles in the air can form a weak solution of sulphuric acid which will destroy nylon.

Salaries Absorb Big Part Of Budgets

Salaries of firemen were 92 per cent and policemen 87 per cent in the council's expenditure last year for the requirements of these two departments.

In compiling the budget for 1952, city council devoted a great deal of time to the consideration of salaries and wages of civic employees as a whole. The same concern has been directed by the Board of Education and the Utilities Commission in preparing their estimates of revenue and expenditure.

Firemen and policemen are mentioned merely as examples of the trend toward bulkier items for payment of civic services.

Edward Humpage's audited statement of the expenditures in 1951 for the fire department was:

Services of firemen, $141,743.17; uniforms, office supplies, etc., $4,257.80; liability and fire insurance premiums, $950.81; apparatus and alarm system operation and maintenance, $3,663.67; operation of premises, $3,129.64; total $134,242.36.

And for the police department: service of police force $119,385.59; uniforms, etc., $6,074.36; office supplies, etc., $1,176.63; liability and fire insurance premiums, $243.53; communication system, cars, trucks, operation and maintenance, $8,447.68; remuneration of Police Commission, $1,100; total, $136,427.79.

Stone Crusher Breaks Worker's Finger

CAMPBELLFORD, April 25 — (ENS)—Forty-one-year-old Carl Tripp of Frankford, who is employed by the McFarland Construction Company at a rock quarry in Campbellford, suffered a crushed finger Thursday evening, when his hand was caught between the two stones in a stone crusher.

X-rays at the Campbellford hospital revealed a fracture of the finger, and the man was attended by Dr. W. W. Baker.

Mrs. Ben Chubb

ROSENEATH, April 25 (ENS) —The funeral service for Mrs. Ben Chubb, nee Eliza Ann Smoke, was held at Alderville United Church on Thursday afternoon at 2.30 p.m. The service was conducted by the Rev. J. N. Lovelace.

Mrs. Chubb's death occurred on Monday at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Zacharias Smoke, Alderville, after a lengthy illness, in her 51st year.

Friends and relatives were present at the service from Beamsville, Curve Lake, Coboconk, Lakefield and Alderville.

Alderville mixed choir contributed an anthem with Mrs. James Bigwin Jr. at the organ.

Pallbearers were Messrs. Irvine Smoke, Claybourne Beaver, Preston Gray of Alderville; Wallace Taylor, Coleman Jacobs and James Coppeway, Curve Lake.

Flowers were carried by Messrs. John D. Loukes, Moses Smoke, Borden Crowe, John Smoke and Norman Marsden.

Burial was in Alderville Cemetery.

Oil Firm Shuffle

COBOURG, April 25—(ENS)—While the establishment of a Shell Oil depot near Port Hope, fed by pipe lines, will remove Cobourg as a distribution centre, the Imperial Oil Co. is expanding here. It is understood that Imperial Oil will buy the present Shell tanks when Shell moves to Port Hope. In addition, Imperial will start work soon on a two-million-gallon capacity tank down at the waterfront. The new tank will take in an area of 100 by 40 feet.

Aged Comforts

FORT FRANCES, Ont.—(CP)—The Rainy River district's new home for the aged here will be opened soon. The sprawling one-storey edifice named "Rainycrest" will accommodate 83 persons, but is built so that additions may bring the total to 250.

P.L. QUIP OF THE WEEK

Two glamour girls boarded a crowded street car, and one of them whispered to the other, "Watch me embarrass a seat from one of the men." Pushing her way through the standees, she bore down on a gentleman who looked substantial and embarrassable. "My dear Mr. Brown," she gushed, "fancy meeting you on a street car. But I am glad to see you—you're getting to be really a stranger. Oh, I am tired." The sedate gent looked up at the girl he had never seen before, and, as he rose, he said for all to hear: "Sit down, Bertha, my girl. We don't often see you out on wash day. No wonder you're tired. By the way, don't deliver the washing till Wednesday. My wife's going to the crown attorney's office to see if she can get your husband out of jail."

No Rep. By Pop.

The House of Commons committee set up to remake constituency boundaries has begun its work. After each ten-year census a redistribution is required by law, and in theory this redistribution will give representation in the House of Commons by population. According to the theory of representation by population, every voter's ballot is equal in importance. It is not equal if in one constituency there are eighty thousand voters to elect one candidate and in another twenty thousand. In this situation, the vote of a person in the densely populated constituency is worth only a quarter of the vote of a person in the less populated constituency. It is to avoid such unfairness that redistributions are required by law.

• • •

The new boundaries now being defined will not be fair. That is a political and regional impossibility. Even the law recognizes this, for no Province shall have fewer Members of Parliament than it has senators. This is to ensure that the representation for Prince Edward Island, for instance, will not dwindle to nothing. According to the 1950 census, however, the total population of that island Province (98,429) is less than the population of the constituencies of York East (159,652) or York North (122,538). Yet P.E.I. has now four members; the two suburban Toronto constituencies only one each. In the new redistribution the Yorks will be subdivided and get more representatives; but P.E.I. can lose none. Since it is entitled to four senators, it must have four M.P.'s. Thus every 25,000 people in P.E.I. will continue to have a member; and the average of Ontario constituencies will be about 60,000.

Regional prejudices will be taken into account—as they already are by the 1915 amendment to the British North America Act providing that no province shall have fewer seats in the Commons than in the Senate. (Senate representation is not according to population. However small the population of the three Maritime province becomes, the B.N.A. Act gives them a block of 24 senate seats, to balance regionally the 24 Quebec and 24 Ontario seats. Nova Scotia has ten, New Brunswick ten and P.E.I. four. The four western provinces also have 24 senate seats among them. Newfoundland was given six Senate seats on her entry into Canada.) But apart from these constitutional regional arrangements the Committee will have to be wary of other regional sensitivities, in Saskatchewan, for instance.

• • •

Saskatchewan's population decreased in the years 1940-50 from 895,992 to 831,728. Yet the total population of the country increased by three and a half millions. If the same number of Commons seats are to be distributed evenly, Saskatchewan should lose five seats. This would be too great a shock to western sensibilities, particularly when the Government gets pretty heavy support from the prairies. So it has decided that the membership in the Commons should be increased by three seats. This will allow Saskatchewan to keep two of the five it should lose; the extra new one will placate others elsewhere.

• • •

Whether more exceptions will be made remains to be seen. According to the census, Manitoba will lose two seats, Nova Scotia one, and New Brunswick may lose one. Somewhere or other the proportionately large increases during the decade in the populations of Quebec, Ontario and British Columbia must be given some semblance of parliamentary recognition.

No government in Canadian history has had the courage (or indeed the inclination) to establish constituency boundaries on a fair basis of representation by population. If it does not favour one region against another, it certainly favours one constituency more than another; and by no curious trick of political prejudice, the constituencies most favoured are those represented by men who have the same political colour as the Government in power. We do not expect, for instance, that the Committee on Redistribution, a majority of whose members are always of the ruling Government's party, will recommend the disappearance of Algoma East, whose 1950 population was 30,627, even though most Ontario constituencies will have fifty or sixty thousand people in them. Algoma East is a large, sprawling area; anyway, its sitting member is the Hon. L. B. Pearson, Minister of External Affairs.

The Work That Knows No Season

In accepting the Honorary Presidency of the Canadian Cancer Society, the Rt. Hon. Vincent Massey said that although a special campaign is at present engaged in collecting funds, the work of the society knows no season. We all know this to be true, but like many another truth, we do not reflect upon it as deeply as we might.

Medical research of the most elaborate and exhaustive kind has, during the past century, defeated many of the most dreaded diseases which afflict mankind. Plague is now little more than a name; there are hundreds of experienced physicians who have never seen a case of plague—we refer to bubonic plague, which was the terror of the earth for centuries. Typhoid fever is another killer which is now pretty well under control. Diphtheria, a scourge of childhood, is now controlled. Tuberculosis, though still a potent enemy, is much better understood than in the days when it was virtually fatal. These illnesses, and many more, have succumbed to the efforts of hundreds of research workers and practising physicians who have pooled their knowledge and experience to defeat them. There is nothing over-optimistic about a prediction that cancer may one day join the list of scourges which have been brought under control. And as the Governor-General reminds us, the work toward this end never ceases.

It never ceases to cost money, as well. Your contribution, however large or small it may be, helps the workers who seek further knowledge of this strange illness which is mentioned so often, and with such dread, in our society. Money given to the Canadian Cancer Society is ammunition placed in the hands of the fighters against cancer.

Too Little French Air?

The Montreal paper L'Opinion Libre has found a "painful" situation in its province.

In Montreal, for example, and in the principal cities of our province, Quebec included, the appearance of the restaurants and hotels frequented by our visitors is excessively English. Signs are as often English as French; menu as often English as French or bilingual; information more spontaneously English than French; management usually English; personnel not sufficiently French. Ah, yes, all that in the French province of Quebec! Those who know us a little know that we do not nourish anti-foreign prejudices, and that we find no pleasure in multiple face-making at people of other race than our own. But, after all, is it normal that in a population as overwhelmingly French-Canadian as Montreal, Quebec, etc., the passer-by breathes so little French air?

We think L'Opinion Libre is mistaking its clever bi-lingual compatriots for English-Canadians. (Maybe their English is too good.) It seems to us that even in Montreal there are more French signs, French restaurants and shops, French-speaking clerks, cooks, waiters, cab-drivers and shoppers than ever there were. It used to be that beyond Bleury street there was little but English seen and spoken. Now there are French signs down to Guy and Atwater. And certainly in Quebec city French shops, restaurants and characters still predominate. (Where would Quebec's old world charm be without them?) Down the river in the lovely old rural and fishing villages the only English to be heard is flat tourist English and that of enterprising vendors persuading them in English to spend their money. In fact, there is still so much French air in the province of Quebec that timid Ontarians without the gift of tongue think it an unsettling foreign adventure to travel into Quebec.

The Advantage Of Missing A Train At Cologne

Every Wednesday, so a UNESCO publication tells us, the third class waiting room at Cologne railway station in Germany becomes a debating forum as travellers listen to discussion on literary questions between well-known writers, and join in themselves. The Wednesday meetings were begun a year ago by a station bookseller, with an ear for lively talk and a tongue to spark it.

What is unusual about these Wednesday Cologne station forums? Why every morning between ten and eleven in this town and hundreds of others across Canada, men gather over cups of coffee and take the town and country to pieces for a half hour and put it together again as they toss coins to see who pays the shot this morning.

Ah! but the gossip at Cologne seems too peculiarly informative and literary. The chatter at the morning Canadian coffee-clubs is inclined to persiflage and personalities; not to literary philosophy and poetry. That is the advantage of missing a train at Cologne.

NOTES AND COMMENT

"It is now possible to talk to the dead," a medium claims. That has always been possible.

The value of the dollar may not be changed as greatly as some people claim. It still does about as much for many as they do for it.

A pediatrician states flatly that the best time to feed a baby is when it is hungry. The statement sounds rather unprofessional, yet altogether logical.

Notes And Queries

By ALPHA

Questions are solicited for this column particularly those relating to local lore and tradition.

DEAR ALPHA: Why do we not have a Conservatory of Music in Peterborough? It seems to me we have good number of musicians in our City with a high standard of teaching ability. I will be interested in learning why the Old Conservatory has ceased to exist.

ANSWER: Time aged the moving spirits of Peterborough Conservatory, Rupert Gliddon and his wife, and there seemed to be none to carry on. Created by the Gliddons, it decayed with them. By 1929 the Conservatory was already on the way out; the Depression of the next couple of years finished it. The conservatory hall back and on the Rubidge Street side of the building which was the Gliddon home (north-west corner of Hunter and Rubidge) was torn down. The house was sold—I believe Miss Maimie Montgomery, junior French teacher at P.C.I. bought it—and converted it into apartments as they are today.

In its heyday the Peterborough Conservatory was a flourishing institution. The 1916 syllabus gives the staff of teachers to be: Kindergarten (for very young children—musical games, rhythms, little songs) Miss Helen MacLaren.

Pianoforte—Olive Johnston, Helen MacLaren, Harriett Pearce, Gwen Smith, Dorothy Stuart, Bessie Elcome, Florence Scott, Aileen Sullivan, Louise Stone, Rupert Gliddon and Jeanette Killmaster.

Voice—Helen MacLaren, Jeanette Killmaster, Russell MacLean.

Violin—Lorne Logan, Mrs. Cameron Wilson.

Theory—Harriet Pearce, Bessie Elcome, Olive Johnston, Louise Stone.

Violoncello—Leo Smith.

Cornet, clarinet and wind instruments—Prof. Gliddon.

Mandoline—Special arrangement for classes.

Social Dancing—Miss Gladman. Evening and afternoon classes and private lessons.

It will be remarked from this list that all the piano teachers were women except Mr. Gliddon; that then, as now, many of the teachers tried their hand at all sorts of musical subjects. The names are none of them now in the news; excepting Dr. Leo Smith who died last week-end, and came down from Toronto to teach on certain days, and played 'cello with the Conservatory orchestra—A Gliddon enterprise. Mr. Gliddon used to bring other teachers from Toronto for special studies and advanced work.

◇ ◇ ◇

MOST of the local piano teachers at the Conservatory really used it as a place to teach, instead of taking pupils in their own homes. It will be noted that no organ tuition was offered in 1916, the reason being that Rupert Gliddon was a bandmaster, and not an organist. The fact that the Conservatory was a Gliddon family affair is indicated by the omissions in the conservatory staff. Except for him, few of the other prominent Peterborough musicians belonged to it.

A revival of the Peterborough Conservatory would be useful and good, particularly if it had a small concert and practice hall, and the teachers pooled their skills.

Musicians, like lawyers, are not by nature a co-operative breed of people. Whether they would accept the discipline, sharing and specialization of a conservatory is doubtful. Also doubtful is whether they would want to have a percentage of their fees drained off by the Conservatory, and to pay studio rentals in it when many of them can and do teach in their homes or churches without extra roof charges. And to be good a Peterborough Conservatory would need teachers of more varied specialities than are now in Peterborough. Compared with the number in town who are primarily teachers of piano, there is only a handful to teach the organ, violin and voice; and almost none to give expert instruction in orchestral instruments like the oboe.

The nearest Peterborough is to attaining a Conservatory now is at St. Cecilia's school; and through the Registered Music Teachers' association—a loose organization attempting to secure good standards of music teaching.

ALPHA: What does the S. stand for in the President's name, Harry S. Truman?

ANSWER: For itself only. Mr. Truman has no middle name, but uses the S.

◇ ◇ ◇

SIR: Could a wife earn some extra income without having to file a separate income tax return? If so, how much can she earn?

ANSWER: If she has earned $250 or less she would not have to file a return nor would her husband have to show it on his tax return. But any income above that, up to $1,000, must be shown on the husband's tax form, and deducted from the $1,250 basic allowance on the simplified tax form. For instance, if she earned $500, the allowance he would put down would be $1,250 less $500 equals $750.

If the wife's earnings have already been taxed (for instance, if she has worked in an office, factory, store, tax would already have been deducted from her pay) then she should file a separate income tax form so as to get back whatever she is entitled to of the tax deducted "at source" from her pay.

If this is not clear, why not consult the income tax advisers at the Customs House corner George and Charlotte? They have been there for more than a month to help people with such matters. There is no charge for their services.

◇ ◇ ◇

DEAR ALPHA: Will you please tell me the size of the Great Lakes?

ANSWER: Lake Superior in 383 miles long, 160 wide, has a water surface of 31,820 miles and a maximum depth of 1,302 feet. It would bore me to repeat all those words for each lake, so here is a tabulation:

	Length	Width	Area	Depth
Superior ...	383	160	31,820	1,302
Michigan ...	321	118	22,400	923
Huron	247	101	23,010	750
Erie	241	57	9,940	210
Ontario	193	53	7,450	774

Lake St. Clair is also in the chain. It is 26 miles long, 24 wide, has a water surface of 460 square miles, and a maximum depth of 23 feet. The difference in level between Lake Superior and Lake Ontario is 356.3 feet; from 602.2 feet above sea-level to Lake Ontario's elevation of 245.9 feet above sea-level. Lake Superior is the largest body of fresh water in the world.

◇ ◇ ◇

NATIONAL ANTHEM: I discussed recently the words of "God Save The King". A reader has given me this verse, composed by the prize-winner among four hundred competitors in a Royal Colonial Institute 1920 search for an "Empire Verse". The judges, Edmund Gosse and Lawrence Binyon selected this as the best:

Wide o'er the linking seas
Polar and tropic breeze
Our song shall ring.
Brothers of each domain
Bound but by Freedom's chain
Shout, as your sires, again—
God Save the King.

I need not say that the verse never came into common use, and is probably entirely forgotten except in this column.

FOR THE RECORD: Beautiful weather, but no April records set yet for warmth. On Good Friday people who went up to inspect lakeside cottages even as close of Pigeon left their cars on the road, because snow and muck through woodland cottage lanes might have mired them. The next Friday the snow was gone from the woods and the ice from the lake. Today the trees in town look as if they were ready to burst into leaf. The miracle of spring begins; a pity it is so short in this country.

OPINION ON FLUORINE

Sir: I heartily agree with your Editorial regarding fluorine in drinking water. It seems so utterly ridiculous that the Council should allow the firm that are interested in the sale of fluorine plants to talk them into this proposition at a cost to the tax payers of upwards of one hundred thousand dollars. As you remarked, what a waste of this valuable substance when only an infinitesimal amount would find its way for the purpose for which it is intended and the great bulk thrown away for flushing the streets, watering lawns, putting out fires, flushing the toilet, washing dishes and a hundred other uses.

Why not sell it in the drug store in diluted form? Then anyone who wanted to experiment could obtain it. One of the uses for this substance is poisoning rats and insects. Why should those of us who do not believe in it be put to the expense of digging a well or be compelled to drink the stuff?

I herewith enclose a letter by Dr. A. B. Farmer M.A., B.A., Ossington Ave., Toronto. This gentleman has made a life study of matters pertaining to health. I have known him for many years and know from past experience that any opinion he may have on these matters is absolutely reliable.

As a warning to the public you should publish his letter. The people of Peterborough should know what they may be up against and if you care to print this letter also, I am quite satisfied to back it up.

H. T. MILLARD

(Dr. Farmer's Letter)

That fluorine is needed for bones and elastic tissue has long been known. But that sodium fluoride is a dangerous poison is admitted. Even one part per million in water mottles the teeth of some users, and two parts of most users. There may be worse effects on veins, arteries and other elastic tissues. In soil and foods nature usually presents fluorine in relatively insoluble forms, in association with lime, in molecules from which the body can accept or reject the fluorine according to need. But the molecule of sodium fluoride is so small it readily penetrates all tissues, and cannot be controlled. Phosphorus, in the large molecules of protein, is necessary for building muscle and nerve, but phosphorus in the small molecule of phosphorus fumes will not help the bones. The tiny molecule of alcohol contains the same carbon, hydrogen and oxygen found in starch, but so readily penetrates all tissues it is not readily controlled in the body, and so a pound of alcohol is far more poisonous to the body than a pound of starch. Such uncontrollable, toxic substances should be prescribed only for individuals by competent physicians able to determine the exact needs of the individual patient and to watch his condition from day to day. In general, any substance in uncontrollable form is apt to damage the very tissues of which it is a normal constituent. The only time I ever had a varicose vein was after a comparable experiment with sodium fluoride some years ago.

There are other significant causes of tooth decay besides lack of fluorine, such as lack of lime and of vitamins A, C and D. These deficiencies, together with deficiency of fluorine, can readily be supplied by use of wholesome and inexpensive foods now on the market. What is needed is education. For one hundred thousand dollars a year a good advertising agency could do a job of public education promoting not only good teeth but general health far beyond what any fluoridation of water could do.

A. B. FARMER

WERE GUNS CONFISCATED?

Sir: A few days ago I saw an account in your periodical concerning the action of some boys of teen-age.

These young sarpints were playing along the railroad tracks inside the city limits, and they had guns of one kind and another.

Some time ago there was a movement by the Government to have all guns, of whatsoever kind, registered. This was carried out to the extent of air rifles and "22's".

Apparently, with time, this registration has become lax. All these guns should be registered. ARE THEY?

These children amused themselves by firing their guns through the windows of a train. People might have been killed.

Bosh! What do we care? Too many people ride while we have to walk. Let the kids have their fun!) This seems to be the attitude of the parents of these children. Let them have their fun. At the expense of people who never did them any harm. At the expense of railroad companies, and possible personal friends of their own families.

Where is it to end? What was done about it all? Were the guns confiscated? Were the parents fined for not having the guns registered? Not that I heard of!

What are the authorities expected to do in cases like this? I would really like to know.

I think all guns not in use by the police should be stacked in the armories under guard and only issued in times of necessary by some officer in authority.

Yes! I would limit the possession of firearms of all descriptions to those lawfully requiring them in the way of duty.

OLD SOLDIER

GEORGE ST. NOISES

Sir: Once upon a time I used to be a curb cruiser. But I used to do it in a city that had a police force, by laws, anti noise campaigns, etc. A city that would not stand for all this horn blowing that the residents of George St. have to put up with every night until about 1 a.m. and all day Sunday. But you never see a police officer. Why? But now I know why!

I had to deliver a small parcel on a side street. It was dark and there must have been one of them hiding out there. I know I was parked on the wrong side of the street and deserved the ticket even though it was only for 5 minutes. But it let me know where to look next time I want to lay a complaint.

As for these curb cruising Lotharios. Some proud father will come out one morning to find he has a triple paint job. Next time they wake my kiddies up. And I am in a position to do it. Three floors up.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Now Samuel was dead, and all Israel had lamented him, and buried him in Ramah, even in his own city. And Saul had put away those that had familiar spirits, and the wizards, out of the land. And the Philistines gathered themselves together, and came and pitched in Shuhem: and Saul gathered all Israel together, and they pitched in Gilboa. And when Saul saw the host of the Philistines, he was afraid, and his heart greatly trembled . . . .

Then said Saul unto his servants, Seek me a woman that hath a familiar spirit, that I may go to her, and enquire of her. And his servants said to him, Behold, there is a woman that hath a familiar spirit at En-dor. And Saul disguished himself, and put on other raiment, and he went, and two men with him, and they came to the woman by night; and he said, I pray thee, divine unto me by the familiar spirit, and bring me him up, whom I shall name unto thee . . . Then said the woman, Whom shall I bring up unto thee? And he said, Bring me up Samuel. (I Sam. 28: 3-5, 7, 8, 11.)

PROUDLY SPORTING his newly tailored uniform, complete with Provost arm band and white web belt, is 14-year-old Lee Yong Ha, of Taegu, Korea, seen receiving traffic signal instruction from L/Cpl. Jim Rodger, 21, of Winnipeg. The young Korean was unofficially inducted into the Canadian Provost Corps unit of Canada's 25th Infantry Brigade following eight months' service as a houseboy. Recently "promoted" to the rank of Lance Corporal young Lee exerts his seniority over other house boys who show due respect in a manner typical of the Korean populace towards their police. Despite the uniform and traffic signalling instruction his duties do not go beyond that of head house boy.—(National Defence Photo).

Canada Expects To Use Only Own Oil In '54

CLEVELAND, April 25 (CP) — Canada expects to be producing enough oil by 1954 to met her own needs, J. Gerald Godsoe, of Toronto, said today.

Mr. Godsoe, vice-president of Britsih American Oil Co., Ltd., addressed the Cleveland World Trade Association, and said that with self-sufficiency, Canadian oil then would be available, if desired for export to the United States Pacific Northwest.

Canada now produces about one-third of her requirements or around 450,000 barrels a day, and, with the addition of certain facilities, could now produce one-half.

Of the St. Lawrence Seaway, Mr. Godsoe said:

"We are determined, as we have been on few things before, to go ahead with the project, because we believe in it and its importance.

To Act Alone

"Because of our mutual interest, we would prefer to embark upon it jointly with the United States, but failing that, our government has stated unequivocally that it now is prepared to proceed actively to undertake the project alone as an all-Canadian one."

Reciting facts about Canada, Mr. Godsoe stated:

"Canada has not found it necessary to impose any price or similar controls. We are one of the few countries carrying on today without external financial controls of restrictions.

"We have paid our way both during and since the war and have accepted gifts from no country. At the same time we have given over $7,000,000,000 in post-war gifts and credits to our allies. On a per capita basis this compares favorably, and on an income basis more than favorably, with the generous record of the United States. This year 49.6 cents of each tax dollar we collect will go to defence."

New Civil List Mut Be Voted By Parliament

By F. S. JONES

LONDON (AP)—Some time soon parliament will have to decide how much to pay Queen Elizabeth II and her family.

Royalty's annual wage bill, the Civil List, is voted by parliament at the beginning of each reign—within six months of the last sovereign's death—to maintain "the honor and dignity of the Crown and Royal Family."

It cost Britain £577,000 a year to do this properly during the lifetime of King George VI. The King himself got £410,000. The rest was divided among his mother, daughters and other close relatives.

The task of working out how much the Queen will get will fall to an all-party committee of 21 members of parliament.

The committee's job won't be an easy one. The chill wind of rising prices whistles through the Royal corridors of Buckingham Palace just as uncomfortably as it does through any other British home.

Whatever the committee decides, there are bound to be changes in the new Civil List. One new name—Queen Mother Elizabeth—will appear: Another name—the heir to the throne—will disappear.

When Elizabeth was heiress presumptive, parliament voted her £6,000 a year. This was raised to £15,000 when she became 21, and to £40,000 when she married the Duke of Edinburgh in 1947.

New Raises Due

Prince Charles, the 3½-year-old heir apparent, won't get any of this. In theory he's a rich youngster in his own right as Duke of Cornwall. He automatically became Duke as the Sovereign's eldest son and is heir to the revenues of the Duchy.

When the last Civil List was passed in 1937, these revenues brought in a net of £104,000 a year. Most of this may go into a trust fund for the young Duke.

The old list provided that Queen Mother Elizabeth would get £70,000 if she survived her husband. This is the same as Queen Mary was given when George V died in 1936.

One person almost certain to get a raise is the Duke of Edinburgh. At the moment he gets £10,000 a year, but as the Queen's Consort, he will have more to do—and presumably needs more money to do it with.

Another increase may go to Princess Margaret, who as the Queen's sister has extra duties to perform. At present she gets £6,000 voted her when she became 21.

Like her father, the Queen probably will find at least three-quarters of her income earmarked for housekeeping.

It cost the King £152,000 a year to run the State households at Buckingham Palace and Windsor Castle. Salaries of secretaries and court officials swallowed another £134,000.

Oil Equipment Loot Of Modern Rustlers

CALGARY—(CP)—It used to be cattle rustlers who sent Albertans looking for a tall tree and a stout rope. Now that the oil boom is on it is "casing rustling."

Thefts of oil well casing, drill-stem and other equipment from well sites became so serious that the Canadian Association of Oil-well Drilling Contractors recently decided to offer substantial rewards for information leading to the arrest of the thieves.

A joint of casing is worth about $160. One drilling contractor lost $2,700 worth of casing in a single night.

The rustling is done mostly when a new well has been completed and the drilling rig is being moved to a new site. At such times there is no night crew on duty.

The rustler, with a heavy truck and a hoist, can get away with a load in a short time, often with no more than one man to help him.

No reputable driller will handle "hot" casing but the rustlers still find outlets. The stolen casing is run immediately it is delivered, making it almost impossible to trace it.

$20,000 Fire Sweeps 2 Elmvale Stores

ELMVALE, April 25—(CP)—Fire Thursday night gutted two stores in the business district of this village 18 miles northwest of Barrie and damaged a pool hall.

The fire caused $20,000 damage, mostly from smoke and water.

The Rev. W. C. Stubbs, an Anglican minister, was injured when he fell 20 feet while helping a tenant remove her furniture from an apartment over the stores. Percy Black, a volunteer fireman, was overcome by smoke.

23-Day Strike

HAMILTON, April 25 (CP) — The 23-day strike of the Hamilton Dump Truck Association ended Thursday ngiht. The Truckers voted to accept Board of Control's offer of an increase of 10 cents an hour basic. The strikers' demand had been for a 25-cents-an-hour increase for vehicles loaded by hand and 75 cents an hour for mechanically-loaded trucks.

Job Situation Better

OTTAWA, April 25 (CP)—Winter unemployment has hit the downturn, the Labor Department reported Thursday. After rising steadily through the cold months, the unemployment roll at April 10 showed exactly the same total as at March 13—337,000.

Suffocated In Ditch

MONTREAL, April 25—(CP)—Antonio Di Michele, 57-year-old construction worker, was suffocated Thursday when buried alive under more than 400 cubic feet of heavy clay. Di Michele was working in a 12-foot water-main ditch when the sides fell in.

CONS DISPLAY WEAPONS — James J. Martell (right) and Russell H. Jarboe, two inmates of cellblock 15, where 173 mutinous convicts at Southern Michigan Prison in Jackson, Mich., barricaded themselves, show weapons seized from the guards. Nine guards were beig held as hostages. The mutiny ended Thursday.

Canadian Fur Used For Ceremonial Cap

LONDON —(CP)—A distinctive Canadian touch has been given the ceremonial cap worn by the Sword-bearer to the Lord Mayor of London.

Known as the Cap of Maintenance, a brand new number has been fashioned from the skins of eight Canadian natural sable and presented to the city corporation to mark Sir Leslie Boyce's year as Lord Mayor.

The cap, worn by the swordbearer at every official function, is the traditional eight inches high, has a flat crown of royal purple velvet and a lining of black silk. Much more elaborate than its predecessor it has also been made moth-proof.

Permits Restricted

TORONTO, April 25 — (CP) — Banquet permits for the purchase of liquor in "dry" areas will be issued only for weddings from now on, the Ontario Liquor Control Board announced Thursday.

Indians Square Allan Cup Series Blank Fort Frances Team 3-0

FORT WILLIAM, April 25 — (CP).—It's strictly war whoops in the camp of Stratford Indians after they squared their Allan Cup hockey final with Fort Frances Canadians here Thursday night.

Stratford whipped the tar out of the Western Canada Senior hockey representatives, both defensively and offensively to earn a 3-0 shutout. In the opening game, Tuesday, Fort Frances trimmed Indians 9-5.

The best-of-seven series resumes Saturday at Fort Frances where the Forts will be playing on home ice for the first time in two A'lan Cup finals. It's the first year for Stratford in a senior final.

Indians played a cagy game, hemming Canadians in their own end most of the game but scoring at a goal-a-period clip.

Winger Bruce Burdett paced Indians with a goal in each of the second and third periods. Jack White soloed smartly in the first.

Play opened tight in the first period, then gradually centred around the Fort Frances net as Stratford pressed for the equalizing victory. Bill Cleaveley, Fort Francis goalie, made brilliant saves before White notched the first Stratford marker.

Set Up Second Goal.

Alex Kurceba of Canadians set up the second Stratford goal when he missed a pass, leaving a clear field for White who relayed to Burdett. Canadians' closest effort came when Walt Christiansen just skimmed a post after taking a pass from Dun Sampson.

Burdett's goal was the third time in the series Stratford has scored while shorthanded. Don Heinbuch was off on a tripping penalty when Kurceba fumbled.

Canadians started a desperate offensive in the third period which Indians matched shot-for-shot. Both goalies performed brilliantly.

Burdett finally took the starch out of Fort Frances when he scored his second marker assisted by White and George Aitken.

Before the final bell, Bruce Dale in the Stratford net had to weather a hard shot by Doc Johnson and two more by Goose Gosselin.

About 2,600 fans saw the game. The Gardens here can hold more than twice that number.

Canadian Colt Entered In Epsom Derby

By ALAN HARVEY

LONDON, April 25. (CP)—A chestnut colt with a sluggish heartbeat and a fancy way of stepping may give Canada something to shout for next month in Britain's greatest flat race, the Epsom Derby.

If it's "weather clear, track fast" on Derby day, May 28, a precedent will be set—by what is believed to be the first Canadian-owned horse to start in the epic race for three-year-olds, which annually draws nearly 1,000,000 spectators out to the rolling Epsom Downs.

The horse which will carry Canadian colors, barring accidents or heavy going, is Indian Hemp, purchased last week by Canadian publisher Max Bell from British owner Sir Humphrey de Trafford.

Bell, publisher of the Calgary Albertan, declined to name the price but made plain he parted with considerably more than £25,000 to acquire the son of Nasrullah, winner of two of his seven races as a juvenile.

Nasrullah's progeny have a reputation for waywardness, but he has produced some outstanding stayers including Noor, which finished third for the Aga Khan in the 1948 Derby and went on to greater triumphs in the United States.

Liked Heartbeat

Bell picked Indian Hemp because he likes his breeding, his action—and his heartbeat. A veterinary who examined the colt said Indian Hemp's ticker turns over at about 28 to the minute compared with 40 in a normal horse. In turf circles, that's considered a sure sign of stamina.

"I think Indian Hemp will stay the course, and if we get the right kind of going the others will know they've been in a horse race," said Bell, who hopes to get down a hefty wager at 60 to 1 or better. Indian Hemp now is listed at 50 to 1.

Current favorite at 14 to 1 is Agitator, but there'll be many changes in the odds as races in the next few weeks sort the stayers from the sprinters. Right now it's wide open.

Bell bid for Indian Hemp last year, but the price wasn't right. Last week, on a visit to Britain, he got in touch with Sir Humphrey and offered to match an American offer for the horse, with a few extra inducements.

Indian Hemp will race in Britain until the fall, when he will go to North America and be vested in a partnership comprising Bell, Jockey Johnny Longden, formerly of Taber, Alta., and two Calgary associates, Wilder Ripley and Frank McMahon.

As far as could be learned today, no Canadian-owned horse has run in the Derby in its 172-year history. Lord Beaverbrook, Canadian-born publisher, bred a horse named Miracle but sold him to Lord Rosebery before the horse ran third in the 1932 Derby won by April the Fifth.

Hans Hermann Matched With Yukon Eric

Yukon Eric and Hans Hermann will headline next Tuesday's wrestling card at the Brock. The Gibraltar-built Eric will have his hands full when he collides with the gigantic and haughty German, who has compiled an amazing record locally, even though some of his wins have been a bit shady.

A defeat for Hermann would be most popularly received and an encouraging aspect towards this end is that Yukon is best at Hermann's own strong points—such as physical power and ruggedness. In fact, with the exception of the German's ruthless tactics, Eric shades him a bit.

Two giants clash in the semi-final, Wee Willie Davis and Wladyslaw Talun. The fur will really fly when these two swing into action.

A newcomer, Frank Fozo takes on Dave Simms in the opener.

THIS IS THE WAY Gil McDougald, Yankee third baseman and last year's American League "Rookie of the Year" stands and bats. His unorthodox droopy stance in which he holds his bat at 90-degree angle from his body, has fans gaping, but the young man led all Yankee regulars last season with a .306 batting average. The catcher in the picture is Clyde Klutz of Washington and Art Passarella, the umpire.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

St. Catharines A's of the senior O.L.A. expect to have use of the city arena there in July and August for indoor lacrosse games, shifting from Haig Bowl, the outdoor spot. They feel that it is an advantage to guarantee fans a fame on a certain night, regardless of rain or threatening weather. Well, rain is a nuisance to summer sports outdoors and folks in Miller Bowl get wet, too, upon occasion. However, we don't think a shift to Civic Arena on a threatening evening works out too well. Last-minute notice isn't enough for most fans, who look for all tilts in the regular bowl. Besides the floor at Civic is slippery, there are no screens up to protect fans, and the lighting isn't ideal for lacrosse.

St. Kitts scribe comments: "Brampton will be missing and next quiz is what disposition is being made of their 1951 roster. If they are free agents, there should be quite a scurry with a battle as to who's nearest. It could aid Fergus Thistles plenty, also Toronto Yorks, but Crescents do no require bolstering. Frankly, it is getting stiffer each season to finance senior boxla, which could be taking a page out of Intercounty baseball books with their no cash limits. When a club can afford to lay $1,000 on the line, plus $45-$50 job a week and do that for at least three men on a team, it's hard to compete against them. Nor can one blame a player for taking it (and asking) if he is good enough to warrant it."

Minor Baseball Plans

Dit Clapper, Ray Pammett, Gord Young and other minor baseball officials meet at seven p.m. next Tuesday in the Y.M. to reorganize the P.M.B.A. for the '52 season. An open session with everyone interested being invited. Minor ball here, as elsewhere, has its ups and downs—with not too much money available and too few good workers on the clubs—but fortunately the sport survives. Young players are kept occupied in the warm weather and developed into future senior material. It's a worthy work for the youngsters, and we urge more fathers and other adults to take more interest in city loop baseball.

* * * * * *

Quinte columnist says the C.O.B.L. meeting there was highly successful, with six sure starters, Flyers wanting in—though not represented—and Batawa a possible seventh entry. Says he: "The Kingston and Peterborough teams, which have the longest hauls, were exceptionally co-operative with the central squads. The big bugbear of baseball teams in this district, since prices rocketed, has been the high cost of transportation. This was pared to the minimum with such teams as Belleville, Napanee and Picton, plus the Flyers, benefitting the most. It looks like a fine setup from here." Alas, yes, this city, geographically, is situated poorly for sports with other centres of similar size. We travel far afield in all sports to get suitable competition.

Ballsters Open Drills

First open senior ball practice of the season is at two tomorrow aft in Riverside. Any newcomers to town as well as former players, ex-juniors, etc., are advised to be on deck. Just four weeks to go till the opening game, so there's lots of conditioning to be done from here in. A manager will be named shortly and several new players required to field a strong club, one affiliated with the O.B.A. Last night's "Y" meeting cleared the decks and indications are right promising of an interesting diamond season looming. Executive meets early next week to make financial plans and deal with necessary details but everything appears well under control at this time.

Max Swanston went in as club president, and you couldn't pick a better man. While his business takes up a lot of his time, the former mayor—and before that a star player and ball official—is taking a keen interest in returning the baseballic Petes to the prominence they had years ago. Dr. Cliff McKee and Bill Edger are vice-prexies, Jack McNamara secretary, and Lloyd Grose treasurer. Also a working committee of Bill Ovens, Clare Collins, Hugh Campbell, Cliff Cadd, Dr. Ralph Clark, Tommy Holyman and Cy Whatley. All have agreed to act. So, there you have two former mayors of the city and a number of other prominent citizens to guide the senior Petes in diamond warfare this semester. It's bound to be a good club in the revamped C.O.B.L.

Marines' Girls Capture City Loop Title

Outboard Marines finished atop the Girls City Bowling League race at Duffus' this season with 60 points, two more than Black's. Third were Cardinals with 48 points, followed by Arcos 46, Curtin's 44, Collis 40, Bassell's 36, Aces 31, Sevenaires 24 and Dickson's 18. High single for the season went to M. Knights with 382 as L. Vincent led in trios with 879, and M. Hawthorne had high average of 214. The league banquet is Monday at 6:30 p.m. at the Peterborough Golf Club.

On the final night of play, M. Knights hit her 382 for top single as E. Rishor rolled leading three of 755. Cardinals topped teams with 3,176 pinnage and single of 1,205. B. Nicholls' 490 won the blind score of 489. Neat singles were: E. Rishor 307 and 254, D. Martin 280, M. Tice 275, G. Milliken 263 and 250, and E. Flint 251. Good triples were: M. Knights 753, D. Martin 685, J. Moore 681, G. Milliken 658 and V. Scriver 648.

Cardinals edged Bassel's 2-1, as shutouts were racked by by Arcos over Aces, Sevenaires against Dickson's, Marines over Collis, and by Black's over Curtin's.

Waterloo Hurricanes Subdue Weston 6-3

WATERLOO, April 25 (CP). — Waterloo Hurricanes Thursday night defeated Weston Dukes 6-3 in the first game of the best-of-seven Ontario Hockey Association Junior B finals.

Except for a brief lapse in the second period, the Hurricanes looked like winners all the way. Jack Oberle and Ted Lacey each scored twice for Waterloo. Davey Reid scored all three Weston goals.

Max Swanston Chosen President Of Petes At Annual Ball Meeting

At the annual re-organization meeting of the senior ball club in the "Y" last night, Max Swanston agreed to accept the nomination of president, though emphasizing the fact that his time with the club would be limited to some extent. It was a popular choice, as the former mayor of Peterborough was a long-time star player for the Petes, later becoming president of the C.O.B.L. and also a member of the O.B.A. executive. The Petes are back this season in the C.O.B.L.

Dr. Cliff McKee, also a former diamond player, was elected first vice-president; with Bill Edger, as a player's representative, second vice-president. Jack McNamara is secretary and Lloyd Grose again treasurer. The executive committee comprises: Tommy Holyman, Bill Ovens, Cy Whatley, Dr. Ralph Clark, Hugh Campbell, Cliff Cadd and Clare Collins.

A Civic Project

President Swanston said the senior baseball club should be a civic sports' project, unsponsored, but with the support of all. The club is starting off the season with no debts and with most of the necessary equipment, but means must be found right away to raise some finances to carry on, perhaps by the sale of season tickets. The Petes will affiliate with the O.B.A. in senior "A" company.
